The Registrant hereby amends this registration statement on such date or dates as may be necessary to delay its effective date until the registrant shall file a further amendment which specifically states that this registration statement shall thereafter become effective in accordance with Section 8(a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or until the registration statement shall become effective on such date as the Securities and Exchange Commission, acting pursuant to said Section 8(a), may determine.

PRELIMINARY PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS — JUNE 28, 2023, — SUBJECT TO COMPLETION

Dear Stockholder:

Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., a Delaware corporation (“DTOC”), American Oncology Network, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Company” or “AON”), GEF AON Holdings Corp., a Delaware corporation (the “AON Class C Preferred Investor”), and DTOC Merger Sub, Inc., a Delaware corporation and a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of DTOC (“Merger Sub”) have entered into a Business Combination Agreement (the “Business Combination Agreement”), dated as of June 14, 2023 (which further amends and restates the Business Combination Agreement entered into by DTOC and AON as of October 5, 2022, and amended and restated on January 6, 2023, and April 27, 2023). The transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement will constitute a “business combination” as contemplated by DTOC’s current charter. For purposes of this proxy statement/prospectus, “New AON” means American Oncology Network, Inc. (f/k/a Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.) and its consolidated subsidiaries, after giving effect to the Business Combination.

In accordance with the Business Combination Agreement, DTOC and AON will undertake a series of transactions (the “Business Combination”) resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, sometimes referred to as an “Up-C” structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- on the closing of the Business Combination (the “Closing”), AON will amend and restate its operating agreement (the “Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement”) to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “AON common units”) in an amount equal to the quotient of (a) the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units (as defined below) participating in the Exchange Offer (as defined below) in such per unit calculation) divided by (b) $10.00 (the “Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio”);
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the quotient of (a) the excess of the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units participating in the Exchange Offer in such per unit calculation) over the applicable distribution threshold divided by (b) $10.00 (the “Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio”);
 - existing AON Class C units into AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the greater of (a) the number of AON common units issuable upon conversion of each of the AON Class C units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor pursuant to the AON LLC Agreement as of the Closing, multiplied by the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio and (b) the aggregate Class C Liquidation Preference (as defined in the AON LLC Agreement) per AON Class C unit as of Closing divided by $10.00 (the “Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio”);

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, (i) the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units;

- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON’s subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “Practice Profit Pool Shares”). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will (i) amend and restate its charter (the “Proposed Charter”) to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of New AON preferred stock in an amount sufficient for the consideration to be issued in the First Step (as defined below) and (ii) file a certificate of designation (the “New AON Series A Certificate of Designations”) pursuant to which

The information in this proxy statement/prospectus is not complete and may be changed. Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. may not proposed transactions until the Registration Statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission is effective. This proxy statement/prospectus to sell these securities and is not soliciting an offer to buy these securities in any state where the offer or sale is not permitted.

(the “New AON Series A Preferred Stock”) with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations; and

- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and warrants to acquire shares of New AON Class B common stock (the “Class B Prefunded Warrants”) if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor (“AEA Growth”) in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the “First Step”), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units, and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants) for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

The Board of Managers of AON has authorized and approved the issuance to its employees (which includes certain employees of AON that are holders of practice profit pool interests) of up to 460 AON Class B-1 units that have the same rights, terms and restrictions of the other AON Class B units issued and outstanding under AON’s operating agreement, but that will vest only upon the consummation of the Business Combination (the “AON Class B-1 units”). To incentivize retention of AON employees following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders, DTOC is offering to the holders of AON Class B-1 units to exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder (such offer, the “Exchange Offer”). Concurrently with the Exchange Offer, DTOC and AON are also soliciting consents from the holders of AON Class B-1 units to certain amendments to the terms of the awards and the unit grant agreements pursuant to which the AON Class B-1 units were granted (the “Consent Solicitation”) to provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all AON Class B-1 units not otherwise tendered in the Exchange Offer into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder (collectively, the “Proposed Amendments”).

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be converted into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units.

Contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, Digital Transformation Sponsor LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Sponsor”) and DTOC’s Chief Executive Officer (together with the Sponsor, the “Supporting Sponsor Shareholders”) entered into a support agreement with DTOC and the Company, (as amended and restated on January 6, 2023, the “Sponsor Support Agreement”), pursuant to which the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to (a) vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the Business Combination, (b) certain transfer restrictions with respect to their shares of New AON common stock following the Closing, (c) subject a portion of their shares of New AON common stock to vesting requirements following the Closing and (d) waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protections with respect to any DTOC common stock held by such Supporting Sponsor Shareholder in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination.

Public stockholders may elect to redeem their public shares (as defined below) whether they vote for or against, or whether they abstain from voting on, the Business Combination. A DTOC public stockholder (as defined below), together with any of his, her or its affiliates or any other person with whom he, she or it is acting in concert or as a “group” (as defined in Section 13 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”)), will be restricted from seeking redemption rights with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares (as defined below). The Sponsor and members of the DTOC Board and executive management team (the “Insiders”) have agreed at the time of DTOC’s IPO to waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any shares of DTOC common stock they may hold. Currently, the Insiders own approximately 81.9% of DTOC common stock, consisting of DTOC Class A common stock and DTOC Class B common stock (the "Founder Shares"). Shares of DTOC Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of DTOC Class A common stock in connection with the transactions. The Founder Shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. The Insiders have agreed to vote any shares of DTOC common stock owned by them in favor of the Business Combination.

DTOC Class A common stock is listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market ("Nasdaq") under the symbol "DTOC." DTOC's public warrants are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCW." DTOC units that have not separated are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCU." Following the Business Combination, it is anticipated that New AON Class A common stock (including common stock issued under the Business Combination) will be listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "AONC" and New AON public warrants will trade under the symbol "AONCW", or another reputable national securities exchange mutually determined by DTOC and AON.

DTOC will hold a virtual special meeting of stockholders (the "Special Meeting") to consider matters relating to the proposed Business Combination. DTOC and AON cannot complete the Business Combination unless the DTOC stockholders approve and adopt the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby. DTOC is sending you this proxy statement/prospectus to ask you to vote in favor of the Business Combination and the other matters described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

On October 5, 2022, AON's equityholders approved the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions, and on June 7, 2023, AON's equityholders approved the issuance of the AON Class C Units pursuant to the Unit Purchase Agreement.

The Special Meeting will be held exclusively via a live webcast at <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, at Eastern Time. To participate in the virtual meeting, a DTOC stockholder of record will need the 16-digit control number included on your proxy card or instructions that accompanied your proxy materials, if applicable, or to obtain a proxy form from your broker, bank or other nominee. The Special Meeting webcast will begin promptly at Eastern Time. DTOC stockholders are encouraged to access the Special Meeting prior to the start time. If you encounter any difficulties accessing the virtual meeting or during the meeting time, please call the technical support number that will be posted on the virtual meeting login page.

YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT, REGARDLESS OF THE NUMBER OF SHARES OF DTOC COMMON STOCK YOU OWN. To ensure your representation at the Special Meeting, please complete and return the enclosed proxy card or submit your proxy by following the instructions contained in this proxy statement/prospectus and on your proxy card. Please submit your proxy promptly whether or not you expect to attend the meeting. Submitting a proxy now will NOT prevent you from being able to vote virtually at the Special Meeting. If you hold your shares in "street name," you should instruct your broker, bank or other nominee how to vote in accordance with the voting instruction form you receive from your broker, bank or other nominee.

The DTOC Board has unanimously approved the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby and recommends that DTOC stockholders vote "FOR" the approval of the Business Combination Agreement and "FOR" the other proposals to be considered at the Special Meeting.

This proxy statement/prospectus provides you with detailed information about the proposed Business Combination. It also contains or references information about DTOC, AON and certain related matters. You are encouraged to read this proxy statement/prospectus carefully. In particular, you should read the "Risk Factors" section beginning on page 66 for a discussion of the risks you should consider in evaluating the proposed Business Combination and how it will affect you.

If you have any questions regarding the accompanying proxy statement, you may contact Morrow Sodali LLC, DTOC's proxy solicitor, toll-free at (800) 662-5200 or collect at (203) 658-9400 or email at DTOC.info@investor.morrowsodali.com.

Sincerely,

Kevin Nazemi

Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.NOTICE OF THE SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS*TO BE HELD ON

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a special meeting of stockholders (the "Special Meeting") of Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., a Delaware corporation ("DTCO"), will be held exclusively via a live webcast at <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, on _____, at _____ Eastern Time. You are cordially invited to attend the Special Meeting for the following purposes:

1. Proposal No. 1 — The Business Combination Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Business Combination Agreement, dated as of June 14, 2023 (which further amends and restates the Business Combination Agreement entered into by DTCO and AON as of October 5, 2022, and amended and restated on January 6, 2023 and April 27, 2023 (as amended, the "Business Combination Agreement"), by and between DTCO, American Oncology Network, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("AON"), GEF AON Holdings Corp., a Delaware corporation (the "AON Class C Preferred Investor"), and DTCO Merger Sub, Inc., a Delaware corporation and a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of DTCO ("Merger Sub"), and the transactions contemplated thereby (the "Business Combination"), pursuant to which DTCO and AON will undertake a series of transactions resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTCO will become a member of AON (the "Business Combination Proposal"). The Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A;
 2. Proposal No. 2 — The Listing Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of the Nasdaq Capital Market ("Nasdaq") (and in the event DTCO and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange), to approve the issuance of New AON common stock and other securities exchangeable into New AON common stock in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (the "Listing Proposal");
 3. Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve and adopt the proposed Second Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of DTCO (the "Proposed Charter") in the form attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex E (the "Charter Amendment Proposal");
 4. Proposal No. 4 — The Advisory Governance Proposal — To consider and vote upon, on a non-binding advisory basis, a separate proposal with respect to certain governance provisions in the Proposed Charter, which is being presented separately in accordance with United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") requirements (the "Advisory Governance Proposal");
 5. Proposal No. 5 — The Director Election Proposal — For the holders of outstanding shares of DTCO Class B common stock to consider and vote upon a proposal to elect eight directors, effective at the closing of the Business Combination, to serve staggered terms on the board of directors of New AON (the "New AON Board") until the 2024, 2025 and 2026 annual meetings of stockholders and until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified, subject to their earlier death, resignation or removal (the "Director Election Proposal");
 6. Proposal No. 6 — The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the American Oncology Network, Inc. 2023 Incentive Equity Plan (the "Incentive Equity Plan"), in the form attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex G, to be effective after the closing of the Business Combination (the "Incentive Equity Plan Proposal" and, collectively with the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal and the Director Election Proposal, the "Condition Precedent Proposals"); and
 7. Proposal No. 7 — The Adjournment Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the adjournment of the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason permitted by the Business Combination Agreement in connection with, the approval of one or more of the other proposals at the Special Meeting (the "Adjournment Proposal" and, collectively with the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal and the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal, the "Proposals").

Only holders of record of DTOC common stock at the close of business on _____, 2023 are entitled to notice of the Special Meeting and to vote at the Special Meeting and any adjournments or postponements of the Special Meeting. A complete list of DTOC stockholders of record entitled to vote at the Special Meeting will be available for inspection by stockholders ten days before the Special Meeting at our principal executive officers during ordinary business hours for any purpose germane to the Special Meeting.

In accordance with DTOC's current charter, DTOC will provide holders ("public stockholders") of its DTOC Class A common stock ("public shares") with the opportunity to redeem their public shares for cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in DTOC's trust account (the "Trust Account"), which holds the proceeds of DTOC's IPO, as of two business days prior to the consummation of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Proposal (including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to DTOC to pay taxes). For illustrative purposes, based on funds in the Trust Account of approximately $19,181,938.82 on June 7, 2023, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.39, excluding additional interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to DTOC to pay taxes. Public stockholders may elect to redeem their public shares whether they vote for or against, or whether they abstain from voting on, the Business Combination. A public stockholder, together with any of his, her or its affiliates or any other person with whom he, she or it is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from seeking redemption rights with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. The Insiders agreed at the time of DTOC's IPO to waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to any shares of DTOC common stock they may hold. Currently, the Insiders own approximately 81.9% of DTOC common stock, consisting of the Founder Shares. Founder Shares will be excluded from the pro rata calculation used to determine the per-share redemption price. The Insiders have agreed to vote any shares of DTOC common stock owned by them in favor of the Business Combination.

Approval of each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of a majority of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class. Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class A common stock and the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, each voting together as a separate class, as well as the vote of a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of DTOC common stock, voting together as a single class. Approval of the Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a plurality of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting, voting as a single class. The DTOC Board has unanimously recommended that you vote for each of the Proposals. The transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved at the Special Meeting, and if the other conditions to closing are satisfied or waived. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other Condition Precedent Proposal. The Advisory Governance Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal are neither conditioned upon nor a condition to the approval of any other proposal set forth in the accompanying proxy statement.

As of June 7, 2023, there was $19,181,938.82 in the Trust Account, which DTOC intends to use for the purposes of consummating the Business Combination and to pay SPAC related taxes. Each redemption of public shares by its public stockholders will decrease the amount in the Trust Account.

If DTOC stockholders fail to approve any Condition Precedent Proposal, the Business Combination will not occur. The proxy statement accompanying this notice explains the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, as well as the Proposals to be considered at the Special Meeting. Please review the proxy statement carefully.

The DTOC Board has set [] as the record date for the Special Meeting. Only holders of record of shares of DTOC common stock at the close of business on [] will be entitled to notice of and to vote at the Special Meeting and any adjournments or postponements thereof. Any stockholder entitled to attend and vote at the Special Meeting is entitled to appoint a proxy to attend and vote on such stockholder's behalf. Such proxy need not be a holder of shares of DTOC common stock.

YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT, REGARDLESS OF THE NUMBER OF SHARES OF DTOC COMMON STOCK YOU OWN. Whether or not you plan to attend the Special Meeting virtually, please complete, sign, date and mail the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided at your earliest convenience. You may also submit a proxy by telephone or via the Internet by following the instructions printed on your proxy card. If you hold your shares through a broker, bank or other nominee, you should direct the vote of your shares in accordance with the voting instruction form received from your broker, bank or other nominee.

The DTOC Board has unanimously approved the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby and recommends that you vote "FOR" the Business Combination Proposal, "FOR" the Listing Proposal, "FOR" the Charter Amendment Proposal, "FOR" the Advisory Governance Proposal, "FOR" the Director Election Proposal, "FOR" the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and "FOR" the Adjournment Proposal.

If you have any questions regarding the accompanying proxy statement, you may contact Morrow Sodali LLC, our proxy solicitor, toll-free at (800) 662-5200 or collect at (203) 658-9400 or email at DTOC.info@investor.morrowsodali.com.

If you plan to attend the Special Meeting virtually, you must do so virtually and you will be required to take certain actions ahead of the meeting so that you can participate. Please carefully read the sections in the proxy statement regarding attending and voting at the special meeting to ensure that you comply with these requirements.

BY ORDER OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

EXCHANGE OFFER, IN WHICH CASE, THE EXPIRATION DATE OF THE EXCHANGE OFFER AND CONSENT SOLICITATION SHALL BE THE LATEST TIME AND DATE AT WHICH THE EXCHANGE OFFER, AS EXTENDED, EXPIRES (THE “EXPIRATION DATE”).

Reference is hereby made to that certain Business Combination Agreement (the “Business Combination Agreement”), by and among DTCO, American Oncology Network, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Company” or “AON”), GEF AON Holdings Corp., a Delaware corporation (the “AON Class C Preferred Investor”), and DTCO Merger Sub, Inc., a Delaware corporation and a direct, wholly owned subsidiary of DTCO (“Merger Sub”), dated as of June 14, 2023 (which further amends and restates the Business Combination Agreement entered into by DTCO and AON as of October 5, 2022, and amended and restated on January 6, 2023 and April 27, 2023), pursuant to which DTCO and AON have agreed to undertake a series of transactions (the “Business Combination”) resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTCO will become a member of AON.

The Board of Managers of AON has authorized and approved the issuance to its employees (which includes certain employees of AON that are holders of practice profit pool interests) of up to 460 AON Class B-1 units that have the same rights, terms and restrictions of the other AON Class B units issued and outstanding under AON’s operating agreement, but that that will vest only upon the consummation of the Business Combination (the “AON Class B-1 units”). To incentivize retention of AON employees following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders, DTCO is offering to the holders of AON Class B-1 units to exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder (such offer, the “Exchange Offer”). See “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation.”

Concurrently with the Exchange Offer, DTCO and AON are also soliciting consents from the holders of AON Class B-1 units to certain amendments to the terms of the awards and the unit grant agreements pursuant to which the AON Class B-1 units were granted (the “Consent Solicitation”) to provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all outstanding AON Class B-1 units into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder (collectively, the “Proposed Amendments”). Holders may not deliver consents to the Proposed Amendments without tendering their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer, and holders may not tender their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer without delivering the related consents. The tender of AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer will be deemed to automatically constitute delivery of a consent to the Proposed Amendments with respect to the AON Class B-1 units tendered.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be converted into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units

The information in this proxy statement/prospectus is preliminary and may be changed. Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. may propose transactions until the Registration Statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission is effective. This proxy statement securities and is not soliciting an offer to buy these securities in any state where the offer or sale is not permitted.

DTOC Class A common stock is listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market (“Nasdaq”) under the symbol “DTOC.” DTOC’s public warrants are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol “DTOCW.” DTOC units that have not separated are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol “DTCU.” Following the Business Combination, it is anticipated that New AON Class A common stock (including common stock issued in the Business Combination) will be listed on Nasdaq under the symbol “AONC” and New AON public warrants will trade under the symbol “AONCW”, or another reputable national securities exchange mutually determined by DTOC and AON. The last reported prices for DTOC Class A common stock, DTOC public warrants and DTOC units were $10.29, $0.14 and $10.36, respectively, on a per share, warrant and unit basis, in each case, as quoted on Nasdaq on June 27, 2023, the last trading day before the date of this proxy statement/prospectus.

SUMMARY TERM SHEET

This summary term sheet, together with the sections titled “Questions and Answers About the Proposals for Our Stockholders and the Special Meeting” and “Summary of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus,” summarizes certain information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus, but does not contain all of the information that is important to you. You should read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the attached Annexes and the accompanying financial statements of DTOC and AON, carefully and in its entirety for a more complete understanding of the matters to be considered at the Special Meeting.

- Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., a Delaware corporation, which is referred to as “DTOC,” is a special purpose acquisition company formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses.
- On March 12, 2021, DTOC consummated its IPO of 33,350,000 units (“units” and, with respect to the Class A common stock included in the units being offered, the “public shares”), at $10.00 per unit, which included 3,350,000 units as a result of the underwriter’s partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional units at the IPO price to cover over-allotments, generating gross proceeds of $333.5 million, and incurring offering costs of approximately $18.9 million, inclusive of $11.7 million in deferred underwriting commissions, which was gratuitously waived on June 6, 2023 by the underwriter to DTOC’s IPO. Each unit consists of one share of DTOC Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, and one-fourth of one redeemable warrant, with each whole warrant entitling the holder thereof to purchase one whole share of DTOC Class A common stock for $11.50 per share.
- Simultaneously with the consummation of its IPO on March 12, 2021, DTOC completed a private placement (“Private Placement”) of 6,113,333 warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant (“Private Placement Warrants”), to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds of approximately $9.2 million. Each whole Private Placement Warrant is exercisable for one whole share of DTOC Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment. The Private Placement Warrants (including the DTOC Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the Private Placement Warrants) may not, subject to certain limited exceptions, be transferred, assigned or sold until 30 days after the completion of our initial business combination. For more information regarding the warrants, please see the section titled “Description of Securities.” The Sponsor and members of DTOC’s Board and management team (the “Initial Stockholders”) hold an aggregate 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock (the “Sponsor Shares”), all of which were issued in private placements prior to DTOC’s IPO.
- AON is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success of community oncology. AON has grown significantly since it commenced operations in late 2018. Since 2019, AON has generated compounded annual revenue growth of more than 60% through June 2022 and operates profitably. As of December 31, 2022, AON’s platform includes 106 physicians and 30 practices across 77 locations in 17 states. The executive management team of AON encompasses members with an average of more than three decades of oncology practice management experience, enabling physicians to focus on providing quality care for patients. For more information about the Company, please see the sections titled “Information about AON,” “AON Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” and “Management of New AON After the Business Combination.”
- On October 5, 2022, DTOC and AON entered into a Business Combination Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on January 6, 2023, on April 27, 2023 and on June 14, 2023. In accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions of the Business Combination Agreement:
 - DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;

- on the Closing, AON will adopt the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock in an amount equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - the existing AON Class C Units into AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the greater of (a) the number of AON common units issuable upon conversion of each of the AON Class C units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor pursuant to the AON LLC Agreement as of the Closing, multiplied by the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio and (b) the aggregate Class C Liquidation Preference (as defined in the AON LLC Agreement) per AON Class C unit as of Closing divided by $10.00 (the "Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio")

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, (i) the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units;

- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the "Practice Profit Pool Shares"). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will amend and restate its charter (the "Proposed Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of New AON preferred stock in an amount sufficient for the consideration to be issued in the First Step (as defined below) and (ii) file a certificate of designation (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") pursuant to which New AON will create and designate a new series of New AON preferred stock as Series A convertible preferred stock (the "New AON Series A Preferred Stock") with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations; and;
- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred

Investor (the “First Step”), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units, and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

- On February 9, 2023, DTOC filed a definitive proxy statement with the SEC soliciting the approval of its stockholders for, among other things, a proposal (the “Extension Amendment Proposal”) to extend the date by which DTOC has to consummate a business combination (the “Combination Period”) from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and to give the Sponsor the option to further extend the Combination Period beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional one (1) month each time to September 30, 2023 (collectively, the “Extension Options”). On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.
- At the special meeting of stockholders held on March 2, 2023 (the “March Special Meeting”), DTOC’s stockholders approved the Extension Amendment Proposal (the “Extension Amendment”). In connection with the approval of Extension Amendment Proposal, the Sponsor and DTOC’s Chief Financial Officer converted all of their respective Founder Shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following conversion, such shares will vote together with the Public Shares on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of the IPO, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon. In connection with the votes to approve the proposals at the March Special Meeting, the holders of 31,502,931 shares of common stock of DTOC properly exercised their right to redeem their shares for cash at a redemption price of approximately $10.19 per share, for an aggregate redemption amount of approximately $321.2 million, leaving approximately $18.8 million in the Trust Account, not including the $150,000 deposited into the Trust Account by the Sponsor in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.
- On April 27, 2023, AON and GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the “AON Class C Preferred Investor”) entered into a Unit Purchase Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on June 7, 2023 (as amended, the “Unit Purchase Agreement”), which provides for an investment of at least $65.0 million with an option to increase the investment to $75.0 million in connection with the issuance of AON Class C Units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.
- On June 7, 2023, AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor closed the investment contemplated under the Unit Purchase Agreement (the “Series A Investment”), pursuant to which the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 Class C units at an aggregate purchase price of $65 million. Under the Unit Purchase Agreement, the AON Class C Preferred Investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the Closing of the Business Combination, at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. In connection with the Series A Investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement to, among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units and issue such units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor. In connection with such closing, on June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC also amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the First Step, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor (“AEA Growth”) in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60 million. As a result of these mergers, New AON will hold 100% of the AON Series A preferred units. As a result of the Series A Investment, there will no longer be any additional equity or equity-linked financings, including pursuant to a PIPE, in connection with the Business Combination. In addition, AON used a portion of the proceeds from the Series A Investment to pay the preferred returns on the AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units. New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible into shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Certificate of Designations of Series A Preferred Stock of New AON (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") to be adopted by the New AON Board immediately prior to the Closing.

- As described above, in connection with the Closing of the Business Combination, AON's operating agreement will be amended and restated to provide, among other things, for the reclassification of the AON Class C units into AON Series A preferred units.
- Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing (the "Sponsor Earnout Shares") to the following vesting and forfeiture provisions:
 - the Sponsor Earnout Shares will vest when the volume-weighted average price of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $13.50 per share for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period beginning after the Closing and ending 5 years following the Closing;
 - the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be released immediately upon the consummation of a change of control transaction within the 5-year period following the Closing; and
 - if the Sponsor Earnout Shares are not released pursuant to the foregoing provisions on or before the date that is 5 years after the Closing, then the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be forfeited immediately following such date.
- The number of shares of New AON Class A common stock that will be owned by the Sponsor and public stockholders following the Business Combination, and therefore the percentage ownership of New AON by the Sponsor and public stockholders, is not currently known, and will depend on, among other things, the level of redemptions of shares of DTOC Class A common stock by DTOC's public stockholders, total number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock that will be issued to AEA Growth and the level of participation by the holders of AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer. For further details, see "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures."
- It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combination, based upon the As Exchanged Class A Share Ownership Assumptions (as defined below): (1) DTOC's public stockholders would own approximately 4.8% of New AON's outstanding common stock; (2) AEA Growth would own shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock that would be initially convertible into approximately 6,643,019 shares of New AON Class A common stock, which would represent approximately 14.8% of New AON's outstanding common stock; (3) the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders would own 26.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock (assuming exercise of all Private Placement Warrants for New AON Class A common stock, but excludes Sponsor Earnout Shares); and (4) the AON equityholders will hold approximately 81.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock. If the actual facts are different from the As Exchanged Class A Share Ownership Assumptions, the above levels of ownership interest will be different. These levels of ownership interest assume that no shares are elected to be redeemed in connection with the Business Combination. In addition, the ownership percentage with respect to the post-business combination company (x) does not take into account (i) warrants to purchase New AON Class A common stock that will remain outstanding immediately following the Business Combination, (ii) the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combination under the Incentive Equity Plan (as defined below) and (iii) any dividends accrued on the AON Class C units through Closing, which dividends increase the number of shares of New AON Class A Preferred Stock issuable to AEA Growth as Closing, but (y) does include the Founder Shares which, if not yet converted, will automatically be converted into, on a one-for-one basis, shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Existing Charter (such shares of New AON Class A common stock will be subject to transfer restrictions) (such assumptions collectively, the "As Exchanged Class A Share Ownership Assumptions"). If the actual facts are different from these As Exchanged Class A Share Ownership Assumptions, the above levels of ownership interest will be different.

- The DTOC Board recommends that DTOC's stockholders approve a proposal for purposes of complying with applicable provisions of Rule 5635 of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rules (and in the event DTOC and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange) with respect to the following transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement: (i) the reclassification, pursuant to the Amended and Restated AON LLC agreement and immediately prior to the Closing, of the then outstanding AON Class A units, AON Class A-1 units and AON Class B units into AON common units that are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock; (ii) the issuance, at the Closing, to AON equityholders of shares of New AON Class B common stock (or Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock) and AON common units that are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock; (iii) the reservation, at the Closing, of a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients; and (iv) the issuance of any shares of New AON Class A common stock to the holder(s) of the shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock upon their conversion pursuant to the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations.
- In evaluating the Business Combination, the DTOC Board considered a number of factors, including a scaled oncology network with a strong historical growth track record, AON's "patient first" approach and comprehensive menu of offerings, opportunities for future growth, and an entrepreneurial and experienced management team and board. For more information about DTOC's decision-making process, as well as other factors, uncertainties and risks considered, see the section titled "The Business Combination and The Business Combination Agreement — Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination."
- Pursuant to the Existing Charter, a public stockholder may request that DTOC redeem all or a portion of such public stockholder's public shares for cash if the Business Combination is consummated. Holders of DTOC units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If holders hold their units through a broker, bank or other nominee, holders must notify their broker, bank or other nominee that they elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants, or if a holder holds units registered in its own name, the holder must contact Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, DTOC's transfer agent, directly and instruct it to do so. Public stockholders may elect to redeem their public shares even if they vote "FOR" the Business Combination Proposal or any other proposal. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the public shares will be returned to the respective public stockholder, broker, bank or other nominee. If the Business Combination is consummated, and if a public stockholder properly exercises its right to redeem all or a portion of the public shares that it holds, including by timely delivering its shares to DTOC's transfer agent, DTOC will redeem such public shares for a per share price, payable in cash, equal to the pro rata portion of the Trust Account, calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, including interest (net of taxes payable). For illustrative purposes, as of June 7, 2023, this would have amounted to approximately $10.39 per outstanding public share. If a public stockholder properly exercises its redemption rights in full, then it will be electing to exchange all of its public shares for cash and will not own any public shares of the post-business combination company. See "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures" in this proxy statement/prospectus for a detailed description of the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your public shares for cash. Holders of DTOC's outstanding warrants do not have redemption rights in connection with the Business Combination. Unless otherwise specified, the information in the accompanying proxy statement assumes that none of DTOC's public stockholders exercise their redemption rights with respect to their shares of DTOC Class A common stock.
- In addition to voting on the proposal to approve and adopt the Business Combination Agreement and approve the Business Combination (DTOC refers to this proposal as the "Business Combination Proposal"), at the Special Meeting, DTOC's stockholders will be asked to vote upon (i) a proposal to approve, for purposes of complying with applicable Nasdaq listing rules (and in the event DTOC and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange), the issuance of New AON common stock and other securities exchangeable into New AON common stock in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (the "Listing Proposal"), (ii) a proposal to replace the Existing Charter with the Proposed Charter attached in this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex E (the "Charter Amendment Proposal"), (iii) a separate proposal with respect to certain governance provisions in the Proposed Charter, which is being separately presented in accordance with SEC requirements and which will be voted upon on a non-binding advisory basis (the "Advisory Governance Proposal"), (iv) a proposal to elect eight directors, effective at the Closing, to serve staggered terms on the board of directors of New AON (the "New AON Board") until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified, subject to their earlier death, resignation or removal (the "Director Election Proposal"), (v) a proposal to approve the Incentive Equity Plan (the "Incentive Equity Plan Proposal") and (vi) a proposal to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason permitted by the Business Combination Agreement in connection with, the approval of the foregoing proposals (the "Adjournment Proposal"). See "Proposal No. 1 — The Business Combination Proposal," "Proposal No. 2 — The Listing Proposal," "Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal," "Proposal No. 4 — The Advisory Governance Proposal," "Proposal No. 5 — The Director Election Proposal," "Proposal No. 6 — The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal," and "Proposal No. 7 — The Adjournment Proposal." The consummation of the Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of each of the Business Combination Proposal, Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, and the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal (collectively, the "Condition Precedent Proposals" and, together with the Advisory Governance Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, the "Proposals") at the Special Meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Advisory Governance Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal are neither conditioned upon nor a condition to the approval of any other Proposal. Each of these Proposals is more fully described in this proxy statement/prospectus, which each stockholder is encouraged to read carefully and in its entirety.

- When you consider the recommendation of the DTOC Board in favor of approval of the Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals, you should keep in mind that the Sponsor and DTOC's directors and officers have interests in the Business Combination that are different from, or in addition to, those of DTOC's stockholders and warrant holders generally. The DTOC Board was aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, in evaluating and negotiating the Business Combination Agreement and ancillary agreements contemplated thereby and in recommending to DTOC's stockholders that they vote in favor of the Proposals, including the Business Combination Proposal. DTOC stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Proposals presented at the Special Meeting, including the Business Combination Proposal. These interests include, among other things:
 - If the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not consummated by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), DTOC will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming 100% of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining stockholders and the DTOC Board, dissolving and liquidating. In such event, the 8,112,500 Founder Shares held by the Sponsor, which were acquired for a purchase price of approximately $0.003 per share prior to the IPO, would be worthless because the holders of Founder Shares are not entitled to participate in any redemption or distribution with respect to such shares. Such shares had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] based upon the closing price of $[—] per share on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date.
 - The Sponsor, which is affiliated with Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 private warrants from DTOC for an aggregate purchase price of approximately $9.2 million (or $1.50 per warrant). These purchases took place on a private placement basis simultaneously with the consummation of the IPO. All of the proceeds DTOC received from these purchases were placed in the trust account. Such warrants had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] million based upon the closing price of $[—] per warrant on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date. The private warrants will become worthless if DTOC does not consummate a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).

- In certain circumstances in which the Business Combination Agreement is terminated (as further described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Related Agreements”), the Sponsor may be required to reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions.
- If the Business Combination Agreement is terminated due to AON’s entry into an alternative transaction, AON is required to pay the Sponsor a termination fee of $18 million no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is 6 months following the termination and (ii) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.
- As further described above in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Extension Proposal”, the Sponsor may be required in certain circumstances to provide DTOC a loan in an amount sufficient to fund a deposit to the trust account for purposes of obtaining approval of the Extension Proposal.
- The Sponsor and DTOC’s officers, directors and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on DTOC’s behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations. However, if DTOC fails to consummate a business combination within the required period, DTOC will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement. Accordingly, DTOC may not be able to reimburse these expenses if the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not completed by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).
- The Business Combination Agreement provides for the continued indemnification of DTOC’s current directors and officers and the continuation of directors and officers liability insurance covering DTOC’s current directors and officers.
- The Sponsor and DTOC’s officers and directors (or their affiliates) may make loans from time to time to DTOC to fund certain capital requirements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, $200,000 in the form of two promissory notes in favor of the Sponsor are outstanding, and further loans may be made after the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the loans will not be repaid and will be forgiven except to the extent there are funds available to DTOC outside of the trust account.
- Subject to limited exceptions, the Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi will not be permitted to transfer their shares of New AON common stock for 12 months following the Closing.
- Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing to certain vesting and forfeiture provisions.
- Pursuant to the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, certain parties, including the Sponsor and directors and officers of DTOC, will have registration rights, such as demand and piggy-back rights with respect to the shares of New AON common stock (subject to cooperation, cut-back provisions and suspension periods).
- Todd Schonherz, Stephen “Fred” Divers, Shalin R. Shah, Vipul Patel, Vance M. Wright-Browne, Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Ravi Sarin are each expected to become members of the New AON Board upon consummation of the Business Combination. As such, in the future, each of the aforementioned may receive cash fees, stock options, stock awards or other remuneration that the New AON Board determines to pay them and any applicable compensation as described under the section titled “Management of New AON After the Business Combination”.

- The Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi have each waived the anti-dilution adjustments set forth in DTOC's organizational documents, or any other anti-dilution or similar adjustment rights to which they may otherwise be entitled related to or arising from the Business Combination.
- At the time of the IPO, the Sponsor and the other Insiders agreed, for no consideration, to not redeem any DTOC securities held by them in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination. The Insider are also obligated to vote in favor of the Business Combination.
- Our Sponsor made an investment for the Founder Shares at an average price per share of approximately $0.003 prior to the consummation of the IPO. As a result, even if the trading price of the New AON Class A common stock significantly declines, the value of the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor will be significantly greater than the amount the Sponsor paid to purchase such shares. Given the differential in the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the Founder Shares and the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the private placement warrants as compared to the price of the public shares and public warrants and the substantial number of New AON Class A common stock that the holders of the Founder Shares will receive upon conversion of the Founder Shares and the private placement warrants, the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders can earn a positive return on their investment, even if other DTOC stockholders have a negative return on their investment in New AON.
- DTOC's Existing Charter includes a limited waiver of the corporate opportunity doctrine, and any other analogous doctrine, that would otherwise apply to directors and officers of DTOC unless a corporate opportunity is offered to a director or officer solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of DTOC and such opportunity is one DTOC is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for DTOC to pursue. The potential conflict of interest relating to the limited waiver of the corporate opportunities doctrine in DTOC's Existing Charter did not impact DTOC's search for an acquisition target and DTOC was not prevented from reviewing any opportunities as a result of such waiver.

SUMMARY OF THE EXCHANGE OFFER AND CONSENT SOLICITATION

Exchange Offer	The Board of Managers of AON has authorized and approved the issuance to its employees (which includes certain employees of AON that are holders of practice profit pool interests) of up to 460 AON Class B-1 units that have the same rights, terms and restrictions of the other AON Class B units issued and outstanding under AON's operating agreement, but that will vest only upon the consummation of the Business Combination (the "AON Class B-1 units"). DTOC is offering to exchange AON Class B-1 units tendered by holders on or prior to the Expiration Date (as defined herein), upon the terms and conditions described in this prospectus and the related Letter of Transmittal and as permitted under the terms of the Exchange Offer. Subject to the satisfaction or waiver of all conditions to the Exchange Offer, AON Class B-1 units that are validly tendered and not validly withdrawn will be accepted for exchange in accordance with the terms of the Exchange Offer.
Purpose of the Exchange Offer	DTOC and AON intend to undertake a series of transactions (the "Business Combination") resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. The purpose of the Exchange Offer is to incentivize retention of AON employee following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders. See "General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation."
Exchange Ratio	For each AON Class B-1 unit tendered by a holder, DTOC will issue a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock.
Consent Solicitation; Proposed Amendments	Concurrently with the Exchange Offer, DTOC and AON are also soliciting consents from the holders of AON Class B-1 units to certain amendments to the terms of the awards and the unit grant agreements pursuant to which the AON Class B-1 units were granted (the "Consent Solicitation") to provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all outstanding AON Class B-1 units into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder (collectively, the "Proposed Amendments"). Holders may not deliver consents to the Proposed Amendments without tendering their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer, and holders may not tender their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer without delivering the related consents. The tender of AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer will be deemed to automatically constitute delivery of a consent to the Proposed Amendments with respect to the AON Class B-1 units tendered.

Consequences of Failure to Exchange the AON Class B-1 units

You will continue to hold AON Class B-1 units if:

- You do not tender your AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer; or
- You tender your AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer and they are not accepted for exchange.

Accordingly, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be reclassified into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units. In addition, under the terms of AON's Class B-1 unit award agreements to its employees, vesting of the Class B-1 Units is subject to closing of the Business Combination, and therefore, if the Business Combination does not close, then the Class B-1 units will be automatically cancelled.

However, if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer. As a result of the Proposed Amendments, even if a holder does not tender its AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer, such holder's AON Class B-1 units may be exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock at the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement.

Market Value for New AON Securities

For purposes of this proxy statement/prospectus, "New AON" means American Oncology Network, Inc. (f/k/a Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.) and its consolidated subsidiaries, after giving effect to the Business Combination, and "New AON Class A common stock" means Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of New AON. As such, there will be no public market for the shares of New AON Class A common stock until following the consummation of the Business Combination.

Currently, the shares of Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of DTOC — or DTOC Class A common stock — are listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market ("Nasdaq") under the symbol "DTOC." The last reported per share price for DTOC Class A common stock was $10.29, as quoted on the Nasdaq Capital Market on June 27, 2023. See "General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Market and Trading Information."

Expiration Date of Exchange Offer

The Exchange Offer will expire on the Expiration Date, which is at midnight, Eastern Time, on [], 2023, unless extended by DTOC at its sole discretion ("Expiration Date").

Settlement Date

The settlement date of the Exchange Offer will occur immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, at which time DTOC will issue shares of New AON Class A common stock in exchange for all AON Class B-1 units properly tendered for exchange in this Exchange Offer at the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio.

Procedure for Participating in the

In all cases, the issuance of shares of New AON Class A common

Exchange Offer	stock will be made only after timely receipt by AON of the AON Class B-1 units Letter of Transmittal, properly completed and duly executed, and all other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal. By signing or agreeing to be bound by the Letter of Transmittal and all other documents required thereby, you will represent to DTOC that, among other things: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • you own all right, title and interest in and to the AON Class B-1 units tendered, or will own all right, title and interest in and to the AON Class B-1 units upon vesting thereof; and • you have no arrangement or understanding with any person to participate in the distribution of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock (or any shares of New AON Class A common stock into which such shares of DTOC Class A common stock shall convert upon consummation of the Business Combination). Please do not send Letters of Transmittal to DTOC. Letters of Transmittal should be sent to AON only, at its office as indicated under "General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Exchange Offer Contact Information" in this prospectus and in the Letter of Transmittal. AON can answer your questions regarding how to tender your AON Class B-1 units.
Withdrawal of Tenders	Your right to tender any AON Class B-1 units will expire at the Expiration Date. You can withdraw the tender of your AON Class B-1 units in connection with the Exchange Offer at any time before the Expiration Date. The withdrawal of a tender of AON Class B-1 units automatically constitutes the withdrawal of the related consent. However, if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer. As a result of the Proposed Amendments, even if a holder withdraws its tender of its AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer, such holder's AON Class B-1 units may be exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock at the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement.
Acceptance of New AON Class A Common Stock and Delivery of AON Class B-1 units	DTOC will accept any and all outstanding AON Class B-1 units that are properly tendered in this Exchange Offer on or before midnight, Eastern Time, on the Expiration Date, if all the conditions to the completion of this Exchange Offer are satisfied or waived. DTOC will deliver shares of New AON Class A common stock to you promptly after the Expiration Date and the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement and completion of the Business Combination. See "General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation."
Return of AON Class B-1 units	If DTOC does not accept any AON Class B-1 units tendered in the Exchange Offer for any reason described in the terms and conditions of the Exchange Offer or if any AON Class B-1 units tendered are withdrawn pursuant to the terms of the Exchange Offer, DTOC will return such AON Class B-1 units without expense to the holder.
Conditions to the Exchange Offer	The Exchange Offer is subject to the conditions discussed under

Extensions; Waivers and Amendments; Termination	“General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Conditions to the Exchange Offer,” including that (1) at least a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units shall have been validly tendered and not validly withdrawn in the Exchange Offer, (2) the registration statement, of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms a part, shall have become effective under the Securities Act and not be subject to a stop order, and (3) no proceedings for that purpose shall have been instituted or be pending or, to DTOC’s knowledge, be contemplated or threatened by the SEC. DTOC also will not be required, but reserves the right, to waive any of the conditions to this Exchange Offer, other than the condition relating to the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms a part and such registration statement not being subject to a stop order or any proceedings for that purpose. DTOC has the right, in its sole discretion, to terminate or withdraw the Exchange Offer if any of the conditions described in this proxy statement/prospectus are not satisfied or waived. See “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Procedures for Participating in the Exchange Offer — Conditions to the Exchange Offer.”
Agent for Exchange Offer	Subject to applicable law, DTOC reserves the right to (a) extend the Exchange Offer, (b) waive any and all conditions to or amend the Exchange Offer in any respect (except as to the condition that the registration statement of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms a part, having become effective under the Securities Act and such registration statement not being subject to a stop order or any proceedings for that purpose, which conditions DTOC cannot waive); or (c) terminate the Exchange Offer. Any extension, waiver, amendment or termination will be followed as promptly as practicable by a public announcement thereof, such announcement, in the case of an extension, to be issued no later than 9:00 a.m. Eastern Time, on the next business day after the last previously scheduled Expiration Date. See “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Procedures for Participating in the Exchange Offer — Conditions to the Exchange Offer.” AON is serving as the agent in connection with the Exchange Offer. - “Trust Agreement Amendment” means an amendment to the Trust Agreement to allow the extension of the Combination Period from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and the option to further extend the date by which DTOC has to consummate a business combination beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional (1) month each time to September 30, 2023.
- “Trustee” means Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, a New York corporation.
- “Warrant Agreement” means the Warrant Agreement, dated March 9, 2021, between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company and DTOC.
- “Warrants” means the Private Placement Warrants and the Public Warrants.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE PROPOSALS FOR OUR STOCKHOLDERS, THE SPECIAL MEETING AND THE EXCHANGE OFFER AND CONSENT SOLICITATION

The questions and answers below highlight only selected information from this document and only briefly address some commonly asked questions about the Proposals to be presented at the Special Meeting, including with respect to the Business Combination, and the Exchange Offer and the Consent Solicitation. The following questions and answers do not include all the information that is important to our stockholders or AON unitholders. We urge our stockholders to read this proxy statement/prospectus, including the Annexes and the accompanying financial statements of DTOC and AON carefully and in their entirety to fully understand the Business Combination, the Exchange Offer, the Consent Solicitation and the voting procedures for the Special Meeting, which will be held on _____, at _____, Eastern Time, virtually, accessible at <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, or at such other time, on such other date and at such other place to which the meeting may be adjourned or postponed.

Questions and Answers about the Proposals and the Special Meeting

Q: Why am I receiving this proxy statement/prospectus?

A: Our stockholders are being asked to consider and vote upon, among other Proposals, the approval and adoption of the Business Combination Agreement and approval of the Business Combination. The Business Combination contemplates that, among other things, DTOC and AON will undertake a series of transactions resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON.

The number of shares of our Class A common stock that will be owned by our Sponsor and public stockholders, and therefore the percentage ownership of New AON by the Sponsor and public stockholders, is not currently known, and will depend on, among other things, the level of redemptions of shares of DTOC Class A common stock by our public stockholders, total number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock that will be issued to AEA Growth and the level of participation by holders of AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer. For further details, see “The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement.” A copy of the Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A and you are encouraged to read it carefully and in its entirety.

THE VOTE OF STOCKHOLDERS IS IMPORTANT. STOCKHOLDERS ARE ENCOURAGED TO VOTE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER READING THIS PROXY STATEMENT/PROSPECTUS, INCLUDING THE ANNEXES AND THE ACCOMPANYING FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF DTOC AND THE COMPANY, CAREFULLY AND IN ITS ENTIRETY.

Q: When and where is the Special Meeting?

A: The Special Meeting will be held virtually on _____, at _____, Eastern Time, accessible at <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, or at such other time, on such other date and at such other place to which the meeting may be adjourned or postponed.

Q: What are the specific Proposals on which I am being asked to vote at the Special Meeting?

A: In addition to voting on the Business Combination Proposal, DTOC is asking stockholders to consider and vote upon the following Proposals:

1. the Listing Proposal;
2. the Charter Amendment Proposal;
3. the Advisory Governance Proposal;
4. the Director Election Proposal;
5. the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal; and

6. the Adjournment Proposal.

If our stockholders do not approve each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Director Election Proposal and the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal (collectively, the "Condition Precedent Proposals"), then the Business Combination may not be consummated. See "Proposal No. 1 — The Business Combination Proposal," "Proposal No. 2 — The Listing Proposal," "Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal," "Proposal No. 5 — The Director Election Proposal," and "Proposal No. 6 — The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal."

We will hold the Special Meeting to consider and vote upon these Proposals. This proxy statement/prospectus contains important information about the Business Combination and the other matters to be acted upon at the Special Meeting. Our stockholders should read it carefully and in its entirety.

After careful consideration, the DTOC Board has determined that the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal are in the best interests of DTOC and its stockholders and unanimously recommends that you vote or give instruction to vote "FOR" each of the Proposals.

Only holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock are entitled to vote on the Director Election Proposal. All of the shares of DTOC Class B Common Stock are held by the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders and DTOC's directors and officers, and the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders and DTOC's directors and officers have agreed to vote their shares in favor of the Director Election Proposal.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of DTOC's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what they may believe is in the best interests of DTOC and its stockholders and what they may believe is best for themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the Proposals. See "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination" for a further discussion of these considerations.

Q: Are the Proposals conditioned on one another?

A: Yes. The consummation of the Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of each of the Condition Precedent Proposals at the Special Meeting. Each of the Condition Precedent Proposals is cross-conditioned on the approval of each other. The Advisory Governance Proposal and Adjournment Proposal are neither conditioned upon nor a condition to the approval of any other Proposal.

Q: Why is DTOC proposing the Business Combination?

A: DTOC was organized to effect a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or other similar business combination with one or more businesses. On March 12, 2021, DTOC completed its initial public offering ("IPO"), generating gross proceeds of $333.5 million. Since DTOC's IPO, DTOC's activity has been limited to the evaluation of business combination candidates.

Based on its due diligence investigations of AON and the industry in which it operates, including the financial and other information provided by AON in the course of our due diligence investigations, our board of directors believes that the Business Combination with AON is in the best interests of us and our stockholders and presents an opportunity to increase stockholder value. However, there is no assurance of this. See "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination" for additional information.

Although our board of directors believes that the Business Combination with AON presents a unique business combination opportunity and is in the best interests of us and our stockholders, our board of directors did consider certain potentially material negative factors in arriving at that conclusion. These factors are discussed in greater detail in the section titled "The Business Combination and The Business Combination Agreement — Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination,” as well as in the sections titled “Risk Factors — Risks Related to Our Business.”

Q: What consideration is being provided for the Business Combination?

A: The Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
- on the Closing, AON will adopt the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock in an amount equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class C units into AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the greater of (a) the number of AON common units issuable upon conversion of each of the AON Class C units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor pursuant to the AON LLC Agreement as of the Closing, multiplied by the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio and (b) the aggregate Class C Liquidation Preference (as defined in the AON LLC Agreement) per AON Class C unit as of Closing divided by $10.00 (the “Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio”);

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units;

- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON’s subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “Practice Profit Pool Shares”). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will adopt the Proposed Charter to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of New AON preferred stock in an amount sufficient for the consideration to be issued in the First Step (as defined below) and (ii) file a certificate of designation (the “New AON Series A Certificate of Designations”) pursuant to which New AON will create and designate a new series of New AON preferred stock as Series A convertible preferred stock (the “New AON Series A Preferred Stock”) with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations; and
- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

Q: What equity stake will current stockholders of DTOC, AEA Growth, and AON hold in us after the Closing?

A: As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there are 10,184,569 shares of our common stock outstanding, which includes the 8,337,500 Founder Shares held by the Sponsor and members of our Board and management team (the "Initial Stockholders") and 1,847,069 public shares. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there is outstanding an aggregate of 14,450,833 warrants, which includes 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants held by the Sponsor and approximately 8,337,500 Public Warrants. Each whole warrant entitles the holder thereof to purchase one share of our Class A common stock.

The following table illustrates varying ownership levels in New AON immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination, assuming a _____, 2023 Closing Date, assuming the varying levels of redemptions by the public stockholders, and 100% participation in the Exchange Offer by holders of AON Class B-1 units. If the actual facts are different from these assumptions, the below levels of ownership interest will be different.

	Number of Shares	Assuming No Additional Redemptions of Public Shares ⁽¹⁾	Number of Shares	Assuming Additional 100% Redemptions of Public Shares ⁽²⁾
DTOC Public Stockholders	1,847,069	4.8%	—	—%
Sponsor and Initial Stockholders ⁽³⁾	11,532,708	26.0%	11,532,708	27.1%
Public Warrants ⁽⁴⁾	8,337,500	17.9%	8,337,500	18.6%
AEA Growth ⁽⁵⁾	6,643,019	14.8%	6,643,019	15.4%
AON Equityholders ⁽⁶⁾	30,974,058	81.0%	30,974,058	85.1%

(1) Assumes that no additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock are redeemed.

(2) Assumes that 1,847,069 shares of DTOC Class A common stock are redeemed.

(3) Assumes the exercise of all Private Placement Warrants for New AON Class A common stock.

(4) Assumes the exercise of all Public Warrants for New AON Class A common stock.

(5) Assumes the conversion of all shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock into New AON Class A common stock immediately following the consummation of the Business Combination.

(6) Assumes 100% participation in the Exchange Offer by holders of AON Class B-1 units.

The ownership percentages set forth above do not take into account the issuance of any shares upon completion of the Business Combination under the Incentive Equity Plan, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex G but does include 75,000 Founder Shares, which, on the effective date of the Business Combination, will be exchanged, on a one-for-one basis, for shares of New AON Class A common stock. If the actual facts are different than the assumptions set forth above, the percentage ownership numbers set forth above will be different.

DTOC's public stockholders that do not elect to redeem their Public Shares will experience dilution as a result of the Business Combination. DTOC's public stockholders currently own 18.3% of the DTOC Class A Common Stock. As noted in the above table, if no public stockholder redeem their Public Shares in the Business Combination, the public stockholders will go from owning 18.3% of the DTOC Class A Common Stock prior to the Business Combination to owning 4.8% of the total shares outstanding of New AON. The public stockholders will not own any shares outstanding of New AON, assuming additional 100% scenario as shown above.

In addition to the changes in percentage ownerships depicted above, variation in the levels of redemption will impact the dilutive effect of certain equity issuances related to the Business Combination. Increasing levels of redemption will increase the dilutive effects of these issuances on non-redeeming public stockholders. See the section entitled "Risk Factors — A DTOC stockholder's decision as to whether to redeem his, her or its shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account may not put the stockholder in a better future economic position".

For more information, please see the sections titled "Summary of the Proxy Statement — Beneficial Ownership of New AON Following the Business Combination" and "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information."

On June 6, 2023, DTOC received a letter from Barclays Capital Inc. ("Barclays"), the sole underwriter of its IPO, gratuitously waiving its deferred underwriting fee with respect to the Business Combination. Barclays did not provide a reason for its waiving of the deferred underwriting fee in connection with the Business Combination.

Q: How is the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio Calculated?

A: The "Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio" is equal to the quotient of (a) the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units participating in the Exchange Offer in such per unit calculation) divided by (b) $10.00.

The net equity value of AON equals the sum of:

- enterprise value of AON (which is fixed at $350 million under the terms of the Business Combination Agreement); minus
- outstanding indebtedness of AON as of the Closing (as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, such indebtedness is estimated to equal approximately $81.3 million and is subject to change); plus
- cash and cash equivalents of AON as of the Closing (such cash and cash equivalents as of March 31, 2023 was approximately $23.8 million); plus
- short term investments of AON as of the Closing (such short term investments as of March 31, 2023 was approximately $9.9 million); minus
- the dollar value of New AON Class A common stock allocated to AON's practice profit pool (as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, such amount is estimated to equal approximately $15.5 million); plus
- cumulative value of all individual distribution thresholds applicable to the AON Class B units, without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units participating in the Exchange Offer in such per unit calculation (as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, such cumulative value is estimated to equal approximately $2.5 million).

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units. As described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, it is also proposed that the holders of AON Class B-1 units exchange into the Exchange Offer, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder.

AON enterprise value;	$ 350.0 million
minus
AON closing indebtedness;	$ 81.3 million
plus
AON closing cash estimated as of Closing;	$ 23.8 million
plus
AON short term investments as of Closing;	$ 9.9 million
minus
AON practice profit pool amount	$ 15.5 million
Equity consideration to AON unitholders	287.0 million
plus
Sum of distribution thresholds (excluding B-1 units participating in Exchange Offer)	$ 2.5 million
Net equity value of AON	$289.5 million
divided by
Outstanding AON units (excluding B-1 units participating in Exchange Offer)	10,951
Net equity value per AON unit	$ 26,432
divided by
Price per share of DTOC Class A common stock	$ 10.00
Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio	2,643

Q: What will happen in the Business Combination?

- A: The Business Combination contemplates that, among other things and subject to the terms and conditions contained in the Business Combination Agreement, DTOC and AON will undertake a series of transactions resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, sometimes referred to as an “Up-C” structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. In addition, upon the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter, DTOC will be renamed “American Oncology Network, Inc.” and is referred to herein as “New AON” following the consummation of the Business Combination. For further details, see “The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement.”

A copy of the Business Combination Agreement is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A and you are encouraged to read it carefully and in its entirety.

Q: What is an umbrella partnership C-corporation or an “Up-C” structure?

- A: The structure of the combined company following the Business Combination is often referred to as an umbrella partnership C-corporation or an “Up-C” structure, which is often used by entities classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, such as AON, undertaking an initial public offering, an initial business combination with a SPAC or other going-public transactions. The Up-C structure allows the existing equityholders of AON to retain their equity ownership in AON LLC, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of common units and New AON Class B common stock and Class B Prefunded Warrants, which provides certain tax benefits. One of these benefits is that, for United States federal (and applicable state and local) income purposes, future taxable income of AON LLC that is allocated to the equityholders of AON LLC, will be taxed on a flow-through basis and AON LLC generally will not be subject to entity-level U.S. federal income tax.

Q: Following the Business Combination, will DTOC's securities continue to trade on a stock exchange?

A: Yes. We intend to apply to continue the listing of our Class A common stock and warrants on Nasdaq, or another reputable national securities exchange mutually determined by DTOC and AON, under the symbols "AONC" and "AONCW," respectively, upon the Closing.

Q: Will the management of DTOC change in the Business Combination?

A: We anticipate that the officers of New AON will be the current executive officers of AON. Additionally, pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, New AON has agreed to take all necessary action such that immediately following the Closing, the New AON Board will include one or two director nominees to be designated by the Sponsor, who must be reasonably acceptable to AON, and a number of additional director nominees to be designated by AON, who must be selected after reasonable consultation with the Sponsor. In addition, holders of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be entitled to appoint one Class I director to the New AON Board, subject to certain limitations (the "Preferred Director"). The Preferred Director may be removed without cause by, and only by, the affirmative vote of holders of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock. Please see the section titled "Management of New AON After the Business Combination" for additional information.

Q: What conditions must be satisfied to complete the Business Combination?

A: The obligation of the parties to consummate the Business Combination is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (a) the approval of the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions by the DTOC stockholders, (b) the continued validity and effectiveness of the written consent of the AON equityholders approving the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions, (c) the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the other party contained in the Business Combination Agreement (generally subject to certain materiality qualifiers), (d) the performance in all material respects by the other party of its covenants and other agreements under the Business Combination Agreement as of or prior to the Closing, (e) the receipt of certain required regulatory consents or approvals with respect to the Business Combination, and (f) the listing of the shares of New AON Class A common stock on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties.

For more information about conditions to the consummation of the Business Combination, see "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Conditions to the Business Combination."

Q: Will there be a PIPE financing in connection with the Business Combination?

A: No. On June 7, 2023, AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor closed the investment contemplated under the Unit Purchase Agreement (the "Series A Investment"), pursuant to which the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 AON Class C units at an aggregate purchase price of $65 million. Under the Unit Purchase Agreement, the AON Class C Preferred Investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the Closing of the Business Combination, at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. In connection with the Series A Investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement, to among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units and issue such units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor. In connection with such closing, on June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC also amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the First Step, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60 million. As a result of these mergers, New AON will hold 100% of the AON Series A preferred units. As a result of the Series A Investment, there will no longer be any additional equity or equity-linked financings, including pursuant to a PIPE, in connection with the Business Combination. New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible into shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Certificate of Designations of Series A Preferred Stock of New AON (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") to be adopted by the New AON Board immediately prior to the Closing.

Q: When do you expect the Business Combination to be completed?

A: It is currently expected that the Business Combination will be consummated in the second half of 2023. This date depends, among other things, on the approval of the Proposals to be put to DTOC's stockholders at the Special Meeting and certain regulatory approvals. However, such meeting could be adjourned if the Adjournment Proposal is adopted by DTOC's stockholders at the Special Meeting and DTOC elects to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason in connection with, the approval of one or more of the other Proposals at the Special Meeting. For a description of the conditions for the completion of the Business Combination, see "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement."

Q: What happens if the Business Combination is not consummated?

A: If DTOC is not able to complete the Business Combination with the Company by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) and is not able to complete another business combination by such date, DTOC will (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter subject to lawfully available funds therefor, redeem 100% of the public shares in consideration of a per share price, payable in cash, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing (A) the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest not previously released to DTOC to pay its franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of such net interest to pay dissolution expenses), by (B) the total number of then outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of DTOC's remaining stockholders and the DTOC Board in accordance with applicable law, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to DTOC's obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and other requirements of applicable law.

Q: How many votes do I have at the Special Meeting?

A: Our Class A stockholders and Class B stockholders are entitled to one vote on each Proposal presented at the Special Meeting (except that only Class B stockholders are entitled to vote on the Director Election Proposal) for each share of our common stock held of record as of _____, the record date for the Special Meeting. As of the close of business on the record date, there were _____ outstanding shares of our common stock (including _____ shares of our Class B common stock).

Q: Did the DTOC Board obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in determining whether or not to proceed with the Business Combination?

A: No. The DTOC Board did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with its determination to approve the Business Combination. The DTOC Board believes that based upon the financial skills and background of its directors, it was qualified to conclude that the Business Combination was fair from a financial perspective to its stockholders. The DTOC Board also determined, without seeking a valuation from a financial advisor, that AON's fair market value was at least 80% of the net assets held in the trust account (excluding deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on the interest earned on the trust account). Accordingly, investors will be relying on the judgment of the DTOC Board as described below in valuing AON's business and assuming the risk that the DTOC Board may not have properly valued such business.

Q: Do I have redemption rights?

A: If you are a holder of public shares, you have the right to request that we redeem all or a portion of your public shares for cash provided that you follow the procedures and deadlines described elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. Public stockholders may elect to redeem all or a portion of the public shares held by them regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the Business Combination Proposal or any other Proposal set forth herein. If you wish to exercise your redemption rights, see the answer to the next question: "How do I exercise my redemption rights?"

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such public stockholder or any other person with whom such public stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public stockholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

The Insiders agreed at the time of DTOC's IPO to waive their redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to all shares of our common stock they may hold.

Q: How do I exercise my redemption rights?

A: In order to exercise your redemption rights, you must, prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____ (two business days before the Special Meeting), (x) submit a written request, which includes the name of the beneficial owner of the shares to be redeemed, to our transfer agent that we redeem your public shares for cash, and (y) deliver your stock to our transfer agent physically or electronically through the Depository Trust Company, or DTC. The address of Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, our transfer agent, is listed under the question "Who can help answer my questions?" below.

Any demand for redemption, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the date of the Special Meeting. After the date of the Special Meeting, a demand for redemption may only be withdrawn with the Company's written consent. If you deliver your shares for redemption to our transfer agent and decide within the required timeframe not to exercise your redemption rights, you may request that our transfer agent return the shares to you (physically or electronically). You may make such request by contacting our transfer agent at the address listed under the question "Who can help answer my questions?" below.

Q: If I am a holder of units, can I exercise redemption rights with respect to my units?

A: No. Holders of outstanding units must elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants prior to exercising redemption rights with respect to the public shares. If you hold your units through a broker, bank or other nominee, you must notify your broker, bank or other nominee that you elect to separate the units into the underlying public shares and warrants, or if you hold units registered in your own name, you must contact our transfer agent directly and instruct them to do so. You are requested to cause your public shares to be separated and delivered to our transfer agent, by 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____ (two business days before the Special Meeting) in order to exercise your redemption rights with respect to your public shares.

Q: If I am a holder of warrants, can I exercise redemption rights with respect to my warrants?

A: No. The holders of our warrants have no redemption rights with respect to our warrants or any shares of our common stock underlying our warrants. However, if any such holders choose to redeem their Public Shares, those holders may still exercise their Public Warrants if the Business Combination is consummated.

For instance, assuming that no more than 461,767 public shares, representing approximately 1.4% of the public shares issued in connection with the IPO, and assuming that each redeeming public stockholder holds one-fourth of one Public Warrant for each public share being redeemed (representing the number of Public Warrants included in each DTOC unit) and using the closing warrant price on Nasdaq of $0.089 as of June 8, 2023, the aggregate fair value of the Public Warrants that can be retained by redeeming stockholders is approximately $10,274. The actual market price of the warrants may be higher or lower on the date that warrant holders seek to sell such warrants. Additionally, DTOC cannot assure the holders of warrants that they will be able to sell their warrants in the open market as there may not be sufficient liquidity in such securities when warrant holders wish to sell their warrants. Further, while the level of redemptions of public shares will not directly change the value of the warrants because the warrants will remain outstanding regardless of the level of redemptions, as redemptions of public shares increase, the holder of warrants who exercises such warrants will ultimately own a greater interest in New AON because there would be fewer shares outstanding overall.

Q: How do the Public Warrants differ from the Private Placement Warrants and what are the related risks for any Public Warrant holders post-Business Combination?

A: The Public Warrants are identical to the Private Placement Warrants, except that, so long as the Private Placement Warrants are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees: (1) they will not be redeemable by DTOC except under certain circumstances as described below; (2) they (including the shares of Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of these warrants) may not, subject to certain limited exceptions, be transferred, assigned or sold by the Sponsor until 30 days after the completion of the Business Combination; (3) they may be exercised by the holders on a cashless basis; and (4) they (including the shares of Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of these warrants) are entitled to registration rights.

Following the Closing, New AON may redeem the Public Warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to you. More specifically:

- New AON will have the ability to redeem outstanding Public Warrants at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at a price of $0.01 per Public Warrant, provided that the closing price of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant) for any 20 trading days within a 30 trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the warrant holders (which we refer to as the "Reference Value"), provided that certain other conditions are met.
- New AON will also have the ability to redeem the Public Warrants at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at a price of $0.10 per Public Warrant, provided the Reference Value of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant), provided that during the 30-day period following notice of the redemption, holders of the Public Warrants will be entitled to exercise such warrants on a "cashless basis" and to receive a number of shares of New AON Class A common stock determined by reference to a make-whole table. Please see the subsection entitled "Description of Securities — Public Stockholders' Warrants". If the Reference Value of the New AON Class A common stock is less than $18.00 per share, subject to certain adjustments, the Private Placement Warrants must also be concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding Public Warrants. The value received upon exercise of the Public Warrants (1) may be less than the value the holders would have received if they had exercised their Public Warrants at a later time where the underlying share price is higher and (2) may not compensate the holders for the value of the Public Warrants, including because the number of shares received is capped at 0.361 shares of New AON Class A common stock per whole warrant (subject to adjustment) irrespective of the remaining life of the Public Warrants.

As of _____, 2023, the closing price for a share of DTOC common stock was $ _____. Assuming that the shares New AON Class A common stock trade at the same price after the Closing, New AON will not be able to redeem the Public Warrants prior to their exercise. However, if the price thresholds described above are met or exceeded, redemption of the outstanding Public Warrants could force holders (i) to exercise the Public Warrants and pay the exercise price therefor at a time when it may be disadvantageous to do so, (ii) to sell the Public Warrants at the then-current market price when the holder might otherwise wish to hold its warrants or (iii) to accept the nominal redemption price which, at the time the outstanding Public Warrants are called for redemption, is likely to be substantially less than the market value of the Public Warrants.

In the event that New AON elects to redeem all of the redeemable warrants as described above, it will fix a date for the redemption. Notice of redemption will be mailed by first class mail, postage prepaid, by

New AON not less than 30 days prior to the redemption date to the registered holders of the Public Warrants to be redeemed at their last addresses as they appear on the registration books. Any notice mailed in the manner provided in the Warrant Agreement shall be conclusively presumed to have been duly given whether or not the registered holder received such notice. In addition, beneficial owners of the redeemable warrants will be notified of such redemption via New AON's posting of the redemption notice to DTC.

Q: Can the Sponsor redeem its Founder Shares in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination?

A: No. The Sponsor has agreed to waive its redemption rights in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination with respect to all of the Founder Shares in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination.

Q: Is there a limit on the number of shares I may redeem?

A: Yes. A public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such public stockholder or any other person with whom such public stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public stockholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash. However, in no event is your ability to vote all of your shares (including those shares held by you or by a "group" in excess of 15% of the shares sold in DTOC's IPO) for or against our Business Combination restricted.

Q: Is there a limit on the total number of shares that may be redeemed?

A: No.

Q: Will how I vote affect my ability to exercise redemption rights?

A: No. Stockholders may elect to redeem all or a portion of the public shares held by them regardless of if or how they vote in respect of the Business Combination Proposal or any other Proposal set forth herein. As a result, the Business Combination Agreement can be approved by stockholders who will redeem their shares and no longer remain stockholders, leaving stockholders who choose not to redeem their shares holding shares in a company with a potentially less-liquid trading market, fewer stockholders, potentially less cash and the potential inability to meet the listing standards of Nasdaq or another reputable national securities exchange.

Q: Do I have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination?

A: No. Neither our stockholders nor our warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination under the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "DGCL").

Q: What are the U.S. federal income tax consequences of exercising my redemption rights?

A: The tax consequences of a redemption will depend on each stockholder's particular facts and circumstances, and each stockholder is urged to consult its tax advisor with respect to such consequences. We expect that a stockholder that exercises its redemption rights to receive cash in exchange for its DTOC common stock will generally be treated as selling such shares, resulting in the recognition of capital gain or capital loss. However, depending on the amount of stock of DTOC that a stockholder owns or is deemed to own (including through the ownership of DTOC warrants), there may be certain circumstances in which the redemption is treated as a distribution for U.S. federal income tax purposes, which would result in different tax consequences. For a more complete discussion of the U.S. federal income tax considerations of an exercise of redemption rights, see the section titled "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations."

Q: What happens to the funds deposited in the Trust Account after consummation of the Business Combination?

A: Following the closing of DTOC's IPO, an amount equal to $333,500,000 ($10.00 per unit) of the net proceeds from DTOC's IPO and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants was placed in the Trust Account. As of June 7, 2023, funds in the Trust Account totaled $19,181,938.82. These funds will remain in the Trust Account, except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes, if any, until the earliest of (1) the completion of a business combination (including the Closing), (2) the redemption of any public shares properly tendered in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the current charter to modify the substance or timing of DTOC's obligation to redeem 100% of its public shares if it does not complete its initial business combination by June 30, 2023; and (3) the redemption of all of the public shares if DTOC is unable to complete its initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), subject to applicable law.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, we intend to pay certain expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions using cash held in the Trust Account. If any of the funds released from the Trust Account are not used to fund the fees and expenses relating to the Business Combination and other transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, or to fund redemptions of our common stock, they will be used for general corporate purposes of the combined company, which may include repayment of indebtedness.

Q: What do I need to do now?

A: Whether or not you plan to participate in the virtual Special Meeting, we urge you to read this proxy statement/prospectus (including the Annexes) carefully, including the section titled "Risk Factors," and to consider how the Business Combination will affect you as a stockholder. You should then vote as soon as possible in accordance with the instructions provided in this proxy statement/prospectus and on the enclosed proxy card or, if you hold your shares through a brokerage firm, bank or other nominee, on the voting instruction form provided by the broker, bank or other nominee.

Q: How do I vote?

A: If you were a holder of record of our common stock on _____, the record date for the Special Meeting, you may vote online during the Special Meeting or any adjournment thereof by accessing <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, or by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided in accordance with the instructions set forth on the enclosed proxy card. If you hold your shares in "street name," which means your shares are held of record by a broker, bank or other nominee, you should follow the instructions provided to you by your broker, bank or other nominee to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly represented and voted at the Special Meeting. In this regard, you must provide the record holder of your shares with instructions on how to vote your shares or, if you wish to participate in the virtual Special Meeting and vote online during the Special Meeting, obtain a legal proxy from your broker, bank or other nominee and email a copy (a legible photograph is sufficient) of your legal proxy to proxy@continentalstock.com.

Q: If my shares are held in "street name," will my broker, bank or other nominee automatically vote my shares for me?

A: No. If your shares are held in a stock brokerage account or by a bank or other nominee, you are considered the "beneficial holder" of the shares held for you in what is known as "street name." If this is the case, this proxy statement/prospectus may have been forwarded to you by your broker, bank or other nominee, or its agent, and you may need to obtain a proxy form from the institution that holds your shares and follow the instructions included on that form regarding how to instruct your broker, bank or other nominee as to how to vote your shares. Under the rules of various national and regional securities exchanges, your broker, bank or other nominee cannot vote your shares with respect to non-discretionary matters unless you provide instructions on how to vote in accordance with the information and procedures provided to you by your broker, bank or other nominee. We believe all of the Proposals presented to our stockholders will be considered non-discretionary and therefore your broker, bank or other nominee will not vote your shares without your instruction. Your broker, bank or other nominee can vote your shares only if you provide instructions on how to vote. As the beneficial holder, you have the right to direct your broker, bank or other nominee as to how to vote your shares and you should instruct your broker, bank or other nominee to vote your shares in accordance with directions you provide. If you do not provide voting instructions to your broker, bank or other nominee on a particular Proposal on which your broker, bank or other nominee does not have discretionary authority to vote, your shares will not be voted on that Proposal. This is called a "broker non-vote." An abstention will be counted towards the quorum requirement for each of the Proposals presented at the Special Meeting but a broker non-vote will not. In connection with the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal, broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have no effect on the outcome of the vote. If you are a DTOC stockholder holding your shares in "street name" and you do not instruct your broker, bank or other nominee on how to vote your shares, your broker, bank or other nominee will not vote your shares on the Charter Amendment Proposal. Such broker non-votes will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal.

Q: Who is entitled to vote at the Special Meeting?

A: DTOC has fixed _____ as the record date for the Special Meeting. If you were a stockholder of DTOC at the close of business on the record date, you are entitled to vote on matters that come before the Special Meeting. However, a stockholder may only vote his, her or its shares if he, she or it is present in person virtually or is represented by proxy at the Special Meeting.

Q: What happens if I sell my shares of common stock before the Special Meeting?

A: The record date for the Special Meeting is earlier than the date of the Special Meeting and earlier than the date that the Business Combination is expected to be completed. If you transfer your shares of common stock after the applicable record date, but before the Special Meeting, unless you grant a proxy to the transferee, you will retain your right to vote at the Special Meeting with respect to such shares but the transferee, and not you, will have the ability to redeem such shares (if time permits).

Q: How do I register to participate in the virtual Special Meeting?

A: To register for the virtual Special Meeting, please follow these instructions as applicable to the nature of your ownership of our common stock.

If your shares are registered in your name with our transfer agent and you wish to participate in the online-only virtual meeting, go to <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>, enter the control number you received on your proxy card and click on "Click here" to preregister for the online meeting link at the top of the page. Just prior to the start of the meeting you will need to log back into the meeting site using your control number. Pre-registration is recommended but is not required in order to attend.

Beneficial stockholders who wish to participate in the online-only virtual meeting must obtain a legal proxy by contacting their account representative at the bank, broker, or other nominee that holds their shares and email a copy (a legible photograph is sufficient) of their legal proxy to proxy@continentalstock.com. Beneficial stockholders who email a valid legal proxy will be issued a meeting control number that will allow them to register to attend and participate in the online-only meeting. After contacting our transfer agent, a beneficial holder will receive an email prior to the meeting with a link and instructions for entering the virtual meeting. Beneficial stockholders should contact our transfer agent at least five business days prior to the meeting date.

Q: How do I access the virtual Special Meeting website?

A: You will need your control number for access. If you do not have your control number, contact Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company at the phone number or email address below. Beneficial stockholders who hold shares through a bank, broker or other nominee will need to contact them after obtaining a legal proxy. Once you have your legal proxy, contact Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company to have a control number generated. Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company's contact information is as follows: 917-262-2373, or email proxv@continentalstock.com.

Q: What constitutes a quorum at the Special Meeting?

A: A quorum will be present at the Special Meeting if a majority of the voting power of our outstanding shares of common stock entitled to vote on any of the proposals to be voted on at the Special Meeting are present at the Special Meeting. If a stockholder fails to vote his, her or its shares online during the Special Meeting or by proxy, such shares will not be counted for the purposes of establishing a quorum. If a stockholder who holds his, her or its shares in "street name" through a bank, broker or other nominee fails to give voting instructions to such bank, broker or other nominee (a "broker non-vote") on all of the Proposals set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus, such shares will not be counted for the purposes of establishing a quorum. An abstention from voting shares represented at the Special Meeting in person or by proxy but not voted on one or more Proposals, or a broker non-vote, so long as the stockholder has given the bank, broker or other nominee voting instructions on at least one of the Proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus, will each count as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum. In the absence of a quorum, the chairman of the Special Meeting may adjourn the Special Meeting. As of the record date for the Special Meeting, the presence by virtual attendance or by proxy of shares of our common stock is required to achieve a quorum.

Q: What vote is required to approve each Proposal at the Special Meeting?

A: The approval of each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have no effect on the outcome of the vote.

Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class A common stock and the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, each voting as a separate class, as well as the vote of a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of DTOC common stock, voting together as a single class. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal.

The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a plurality of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting, voting as a single class. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have no effect on the outcome of the vote.

Q: What are the recommendations of the DTOC Board?

A: The DTOC Board believes that the Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals to be presented at the Special Meeting are in the best interest of DTOC's stockholders and unanimously recommends that its stockholders vote "FOR" Proposal No. 1 — The Business Combination Proposal, "FOR" Proposal No. 2 — The Listing Proposal, "FOR" Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal, "FOR" Proposal No. 4 — The Advisory Governance Proposal, "FOR" Proposal No. 5 — The Director Election Proposal, "FOR" Proposal No. 6 — The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal, and "FOR" Proposal No. 7 — The Adjournment Proposal, in each case, if presented to the Special Meeting.

The existence of financial and personal interests of one or more of DTOC's directors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of such director(s) between what they may believe is in the best interests of DTOC and its stockholders and what they may believe is best for himself or themselves in determining to recommend that stockholders vote for the Proposals. See the section titled "The Business Combination and The Business Combination Agreement Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination" for a further discussion of these considerations.

Q: How will the Initial Stockholders and DTOC's directors and officers vote?

A: In connection with DTOC's IPO, we entered into an agreement with each of our Initial Stockholders, pursuant to which they agreed to vote any shares of our common stock owned by them in favor of a proposed initial business combination. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, our Initial Stockholders own approximately 81.9% of our issued and outstanding shares of common stock, including all of the Founder Shares. None of our Initial Stockholders, have entered into agreements, and are not currently in negotiations, to purchase or sell shares prior to the record date.

In addition, in connection with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, on October 5, 2022, Digital Transformation Sponsor, LLC, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders, entered into a Support Agreement (as amended and restated on January 6, 2023, the "Sponsor Support Agreement") with DTOC and AON, pursuant to which the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders agreed to vote any shares of our common stock owned by them (representing as of the date hereof approximately 20% of the outstanding shares of our common stock) in favor of the Business Combination Proposal and other Proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus and presented at the Special Meeting.

Q: May I change my vote after I have mailed my signed proxy card?

A: Yes. You may change your vote by sending a later-dated, signed proxy card to our transfer agent at the address listed under "Who can help answer my questions?" below so that it is received by the transfer agent prior to the Special Meeting, or participate in the virtual Special Meeting and vote online during the Special Meeting. You also may revoke your proxy by sending a notice of revocation to _____ by email at _____ or in writing to Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., 10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126, Los Angeles, CA 90067, or by telephone at (360) 949-1111, which must be received by _____ prior to the Special Meeting. If your shares are held in street name by a broker or other nominee, you must contact the broker or nominee to change your vote.

Q: What will happen if I sign and return my proxy card without indicating how I wish to vote?

A: Signed and dated proxies received by us without an indication of how the stockholder intends to vote on a Proposal will be voted "FOR" each Proposal presented at the Special Meeting or any adjournment thereof.

Q: What will happen if I abstain from voting or fail to vote at the Special Meeting?

A: At the Special Meeting, if you abstain from voting with respect to a particular Proposal, your shares will be counted as present for purposes of establishing a quorum. For purposes of approving the Proposals, failure to vote or an abstention will have no effect on the vote to approve each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal.

Q: If I am not going to participate in the virtual Special Meeting, should I return my proxy card instead?

A: Yes. Whether you plan to participate in the virtual Special Meeting or not, please read this proxy statement/prospectus carefully, and vote your shares by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided in accordance with the instructions set forth on the enclosed proxy card.

Q: What should I do with my stock certificates, warrant certificates or unit certificates?

A: Our stockholders who exercise their redemption rights must deliver (either physically or electronically) their stock certificates to our transfer agent prior to the Special Meeting.

Holders must complete the procedures for electing to redeem their public shares in the manner described above prior to 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on _____, _____ (two business days before the Special Meeting) in order for their shares to be redeemed.

Our warrant holders should not submit the certificates relating to their warrants. Public stockholders who do not elect to have their public shares redeemed for the pro rata share of the Trust Account should not submit the stock certificates relating to their public shares.

Q: What should I do if I receive more than one set of voting materials?

A: DTOC stockholders may receive more than one set of voting materials, including multiple copies of this proxy statement/prospectus and multiple proxy cards or voting instruction cards. For example, if you hold your shares in more than one brokerage account, you will receive a separate voting instruction card for each brokerage account in which you hold shares. If you are a holder of record and your shares are registered in more than one name, you will receive more than one proxy card. Please complete, sign, date and return each proxy card and voting instruction card that you receive in order to cast a vote with respect to all of your shares of our common stock.

Q: Who will solicit and pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the Special Meeting?

A: We will pay the cost of soliciting proxies for the Special Meeting. DTOC has engaged Morrow Sodali LLC ("Morrow Sodali") to assist in the solicitation of proxies for the Special Meeting. DTOC has agreed to pay Morrow Sodali a fee of $12,500, plus disbursements. DTOC will reimburse Morrow Sodali for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses and will indemnify Morrow Sodali and its affiliates against certain claims, liabilities, losses, damages and expenses. DTOC will also reimburse banks, brokers and other custodians, nominees and fiduciaries representing beneficial owners of our common stock for their expenses in forwarding soliciting materials to beneficial owners of our common stock and in obtaining voting instructions from those owners. DTOC's management team may also solicit proxies by telephone, by facsimile, by mail, on the Internet or in person virtually. They will not be paid any additional amounts for soliciting proxies.

Q: Who can help answer my questions relating to the Proposals and the Special Meeting?

A: If you have questions about the Proposals or if you need additional copies of this proxy statement/prospectus or the enclosed proxy card you should contact:

Questions and Answers about the Exchange Offer and the Consent Solicitation

Q: Why is DTOC proposing the Exchange Offer?

A: DTOC and AON intend to undertake the Business Combination, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. The purposes of the Exchange Offer is to incentivize retention of AON employees following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders.

Q: Who may participate in this Exchange Offer?

A: Any holder of AON Class B-1 units during the period this Exchange Offer is open may participate in this Exchange Offer.

Q: How many shares of New AON Class A common stock will I receive for each AON Class B-1 unit that I tender?

A: This Exchange Offer is designed to permit you to exchange your AON Class B-1 units for a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock.

Q: Should I participate in the Exchange Offer?

A: This Exchange Offer represents DTOC's attempt to provide holders of AON's Class B-1 units with an opportunity to receive, on an accelerated timeline, greater value for their Class B-1 units than they would otherwise receive in respect of such Class B-1 units. See "General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation." By participating in the Exchange Offer, holders of AON's Class B-1 units will have the opportunity to receive a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be reclassified into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units. In addition, under the terms of AON's Class B-1 unit award agreements to its employees, vesting of the Class B-1 units is subject to closing of the Business Combination, and therefore, if the Business Combination does not close, then the Class B-1 units will be automatically cancelled.

As of June 27, 2023, each share of DTOC Class A common stock traded at a price of $10.29 per share, although the price of New AON Class A common stock may increase or decrease prior to and following the Closing, and the terms of New AON Class A common stock will vary from the terms of DTOC Class A common stock as set forth in the organizational documents of DTOC. Participation in the Exchange Offer allows holders of AON's Class B-1 units to receive liquid securities that are expected to be listed for trading on the Nasdaq Stock Market.

You must make your own investment decision regarding the Exchange Offer based upon your own assessment of the value of the AON's Class B-1 units, the likely value of the New AON Class A common stock you may receive in the Exchange Offer, your investment objectives and any other factors you deem relevant. See “Risk Factors — Risks Related to the Exchange Offer .”

Q: How is the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio calculated with respect to the AON Class B-1 Units?

- A: The “Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio” is equal to the quotient of (a) the excess of the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units participating in the Exchange Offer in such per unit calculation) over the applicable distribution threshold divided by (b) $10.00.

The distribution threshold applicable to all outstanding AON Class B-1 units is equal to $276 million. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class B-1 units (to the extent not participating in the Exchange Offer or not otherwise directly exchanged into shares of New AON Class A common stock) will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units.

An illustrative calculation of the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio applicable to the AON Class B-1 Units is set forth below:

AON enterprise value;	$ 350.0 million
minus
AON closing indebtedness;	$ 81.3 million
plus
AON closing cash estimated as of Closing;	$ 23.8 million
plus
AON short term investments as of Closing	$ 9.9 million
minus
AON practice profit pool amount	$ 15.5 million
Equity consideration to AON unitholders	287.0 million
plus
Sum of distribution thresholds (excluding B-1 units participating in Exchange Offer)	$ 12.6 million
Net equity value of AON	$299.6 million
divided by
Outstanding AON units (excluding B-1 units participating in Exchange Offer)	11,371
Net equity value per AON unit	$ 26,344
minus
Distribution threshold applicable to AON Class B-1 units	$ 24,267
Excess of net equity value per AON Class B-1 unit over distribution threshold	$ 2,077
divided by
Price per share of DTOC Class A common stock	$ 10.00
Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio	208

Q: Will the shares of New AON Class A common stock to be issued in the Exchange Offer be freely tradable?

- A: Yes. We intend to apply to list the New AON Class A common stock for trading on Nasdaq under the symbol “AONC”, and the shares of New AON Class A common stock to be issued in the Exchange Offer will be freely tradable following the Closing.

Q: Are there any conditions to DTOC’s obligation to complete this Exchange Offer?

- A: Yes. This Exchange Offer is subject to various conditions listed under “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Conditions to the Exchange Offer.” If any of these conditions are not satisfied or waived prior to the expiration of this Exchange Offer, DTOC will not be required to accept shares for exchange and may extend or terminate this Exchange Offer. DTOC may waive any of the conditions to this Exchange Offer prior to the expiration of this Exchange Offer.

Q: When does this Exchange Offer expire?

A: This Exchange Offer will expire, meaning the period during which you are permitted to tender your AON Class B-1 units in this Exchange Offer will end, at midnight, Eastern time, on [], 2023, unless DTOC extends this Exchange Offer. See “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Extension; Waivers and Amendments; Termination.”

Q: Can this Exchange Offer be extended and under what circumstances?

A: Yes. DTOC can extend this Exchange Offer, in its sole discretion, at any time and from time to time. In case of an extension of this Exchange Offer, DTOC will publicly announce the extension no later than 9:00 a.m., Eastern time, on the next business day following the previously scheduled expiration date.

Q: How do I participate in this Exchange Offer?

A: In all cases, the issuance of the shares of New AON Class A common stock pursuant to the Exchange Offer will be made only after timely receipt by AON of:

- Letter of Transmittal properly completed and duly executed; and
- Any other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal.

For specific instructions about how to participate in this Exchange Offer, see “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Procedures for Participating in the Exchange Offer.”

Q: Can I tender only a portion of my AON Class B-1 units in this Exchange Offer?

A: Yes. You may tender all, some or none of your AON Class B-1 units.

Q: What will happen if I do not participate in the Exchange Offer or DTOC fails to accept my AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer?

A: You will continue to hold AON Class B-1 units if:

- You do not tender your AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer; or
- You tender your AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer and they are not accepted for exchange.

Accordingly, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B-1 units and AON Class B units, will be reclassified into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. However, if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer. As a result of the Proposed Amendments, even if a holder does not tender its AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer, such holder’s AON Class B-1 units may be exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units. In addition, under the terms of AON’s Class B-1 unit award agreements to its employees, vesting of the Class B-1 Units is subject to closing of the Business Combination, and therefore, if the Business Combination does not close, then the Class B-1 units will be automatically cancelled.

Q: Can I change my mind after I tender my AON Class B-1 units and before this Exchange Offer expires?

A: Yes. You may withdraw your tendered AON Class B-1 units at any time before this Exchange Offer expires. However, if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer. As a result of the Proposed Amendments, even if a holder withdraws its tender of its AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer, such holder’s AON Class B-1 units may be exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock at the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement. See “General Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation — Procedures for Participating in the Exchange Offer — Withdrawal of Tender and Participation in this Exchange Offer.” If you change your mind again, you can re-tender your AON Class B-1 units by following the tender procedures again prior to the expiration of this Exchange Offer.

Each item in this summary includes a page reference directing you to a more complete description of that item.

Parties to the Business Combination

DTOC and Merger Sub

DTOC is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on November 17, 2020, formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. DTOC's Class A common stock, units and warrants are currently listed on Nasdaq under the symbols "DTOC," "DTCU" and "DTCW," respectively. The mailing address of DTOC's principal executive office is 10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126, Los Angeles, CA 90067, and the telephone number of DTOC's principal executive office is (360) 949-1111.

The registration statement for DTOC's IPO was declared effective on March 9, 2021. On March 12, 2021, it consummated DTOC's IPO of 33,350,000 units generating gross proceeds of $333,500,000. Each unit consisted of one share of DTOC's Class A common stock and one-fourth of one warrant where each whole warrant entitles the holder to purchase one whole share of DTOC Class A common stock.

Simultaneously with the closing of DTOC's IPO, DTOC consummated the sale of 6,113,333 placement units at a price of $1.50 per unit in a private placement to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds of $9,170,000. The Initial Stockholders hold an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock, all of which were issued in a private placement prior to DTOC's IPO.

As of June 7, 2023, there was $19,181,938.82 held in the Trust Account. As of June 7, 2023, DTOC has withdrawn $946,700 from the Trust Account to pay for taxes.

On June 12, 2023, DTOC formed DTOC Merger Sub, Inc., a Delaware corporation and wholly-owned, direct subsidiary of DTOC for purposes of consummating the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement.

AON

AON is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success of community oncology. AON generates revenue primarily by providing patients a variety of services to enhance patient care throughout the healthcare journey: high-quality and timely laboratory services for routine and specialized testing; in-house professional and technical pathology services providing complete, accurate and timely pathology reports; in-house specialty pharmacy with patient education, financial assistance, and 24/7 patient assistance; and care management support services including nutrition guidance. AON has grown significantly since it commenced operations in late 2018 and operates profitably. As of December 31, 2022, AON's net income was $2.59 million and its platform currently includes 106 physicians and 30 practices across 77 locations in 17 states. AON's robust platform provides oncology practices with comprehensive support, access to revenue-diversifying adjacent services, and practice management expertise to empower physicians to make cancer care better.

To increase its revenue, AON's business strategy is to expand the number of oncology clinics and affiliated physicians in its network. AON faces limitations and challenges associated with implementing its business strategy. In order to support such growth, AON must continue to win new contracts and retain or grow existing contracts with payors. AON's Network Practices face competition from other oncology providers. AON competes directly with national, regional and local providers of healthcare for patients and physicians. There are many other companies and individuals currently providing healthcare services, many of which have been in business longer and/or have substantially more resources. In addition, AON also faces competition for physicians and nurses, and there continues to be shortages of qualified personnel in the healthcare industry. Competition for qualified healthcare professionals could limit our ability to execute on our strategy.

AON is subject to various restrictive and financial covenants under its loan agreements with PNC. Compliance with such covenants limits AON's ability to borrow additional amounts for working capital, capital expenditures, research and development efforts, acquisitions, debt service requirements, execution of its business strategy and other purposes and otherwise restrict AON's financing options. If AON's Network Practices are unable to convince potential payors and patients of the benefits of its value-based system, or if potential or existing payors and patients prefer the care provider model of one of its competitors, AON may not be able to effectively implement its growth strategy, which depends on its ability to attract new patient referrals and payors for its Network Practices.

Please see the section "Risks Related to Our Business" beginning on page 65 for a discussion of the risks and challenges that AON faces in operating its business and implementing its strategy.

As is the case with many healthcare providers, AON relies on a limited number of payors for a significant portion of its Network Practices' revenue. If the financial condition of the Network Practices' payors declines, AON's financial results could be impacted. AON's headquarters are located at 14543 Global Pkwy STE 110, Fort Myers, FL 33913, and the telephone number of its headquarters is (833) 886-1725.

AON Class C Preferred Investor

GEF AON Holdings Corp., referred to as the AON Class C Preferred Investor, is a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of AEA Growth. The AON Class C Preferred Investor was formed on April 19, 2023 solely for the purpose of acquiring the AON Series A preferred units and engaging in the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement. The AON Class C Preferred Investor has not engaged in any business activities other than in connection with the transactions described above. Upon the completion of the First Step and the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the separate corporate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease.

The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement

The terms and conditions of the Business Combination are contained in the Business Combination Agreement, which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus. We encourage you to read the Business Combination Agreement carefully, as it is the legal document that governs the Business Combination.

If the Business Combination Agreement is approved and subsequently completed, the Company will become a direct, wholly-owned subsidiary of DTOC.

Summary of the Transaction

The Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
- on the Closing, AON will adopt the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock in an amount equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio;

- existing AON Class C units into the number of AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio;

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, (i) the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units;

- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the "Practice Profit Pool Shares"). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will adopt the Proposed Charter and New AON Series A Certificate of Designations to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of such number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations;
- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units, and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

Related Agreements

This section describes certain additional agreements entered into or to be entered into pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms thereof. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of each of the agreements. Each of the Sponsor Support Agreement, the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement and the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement (or forms thereof) are attached hereto as Annex B, Annex C and Annex D, respectively. You are urged to read such agreements in their entirety prior to voting on the Proposals presented at the Special Meeting.

Sponsor Support Agreement

Contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, DTOC and AON entered into the Sponsor Support Agreement with the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders pursuant to which the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed (a) to vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the Business Combination, (b) not to transfer any shares of DTOC Class A common stock held by it until the twelve month anniversary of the Closing (the "Sponsor Lock-Up Period"), (c) to waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protections with respect to any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination, and (d) not to redeem, or submit a request to redeem, any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder.

In addition, under the Sponsor Support Agreement, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing (the "Sponsor Earnout Shares") to the following vesting and forfeiture provisions for the five-year period following the Closing:

- the Sponsor Earnout Shares will vest when the volume-weighted average price of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $13.50 per share for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period beginning after the Closing and ending 5 years following the Closing;
- all of the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be released immediately upon the consummation of a change of control transaction within the 5-year period following the Closing; and
- if the Sponsor Earnout Shares are not released pursuant to the foregoing provisions on or before the date that is 5 years after the Closing, then the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be forfeited immediately following such date.

The Sponsor Support Agreement will terminate in its entirety, and be of no further force or effect, upon the earliest to occur of (i) the expiration of the Sponsor Lock-Up Period, (ii) the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms and (iii) the written agreement of DTOC, the Sponsor and AON.

For a more detailed discussion, please see "Related Agreements — Sponsor Support Agreement" of this proxy statement/prospectus.

Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement

In connection with the Closing, New AON, the Sponsor and certain key stockholders of New AON will enter into the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement pursuant to which, among other things, New AON will agree to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act, certain shares of New AON Class A common stock and other equity securities of New AON that are held by the parties thereto from time to time.

New AON is required to submit to or file with the SEC within thirty calendar days following the Closing, and to use commercially reasonable efforts to cause to be declared effective as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, a shelf registration statement on Form S-1 covering the resale of all the initial registrable securities (determined as of two business days prior to such submission or filing) on a delayed or continuous basis. In addition, New AON is required to submit to or file with the SEC within ninety calendar days following the Closing, and to use commercially reasonable efforts to cause to be declared effective as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, a registration statement on an appropriate form covering the issuance and resale of additional registrable securities on a delayed or continuous basis.

Following the expiration of the Sponsor Lock-Up Period and the AON Lock-Up Period (as defined below), as applicable, at any time and from time to time when an effective shelf registration statement is on file with the SEC, any holder of registrable securities or the Sponsor may make demand requests for underwritten shelf takedowns with a minimum total offering price that must be reasonably expected to exceed, in the aggregate, $25 million. Notwithstanding the foregoing, demand requests for underwritten shelf takedowns made by AEA Growth or its affiliates are not subject to the $25 million threshold. Each of (i) the Sponsor, (ii) AEA Growth or its affiliates and (iii) the holders other than AEA Growth, collectively may not demand more than (i) two such underwritten shelf takedowns within any twelve-month period or (ii) five underwritten shelf takedowns in the aggregate, in each case subject to certain limitations set forth in the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement also provides customary “piggyback” registration rights. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement provides that New AON will pay certain expenses relating to such registrations and indemnify the stockholders against certain liabilities.

The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement amends and restates the registration and stockholder rights agreement that was entered into by DTOC, the Sponsor and the other parties thereto in connection with DTOC’s IPO. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement will terminate on the earlier of (i) the tenth anniversary of the date of the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement and (ii) with respect to the Sponsor or any holder of registrable securities party thereto, the date that such person no longer holds any registrable securities.

For a more detailed discussion, please see “Related Agreements — Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement” of this proxy statement/prospectus.

Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement

Following the Closing, New AON will operate its business through AON. At the Closing, New AON and the AON equityholders will enter into the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement. The operations of AON, and the rights and obligations of the AON equityholders, will be set forth in the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement.

Management of AON

Under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, AON will be managed by a board of managers consisting of (a) two managers designated by holders of common units representing more than 50% of the total common units entitled to vote (“Non-PubCo Managers”) and (b) three managers designated by New AON (“PubCo Managers”). Except as otherwise specifically required under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, the AON board of managers will manage and control all business activities and operations of AON and control the day-to-day management of the business of AON and its subsidiaries. New AON, without the consent of any holders of common units, shall be entitled to increase or decrease (i) the size of the board of managers and/or (ii) the number of PubCo Managers and Non-PubCo Managers on the board of managers; provided, that the consent of the holders of a majority of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock shall be required before New AON increases or decreases the number of PubCo Managers and/or Non-PubCo Managers in a manner that would result in the PubCo Managers ceasing to represent a majority of the board of managers of the AON.

AON Exchange Rights

Following the earlier of (a) the date that is the six month anniversary of the Closing and (b) the date after the Closing on which New AON consummates a change of control transaction that results in all of New AON’s stockholders having the right to exchange their Class A common stock for cash securities or other property (the period commencing on the Closing and expiring on such date, the “AON Lock-Up Period”), AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right to require AON to redeem all or a portion of their common units, together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (or the partial or full cancellation of a Class B Prefunded Warrant, as applicable), for (i) an equal number of shares of New AON Class A common stock, provided however that, a holder of common units may not exchange their common units for New AON Class A common stock that would result in such holder owning more than 4.99% of the outstanding New AON Class A common stock immediately after such redemption (the “Beneficial Ownership Limitation”) and no more than 4.99% of the voting power of New AON when combined with any securities of New AON or any securities convertible into New AON; provided however, that upon notice to the New AON, the holder may increase or decrease the Beneficial Ownership Limitation, provided that any increase or decrease in the Beneficial Ownership Limitation will not be effective until 61 days following notice of such change from the holder to New AON or (ii) at New AON’s election and solely in connection with New AON’s completion of a substantially concurrent public offering or private sale of shares of New AON Class A common stock within ten business days of the delivery of a redemption notice to AON, a corresponding amount of cash, in each case contributed to AON by New AON. In lieu of a redemption, New AON may elect to effect a direct exchange of cash or shares of New AON Class A common stock for common units (rather than contributing the share or cash amounts, as applicable, to AON for purposes of AON redeeming the redeemed units from the redeeming equityholder). As the AON equityholders cause their common units to be redeemed or exchanged, holding other assumptions constant, New AON's membership interest in AON will correspondingly increase, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock outstanding will increase, and the number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants) will decrease.

Distributions and Allocations

Under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, subject to the obligations of AON to make tax distributions and to reimburse New AON for its corporate and other overhead expenses, the AON board of managers will have the right to determine when distributions will be made to the AON unitholders and the amount of any such distributions. Following completion of the Business Combination, if AON authorizes a distribution, such distribution will be made consistent with the preferred return of any outstanding AON Series preferred unit and to the AON unitholders on a pro rata basis in accordance with their respective percentage ownership of AON common units.

The AON unitholders, including New AON, will generally incur U.S. federal, state and local income taxes on their share of any net taxable income of AON. Net income and losses of AON generally will be allocated consistent with the preferred return of any outstanding AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders on a pro rata basis in accordance with their respective percentage ownership of common units, subject to requirements under U.S. federal income tax law that certain items of income, gain, loss, or deduction be allocated disproportionately in certain circumstances. To the extent the funds of AON are legally available for distribution, and subject to any restrictions contained in any credit agreement to which AON or its subsidiaries is bound, the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will require AON to make pro rata cash distributions to the holder(s) of the AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders, including New AON, in an amount generally intended to allow the holder(s) of the AON Series A preferred unit and the AON unitholders to satisfy their respective income tax liabilities with respect to their allocable share of the income of AON, based on certain assumptions and conventions and increased to the extent necessary, if any, to ensure that the amount distributed to New AON is sufficient to enable New AON to pay its actual tax liabilities. In addition, the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will require AON to reimburse New AON for its corporate and other overhead expenses.

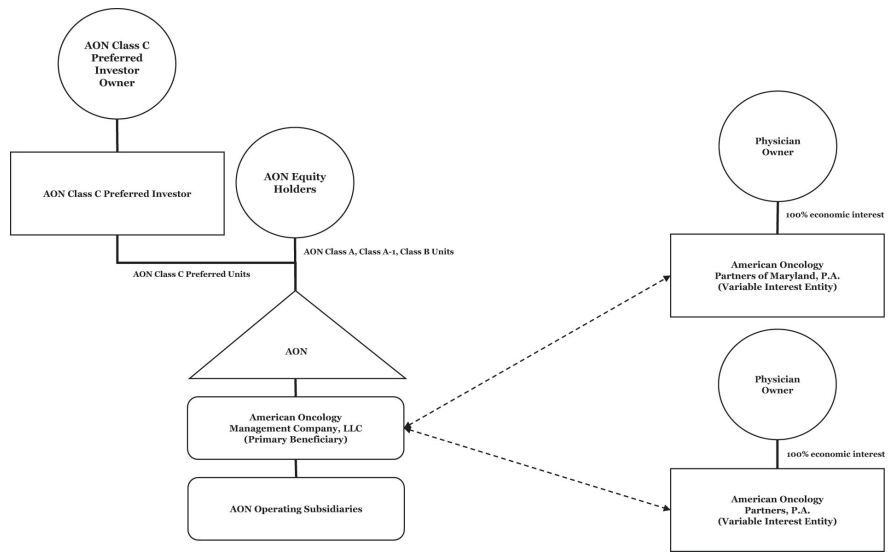

Issuance of Equity

The Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will provide that, except in certain specified circumstances, at any time New AON issues a share of New AON Class A common stock or any other equity security, the net proceeds received by New AON with respect to such issuance, if any, shall be concurrently contributed to AON, and AON shall issue to New AON one AON common unit or other economically equivalent equity interest. Conversely, if at any time, any shares of New AON Class A common stock are redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired, AON shall redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire an equal number of AON common units held by New AON, upon the same terms and for the same price, as the shares of New AON Class A common stock redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired.

For a more detailed discussion, please see "Related Agreements — Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement" of this proxy statement/prospectus.

Redemption Rights

Pursuant to our current charter, holders of our public shares may elect to have their shares redeemed for cash at a redemption price per share calculated in accordance with the Existing Charter. As of June 7, 2023, this would have amounted to approximately $10.39 per share. If a holder of public shares properly exercises his, her or its redemption rights, then such holder will be exchanging his, her or its shares of our common stock for cash and will no longer own such shares. See the section titled "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures" for the procedures to be followed if you wish to redeem your shares for cash and not continue to own our common stock following consummation of the Business Combination.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such public stockholder or any other person with whom such public stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined in Section 13(d)(3) of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if a public stockholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

Any redemptions by our public stockholders will decrease the funds in the Trust Account available to us to consummate the Business Combination and related transactions.

Management of New AON After the Business Combination

The officers of New AON are expected to be the current executive officers of AON. Pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, New AON has agreed to take all necessary action such that immediately following the Closing, the board of directors of New AON will include one or two director nominees to be designated by the Sponsor, who must be reasonably acceptable to AON, and a number of additional director nominees to be designated by AON, who must be selected after reasonable consultation with the Sponsor. In addition, holders of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be entitled to appoint one director to the New AON Board, subject to certain limitations. See "Management of New AON After the Business Combination."

The Proposals

At the Special Meeting, DTOC stockholders will vote on the following Proposals:

- The Business Combination Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Business Combination Agreement and the Business Combination.
- The Listing Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal, for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of Nasdaq (and in the event DTOC and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange), to approve the issuance of New AON common stock, the New AON Series A Preferred Stock and other securities exchangeable into New AON common stock in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement.
- The Charter Amendment Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve and adopt the Proposed Charter.
- The Advisory Governance Proposal — To consider and vote upon, on a non-binding advisory basis, a separate proposal with respect to certain governance provisions in the Proposed Charter, which is being presented separately in accordance with SEC requirements.
- The Director Election Proposal — For the holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock to consider and vote upon a proposal to elect eight directors, effective at the Closing, to serve staggered terms on the New AON Board until the 2024, 2025 and 2026 annual meetings of stockholders and until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified, subject to their earlier death, resignation or removal.
- The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Incentive Equity Plan to be effective after the Closing.

- The Adjournment Proposal — To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the adjournment of the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason permitted by the Business Combination Agreement in connection with, the approval of one or more of the other Proposals at the Special Meeting.

Voting Power, Record Date for Special Meeting

You will be entitled to vote or direct votes to be cast at the Special Meeting if you owned shares of DTOC common stock at the close of business on _____, _____, which is the record date for the Special Meeting. You are entitled to one vote for each share of DTOC Class A common stock and DTOC Class B common stock that you owned as of the close of business on the record date. If your shares are held in "street name" or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker, bank or other nominee to ensure that shares held beneficially by you are voted in accordance with your instructions. On the record date, there were _____ shares of DTOC Class A common stock and _____ shares of DTOC Class B common stock issued and outstanding, of which _____ shares are public shares, _____ are placement shares held by the Sponsor, and _____ are Founder Shares held by the Initial Stockholders.

Expected Accounting Treatment of the Business Combination

We expect the Business Combination to be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under this method of accounting, DTOC is expected to be treated as the "acquired" company for financial reporting purposes. This determination was primarily based on AON's directors comprising a majority of the board seats for New AON's board of directors, AON senior management comprising substantially all of the senior management of the post-combination company, and AON comprising the substantive operations pre-combination as well as the ongoing operations of the post-combination company. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the financial statements of the combined entity will represent a continuation of the financial statements of AON with the Business Combination being treated as the equivalent of AON issuing stock for the net assets of DTOC, accompanied by a recapitalization whereby no goodwill or other intangible assets are recorded.

Appraisal Rights

Neither our stockholders nor our warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination under the DGCL.

Conditions to the Business Combination

The obligation of the parties to consummate the Business Combination is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain customary closing conditions, including, among others, (a) the approval of the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions by the DTOC stockholders, (b) the continued validity and effectiveness of the written consent of the AON equityholders approving the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions, (c) the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the other party contained in the Business Combination Agreement (generally subject to certain materiality qualifiers), (d) the performance in all material respects by the other party of its covenants and other agreements under the Business Combination Agreement as of or prior to the Closing, (e) the receipt of certain required regulatory consents or approvals with respect to the Business Combination, and (f) the listing of the shares of New AON Class A common stock on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties.

See "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Conditions to the Business Combination."

Regulatory Approvals Required for the Business Combination

Under the HSR Act and the rules that have been promulgated thereunder by the FTC, certain transactions may not be consummated unless information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice (“Antitrust Division”) and the FTC and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The Business Combination is subject to these requirements and may not be completed until the expiration of a 30-day waiting period following filings by DTOC and AON of the required Notification and Report Forms with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. On October 21, 2022, DTOC and AON filed the required forms under the HSR Act with respect to the Business Combination with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. The waiting period expired at 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on November 21, 2022.

At any time before or after consummation of the Business Combination, notwithstanding termination of the respective waiting periods under the HSR Act, the Department of Justice or the FTC, or any state or foreign governmental authority could take such action under applicable antitrust laws as such authority deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the consummation of the Business Combination, conditionally approving the Business Combination upon divestiture of assets, subjecting the completion of the Business Combination to regulatory conditions or seeking other remedies. Private parties may also seek to take legal action under the antitrust laws under certain circumstances. DTOC cannot assure you that the Antitrust Division, the FTC, any state attorney general or any other government authority will not attempt to challenge the Business Combination on antitrust grounds, and, if such a challenge is made, DTOC cannot assure you as to its result.

Neither DTOC nor AON is aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions required by regulatory authorities for completion of the Business Combination other than the expiration or early termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act. It is presently contemplated that if any such additional regulatory approvals or actions is required, such approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any approvals or actions, including any such additional approvals or actions, will be obtained.

The regulatory approvals to which completion of the Business Combination are subject are described in more detail in “Regulatory Approvals Required for the Business Combination.”

Termination

The Business Combination Agreement contains the following termination rights:

- the right of the parties to terminate the Business Combination Agreement by mutual agreement;
- the right of AON to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if the AON Board authorizes AON to enter into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction;
- the right of DTOC to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if AON enters into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction without concurrently terminating the Business Combination Agreement;
- the right of either party to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if:
 - the DTOC stockholders fail to approve the Business Combination;
 - a law comes into effect or a governmental order is issued permanently restraining, enjoining, making illegal or otherwise prohibiting the consummation of the Business Combination;
 - the other party breaches its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in the Business Combination Agreement in a way that would entitle the party seeking to terminate the Business Combination Agreement to not consummate the Business Combination, subject to the right of the breaching party to cure the breach; or
 - the Business Combination is not consummated on or before June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), if the DTOC stockholders have not approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation; or
 - the Business Combination is not consummated on or before October 5, 2023, in the event that the DTOC stockholders have approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation to

October 5, 2023 or later (subject to a 60-day extension to the extent there is any delay to the applicable waiting or review periods by any governmental authority or Nasdaq that would, or would reasonably be expected to, have the effect of delaying, impeding, hindering or preventing the review or approval of the Business Combination).

Termination Fee

The Business Combination Agreement provides that, in the event the Business Combination Agreement is terminated in connection with AON's entry into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction, AON will pay to the Sponsor a termination fee of $18,000,000 no later than the earlier of (a) the date that is six months following the termination and (b) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.

Expense Reimbursement

DTOC must reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions in the following circumstances:

- the DTOC stockholders fail to approve the Business Combination;
- the Business Combination is not consummated on or before June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), and the DTOC stockholders have not approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation beyond June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023, as applicable);
- DTOC breaches its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in the Business Combination Agreement in a way that would entitle AON to not consummate the Business Combination, subject to the right of DTOC to cure the breach; or
- the Business Combination is not consummated on or before October 5, 2023 and the shares of DTOC Class A common stock are not listed on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties.

See "The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Termination Rights ."

Nasdaq Listing

DTOC Class A common stock is listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTOC." DTOC's public warrants are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCOW." DTOC's units that have not separated are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCOU." Following the Business Combination, it is anticipated that New AON Class A common stock (including common stock issuable in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination) will be listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "AONC", or another reputable national securities exchange mutually determined by DTOC and AON.

Quorum and Required Vote for Proposals for the Special Meeting

Quorum and Required Vote for Proposals for the Special Meeting

A quorum of DTOC's stockholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the Special Meeting if holders of a majority of the voting power of our outstanding shares of common stock entitled to vote on any of the proposals to be voted on at the Special Meeting are present at the Special Meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes will count as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum at the Special Meeting.

The approval of each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class. If a valid quorum is established, a stockholder's failure to vote by proxy or virtually at the Special Meeting will have no effect on the outcome of any vote on any of the foregoing Proposals. Abstentions will be counted in connection with determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the vote with respect to such Proposals. Broker non-votes will also have no effect on the vote with respect to such Proposals. The Insiders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of the Business Combination. Currently, the Insiders own approximately 81.9% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class A common stock and the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, each voting as a separate class, as well as the vote of a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of DTOC common stock, voting together as a single class. Failure to vote by proxy or virtually at the Special Meeting, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote with regard to the Charter Amendment Proposal, will each have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of this Proposal.

Approval of the Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a plurality of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote virtually at the Special Meeting, abstentions and broker non-votes will have no effect on the vote for the Director Election Proposal. The Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares, which constitutes all of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, in favor of the Director Election Proposal. Consequently, the passage of the Director Election Proposal is assured.

The transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal and the Director Election Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. It is important for you to note that in the event that the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal and the Director Election Proposal do not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the Business Combination.

Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination

The DTOC Board has unanimously determined that the Business Combination, on the terms and conditions set forth in the Business Combination Agreement, is advisable and in the best interests of DTOC and its stockholders and has directed that the Proposals set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus be submitted to its stockholders for approval at the Special Meeting on the date and at the time and place set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

The DTOC Board considered a wide variety of additional factors in connection with its evaluation of the Business Combination, including:

- AON's Scaled Oncology Network with Strong Historical Growth Track Record . AON has grown significantly since it commenced operations in late 2018. Since 2019, AON has generated compounded annual revenue growth of more than 53% through December 31, 2022 and operates profitably. As of December 31, 2022, AON's platform includes 106 physicians and 30 practices across 77 locations in 17 states.
- AON's "Patient First" Approach and Comprehensive Offering Ensures High Quality and Efficient Patient Service. In the view of the DTOC Board, AON's platform provides oncology practices with comprehensive support, access to revenue-diversifying adjacent services, and practice management expertise that empower physicians to provide better cancer care to patients and to do so more efficiently. Among other things, AON helps physicians focus on patient care by providing access to care-enhancing patient services (such as a centralized specialty pharmacy, diagnostics, pathology, as well as a fully integrated technology platform anchored by an oncology-specific electronic medical record system), a care management team and a variety of financial assistance programs.

- AON's Opportunities for Future Growth. The DTOC Board believes that AON is well-positioned to continue its growth due to, among other factors:
 - a segmented and growing oncology industry with oncology medicine spend forecasted to grow at a 12% long-term CAGR, according to BCC Research (available at <https://www.bccresearch.com/market-research/pharmaceuticals/oncology-pharmaceuticalsmarket.html>);
 - the ability to support the growth of AON's physician partners through scaling ancillary services, such as clinical trials and dispensing of over 99% of oral oncolytics through AON's specialty pharmacy, and introducing new service offerings;
 - expanding AON's existing service offering to address the broader oncology market; and
 - growing the number of physician partners within AON's network through both organic growth at existing practices as well as adding new practices.
- The DTOC Board also considered factors such as AON's outlook, financial plan and capital structure
- Entrepreneurial and Experienced Management Team and Board. AON's executive leadership team, which will continue to serve in their current roles following the Closing, brings deep sector experience and expertise in oncology. Todd Schonherz, AON's Chief Executive Officer, previously served for ten years as COO of Florida Cancer Specialists and Research Institute, a leader in medical oncology and hematology, and prior to that role, worked for twelve years with US Oncology as Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer, and David Gould, AON's Chief Financial Officer, previously worked for five years at Apollo MD, a physician and APC operated multispecialty practice partnering with top hospitals, teaching facilities and health systems across the country. In addition, AON's existing board, which is composed of practicing medical oncologists, is expected to remain in place and will be joined by additional members affiliated with DTOC.

After careful consideration, the DTOC Board unanimously recommends voting “FOR” the Business Combination Proposal, “FOR” the Listing Proposal, “FOR” the Charter Amendment Proposal, “FOR” the Advisory Governance Proposal, “FOR” the Director Election Proposal, “FOR” the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal, and “FOR” the Adjournment Proposal. For additional information, see “The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination.”

Going Concern Qualification

Our independent registered public accounting firm's report contains an explanatory paragraph that expresses substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a “going concern.” As of December 31, 2022, we had $374,340 cash and working capital deficit, net of taxes, of $1,655,967. Further, we have incurred and expect to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of our finance and acquisition plans. Our plans to raise capital or to consummate the Business Combination may not be successful. We have until June 30, 2023, or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised, to complete an initial business combination (unless our stockholders approve an extension). These factors, among others, raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. The financial statements contained elsewhere in this report do not include any adjustments that might result from our inability to continue as a going concern.

Risk Factor Summary

You should consider all the information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus in deciding how to vote for the proposals presented in the proxy statement. In particular, you should consider the factors described under "Risk Factors" of this proxy statement/prospectus.

The occurrence of one or more of the events or circumstances described in "Risk Factors," alone or in combination with other events or circumstances, may have a material adverse effect on (A) the ability of AON and DTOC to complete the Business Combination and (B) the business, cash flows, financial condition and results of operations of New AON following consummation of the Business Combination.

Some of the risks related to AON, DTOC and the Business Combination are summarized below.

Risks Related to AON's Business and Industry

- AON needs to contract and form partnerships with Network Practices in order to execute its growth strategy.
- AON's Network Practices primarily depend on reimbursement from third-party payors, which could lead to delays, denials, or uncertainties in the reimbursement process.
- A significant portion of AON's revenue is derived from a limited number of health insurance and medical group companies.
- AON has identified material weaknesses in its internal control over financial reporting and if AON is unable to remediate these material weaknesses, investor confidence in New AON's business and the value of New AON common stock could be adversely affected.
- The AON PNC Loans and the associated restrictive covenants thereunder could adversely affect our financial condition and will restrict our ability to raise capital.
- A pandemic, epidemic or outbreak of an infectious disease could adversely affect AON's business.
- AON must be able to attract and retain highly qualified physicians, medical professionals and other personnel, as well as new patients and obtain new payor contracts in order to grow its business.
- AON faces risks associated with estimating the amount of revenue that is recognized under Network Practices' risk agreements with health plans.
- Reductions in government reimbursement rates or changes in the rules governing government healthcare programs could have a material adverse effect.
- AON's business could be adversely affected by health care reform and other changes in government programs.
- Changes in the payor mix of patients and potential decreases in reimbursement rates as a result of consolidation among plans could affect AON's business.
- AON faces significant competition from other healthcare services providers.
- Competition for physicians and nurses, shortages of qualified personnel or other factors could increase AON's labor costs.
- AON's Network Practices must provide consistently high quality of care.
- AON's business could be adversely affected by supply price increases and shortages.
- Some jurisdictions preclude AON from entering into non-compete agreements with physicians.
- AON relies on third-party information technology systems that could suffer from disruptions and data breaches.
- AON could be subject to legal proceedings and litigation.
- Current and future acquisitions may use significant resources, may be unsuccessful, and could expose AON to unforeseen liabilities.

- AON needs to protect its confidentiality of our trade secrets, know-how and other proprietary and internally developed information.
- Negative publicity regarding the managed healthcare industry generally could adversely affect AON's results of operations or business.
- AON's facilities may be negatively impacted by weather and other factors beyond its control.

Risks Related to Operating as a Public Company

- The requirements of being a public company, including maintaining adequate internal control over our financial and management systems, may strain our resources, divert management's attention, make us incur increased costs, and affect our ability to attract and retain executive management and qualified board members.
- We are an "emerging growth company" and, as a result of the reduced disclosure and governance requirements applicable to emerging growth companies, our common stock may be less attractive to investors.
- Pursuant to the JOBS Act, our independent registered public accounting firm will not be required to attest to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act for so long as we are an "emerging growth company."
- We have identified a material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting for the year ended December 31, 2022. This material weakness could continue to adversely affect our ability to report our results of operations and financial condition accurately and in a timely manner.
- The trading price of our common stock may be volatile, and purchasers of our common stock could incur substantial losses.
- The price of our common stock could decline if securities analysts do not publish research or if securities analysts or other third parties publish inaccurate or unfavorable research about us.
- Future sales of our common stock, or the perception that such sales may occur, could depress our share price.
- Anti-takeover provisions in our organizational documents could delay or prevent a change of control.
- The Proposed Charter will designate the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware as the sole and exclusive forum for certain types of actions and proceedings that may be initiated by our stockholders, which could limit our stockholders' ability to obtain a favorable judicial forum for disputes with us or our directors, officers, employees or stockholders.

Risks Related to DTOC and the Business Combination

- DTOC's Sponsor and certain of its directors and officers have potential conflicts of interest in recommending that DTOC's stockholders vote in favor of approval of the Business Combination and approval of the other proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus.
- DTOC's directors and officers have discretion in agreeing to changes or waivers to the terms of the Business Combination Agreement and related transactions, which may result in a conflict of interest when determining whether such changes or waivers are appropriate and in DTOC's public stockholders' best interest.
- If we seek stockholder approval of the Business Combination, DTOC's Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how DTOC's public stockholders vote.
- Neither the DTOC Board nor any committee thereof obtained a third-party valuation in determining whether or not to pursue the Business Combination.
- There may not be an active trading market for shares of New AON common stock, which may cause shares of New AON common stock to trade at a discount from their initial trading price and make it difficult to sell the shares of New AON common stock you purchase.

- Nasdaq or another reputable national securities exchange may not list our securities on its exchange, and if they are listed we may be unable to satisfy listing requirements in the future, which could limit investors' ability to effect transactions in our securities and subject us to additional trading restrictions.
- If we do not develop and implement all required accounting practices and policies, we may be unable to provide the financial information required of a United States publicly traded company in a timely and reliable manner.
- We may issue additional shares of common stock or other equity securities without your approval, which would dilute your ownership interest in us and may depress the market price of our common stock.
- If our performance following the Business Combination does not meet market expectations, the price of our securities may decline.
- AON is a private company and as such little information is publicly available regarding AON. This may result in the Business Combination not being as profitable as we expect, or at all.
- Even if DTOC consummates the Business Combination, the public warrants may never be in the money, and they may expire worthless. In addition, DTOC or New AON may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner that may be adverse to holders of public warrants with the approval by the holders of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants. As a result, the exercise price of your warrants could be increased, the exercise period could be shortened and the number of shares of Class A common stock purchasable upon exercise of a warrant could be decreased, all without your approval.
- New AON may redeem your unexpired warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to you, thereby making your warrants worthless.
- Warrants to purchase New AON common stock will become exercisable following the Business Combination, which could increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to New AON stockholders.
- Public stockholders who redeem their shares of Class A Common Stock may continue to hold any Public Warrants they own, which would result in additional dilution to non-redeeming holders upon exercise of the Public Warrants.
- DTOC's stockholders will experience immediate dilution due to the issuance of common stock and securities convertible into the shares of common stock to AON equityholders as consideration in the Business Combination. Having a minority share position likely reduces the influence that DTOC's current stockholders have on the management of New AON.
- Our stockholders may be diluted by the future issuance of common stock, preferred stock or securities convertible or exchangeable into common or preferred stock, in connection with our incentive plans, acquisitions, capital raises or otherwise.
- We expect to incur significant, non-recurring costs in connection with consummating the Business Combination and related transactions.
- Our independent registered public accounting firm's report contains an explanatory paragraph that expresses substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a "going concern."
- If we do not complete the Business Combination or another initial business combination within the prescribed timeframe set forth in our charter, or by the applicable extension date, we will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeem our public shares and liquidate, in which case our public stockholders may only receive $10.08 per share, or less than such amount in certain circumstances, and our warrants will expire worthless.
- If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the Trust Account could be reduced and the per-share redemption amount received by stockholders may be less than $10.08 per share.
- Our stockholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against us to the extent of distributions received by them upon redemption of their shares.

- Our directors may decide not to enforce the indemnification obligations of our Sponsor, resulting in a reduction in the amount of funds in the Trust Account available for distribution to our public stockholders.
- We may not have sufficient funds to satisfy indemnification claims of our directors and officers.
- If, after we distribute the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, a bankruptcy court may seek to recover such proceeds, and we and our board may be exposed to claims of punitive damages.
- If, before distributing the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the claims of creditors in such proceeding may have priority over the claims of our stockholders and the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our stockholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.
- Actions taken by DTOC's Sponsor, DTOC's officers and directors to increase the likelihood of approval of the Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals presented in this proxy statement/prospectus could have a depressive effect on the price of DTOC's common stock.
- Our ability to successfully effect the Business Combination and the successful operation of the business thereafter will depend largely upon the efforts of certain key personnel, including the key personnel of AON, all of whom we expect to stay with New AON following the Business Combination. The loss of such key personnel could adversely affect the operations and profitability of the post-combination business.
- Subsequent to the completion of the Business Combination, we may be required to take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on our financial condition, results of operations and our stock price, which could cause you to lose some or all of your investment.
- Upon consummation of the Business Combination, New AON will be organized in an "up-C" structure, in which (i) New AON will own substantially all of the assets and business of AON, as well as any remaining assets of DTOC following distribution of its trust account as described herein, (ii) DTOC, to be renamed American Oncology Network, Inc., will be the holding company for the combined company's business, holding a minority of the AON common units, and (iii) New AON's only significant asset will be its equity interests in AON, which may not be sufficient to satisfy certain of New AON's financial obligations following consummation of the Business Combination.
- New AON may be subject to securities litigation, which is expensive and could divert management attention.
- Changes in laws or regulations or how such laws or regulations are interpreted or applied, or a failure to comply with any laws or regulations, may adversely affect our business, including our ability to complete the Business Combination, and results of operations.
- If we are deemed to be an investment company under the Investment Company Act, we may be required to institute burdensome compliance requirements and our activities may be restricted, which may make it difficult for us to complete the Business Combination.
- The historical consolidated and unaudited pro forma financial information in this proxy statement/prospectus is not representative of the results New AON would have achieved as a stand-alone public company and may not permit you to predict its future results.
- Barclays, the underwriter in our IPO, was to be compensated in part on a deferred basis for already-rendered underwriting services in connection with our IPO, yet Barclays gratuitously waived such compensation.

Risks Related to the Redemption

- Our public stockholders, together with any affiliates of theirs or any other person with whom they are acting in concert or as a "group," will be restricted from exercising redemption rights with respect to more than 15% of the public shares.

- If we seek stockholder approval of our initial business combination and we do not conduct redemptions pursuant to the tender offer rules, and if you or a “group” of stockholders are deemed to hold in excess of 15% of our Class A common stock, you will lose the ability to redeem all such shares in excess of 15% of our Class A common stock.
- A DTOC stockholder’s decision as to whether to redeem his, her or its shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account may not put the stockholder in a better future economic position.
- If a stockholder fails to receive notice of our offer to redeem our public shares in connection with our Business Combination, or fails to comply with the procedures for tendering its shares, such shares may not be redeemed.

Risks Related to the Exchange Offer

- As a result of the consummation of the Exchange Offer, holders of AON Class B-1 units will receive shares of New AON Class A common stock in exchange for their shares of AON Class B-1 units. Accordingly, participants in the Exchange Offer will become shareholders of New AON and no longer retain the rights and privileges associated with their ownership of AON Class B-1 units under the AON organizational documents following the receipt of shares of New AON Class A common stock upon the closing of the Exchange Offer.
- Even if less than all holders of AON Class B-1 units participate in the Exchange Offer, the AON Class B-1 units of non-participating holders may in certain circumstances be automatically exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock.
- The exchange of AON Class B-1 units will increase the number of New AON Class A common stock shares eligible for future resale and result in dilution to New AON stockholders.
- Neither DTOC nor AON has obtained a third-party determination that the Exchange Offer is fair to holders of AON Class B-1 units.

Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination

DTOC’s Sponsor and certain of DTOC’s executive officers and directors have interests in the Business Combination that may be different from, or in addition to, the interests of DTOC’s stockholders. The members of the DTOC Board were aware of and considered these interests, among other matters, when they approved the Business Combination Agreement and recommended that DTOC stockholders approve the Proposals required to effect the Business Combination. See “The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement — Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination.”

Beneficial Ownership of New AON Following the Business Combination

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, there were (a) 10,109,569 shares of DTOC Class A common stock outstanding, (b) 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock outstanding (c) no shares of preferred stock outstanding, (d) 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants outstanding, and (e) 8,337,500 DTOC public warrants outstanding, that were originally sold as part of the 33,350,000 units issued in DTOC’s IPO.

It is anticipated that, upon consummation of the Business Combination: (1) DTOC’s public stockholders would own approximately 4.8% of New AON’s outstanding common stock; (2) AEA Growth would own New AON Series A Preferred Stock that would be initially convertible into approximately 6,643,019 shares of New AON Class A common stock, which would represent approximately 14.8% of New AON's outstanding common stock; (3) the Sponsor and Initial Stockholders would own 26.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock (assuming the exercise of all Private Placement Warrants for New AON Class A common stock and excludes the Sponsor Earnout Shares); and (4) the AON equityholders will hold approximately 81.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock. The ownership percentages of New AON's following the Business Combination assume no redemptions by the existing New AON's public stockholders and assume that approximately 38.2 million shares of New AON's Class A common stock will be outstanding after the consummation of the Business Combination (excluding the vesting of any shares).

Summary Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information

The following summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information (the "summary pro forma data") gives effect to the Business Combination and related transactions described in the section titled "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information." The Business Combination will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization, with no goodwill or other intangible assets recorded, in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). Under this method of accounting, DTOC will be treated as the "acquired" company for financial reporting purposes. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the Business Combination will be treated as the equivalent of AON issuing stock for the net assets of DTOC, accompanied by a recapitalization. The net assets of DTOC will be stated at historical cost, with no goodwill or other intangible assets recorded. The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet data as of March 31, 2023 gives pro forma effect to the Business Combination and related transactions as if they had occurred on March 31, 2023. The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations data for the three months ended March 31, 2023 combines the unaudited condensed statement of operations of DTOC for the three months ended March 31, 2023 with the unaudited condensed consolidated statement of operations of AON for the three months ended March 31, 2023. The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations data for the year ended December 31, 2022 combines the statement of operations of DTOC for the year ended December 31, 2022 with the consolidated statement of operations of AON for the year ended December 31, 2022. These unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of operations both give effect to the Business Combination and related transactions as if they had been consummated on January 1, 2022, the beginning of the earliest period presented.

The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been derived from, and should be read in conjunction with, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information of the combined company appearing elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus and the accompanying notes. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is based upon, and should be read in conjunction with, the historical financial statements of DTOC and related notes and the historical financial statements of the Company and related notes included in this proxy statement/prospectus. The summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been presented for informational purposes only and is not necessarily indicative of what the combined company's financial position or results of operations actually would have been had the Business Combination and related transactions been completed as of the dates indicated. In addition, the summary pro forma condensed combined financial information does not purport to project the future financial position or operating results of the combined company.

The following table presents summary unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information after giving effect to the Business Combination and related transactions, assuming the following redemption scenarios:

- No additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock are redeemed; and
- The additional redemption of 1,847,069 shares of DTOC Class A common stock for a total redemption of 33,350,000 shares of DTOC Class A common stock, which is derived from the number of additional shares that could be redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, for an aggregate payment of approximately $333.5 million from the Trust Account.

In light of the foregoing, the pro forma assumptions under both the No Additional Redemptions and Additional Redemptions scenarios in the tables below include an assumed $65.0 million investment from the AON Class C Preferred Investor and the issuance of 6.5 million shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock, using par value of $0.0001 per share, to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

Proxy Solicitation

Proxies may be solicited by mail. DTCO has engaged Morrow Sodali to assist in the solicitation of proxies. If a stockholder grants a proxy, it may still vote its shares virtually if it revokes its proxy before the Special Meeting. A stockholder may also change its vote by submitting a later-dated proxy, as described in "The DTCO Board Recommends That You Vote "FOR" Each of These Proposals — Revoking Your Proxy."

CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

Certain statements included in this proxy statement/prospectus that are not historical facts are forward-looking statements for purposes of the safe harbor provisions under the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements may generally be identified by the use of the words such as “believe,” “may,” “will,” “estimate,” “continue,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “expect,” “should,” “would,” “plan,” “project,” “forecast,” “predict,” “potential,” “seem,” “seek,” “future,” “outlook,” “target” or other similar expressions (or the negative versions of such words or expressions) that predict or indicate future events or trends or that are not statements of historical matters. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding estimates and projections of market opportunity and market share, the satisfaction of closing conditions to the Business Combination, the level of redemptions by DTOC’s public stockholders, and the timing of the completion of the Business Combination, including the anticipated closing date and the use of the cash proceeds therefrom. These statements are based on various assumptions, whether or not identified in this proxy statement/prospectus, and on the current expectations of AON’s and DTOC’s management and are not predictions of actual performance. These forward-looking statements are provided for illustrative purposes only and are not intended to serve as and must not be relied on by any investor as, a guarantee, an assurance, a prediction or a definitive statement of fact or probability. Actual events and circumstances are difficult or impossible to predict and may differ from assumptions, and such differences may be material. Many actual events and circumstances are beyond the control of AON and DTOC.

These forward-looking statements are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, including:

- DTOC’s ability to complete the Business Combination and to raise additional capital;
- the outcome of any legal proceedings that may be instituted against DTOC, the combined company or others following the announcement of the Business Combination and any definitive agreements with respect thereto;
- the inability to complete the Business Combination due to the failure to obtain approval of the stockholders of DTOC, to obtain financing to complete the Business Combination, or to satisfy other conditions to closing;
- the amount of redemption requests made by DTOC’s public stockholders;
- changes to the proposed structure of the Business Combination that may be required or appropriate as a result of applicable laws or regulations or as a condition to obtaining regulatory approval of the Business Combination;
- the ability to meet stock exchange listing standards following the consummation of the Business Combination;
- the risk that the Business Combination disrupts current plans and operations of AON as a result of the announcement and consummation of the Business Combination;
- the ability to recognize the anticipated benefits of the Business Combination, which may be affected by, among other things, competition, the ability of the combined company to grow and manage growth profitably, maintain key relationships and retain its management and key employees;
- costs related to the Business Combination;
- changes in applicable laws or regulations;
- those factors discussed in DTOC’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 under the heading “Risk Factors,” and other documents of DTOC to be filed with the SEC; and
- those factors discussed under the heading “Risk Factors” and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

In addition, the following important factors could affect the future results of New AON following the Business Combination and could cause those results or other outcomes to differ materially from those expressed or implied in the forward-looking statements in this proxy statement/prospectus:

- New AON's ability to successfully execute on its business plan;
- New AON's ability to affiliate with new and maintain affiliation with existing physician practices;
- New AON's dependence on reimbursement from third-party payors, as well as payments by individuals;
- changes in Medicare reimbursement rates or changes in the rules governing the Medicare program;
- New AON's ability to provide consistently high quality of care;
- New AON's ability to access new technology or products;
- risks related to domestic and international political and macroeconomic uncertainty and unfavorable general economic conditions, such as a recession or economic slowdown;
- New AON's ability to retain key personnel and to attract and retain other highly qualified personnel;
- New AON's operations are subject to extensive regulation;
- risks relating to New AON operating as a public company; and
- those factors discussed under the heading "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Other sections of this proxy statement/prospectus describe additional factors that could adversely affect the business, financial condition or results of operations of DTOC and AON prior to the Business Combination, and New AON following the Business Combination. These factors, including those risks described under the heading "Risk Factors," are not exhaustive. If any of these risks materialize or DTOC's or AON's assumptions prove incorrect, actual results of DTOC and AON prior to the Business Combination, and New AON following the Business Combination, could differ materially from the results implied by these forward-looking statements.

There may be additional risks that neither DTOC nor AON presently know or that DTOC and AON currently believe are immaterial that could also cause actual results to differ from those contained in the forward-looking statements. New risk factors emerge from time to time and it is not possible to predict all such risk factors, nor can DTOC or AON assess the impact of all such risk factors on the business of DTOC and AON prior to the Business Combination, and New AON following the Business Combination, or the extent to which any factor or combination of factors may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements. In addition, forward-looking statements reflect DTOC's and AON's expectations, plans or forecasts of future events and views as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. These statements are based upon information available to DTOC or AON, as applicable, as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, and while such party believes such information forms a reasonable basis for such statements, such information may be limited or incomplete, and statements should not be read to indicate that DTOC or AON, as applicable, has conducted an exhaustive inquiry into, or review of, all potentially available relevant information. DTOC and AON anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause DTOC's and AON's assessments to change. However, while DTOC and AON prior to the Business Combination, and New AON following the Business Combination, may elect to update these forward-looking statements at some point in the future, DTOC and AON prior to the Business Combination, and New AON following the Business Combination, specifically disclaim any obligation to do so, unless required by applicable law. These forward-looking statements should not be relied upon as representing DTOC's and AON's assessments as of any date subsequent to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. You should read this prospectus completely and with the understanding that our actual future results may be materially different from those contained in any forward-looking statements. We qualify all of our forward-looking statements by these cautionary statements.

RISK FACTORS

In addition to the other information contained in this proxy statement/prospectus, including the matters addressed under the heading “Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements,” you should carefully consider the following risk factors in deciding how to vote on the Proposals presented in this proxy statement/prospectus. The risk factors described below disclose both material and other risks, and are not intended to be exhaustive and are not the only risks facing us. Additional risks not currently known to us or that we currently deem to be immaterial, or which are not identified because they are generally common to businesses, also may materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows in future periods. You are encouraged to perform your own investigation with respect to our business, financial condition and prospects.

Risks Related to Our Business

For the purposes of this section, “we,” “us” and “our” refers to AON prior to the consummation of the Business Combination and to New AON subsequent to the consummation of the Business Combination.

In order to execute our growth strategy, we will need to acquire oncology practices and affiliated care providers (“Network Practices”) through AON. Our ability to grow depends upon a number of factors, including our ability to obtain referrals for cancer patient care services, identify appropriate physician practices to acquire, enter into contracts with such additional Network Practices, obtain leases, identify appropriate facilities to acquire, complete internal buildouts of new facilities within proposed timelines and budgets, and hire and retain employees including but not limited to physicians affiliated with Network Practices. We cannot guarantee that we will be successful in pursuing our growth strategy.

Our growth strategy involves a number of risks and uncertainties, including that:

- we and our Network Practices may not be able to successfully enter into contracts with local payors on terms acceptable to us or at all. In addition, we compete for payor relationships with other healthcare organizations, many of whom may have greater resources than we do. This competition may intensify due to the ongoing consolidation in the healthcare industry, which may increase our costs to pursue such opportunities. Patients may also choose providers with more competitive contracted rates than we are able to negotiate;
- we will require additional capital and resources in order to acquire additional Network Practices;
- we cannot make any assurance that we will be able to maintain relationships with our Network Practices;
- through our Network Practices, we may not be able to recruit or retain a sufficient number of new patients to execute our growth strategy, and we may incur substantial costs to recruit new patients and we may be unable to recruit a sufficient number of new patients to offset those costs;
- we may not be able to contract with a sufficient numbers of physicians and other staff and may fail to integrate our employees, particularly our medical personnel, into our care model;
- our Network Practices may not conform to our exact business model, which may impact their profitability and in-turn, our profitability;
- when expanding our business into new states, we may be required to comply with laws and regulations that may differ from states in which we currently operate;
- we may not be able to easily monitor and track changes to state and local laws in the states in which we operate, which could increase our legal exposure; and
- depending upon the nature of the local market, we may not be able to implement our business model in every local market that we enter, which could negatively impact our revenues and financial condition.

There can be no assurance that we will be able to successfully capitalize on growth opportunities, which may negatively impact our business model, revenues, results of operations and financial condition.

Our services are concentrated in certain geographic areas and populations exposing us to unfavorable changes in local benefit costs, reimbursement rates, competition and economic conditions.

Our services are concentrated in certain geographic areas in the United States. Unfavorable changes in health care or other benefit costs or reimbursement rates or increased competition in the states in which we operate or any other geographic area where our Network Practices are concentrated in the future could therefore have a disproportionately adverse effect on our operating results. Additionally, the geographic concentration of a significant portion of our Network Practices may make them more vulnerable to events such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

Our Network Practices primarily depend on reimbursement from third-party payors, as well as payments by individuals, which could lead to delays, denials, or uncertainties in the reimbursement process.

The reimbursement process is complex and can involve lengthy delays. Although we recognize revenue when our Network Practices provide services to patients, our Network Practices may from time to time experience delays in receiving the associated payments. In addition, third-party payors may disallow, in whole or in part, requests for reimbursement based on determinations that the patient is not eligible for coverage, certain amounts are not reimbursable under plan coverage or the services provided that were not medically necessary or additional supporting documentation is necessary. Retroactive adjustments may change amounts realized from third-party payors. Our Network Practices are subject to audits by such payors, including governmental audits of our Medicare and Medicaid claims, and may be required to repay these payors if a finding is made that we were incorrectly reimbursed. Delays and uncertainties in the reimbursement process may adversely affect accounts receivable, increase the overall costs of collection and cause us to incur additional costs associated with raising capital. Third-party payors are also increasingly focused on controlling healthcare costs, and such efforts, including any revisions to reimbursement policies, may further complicate and delay our Network Practices' reimbursement claims.

In addition, certain of the patients are covered under health plans that require the patient to cover a portion of their own healthcare expenses through the payment of copayments or deductibles. Our Network Practices may not be able to collect the full amounts due with respect to these payments that are the patient's financial responsibility, or in those instances where physicians provide services to uninsured individuals. To the extent permitted by law, amounts not covered by third-party payors are the obligations of individual patients for which our Network Practices may not receive whole or partial payment. Any increase in cost shifting from third-party payors to individual patients, including as a result of high deductible plans for patients, increases our collection costs and reduces overall collections, which we may not be able to offset such additional costs with sufficient revenue.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), the federal agency responsible for administering the Medicare program, made several changes in the manner in which Medicare will pay for telehealth visits, many of which relax previous requirements, including site requirements for both the providers and patients, telehealth modality requirements and others. State law applicable to telehealth, particularly licensure requirements, has also been relaxed in many jurisdictions as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. It is unclear which, if any, of these changes will remain in place permanently and which will be rolled-back following the COVID-19 pandemic. If regulations change to restrict our Network Practices' ability to deliver care through telehealth modalities, our financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

A significant portion of our revenue is derived from a limited number of health insurance and medical group companies. Those payors could take action to remove, exclude, delay, or otherwise prevent the inclusion of our Network Practices in their provider networks.

Our operations are dependent on a concentrated number of payors with whom our Network Practices contract to provide services to patients. We generally manage our Network Practices' payor contracts on a state by state basis, entering into a separate contract in each state with the local affiliate of the relevant payor such that no one local payor contract accounts for a majority of our collective revenue. We believe that a majority of our Network Practices' revenues will continue to be derived from a limited number of key payors, which may terminate their contracts with our Network Practices or the individual Network Practice physicians credentialed by them upon the occurrence of certain events. The sudden loss of any of our Network Practices' payors, or the renegotiation of any of our Network Practices' payor contracts, could adversely affect our operating results. In the ordinary course of business, we engage in active discussions and renegotiations with payors in respect of the services our Network Practices provide and the terms of our Network Practices' payor agreements. As the payors' businesses respond to market dynamics and financial pressures, and as payors make strategic business decisions in respect of the lines of business they pursue and programs in which they participate, certain of the payors may seek to renegotiate or terminate their agreements with our Network Practices. These discussions could result in reductions to the fees and changes to the scope of services contemplated by the original payor contracts and consequently could negatively impact our revenues, business and prospects.

Because we rely on a limited number of payors for a significant portion of our Network Practices' revenues, we depend on the creditworthiness of these payors. The payors are subject to a number of risks including reductions in payment rates from governmental programs, higher than expected health care costs and lack of predictability of financial results when entering new lines of business, particularly with high-risk populations. If the financial condition of our Network Practices' payors declines, our financial results could be impacted. Should one or more of our Network Practices' payors declare bankruptcy, be declared insolvent or otherwise be restricted by state or federal laws or regulation from continuing in some or all of their operations, this could adversely affect our ongoing revenues, the collectability of our accounts receivable, our bad debt reserves and our net income.

Although our Network Practices have long-term contracts with many payors, these contracts may be terminated before their term expires for various reasons, such as changes in the regulatory landscape and poor performance by our Network Practices and our affiliated providers, subject to certain conditions. Certain of the payor contracts are terminable immediately upon the occurrence of certain events. Certain of the payor contracts may be terminated immediately by the payor if our Network Practices lose applicable licenses, go bankrupt, lose their liability insurance or receive an exclusion, suspension or debarment from state or federal government authorities. Additionally, if a payor were to lose applicable licenses, go bankrupt, lose liability insurance, become insolvent, file for bankruptcy or become subject to exclusion, suspension or debarment from state or federal government authorities, the Network Practices' contract with such payor could in effect be terminated. In addition, certain of the payor contracts may be terminated immediately if a Network Practice becomes insolvent or file for bankruptcy. If any of the contracts with the Network Practice's payors are terminated, the Network Practice may not be able to recover all fees due under the terminated contract, which may adversely affect our operating results.

AON has identified material weaknesses in its internal control over financial reporting. If AON is unable to remediate these material weaknesses, or if it identifies additional material weaknesses in the future or otherwise fails to maintain effective internal control over financial reporting, AON may not be able to accurately or timely report its financial condition or results of operations, which may adversely affect investor confidence in New AON's business and the value of New AON common stock.

As a public company, New AON will be required to furnish a report by management on the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting beginning with our second annual report on Form 10-K. If New AON is unable to establish or maintain appropriate internal control over financial reporting or implement these additional requirements in a timely manner or with adequate compliance, it could result in material misstatements in its consolidated financial statements, failure to meet its reporting obligations on a timely basis, increases in compliance costs, and subject New AON to adverse regulatory consequences, all of which may adversely affect investor confidence in New AON and the value of New AON common stock.

As of December 31, 2022, material weaknesses existed in our internal control over financial reporting. A material weakness is a deficiency, or combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of AON's annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis.

The material weaknesses that AON identified were as follows:

The Company did not design and maintain an effective control environment commensurate with its financial reporting requirements. Specifically, the Company lacked a sufficient complement of resources with (i) an appropriate level of accounting knowledge, training and experience to appropriately analyze, record and disclose accounting matters timely and accurately, and (ii) an appropriate level of knowledge and experience to establish effective processes and controls. Additionally, the lack of a sufficient complement of resources resulted in an inability to consistently establish appropriate authorities and responsibilities in pursuit of its financial reporting objectives, as demonstrated by, among other things, insufficient segregation of duties in its finance and accounting functions.

The Company did not effectively design and maintain effective controls in response to the risks of material misstatement. Specifically, changes to existing controls or the implementation of new controls have not been sufficient to respond to changes to the risks of material misstatement to financial reporting.

These material weaknesses contributed to the following additional material weaknesses:

The Company did not design and maintain effective controls to identify, analyze, account for and disclose non-routine, unusual or complex transactions. Specifically, the Company did not design and maintain controls to account for its business combinations, asset acquisitions, clinical trial agreements, and related party transactions.

The Company did not design and maintain effective controls related to the period-end financial reporting process, including designing and maintaining formal accounting policies, procedures and controls to achieve complete and accurate financial accounting, reporting and disclosures. Additionally, the Company did not design and maintain controls over the preparation and review of account reconciliations and journal entries, including maintaining appropriate segregation of duties. The Company did not design and maintain effective controls to achieve complete, accurate and timely accounting of accrued liabilities.

The Company did not design and maintain effective controls to achieve complete, accurate and timely accounting of revenue and accounts receivable. Specifically, the Company did not design and maintain controls over the inputs, assumptions, and calculations to develop our contractual allowances.

The material weaknesses above resulted in a revision to the Company's previously issued financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2020 as well as audit adjustments to the Company's financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2021 related to the amortization of leasehold improvements within property and equipment, non-controlling interest, accrued liabilities, operating expenses, and related financial disclosures. A revision was also made to the Company's previously issued condensed consolidated interim financial statements as of and for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2022 related to marketable securities, cash and cash equivalents, patient service revenue, net, patients accounts receivables, net, accrued other, and cost of revenue. Additionally, these material weaknesses could result in further misstatements of the aforementioned account balances or disclosures that would result in a material misstatement to the annual or interim consolidated financial statements that would not be prevented or detected.

The Company did not design and maintain effective information technology ("IT") general controls for information systems that are relevant to the preparation of its financial statements. Specifically, the Company did not design and maintain: (i) program change management controls to ensure that program and data changes are identified, tested, authorized, and implemented appropriately; (ii) user access controls to ensure appropriate segregation of duties and to adequately restrict user and privileged access to appropriate personnel; (iii) computer operations controls to ensure that processing and transfer of data, and data backups and recovery are monitored; and (iv) program development controls to ensure that new software development is tested, authorized and implemented appropriately.

The Company is in the process of designing and implementing measures designed to improve our internal control over financial reporting and remediate the control deficiencies which led to the material weaknesses. The Company's remediation measures are ongoing and include the following:

- Hiring additional accounting and finance personnel with applicable technical accounting knowledge, training and experience in financial reporting and control matters, supplemented by third-party technical accounting resources;
- Designing and implementing formalized review processes for unusual, non-routine or complex transactions including legal, finance, and operations personnel;

- With the assistance of third-party resources, performing detailed risk assessments for significant financial processes to identify, design, and implement control activities related to internal control over financial reporting;
- Designing and implementing formal accounting policies, procedures and controls supporting our period-end financial reporting process, including controls over the preparation and review of account reconciliations and journal entries as well as additional procedures and controls within our revenue, receivable and accrued liabilities processes;
- Designing and implementing controls to formalize roles and review responsibilities to align with AON's skills and experience and designing and implementing controls over segregation of duties; and
- Designing and implementing IT general controls, including controls over change management, the review and update of user access rights and privileges, controls over batch jobs and data backups, and program development approvals and testing.

AON has begun the process to remediate its identified material weaknesses as detailed above. The material weaknesses will not be considered remediated until management completes the design and implementation of the processes and controls described above and the controls operate for a sufficient period of time, and AON has concluded, through testing, that the newly implemented and enhanced controls are operating effectively. At this time, AON cannot predict the success of such efforts or the outcome of future assessments of the remediation efforts. AON's current controls and any new controls that it develops may become inadequate because of changes in conditions in its business, personnel, IT systems and applications, or other factors. If AON fails to remediate AON's existing material weakness or identifies new material weaknesses in its internal controls over financial reporting, if it is unable to comply with the requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act in a timely manner, or if it is unable to conclude that its internal controls over financial reporting are effective, it is possible that a material misstatement of AON's financial statements would not be prevented or detected on a timely basis, investors may lose confidence in the accuracy and completeness of New AON's financial reports, and the market price of New AON common stock could be negatively affected.

Risks Related to the AON PNC Loans

The AON PNC Loans and the associated restrictive covenants thereunder could adversely affect our financial condition and will restrict our ability to raise capital.

On April 30, 2021, we entered into the AON PNC Loans with PNC Bank National Association ("PNC"). The AON PNC Loans contains various restrictive and financial covenants, including restrictions on indebtedness, leverage ratio, restricts our ability to (i) incur indebtedness other than (a) in connection with and as allowed under certain provisions of the agreements governing the AON PNC Loans or (b) in ordinary course of business, (ii) permit any lien or encumbrance upon our property except as generally permitted by PNC or as specifically enumerated in the agreements governing the AON PNC Loans, (iii) (a) purchase or redeem any of our membership interests, (b) declare or pay any dividend or set aside any funds for any such purpose (c) prepay, purchase or redeem any other debt, (d) lend or advance any funds or (e) repay any loans or advances to, for or from any of our affiliates, except, for each of the foregoing, as specifically permitted under the AON PNC Loans, (iv) merge or consolidate with or into, or convey, transfer, lease or otherwise dispose of (whether in one transaction or in a series of transactions) all or substantially all of our assets (whether now owned or hereafter acquired) to, any person or entity, (v) without prior written consent, make any change in any borrower's name, identity, corporate structure or location under the AON PNC Loans or make any other change in such borrower's identity or corporate structure, or (vi) acquire another business (via assets or equity) unless certain other requirements are met, including that acquisitions via capital stock may only be of a subsidiary of AON. Subject to customary exceptions and exclusions, our obligations under the AON PNC Loans are guaranteed by a perfected, first-priority security interest in substantially all of our assets, including our intellectual property and the equity ownership interests directly and indirectly held by us in our wholly-owned subsidiaries and excluding certain assets used in connection with medical services. Compliance with such covenants and our indebtedness will result in the following, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations:

- require us to dedicate a substantial portion of cash and cash equivalents to the payment of interest on, and principal of, the indebtedness, which will reduce the amounts available to fund working capital, capital expenditures, product development efforts and other general corporate purposes;
- oblige us to comply with negative covenants restricting our activities, including limitations on dispositions, mergers or acquisitions, encumbering our intellectual property, incurring indebtedness or liens, paying dividends, making investments and engaging in certain other business transactions;
- limit our flexibility in planning for, or reacting to, changes in our business and our industry;
- place us at a competitive disadvantage compared to our competitors who have less debt or competitors with comparable debt at more favorable interest rates;
- limit our ability to borrow additional amounts for working capital, capital expenditures, research and development efforts, acquisitions, debt service requirements, execution of our business strategy and other purposes and otherwise restrict our financing options.

Furthermore, because the interests of the lenders may potentially differ from ours and from those of our stockholders, we may be unable to engage in transactions or other activities that may be beneficial to our stockholders. The covenants under the agreements governing the AON PNC Loans could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Servicing our indebtedness requires a significant amount of cash. Our ability to repay the principal of, to pay interest on or to refinance our indebtedness depends on our future performance, which is subject to economic, financial, competitive and other factors beyond our control. Our business may not generate cash flow from operations in the future sufficient to service our indebtedness. If we are unable to generate cash flow, we may be required to adopt one or more alternatives, such as restructuring debt or obtaining additional financing on terms that may be unfavorable to us or highly dilutive. Our ability to refinance our indebtedness will depend on the capital markets and our financial condition at the time we seek to refinance such indebtedness. Our inability to satisfy our debt obligations could materially and adversely affect our financial position and results of operations.

A failure to comply with the conditions of the AON PNC Loans could result in an event of default. An event of default under the AON PNC Loans includes, among other things, a failure to pay any amount due under the AON PNC Loans. If we fail to comply with any of the covenants under our indebtedness and are unable to obtain a waiver or amendment, the lenders may, among other things, accelerate our outstanding indebtedness and exercise rights with respect to collateral securing our outstanding indebtedness, each of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Any of these events could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The AON PNC Loans subjects us to interest rate risk, which could cause our debt service obligations to increase significantly and potentially limit our ability to effectively refinance our indebtedness as it matures.

Borrowings under the AON PNC Loans bear interest at variable rates and expose us to interest rate risk. If interest rates increase and we do not hedge such variable rates, our debt service obligations on the variable rate indebtedness will increase even though the amount borrowed will remain the same, which will negatively impact our net income and operating cash flows, including cash available for servicing our indebtedness.

Additionally, our ability to refinance portions of our indebtedness in advance of their maturity dates depends on securing new financing bearing interest at rates that we are able to service. While we believe that we currently have adequate cash flows to service the interest rates currently applicable to our indebtedness, if interest rates were to continue to rise significantly, we might be unable to maintain a level of cash flows from operating activities sufficient to meet our debt service obligations at such increased rates.

Operational Risks and Risks Related to Our Industries

A pandemic, epidemic or outbreak of an infectious disease in the United States or worldwide, such as the outbreak of COVID-19 or the continuation of such an outbreak, could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and growth.

If a pandemic, epidemic or outbreak of an infectious disease occurs in the United States or worldwide, our business may be adversely affected. The severity, magnitude and duration of the current COVID-19 outbreak is still uncertain. Furthermore, the full impact of the COVID-19 pandemic may not be fully reflected in our results of operations and overall financial condition until future periods.

To the extent the COVID-19 pandemic, or another pandemic, epidemic or outbreak of an infectious disease occurs in the United States or worldwide, adversely affects our business and financial results, it may also have the effect of heightening many of the other risks described in this "Risk Factors" section, including but not limited to those relating to cyberattacks and security vulnerabilities, interruptions or delays due to third-parties, or our ability to raise additional capital or generate sufficient cash flows necessary to fulfill our obligations under our existing indebtedness or to expand our operations.

If we are unable to attract new patients and to obtain new payor contracts our revenue growth will be adversely affected.

To increase our revenue, our business strategy is to expand the number of oncology clinics and affiliated physicians in our network. In order to support such growth, we must continue to win new contracts and retain or grow existing contracts with payors. Our Network Practices face competition from other oncology providers. If our Network Practices are unable to convince potential payors and patients of the benefits of our value-based system, or if potential or existing payors and patients prefer the care provider model of one of our competitors, we may not be able to effectively implement our growth strategy, which depends on our ability to attract new patient referrals and payors for our Network Practices. Network Practices' inability to obtain new payor agreements and patient referrals and retain existing payors and patients would harm our ability to execute our growth strategy and may have a material adverse effect on our business operations and financial position.

We face risks associated with estimating the amount of revenue that is recognized under Network Practices' agreements with health plans, and if our estimates of revenue are materially inaccurate, it could impact the timing and the amount of our revenue recognition or have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

There are significant risks associated with estimating the amount of revenues that are recognized under Network Practices' agreements with health plans in a reporting period and it is possible that we may not accurately estimate the amount of such revenues. The billing and collection process is complex due to ongoing insurance coverage changes, geographic coverage differences, differing interpretations of contract coverage and other payor issues, such as ensuring appropriate documentation. Determining applicable primary and secondary coverage for patients, together with the changes in patient coverage that occur each month, requires complex, resource-intensive processes. Errors in determining the correct coordination of benefits may result in refunds to payors. Revenues associated with Medicare and Medicaid programs are also subject to estimating risk related to the amounts not paid by the primary government payor that will ultimately be collectible from other government programs paying secondary coverage, the patient's commercial health plan secondary coverage or the patient. Collections, refunds and payor recoupments typically continue to occur for up to three years and longer after services are provided. If our estimates of revenues are materially inaccurate, it could impact the timing and the amount of our revenues recognition and have a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

Reductions in government reimbursement rates or changes in the rules governing government healthcare programs could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

Our Network Practices receive a significant portion of revenue directly from Medicare. In addition, many private payors base their reimbursement rates on the published Medicare rates or, in the case of Medicare Advantage, are themselves reimbursed by Medicare for the services our Network Practices provide.

As a result, our results of operations are, in part, dependent on government funding levels for Medicare programs, particularly Medicare Advantage programs. Any changes that limit or reduce Medicare Advantage or general Medicare reimbursement levels, such as reductions in or limitations of reimbursement amounts or rates under programs, reductions in funding of programs, expansion of benefits without adequate funding, elimination of coverage for certain benefits, or elimination of coverage for certain individuals or treatments under programs, could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

The Medicare program and its reimbursement rates and rules are subject to frequent change. These include statutory and regulatory changes, rate adjustments (including retroactive adjustments), administrative or executive orders and government funding restrictions, all of which may materially adversely affect the rates at which Medicare reimburses our Network Practices for patient care services. Budget pressures often lead the federal government to reduce or place limits on reimbursement rates under Medicare. Implementation of these and other types of measures has in the past and could in the future result in substantial reductions in our revenue and operating margins.

In addition, CMS often changes the rules governing the Medicare program, including those governing reimbursement. Changes that could adversely affect our business include:

- administrative or legislative changes to rates or the bases of payment;
- limits on the services or types of providers for which Medicare will provide reimbursement;
- changes in methodology for patient assessment and/or determination of payment levels;
- the reduction or elimination of annual rate increases; or
- an increase in co-payments or deductibles payable by beneficiaries.

Any reductions in reimbursement rates or the scope of services rendered by our Network Practices being reimbursed could have a material, adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations or even result in reimbursement rates that are insufficient to cover our operating expenses. Additionally, any delay or default by the government in making Medicare or Medicaid reimbursement payments to our Network Practices or any reduction in patients eligible for such programs could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We cannot predict the effect that health care reform and other changes in government programs may have on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

The impact of healthcare reform legislation and other changes in the healthcare industry and in healthcare spending is currently unknown, but may adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Our revenue is dependent on the healthcare industry and could be affected by changes in healthcare spending, reimbursement and policy. The healthcare industry is subject to changing political, regulatory and other influences. By way of example, the Affordable Care Act ("ACA"), which was enacted in 2010, made major changes in how healthcare is delivered and reimbursed, and it increased access to health insurance benefits to the uninsured and underinsured populations of the United States.

Since its enactment, there have been judicial, executive and Congressional challenges to certain aspects of the ACA. On June 17, 2021, the U.S. Supreme Court dismissed the most recent judicial challenge to the ACA brought by several states without specifically ruling on the constitutionality of the ACA. Prior to the Supreme Court's decision, President Biden issued an executive order initiating a special enrollment period from February 15, 2021 through August 15, 2021 for purposes of obtaining health insurance coverage through the ACA marketplace. The executive order also instructed certain governmental agencies to review and reconsider their existing policies and rules that limit access to healthcare. It is unclear how healthcare reform measures enacted by Congress or implemented by the Biden administration, if any, will impact our business.

Other legislative changes have been proposed and adopted since the ACA was enacted. These changes include aggregate reductions to Medicare payments to providers of 2% per fiscal year, which began in 2013 and will remain in effect through 2030, with the exception of a temporary suspension from May 1, 2020 through March 31, 2022. Under current legislation, the actual reduction in Medicare payments varies from 1% from April 1, 2022 to June 30, 2022, to up to 3% in the final fiscal year of this sequester, unless additional Congressional action is taken. In January 2013, the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 was signed into law, which, among other things, further reduced Medicare payments to several types of providers, including hospitals, imaging centers and cancer treatment centers, and increased the statute of limitations period for the government to recover overpayments to providers from three to five years. New laws may result in additional reductions in Medicare and other healthcare funding, which may materially adversely affect consumer demand and affordability for our products and services and, accordingly, the results of our financial operations. Additional changes that may affect our business include the expansion of new programs such as Medicare payment for performance initiatives for physicians under the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015, or MACRA, which first affected physician payment in 2019. At this time, it is unclear how the introduction of the Medicare quality payment program will impact overall physician reimbursement. The Inflation Reduction Act of 2022, or IRA, signed into law on August 16, 2022, also contains a number of provisions designed to limit or reduce drug prices under the Medicare program, reduce beneficiary out-of-pocket spending under Medicare's prescription drug benefit, and expand subsidies for individuals to obtain private health insurance under the ACA. While these provisions of the IRA do not apply directly to healthcare providers like our Network Practices, we are continuing to evaluate the potential impact, if any, that the IRA may have on our business.

Such changes in the regulatory environment may also result in changes to our payer mix that may affect our operations and revenue. In addition, certain provisions of the ACA authorize voluntary demonstration projects, which include the development of bundling payments for acute, inpatient hospital services, physician services and post-acute services for episodes of hospital care.

Further, the ACA may adversely affect payers by increasing medical costs generally, which could have an effect on the industry and potentially impact our business and revenue as payers seek to offset these increases by reducing costs in other areas.

Uncertainty regarding future amendments to the ACA as well as new legislative proposals to reform healthcare and government insurance programs, along with the trend toward managed healthcare in the United States, could result in reduced demand and prices for our services. We expect that additional state and federal healthcare reform measures will be adopted in the future, any of which could limit the amounts that federal and state governments and other third party payers will pay for healthcare products and services, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Changes in the payor mix of patients and potential decreases in reimbursement rates as a result of consolidation among plans could adversely affect our revenues and results of operations.

The amounts our Network Practices receive for services provided to patients are determined by a number of factors, including the payor mix of patients and the reimbursement methodologies and rates utilized by the patients' plans. Patient services revenue consists of fee-for-service agreements held by our Network Practices. Under a fee-for-service payor arrangement, our Network Practices collect fees directly from the payor as services are provided. Patient services revenue accounted for substantially all of our total revenue for the year ended December 31, 2021. A significant decrease in the number of fee-for-service arrangements held by our Network Practices could adversely affect our revenues and results of operation.

The healthcare industry has also experienced a trend of consolidation, resulting in fewer but larger payors that have significant bargaining power, given their market share. Payments from payors are the result of negotiated rates. These rates may decline based on renegotiations and larger payors have significant bargaining power to negotiate higher discounted fee arrangements with healthcare providers. As a result, payors increasingly are demanding discounted fee structures or the assumption by healthcare providers of all or a portion of the financial risk related to paying for care provided through capitation agreements.

We face significant competition from other healthcare services providers. Our failure to adequately compete could adversely affect our business.

We and our Network Practices compete directly with national, regional and local providers of healthcare for patients and physicians. There are many other companies and individuals currently providing healthcare services, many of which have been in business longer and/or have substantially more resources. Other companies could enter the healthcare industry in the future and divert some or all of our business. If we expand to other geographies, we expect competition may change based on a number of factors, including the number of competing oncology care facilities in the local market and the types of services available at those facilities, our Network Practices' reputation for quality care of patients, the commitment and expertise of our Network Practices' medical staff, our local service offerings and community programs, the cost of care in each locality, and the physical appearance, location, age and condition of our facilities. If we are unable to attract patients to our managed clinics, our revenue and profitability will be adversely affected. Some of our competitors may have greater recognition and be more established in their respective communities than we are, and may have greater financial and other resources than we have. Competing oncology care providers may also offer larger facilities or different programs or services than our Network Practices do, which, combined with the foregoing factors, may result in our competitors being more attractive to our current patients, potential patients and referral sources. Furthermore, while we budget for routine capital expenditures at our managed clinics to keep them competitive in their respective markets, to the extent that competitive forces cause those expenditures to increase in the future, our financial condition may be negatively affected. In addition, our relationships with governmental and private third-party payors are not exclusive and our competitors have established or could seek to establish relationships with such payors to serve their covered patients. Additionally, as we expand into new geographies, we may encounter competitors with stronger relationships or recognition in the community in such new geography, which could give those competitors an advantage in obtaining new patients. Individual physicians, physician groups and companies in other healthcare industry segments, including those with which our Network Practices have contracts, and some of which have greater financial, marketing and staffing resources, may become competitors in providing health care services, and this competition may have a material adverse effect on our business operations and financial position.

Competition for physicians and nurses, shortages of qualified personnel or other factors could increase our labor costs and adversely affect our revenue, profitability and cash flows.

Our operations are dependent on the efforts, abilities and experience of our Network Practices' physicians and clinical personnel. We compete with other healthcare providers, primarily hospitals and other oncology practices, in attracting physicians, nurses and medical staff to support our managed clinics, recruiting and retaining qualified management and support personnel responsible for the daily operations of each of our managed clinics and in our Network Practices contracting with payors in each of our markets. In some markets, the lack of availability of clinical personnel has become a significant operating issue facing all healthcare providers. This shortage may require us and our Network Practices to continue to enhance wages and benefits to recruit and retain qualified personnel or to contract for more expensive temporary personnel. We also depend on the available labor pool of semi-skilled and unskilled workers in each of the markets in which we operate.

If our labor costs increase, we may not be able to raise rates to offset these increased costs. Because a significant percentage of our revenue consists of fixed, prospective payments, our ability to pass along increased labor costs is limited. In particular, if labor costs rise at an annual rate greater than our net annual consumer price index basket update from Medicare, our results of operations and cash flows will likely be adversely affected. Any union activity at our managed clinics that may occur in the future could contribute to increased labor costs. Certain proposed changes in federal labor laws and the National Labor Relations Board's modification of its election procedures could increase the likelihood of employee unionization attempts. Although none of our employees or the employees of our Network Practices are currently represented by a collective bargaining agreement, to the extent a significant portion of our employee base unionizes, it is possible our labor costs could increase materially. Our failure to recruit and retain qualified management and medical personnel for our Network Practices, or to control our collective labor costs, could have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition.

Because competition for qualified personnel is intense, we may not be able to attract and retain the highly skilled employees we need to execute our business strategies and growth plans.

To execute on our growth plan, we and our Network Practices must attract and retain highly qualified personnel. Competition for highly qualified personnel is intense, especially for physicians and other medical professionals who are experienced in providing oncology care services. We and our Network Practices have, from time to time, experienced, and we expect to continue to experience, difficulty in hiring and retaining employees with appropriate qualifications. Many of the companies and healthcare providers with which we compete for experienced personnel have greater resources than we have. If we and our Network Practices hire employees from competitors or other companies or healthcare providers, their former employees may attempt to assert that these employers or we have breached certain legal obligations, resulting in a diversion of our time and resources.

As we become a more mature company, we may find our recruiting efforts more challenging. The incentives to attract, retain, and motivate employees provided by our stock options and other equity awards, or by other compensation arrangements, may not be as effective as in the past. As such, we may not be successful in continuing to attract and retain qualified personnel. Our recruiting efforts may also be limited by laws and regulations, such as restrictive immigration laws, and restrictions on travel or availability of visas. If we fail to attract new personnel or fail to retain and motivate our current personnel, our business and future growth prospects could be harmed.

If our Network Practices and the physicians affiliated therewith are unable to provide consistently high quality of care, our business will be adversely impacted.

Our business is dependent upon our Network Practices and the physicians affiliated therewith providing high-quality care to patients. In particular, the ability to attract and retain patients and patient referrals is dependent upon providing cost effective, quality patient care that meets or exceeds the patients' and payors' expectations. We depend on third parties for certain of the patient care needs. If we, our Network Practices or the physicians affiliated therewith fail to provide service that meets the patients' and payors' expectations, we may have difficulty retaining or growing the patient base, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We expect the importance of high-quality patient experience to increase as we, through our Network Practices, expand our business and pursue new lives served. Any failure to maintain high-quality patient experience, or a market perception that we do not maintain high-quality care, could harm our reputation and our ability to grow the number of lives served, and our business, results of operations, and financial condition. Additionally, as the number of lives served by our Network Practices in our managed clinics grows, we will need to hire additional personnel to provide quality care at scale. If we, our Network Practices or the physicians affiliated therewith are unable to provide such care, our business, results of operations, financial condition, and reputation could be harmed.

If certain of our suppliers do not meet our needs, if there are material price increases on supplies, if we are not reimbursed or adequately reimbursed for drugs purchased or if we are unable to effectively access new technology or superior products, it could negatively impact the ability of our Network Practices to effectively provide the services we offer and could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

If our suppliers do not meet our Network Practices' needs for the products they supply, including in the event of a product recall, shortage or dispute, and are not able to find adequate alternative sources, if our Network Practices experience material price increases from these suppliers that we are unable to mitigate, or if some of the drugs that our Network Practices purchase are not reimbursed or not adequately reimbursed by commercial or government payors, it could have a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. In addition, the technology related to the products critical to the services we provide is subject to new developments which may result in superior products. If we are not able to access superior products on a cost-effective basis or if suppliers are not able to fulfill our requirements for such products, we and our Network Practices could face patient attrition and other negative consequences which could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We depend on our information technology systems, and those of our third-party vendors, contractors and consultants, and any failure or significant disruptions of these systems, security breaches or loss of data could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business is dependent on maintaining effective information systems as well as the integrity and timeliness of the data we use to serve patients, support our care teams and operate our business. Because of the large amount of data that we collect and manage, it is possible that hardware failures or errors in our systems could result in data loss or corruption or cause the information that we collect to be incomplete or contain inaccuracies that our partners regard as significant. If our data were found to be inaccurate or unreliable due to fraud or other error, or if we, or any of the third-party service providers we engage, were to fail to maintain information systems and data integrity effectively, we could experience operational disruptions that may impact patients and care teams and hinder our ability to provide services, retain and attract patients, establish appropriate pricing for services, manage patient risk profiles, establish reserves, report financial results timely and accurately and maintain regulatory compliance, among other things.

Our information technology strategy and execution are critical to our continued success. We must continue to invest in long-term solutions that will enable us to anticipate patient needs and expectations, enhance the patient experience, act as a differentiator in the market and protect against cybersecurity risks and threats. We believe our success is dependent, in large part, on maintaining the effectiveness of existing technology systems and continuing to deliver and enhance technology systems that support our business processes in a cost-efficient and resource-efficient manner. Increasing regulatory and legislative changes will place additional demands on our information technology infrastructure that could have a direct impact on resources available for other projects tied to our strategic initiatives. In addition, recent trends toward greater patient engagement in health care require new and enhanced technologies, including more sophisticated applications for mobile devices. Connectivity among technologies is becoming increasingly important. We must also develop new systems to meet current market standards and keep pace with continuing changes in information processing technology, evolving industry and regulatory standards and patient needs. Failure to do so may present compliance challenges and impede our ability to deliver services in a competitive manner. Further, because system development projects are long-term in nature, they may be more costly than expected to complete and may not deliver the expected benefits upon completion.

Security incidents compromising the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of our confidential or personal information and our and our third-party service providers' information technology systems could result from cyber-attacks, computer malware, viruses, social engineering (including spear phishing and ransomware attacks), credential stuffing, supply chain attacks, efforts by individuals or groups of hackers and sophisticated organizations, including state-sponsored organizations, errors or malfeasance of our personnel, and security vulnerabilities in the software or systems on which we and our third party service providers rely. As techniques used by cyber criminals change frequently, a disruption, cyberattack or other security breach of our information technology systems or infrastructure, or those of our third-party service providers, may go undetected for an extended period and could result in the theft, transfer, unauthorized access to, disclosure, modification, misuse, loss or destruction of our employee, representative, customer, vendor, consumer and/or other third-party data, including sensitive or confidential data, personal information and/or intellectual property. We and certain of our service providers are from time to time, subject to cyberattacks and security incidents, and we cannot guarantee that our security efforts will prevent breaches or breakdowns of our or our third-party service providers' information technology systems. While we do not believe that we have experienced any significant system failure, accident or security breach to date, if we suffer a material loss or disclosure of health-related or other personal or confidential information as a result of a breach of our information technology systems, including those of our third-party service providers, we may suffer reputational, competitive and/or business harm, incur significant costs and be subject to government investigations, litigation, fines and/or damages, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, prospects, results of operations, financial condition and/or cash flows. Moreover, while we maintain cyber insurance that may help provide coverage for these types of incidents, we cannot assure you that our insurance will be adequate to cover costs and liabilities related to these incidents. Further, our failure to effectively invest in, implement improvements to and properly maintain the uninterrupted operation and data integrity of our information technology and other business systems could adversely affect our results of operations, financial position and cash flow.

We may be subject to legal proceedings and litigation, including intellectual property and privacy disputes, which are costly to defend and could materially harm our business and results of operations.

We and our Network Practices may be party to lawsuits and legal proceedings in the normal course of business. These matters are often expensive and disruptive to normal business operations. We may face allegations, lawsuits and regulatory inquiries, audits and investigations regarding data privacy, security, labor and employment, consumer protection and intellectual property infringement, including claims related to privacy, patents, publicity, trademarks, copyrights and other rights. We may also face allegations or litigation related to our acquisitions, securities issuances or business practices, including public disclosures about our business. Litigation and regulatory proceedings may be protracted and expensive, and the results are difficult to predict. Certain of these matters may include speculative claims for substantial or indeterminate amounts of damages and include claims for injunctive relief. Additionally, our litigation costs could be significant. Adverse outcomes with respect to litigation or any of these legal proceedings may result in significant settlement costs or judgments, penalties and fines, or require us to modify our services or require us to stop serving certain patients or geographies, all of which could negatively impact our geographical expansion and revenue growth. Our Network Practices may also become subject to periodic audits, which would likely increase our regulatory compliance costs and may require us to change our business practices, which could negatively impact our revenue growth. Managing legal proceedings, litigation and audits, even if we achieve favorable outcomes, is time-consuming and diverts the attention of management and our affiliated providers from our business.

The results of regulatory proceedings, litigation, claims, and audits cannot be predicted with certainty, and determining reserves for pending litigation and other legal, regulatory and audit matters requires significant judgment. There can be no assurance that our expectations will prove correct, and even if these matters are resolved in our favor or without significant cash settlements, these matters, and the time and resources necessary to litigate or resolve them, could harm our reputation, business, financial condition, results of operations and the market price of our common stock.

Furthermore, our business exposes our Network Practices and affiliated providers to potential medical malpractice, professional negligence or other related actions or claims that are inherent in the provision of healthcare services. These claims, with or without merit, could cause us to incur substantial costs, and could place a significant strain on our financial resources, divert the attention of management and our affiliated providers from our core business, harm our reputation and adversely affect our Network Practices' ability to attract and retain patients, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Although we maintain professional liability insurance coverage for our Network Practices and affiliated providers, it is possible that claims against them may exceed the coverage limits of our insurance policies. Even if any professional liability loss is covered by an insurance policy, our liability could exceed the limits of our insurance coverage. Professional liability claims in excess of applicable insurance coverage could have a material adverse effect on our collective business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any professional liability claim brought against our Network Practices and affiliated providers, with or without merit, could result in an increase of our professional liability insurance premiums. Insurance coverage varies in cost and can be difficult to obtain, in particular insurance coverage relating to cybersecurity, and we cannot guarantee that we will be able to obtain insurance coverage on behalf of our Network Practices and affiliated providers in the future on terms acceptable to us or at all. If costs of insurance and claims increase, then our collective earnings could decline.

Some jurisdictions preclude Network Practices from entering into non-compete agreements with physicians, and other non-compete agreements and restrictive covenants applicable to certain physicians and other clinical employees may not be enforceable.

Network Practices have employment contracts with physicians and other health professionals in many states. Some of these contracts include provisions preventing these physicians and other health professionals from competing with us both during and after the term of our contract with them. The law governing non-compete agreements and other forms of restrictive covenants varies from state to state. Some jurisdictions prohibit our Network Practices from using non-competition covenants with our professional staff. Other states are reluctant to strictly enforce non-compete agreements and restrictive covenants applicable to physicians and other healthcare professionals. There can be no assurance that our Network Practices' non-compete agreements related to physicians and other health professionals will be found enforceable if challenged in certain states. In such event, our Network Practices would be unable to prevent physicians and other health professionals formerly employed by our Network Practices from competing with us, potentially resulting in the loss of some of our patients.

Current and future acquisitions may use significant resources, may be unsuccessful, and could expose us to unforeseen liabilities.

As part of our growth strategy, we may pursue acquisitions of oncology and other physician practices and services. These acquisitions may involve significant cash expenditures, debt incurrence, additional operational losses and expenses, and compliance risks that could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations. We may not be able to successfully integrate the acquired businesses into ours and our Network Practices', and therefore, we may not be able to realize the intended benefits from an acquisition. These acquisitions could result in difficulties integrating acquired operations, technologies, and personnel into our business. Such difficulties may divert significant financial, operational, and managerial resources from our existing operations and make it more difficult to achieve our operating and strategic objectives. We and our Network Practices may fail to retain employees or patients acquired through these acquisitions, which may negatively impact the integration efforts. These acquisitions could also have a negative impact on our results of operations if it is subsequently determined that goodwill or other acquired intangible assets are impaired, thus resulting in an impairment charge in a future period.

In addition, these acquisitions involve risks that the acquired businesses will not perform in accordance with expectations; that we may become liable for unforeseen financial or business liabilities of the acquired businesses, including liabilities for failure to comply with applicable healthcare regulations; that the expected synergies associated with acquisitions will not be achieved; and that business judgments concerning the value, strengths and weaknesses of businesses acquired will prove incorrect, which could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

If we are unable to protect the confidentiality of our trade secrets, know-how and other proprietary and internally developed information, the value of our technology could be adversely affected.

We may not be able to protect our trade secrets, know-how and other internally developed information adequately. Although we use reasonable efforts to protect this internally developed information and technology, our employees, consultants and other parties (including independent contractors and companies with which we conduct business) may unintentionally or willfully disclose our information or technology to competitors. Enforcing a claim that a third party illegally disclosed or obtained and is using any of our internally developed information or technology is difficult, expensive and time-consuming, and the outcome is unpredictable. We rely, in part, on non-disclosure, confidentiality and assignment-of-invention agreements with our employees, independent contractors, consultants and companies with which we conduct business to protect our internally developed information. These agreements may not be self-executing, or they may be breached and we may not have adequate remedies for such breach. Moreover, third parties may independently develop similar or equivalent proprietary information or otherwise gain access to our trade secrets, know-how and other internally developed information.

Negative publicity regarding the managed healthcare industry generally could adversely affect our results of operations or business.

Negative publicity regarding the managed healthcare industry generally may result in increased regulation and legislative review of industry practices that further increase our costs of doing business and adversely affect our results of operations or business by:

- requiring us to change our products and services;
- increasing the regulatory, including compliance, burdens under which we operate, which, in turn, may negatively impact the manner in which our Network Practices provide services and increase our costs of providing services;
- adversely affecting our ability to market our products or services through the imposition of further regulatory restrictions; or
- adversely affecting our ability to attract and retain patients.

Our managed clinics may be negatively impacted by weather and other factors beyond our control.

Our results of operations may be adversely impacted by adverse conditions affecting our managed clinics, including severe weather events such as hurricanes and flooding, natural disasters such as earthquakes and forest fires. In particular, Fort Myers, Florida where our headquarters are located, experienced significant damage in the wake of Hurricane Ian. We may not fully realize Ian's impact on Fort Myers for some time, and Fort Myers is likely to be adversely impacted by other severe storms and/or hurricanes in the future. Our results of operations may also be adversely impacted by public health concerns such as contagious disease outbreaks, violence or threats of violence or other factors beyond our control that cause disruption of patient scheduling, displacement of patients, employees and care teams, or force certain of our managed clinics to close temporarily. Our future operating results may be adversely affected by these and other factors that disrupt the operation of our managed clinics.

Risks Related to Our Regulatory Environment

We are dependent on our relationships with our Network Practices to provide healthcare services, and our business would be harmed if those relationships were disrupted or if our arrangements with our Network Practices become subject to legal challenges.

Our contractual relationships with our Network Practices may implicate certain state laws that generally prohibit non-professional entities from providing licensed medical services or exercising control over licensed physicians or other healthcare professionals (such activities generally referred to as the "corporate practice of medicine") or engaging in certain practices such as fee-splitting with such licensed professionals. The interpretation and enforcement of these laws vary significantly from state to state. There can be no assurance that these laws will be interpreted in a manner consistent with our practices or that other laws or regulations will not be enacted in the future that could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Regulatory authorities, state boards of medicine, state attorneys general and other parties may assert that, despite the agreements through which we operate, we are engaged in the provision of medical services and/or that our arrangements with our Network Practices constitute unlawful fee-splitting. If a jurisdiction's prohibition on the corporate practice of medicine or fee-splitting is interpreted in a manner that is inconsistent with our practices, we would be required to restructure or terminate our arrangements with our Network Practices to bring our activities into compliance with such laws. A determination of non-compliance, or the termination of or failure to successfully restructure these relationships could result in disciplinary action, penalties, damages, fines, and/or a loss of revenue, any of which could have a material and adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. State corporate practice of medicine and fee-splitting prohibitions also often impose penalties on healthcare professionals for aiding in the improper rendering of professional services, which could discourage physicians and other healthcare professionals with whom we contract from providing clinical services.

Our managed clinics and our Network Practices providing professional services at such clinics may become subject to medical liability claims, which could have a material adverse impact on our business.

Our business entails the risk of medical liability claims against us, our Network Practices and their clinicians. Although we, our Network Practices and their clinicians carry insurance covering medical malpractice claims in amounts that we believe are appropriate in light of the risks attendant to our business, successful medical liability claims could result in substantial damage awards that exceed the limits of our and our clinicians' insurance coverage, and/or plaintiffs in these matters may request punitive or other damages that may not be covered by insurance. In addition, professional liability insurance is expensive and insurance premiums may increase significantly in the future, particularly as we expand our services. As a result, adequate professional liability insurance may not be available to our clinicians, our affiliated practices or to us in the future at acceptable costs or at all.

Any claims made against us or our Network Practices that are not fully covered by insurance could be costly to defend, result in substantial damage awards against us and divert the attention of our management and our Network Practices from our operations, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, any claims may adversely affect our business or reputation.

If there is a change in accounting standards by the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") or the interpretation thereof affecting consolidation of entities, it could have a material adverse effect on our consolidation of total revenues derived from our Network Practices.

Our financial statements are consolidated in accordance with applicable accounting standards and include the accounts of our Network Practices, which we manage under long-term management services agreements but are not owned by us. Such consolidation for accounting and/or tax purposes does not, is not intended to, and should not be deemed to, imply or provide us any control over the medical decisions of our Network Practices. In the event a change in accounting standards promulgated by FASB or in interpretation of its standards, or if there is an adverse determination by a regulatory agency or a court, or a change in state or federal law relating to the ability to maintain present agreements or arrangements with our Network Practices, we may not be permitted to continue to consolidate the total revenues of such practices.

Our managed clinics and our Network Practices may be subject to third-party payor audits, which, if adversely determined against us or our Network Practices, may have a material effect on our results of operations and financial condition.

As a result of our Network Practices' participation in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, our managed clinics and our Network Practices are subject to various governmental inspections, reviews, audits and investigations to verify our compliance with these programs and applicable laws and regulations. Payors may also reserve the right to conduct audits. We also periodically conduct internal audits and reviews of our regulatory compliance. An adverse inspection, review, audit or investigation could result in:

- refunding amounts we have been paid pursuant to the Medicare or Medicaid programs or from payors;
- state or federal agencies imposing fines, penalties and other sanctions on us;
- temporary suspension of payment for new patients to the facility or agency;
- decertification or exclusion from participation in the Medicare or Medicaid programs or one or more payor networks;
- self-disclosure of violations to applicable regulatory authorities;
- damage to our reputation;
- the revocation of a facility's or agency's license; and
- loss of certain rights under, or termination of, our contracts with payors.

If adverse inspections, reviews, audits or investigations occur and any of the results noted above occur, it could have a material adverse effect on our business and operating results. Furthermore, the legal, document production and other costs associated with complying with these inspections, reviews, audits or investigations could be significant.

We are subject to extensive fraud, waste, and abuse laws that may give rise to federal and state audits, investigations, lawsuits and claims against us, the outcome of which may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows, or results of operations.

The U.S. healthcare industry is heavily regulated and closely scrutinized by federal, state and local governments. Comprehensive statutes and regulations govern the manner in which we provide and bill for services and collect reimbursement from governmental programs and private payors, our contractual relationships and arrangements with healthcare providers and vendors, our marketing activities and other aspects of our operations. Of particular importance are:

- the federal Anti-Kickback Statute, or AKS, which prohibits the knowing and willful offer, payment, solicitation or receipt of any bribe, kickback, rebate or other remuneration for referring an individual, in return for ordering, leasing, purchasing or recommending or arranging for or to induce the referral of an individual or the ordering, purchasing or leasing of items or services covered, in whole or in part, by any federal healthcare program, such as Medicare and Medicaid. A person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation;

- the federal physician self-referral law, the Stark Law, which, subject to limited exceptions, prohibits physicians from referring Medicare or Medicaid patients to an entity for the provision of certain designated health services, or DHS, if the physician or a member of such physician's immediate family has a direct or indirect financial relationship (including an ownership interest or a compensation arrangement) with the entity, and prohibits the entity from billing Medicare or Medicaid for such DHS;
- the federal False Claims Act, or FCA, which imposes civil and criminal liability on individuals or entities that knowingly submit false or fraudulent claims for payment to the government or knowingly make, or cause to be made, a false statement in order to have a false claim paid, including qui tam or whistleblower suits. There are many potential bases for liability under the FCA. The government has used the FCA to prosecute Medicare and other government healthcare program fraud such as coding errors, billing for services not provided, and providing care that is not medically necessary or that is substandard in quality. In addition, the government may assert that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the AKS or Stark Law constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the FCA;
- the Civil Monetary Penalties Law, which prohibits, among other things, an individual or entity from offering remuneration to a federal healthcare program beneficiary that the individual or entity knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary to order or receive healthcare items or services from a particular provider. We may also be subject to civil monetary penalties and other sanctions under the statute if we or our Network Practices hire or contract with any individuals or entities that are or become excluded from government healthcare programs, for the provision of items or services for which payment may be made under such programs;
- the criminal healthcare fraud provisions of HIPAA and related rules that prohibit knowingly and willfully executing a scheme or artifice to defraud any healthcare benefit program or falsifying, concealing or covering up a material fact or making any material false, fictitious or fraudulent statement in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items or services. Similar to the AKS, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation;
- reassignment of payment rules that prohibit certain types of billing and collection practices in connection with claims payable by the Medicare or Medicaid programs;
- similar state law provisions pertaining to anti-kickback, self-referral and false claims issues, some of which may apply to items or services reimbursed by any payor, including patients and commercial insurers;
- laws that regulate debt collection practices;
- a provision of the Social Security Act that imposes criminal penalties on healthcare providers who fail to disclose, or refund known overpayments;
- federal and state laws that prohibit providers from billing and receiving payment from Medicare and Medicaid for services unless the services are medically necessary, adequately and accurately documented, and billed using codes that accurately reflect the type and level of services rendered;
- federal and state laws and policies that require healthcare providers to maintain licensure, certification or accreditation to enroll and participate in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, to report certain changes in their operations to the agencies that administer these programs and, in some cases, to re-enroll in these programs when changes in direct or indirect ownership occur;
- federal and state laws pertaining to the provision of services by nurse practitioners and physician assistants in certain settings, physician supervision of those services, and reimbursement requirements that depend on the types of services provided and documented and relationships between physician supervisors and nurse practitioners and physician assistants; and

- Medicare and Medicaid regulations, manual provisions, local coverage determinations, national coverage determinations and agency guidance imposing complex and extensive requirements upon healthcare providers.

The laws and regulations in these areas are complex, changing and often subject to varying interpretations. As a result, there is no guarantee that a government authority will find that we or our Network Practices are in compliance with all such laws and regulations that apply to our business. Further, because of the breadth of these laws and the narrowness of the statutory exceptions and safe harbors available, it is possible that some of the business activities undertaken by us or our Network Practices could be subject to challenge under one or more of these laws, including, without limitation, patient assistance programs that waive or reduce the patient's obligation to pay copayments, coinsurance or deductible amounts owed for the services provided to them if they meet certain financial need criteria. If we or our Network Practices' operations are found to be in violation of any of such laws or any other governmental regulations that apply, we may be subject to significant penalties, including, without limitation, administrative, civil and criminal penalties, damages, fines, disgorgement, the curtailment or restructuring of operations, integrity oversight and reporting obligations, exclusion from participation in federal and state healthcare programs and imprisonment. In addition, any action against us or our Network Practices for violation of these laws or regulations, even if successfully defended against, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses, divert our management's attention from the operation of our business and result in adverse publicity, or otherwise experience a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition, cash flows, reputation as a result.

If any of our managed clinics or Network Practices lose their regulatory licenses, permits and/or accreditation status, or become ineligible to receive reimbursement under Medicare or Medicaid or other third-party Payors, there may be a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows, or results of operations.

The operations of our managed clinics through our Network Practices are subject to extensive federal, state and local regulation relating to, among other things, the adequacy of medical care, equipment, personnel, operating policies and procedures, dispensing of prescription drugs, fire prevention, rate-setting and compliance with building codes and environmental protection. Our managed clinics and Network Practices are also subject to extensive laws and regulation relating to facility and professional licensure, conduct of operations, including financial relationships among healthcare providers, Medicare and Medicaid fraud and abuse and physician self-referrals, and maintaining updates to our Network Practices' enrollment in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, including addition of new clinic locations, providers and other enrollment information. Our managed clinics and Network Practices are subject to periodic inspection by licensing authorities and accreditation organizations to assure their continued compliance with these various standards. There can be no assurance that these regulatory authorities will determine that all applicable requirements are fully met at any given time. Should any of our managed clinics or Network Practices be found to be noncompliant with these requirements, we or our Network Practices could be assessed fines and penalties, could be required to refund reimbursement amounts or could lose our licensure or Medicare and/or Medicaid certification or accreditation so that we or our Network Practices are unable to receive reimbursement from such programs and possibly from other third-party payors, any of which could materially adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows or results of operations.

If we or our Network Practices fail to comply with applicable data interoperability and information blocking rules, our consolidated results of operations could be adversely affected.

The 21st Century Cures Act (the "Cures Act"), which was signed into law in December 2016, includes provisions related to data interoperability, information blocking and patient access. In May 2020, the HHS Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology, or ONC, and CMS published the Cures Act final rule, which was intended to clarify provisions of the Cures Act regarding interoperability and information blocking, and include, among other things, requirements surrounding information blocking, changes to ONC's health IT certification program and requirements that CMS-regulated payors make relevant claims/care data and provider directory information available through standardized patient access and provider directory application programming interfaces, or APIs, that connect to provider electronic health record systems, or EHRs. The final rule will transform the way in which healthcare providers, health IT developers, health information exchanges/health information networks, or HIEs/HINs, and health plans share patient information, and create significant requirements for healthcare industry participants. For example, the final rule, which went into effect on April 5, 2021, prohibits healthcare providers, health IT developers of certified health IT, and HIEs/HINs from engaging in practices that are likely to interfere with, prevent, materially discourage, or otherwise inhibit the access, exchange or use of electronic health information, or EHI, also known as “information blocking.” To further support access and exchange of EHI, the final rule identifies eight “reasonable and necessary activities” as exceptions to information blocking activities, as long as specific conditions are met. Any failure to comply with these rules could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Actual or perceived failures to comply with applicable data protection, privacy and security, advertising and consumer protection laws, regulations, standards and other requirements could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We and our Network Practices collect, receive, generate, use, process, and store significant and increasing volumes of sensitive information, such as employee, individually identifiable health information and other personally identifiable information. We and our Network Practices are subject to a variety of federal and state laws and regulations, as well as contractual obligations, relating to the collection, use, storage, retention, security, disclosure, transfer, return, destruction and other processing of personal information, including health-related information. Enforcement actions and consequences for noncompliance with such laws, directives and regulations are rising, and the regulatory framework for privacy, data protection and data transfers is complex and rapidly evolving and is likely to remain uncertain for the foreseeable future.

In the United States, numerous such federal and state laws and regulations, including data breach notification laws, health information privacy laws, and consumer protection laws and regulations, including those that govern the collection, use, disclosure, and protection of health-related and other personal information, could apply to our operations or the operations of our Network Practices. For example, the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, as amended by the Health Information Technology for Economic and Clinical Health Act of 2009, and regulations implemented thereunder, which we refer to collectively as HIPAA, imposes privacy, security and breach notification obligations on certain health care providers, health plans, and health care clearinghouses, known as covered entities, as well as business associates that perform certain services that involve creating, receiving, maintaining or transmitting individually identifiable health information for or on behalf of such covered entities. HIPAA requires covered entities, such as our Network Practices, and business associates, such as us, to develop and maintain policies with respect to the protection of, use and disclosure of protected health information, or PHI, including the adoption of administrative, physical and technical safeguards to protect such information, and certain notification requirements in the event of a data breach.

Entities that are found to be in violation of HIPAA as the result of a breach of unsecured PHI, a complaint about privacy practices or an audit by HHS, may be subject to significant civil, criminal and administrative fines and penalties and/or additional reporting and oversight obligations if required to enter into a resolution agreement and corrective action plan with HHS to settle allegations of HIPAA non-compliance. HIPAA also authorizes state Attorneys General to file suit on behalf of their residents. Courts may award damages, costs and attorneys’ fees related to violations of HIPAA in such cases. While HIPAA does not create a private right of action allowing individuals to sue us in civil court for violations of HIPAA, its standards have been used as the basis for duty of care in state civil suits such as those for negligence or recklessness in the misuse or breach of PHI. Enforcement actions by HHS or state Attorneys General could result in significant financial liability and reputational harm, in addition to depleting financial resources.

Numerous other state and federal laws, including consumer protection laws and regulations, govern the collection, dissemination, use, access to, confidentiality, security and processing of personal information, including health-related information, some of which are more stringent than HIPAA and many of which differ from each other in significant ways and may not have the same effect, thus complicating compliance efforts. In addition, these laws and regulations in many cases are more restrictive than, and may not be preempted by, HIPAA and may be subject to varying interpretations by courts and government agencies. Laws in all 50 states and other United States territories have been enacted that may require businesses to provide notice to regulators or to individuals whose personal information has been accessed without authorization or disclosed as a result of a data breach. Such laws are not always consistent, and compliance in the event of a widespread data breach is costly and may be challenging. We also may be contractually required to comply with various requirements relating to privacy and security of personal information and to provide notice or take other actions in connection with a data breach, and failures to comply with such contractual requirements could result in potential contractual liability. Although we may have certain contractual protections in our contracts with third parties, such contractual protections may not be sufficient to adequately protect us from potential liability, potential harm to our reputation or the need to expend significant resources on data security and responding to an actual or perceived data breach.

States are also constantly amending existing laws, requiring attention to frequently changing requirements, and we expect these changes to continue. For example, in June 2018, California enacted the California Consumer Privacy Act, or the CCPA, which became effective on January 1, 2020, and, among other things, requires covered companies to provide disclosures to California consumers, and affords such consumers certain data protection rights, including the ability to opt-out of certain sales of personal information. The CCPA provides for civil penalties for violations, as well as a private right of action for certain data breaches that result in the loss of personal information that may increase data breach litigation. While the CCPA includes certain exceptions for health-related information, including PHI, it still may require us to modify our data practices and policies and to incur substantial costs and expenses in an effort to comply. Further, the California Privacy Rights Act, or CPRA, recently passed in California. The CPRA will impose additional data protection obligations on covered businesses, including additional consumer rights processes, limitations on data uses, new audit requirements for higher risk data, and opt outs for certain uses of sensitive data. It will also create a new California data protection agency authorized to issue substantive regulations and could result in increased privacy and information security enforcement. The majority of the provisions will go into effect on January 1, 2023, and additional compliance investment and potential business process changes may be required.

As required by certain laws, we publicly post documentation regarding our privacy practices concerning the collection, processing, use and disclosure of certain data. The publication of our privacy policy and other documentation that provide promises and assurances about privacy and security can subject us to potential state and federal action if they are found to be deceptive, unfair, or misrepresentative of our actual practices. In addition, although we endeavor to comply with our published policies and documentation, individuals could allege we have failed to do so, or we may at times actually fail to do so despite our efforts. Any failure by us, our third-party service providers or other parties with whom we do business to comply with this documentation or with laws or regulations applicable to our business could result in proceedings against us by governmental entities or others.

In addition, the Federal Trade Commission, or the FTC, expects a company's data security measures to be reasonable and appropriate in light of the sensitivity and volume of consumer information it holds, the size and complexity of its business, and the cost of available tools to improve security and reduce vulnerabilities. Our failure to take any steps perceived by the FTC as appropriate to protect consumers' personal information may result in claims by the FTC that we have engaged in unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act. State consumer protection laws provide similar causes of action for unfair or deceptive practices for alleged privacy, data protection and data security violations.

In addition to government regulation, privacy advocates and industry groups may propose self-regulatory standards from time to time. These and other industry standards may legally or contractually apply to us, or we may elect to comply with such standards or to facilitate our customers' compliance with such standards. We expect that there will continue to be new proposed laws and regulations concerning privacy, data protection, and information security, and we cannot yet determine the impact such future laws, regulations, and standards may have on our business. New laws, amendments to or re-interpretations of existing laws and regulations, industry standards, contractual and other obligations may require us to incur additional costs and restrict our business operations. Because the interpretation and application of laws, standards, contractual and other obligations relating to privacy and data protection are still uncertain and changing, it is possible that these laws, standards, contractual and other obligations may be interpreted and applied in a manner that is inconsistent with our data management practices, our privacy, data protection or data security policies or procedures or the features of our technology. If so, in addition to the possibility of fines, lawsuits, regulatory investigations, imprisonment of company officials and public censure, other claims and penalties, significant costs for remediation and damage to our reputation, we could be required to fundamentally change our business activities and practices or modify our technology, any of which could adversely affect our business. We may be unable to make such changes or modifications in a commercially reasonable manner, or at all, and our ability to develop new software or provide new services could be limited. Any inability to adequately address privacy, data protection or information security-related concerns, even if such concerns are unfounded, or to successfully negotiate privacy, data protection or information security-related contractual terms with customers, or to comply with applicable laws and regulations, or our policies relating to privacy, data protection, and information security, could result in additional cost and liability to us, harm our reputation and brand, and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We and our Network Practices are subject to federal, state and local laws and regulations that govern our business. These include regulations of our employment practices, including minimum wage, living wage, and paid time-off requirements, permitting and licensing, employee health and safety and the storage, treatment and disposal of waste. Failure to comply with these laws and regulations, or changes to these laws and regulations that increase our expenses, could adversely impact our operations.

We and our Network Practices are required to comply with all applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations related to the operation of our business. These regulations include regulations governing our Network Practices' dispensary services, the construction, the use of our managed clinics and the treatment of hazardous waste or drug products. Changes in regulations or new regulations could increase our costs, cause our Network Practices to lose licenses or accreditations or otherwise harm our business or the business of our Network Practices.

We and our Network Practices are required to comply with all applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations relating to employment, including occupational safety and health requirements, wage and hour and other compensation requirements, employee benefits, providing leave and sick pay, employment insurance, proper classification of workers as employees or independent contractors, immigration and equal employment opportunity laws. These laws and regulations can vary significantly among jurisdictions and can be highly technical. Costs and expenses related to these requirements are a significant operating expense and may increase as a result of, among other things, changes in federal, state or local laws or regulations, or the interpretation thereof, requiring employers to provide specified benefits or rights to employees, increases in the minimum wage and local living wage ordinances, increases in the level of existing benefits or the lengthening of periods for which unemployment benefits are available. We may not be able to offset any increased costs and expenses. Furthermore, any failure to comply with these laws requirements, including even a seemingly minor infraction, can result in significant penalties which could harm our reputation and have a material adverse effect on our business.

Future changes to applicable tax laws and regulations and/or their interpretation may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Tax rules and regulations are subject to interpretation and require judgment by us that may be successfully challenged by the applicable taxation authorities upon audit, which could result in additional tax liabilities.

Changes in tax laws or their interpretation could decrease the amount of revenues we receive, the value of any tax loss carry-forwards and tax credits recorded on our balance sheet and the amount of our cash flow, and adversely affect our business, financial condition or results of operations. In addition, other factors or events, including business combinations and investment transactions, changes in the valuation of our deferred tax assets and liabilities, adjustments to taxes upon finalization of various tax returns or as a result of deficiencies asserted by taxing authorities, increases in expenses not deductible for tax purposes, changes in available tax credits, other changes in the apportionment of our income, and changes in tax rates, could also increase our future effective tax rate.

In addition, our effective tax rate and tax liability are based on the application of current income tax laws, regulations and treaties. These laws, regulations and treaties are complex, and the manner which they apply to us and our diverse set of business arrangements is often open to interpretation, and can require us to take positions regarding the interpretation of applicable rules or the valuation of our assets that are subject to material uncertainty. Significant management judgment is required in determining our provision for taxes, our deferred tax assets and liabilities and any valuation allowance recorded against our net deferred tax assets. The proper tax treatment or characterization of the transactions we undertake is often subject to significant uncertainty, and the resolution of any related issues could affect the withholding tax liabilities to which we are subject or the tax deductions that we are able to claim. The tax authorities could challenge our interpretation of laws, regulations and treaties or the positions that we have taken regarding the valuation of our assets, resulting in additional tax liability or adjustment to our income tax provision.

Our tax filings are subject to review or audit by various taxing authorities. As discussed above, we exercise significant judgment in determining our provision for taxes and, in the ordinary course of our business, there may be transactions and calculations where the proper tax treatment is uncertain. We may also be liable for taxes in connection with businesses we acquire. Our determinations are not binding on the IRS or any other taxing authorities, and accordingly the final determination in an audit or other proceeding may be materially different than the treatment reflected in our tax provisions, accruals and returns. An assessment of additional taxes because of an audit could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

New income, sales, use or other tax laws, statutes, rules, regulations or ordinances could be enacted at any time, or interpreted, changed, modified or applied adversely to us, any of which could adversely affect our business operations and financial performance. We are unable to predict what changes will occur and, if so, the ultimate impact on its business. To the extent that such changes have a negative impact on us, they may materially and adversely impact its business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

Risks Related to Operating as a Public Company

For the purposes of this section, “we,” “us” and “our” refers to DTOC prior to the consummation of the Business Combination and to New AON subsequent to the consummation of the Business Combination.

The requirements of being a public company, including maintaining adequate internal control over our financial and management systems, may strain our resources, divert management's attention, make us incur increased costs, and affect our ability to attract and retain executive management and qualified board members.

As a public company we will incur significant legal, accounting, and other expenses that we did not incur as a private company. We will be subject to reporting requirements of the Exchange Act, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, the rules subsequently implemented by the SEC, the rules and regulations of the listing standards of Nasdaq (or in the event DTOC and AON determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the listing standards of such national securities exchange) and other applicable securities rules and regulations. Stockholder activism, the current political and social environment, and the current high level of government intervention and regulatory reform, may lead to substantial new regulations and disclosure obligations, which will likely result in additional compliance costs and could impact the manner in which we operate our business in ways we cannot currently anticipate.

Our management team has limited experience managing a publicly traded company, interacting with public company investors, and complying with the increasingly complex laws pertaining to public companies. Our management team may not successfully or efficiently manage our transition to being a public company subject to significant regulatory oversight and reporting obligations under the federal securities laws and the continuous scrutiny of securities analysts and investors. These new obligations and constituents will require significant attention from our senior management and could divert their attention away from the day-to-day management of our business, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. Although we have already hired additional employees to assist us in complying with these requirements, our finance team is small and we may need to hire more employees in the future, or engage outside consultants, which will increase our operating expenses. We also expect that being a public company and complying with applicable rules and regulations will make it more expensive for us to obtain director and officer liability insurance, and we may be required to incur substantially higher costs to obtain and maintain the same or similar coverage. These factors could also make it more difficult for us to attract and retain qualified members of our board of directors and qualified executive officers.

Compliance with these rules and regulations may strain our financial and management systems, internal controls, and employees. The Exchange Act requires, among other things, that we file annual, quarterly, and current reports with respect to our business and operating results. Moreover, the Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires, among other things, that we maintain effective disclosure controls and procedures, and internal control, over financial reporting. In order to maintain and, if required, improve our disclosure controls and procedures, and internal control over, financial reporting to meet this standard, significant resources and management oversight may be required. If we encounter additional material weaknesses or deficiencies in our internal control over financial reporting, we may not detect errors on a timely basis and our consolidated financial statements may be materially misstated. Effective internal control is necessary for us to produce reliable financial reports and is important to prevent fraud.

As a public company listed in the United States, we will incur significant additional legal, accounting and other costs. These additional costs could negatively affect our financial results. In addition, changing laws, regulations and standards relating to corporate governance and public disclosure, including regulations implemented by the SEC and Nasdaq (or in the event DTOC and AON determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the regulations implemented by such national securities exchange), may increase legal and financial compliance costs and make some activities more time-consuming. These laws, regulations and standards are subject to varying interpretations and, as a result, their application in practice may evolve over time as new guidance is provided by regulatory and governing bodies. We intend to invest resources to comply with evolving laws, regulations and standards, and this investment may result in increased general and administrative expenses and a diversion of management's time and attention from revenue-generating activities to compliance activities. If, notwithstanding our efforts to comply with new laws, regulations and standards, we fail to comply, regulatory authorities may initiate legal proceedings against us and our business may be harmed.

Following the Business Combination, we may lose our eligibility to qualify as an emerging growth company prior to the last day of the fiscal year following the fifth anniversary of the completion of the IPO, if (i) our annual gross revenues exceed $1.235 billion, (ii) we become a large accelerated filer, or (iii) we issue more than $1 billion in non-convertible debt. When we lose our eligibility to qualify as an emerging growth company, subject to any other applicable exemptions, our independent registered public accounting firm will be required to formally attest to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting commencing with our next annual report on Form 10-K following loss of emerging growth company status. We expect to incur significant expenses and devote substantial management effort toward ensuring compliance with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. Despite our efforts, there is a risk that we will not be able to conclude, within the prescribed timeframe or at all, that our internal control over financial reporting is effective as required by Section 404. If we identify one or more material weaknesses, it could result in an adverse reaction in the financial markets due to a loss of confidence in the reliability of our financial statements. As a result, the market price of our common stock could be negatively affected, and we could become subject to investigations by Nasdaq (or in the event DTOC and AON determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, such other national securities exchange), the SEC or other regulatory authorities, which could require additional financial and management resources.

Failure to comply with these rules might also make it more difficult for us to obtain some types of insurance, including director and officer liability insurance, and we might be forced to accept reduced policy limits and coverage or incur substantially higher costs to obtain the same or similar coverage. The impact of these events could also make it more difficult for us to attract and retain qualified persons to serve on our board of directors, on committees of our board of directors or as members of senior management.

We are an "emerging growth company" and, as a result of the reduced disclosure and governance requirements applicable to emerging growth companies, our common stock may be less attractive to investors.

We are an "emerging growth company," as defined in the JOBS Act, and we may take advantage of certain exemptions and relief from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not "emerging growth companies." In particular, while we are an "emerging growth company," we will not be required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404(b) of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act; we will be exempt from any rules that could be adopted by the PCAOB requiring mandatory audit firm rotations or a supplement to the auditor's report on financial statements; we will be subject to reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in our periodic reports and proxy statements; and we will not be required to hold non-binding advisory votes on executive compensation or stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

In addition, the JOBS Act provides that an emerging growth company can take advantage of an extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards. This allows an emerging growth company to delay the adoption of certain accounting standards until those standards would otherwise apply to private companies. We have elected to "opt out" of such extended transition period, which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, we will adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard and will do so until such time that we either (i) irrevocably elect to "opt out" of such extended transition period or (ii) no longer qualify as an emerging growth company.

We will be an "emerging growth company" until the earlier of (1) the last day of the fiscal year (a) following the fifth anniversary of DTOC's IPO, (b) in which we have total annual gross revenue of at least $1.235 billion or (c) in which we are deemed to be a large accelerated filer, which means the market value of our common stock that is held by non-affiliates exceeds $700 million as of the last business day of our prior second fiscal quarter, and (2) the date on which we have issued more than $1.0 billion in non-convertible debt during the prior three-year period.

The exact implications of the JOBS Act are subject to interpretation and guidance by the SEC and other regulatory agencies, and we cannot assure that we will be able to take advantage of all of the benefits of the JOBS Act. In addition, investors may find our common stock less attractive to the extent we rely on the exemptions and relief granted by the JOBS Act. If some investors find our common stock less attractive as a result, there may be a less active trading market for our common stock and the price of our common stock may decline or become more volatile.

Pursuant to the JOBS Act, our independent registered public accounting firm will not be required to attest to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act for so long as we are an "emerging growth company."

Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires annual management assessments of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting, and generally requires in the same report a report by our independent registered public accounting firm on the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting. However, under the JOBS Act, our independent registered public accounting firm will not be required to attest to the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act until we are no longer an "emerging growth company."

We have identified a material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting for the year ended December 31, 2022. This material weakness could continue to adversely affect our ability to report our results of operations and financial condition accurately and in a timely manner.

Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP. A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of our annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis.

We have identified a material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting related to complex financial instruments for the year ended December 31, 2021, and for the first, second and third quarters of 2022. Specifically, DTOC's management has concluded that our control around the interpretation and accounting for certain complex equity and equity-linked instruments issued by DTOC was not effectively designed or maintained. Additionally, this material weakness could result in a misstatement of the carrying value of equity, equity-linked instruments and related accounts and disclosures that would result in a material misstatement of the financial statements that would not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. In light of this material weakness, we performed additional analysis as deemed necessary to ensure that our financial statements were prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Accordingly, management believes that the financial statements included in our most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2022 present fairly in all material respects our financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the period presented. Management understands that the accounting standards applicable to our financial statements are complex and has since the inception of DTOC benefited from the support of experienced third-party professionals with whom management has regularly consulted with respect to accounting issues. Management intends to continue to further consult with such professionals in connection with accounting matters.

We can give no assurance that the measures we have taken and plan to take in the future will remediate the material weakness identified or that any additional material weaknesses or restatements of financial results will not arise in the future due to a failure to implement and maintain adequate internal control over financial reporting or circumvention of these controls. In addition, even if we are successful in strengthening our controls and procedures, in the future those controls and procedures may not be adequate to prevent or identify irregularities or errors or to facilitate the fair presentation of our financial statements.

The trading price of our common stock may be volatile, and purchasers of our common stock could incur substantial losses.

The trading price of our common stock may be volatile. The stock market in general has experienced extreme volatility that has often been unrelated to the operating performance of particular companies. As a result of this volatility, investors may not be able to sell their common stock at or above the price paid for the shares. The market price for our common stock may be influenced by many factors, including:

- actual or anticipated variations in our operating results;
- changes in financial estimates by us or by any securities analysts who might cover our shares;
- conditions or trends in our industry;
- changes as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, international hostilities or similar macroeconomic events;
- unfavorable general economic conditions, such as a recession or economic slowdown;
- stock market price and volume fluctuations of comparable companies;
- announcements by us or our competitors of new product or service offerings, significant acquisitions, strategic partnerships, or divestitures;
- announcements of investigations or regulatory scrutiny of our operations or lawsuits filed against us;
- capital commitments;
- investors' general perception of us and our business;
- recruitment or departure of key personnel; and
- sales of our common stock, including sales by our directors and officers or specific stockholders.

In addition, in the past, stockholders have initiated class action lawsuits following periods of volatility in the market prices of these companies' stock. Such litigation, if instituted against us, could cause us to incur substantial costs and divert management's attention and resources from our business.

The price of our common stock could decline if securities analysts do not publish research or if securities analysts or other third parties publish inaccurate or unfavorable research about us.

The trading market for our common stock will be influenced by the research and reports that industry or securities analysts publish about us or our business. We do not currently have and may never obtain research coverage by securities and industry analysts. If no or few securities or industry analysts commence coverage of us, the trading price for our common stock could be negatively impacted. In the event we obtain securities or industry analyst coverage, if any of the analysts who cover us issue an adverse or misleading opinion regarding us, our business model or the performance of our common stock, or if our results of operations fail to meet the expectations of analysts, the price of our common stock would likely decline. If one or more of these analysts cease coverage of us or fail to publish reports on us regularly, we could lose visibility in the financial markets, which in turn could cause our share price or trading volume to decline.

Future sales of our common stock, or the perception that such sales may occur, could depress our share price.

Sales by us or our stockholders, particularly our executives, of a substantial number of our common stock in the public market, or the perception that these sales might occur, could cause the market price of our common stock to decline or could impair our ability to raise capital through a future sale of, or pay for acquisitions using, our equity securities. Following the expiration of the Sponsor Lock-Up Period set forth in the Sponsor Support Agreement, as described in the section titled “Related Agreements — Sponsor Support Agreement,” all of our common stock held by the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders will be freely transferable, except to the extent any such Supporting Sponsor Shareholder is deemed to be an “affiliate” of ours, without restriction or further registration under the Securities Act. In addition, following the expiration of the AON Lock-Up Period set forth in the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, as described in the section titled “Related Agreements — Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement,” AON equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right to require AON to redeem all or a portion of their common units, together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for an equal number of shares of New AON Class A common stock, subject to a beneficial ownership limit of 4.99% of the outstanding New AON Class A common stock as further described herein.

Anti-takeover provisions in our organizational documents could delay or prevent a change of control.

Certain provisions of the Proposed Charter and Proposed Bylaws to become effective upon the consummation of the Business Combination may have an anti-takeover effect and may delay, defer or prevent a merger, acquisition, tender offer, takeover attempt or other change of control transaction that a stockholder might consider in its best interest, including those attempts that might result in a premium over the market price for the shares held by our stockholders. These provisions provide for, among other things:

- the division of our Board into three classes of directors, with each class serving a staggered three year term;
- there is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of our Board;
- the ability of our Board to issue one or more series of preferred stock;
- advance notice for nominations of directors by stockholders and for stockholders to include matters to be considered at our annual meetings;
- limiting the ability of stockholders to call special stockholder meetings;
- limiting the ability of stockholders to act by written consent;
- the ability of our Board to exclusively fill a vacancy created by the expansion of our Board or the resignation, death or removal of a director in certain circumstances;
- providing that our Board is expressly authorized to adopt, amend, alter or repeal our bylaws;
- providing that stockholders may amend the bylaws only by the affirmative vote of at least 66.7% of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of capital stock of New AON entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class; and
- New AON will be subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL.

These anti-takeover provisions could make it more difficult for a third party to acquire us, even if the third party’s offer may be considered beneficial by many of our stockholders. As a result, our stockholders may be limited in their ability to obtain a premium for their shares. These provisions could also discourage proxy contests and make it more difficult for you and other stockholders to elect directors of your choosing and to cause us to take other corporate actions you desire. See “Description of Securities.”

The Proposed Charter will designate the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware as the sole and exclusive forum for certain types of actions and proceedings that may be initiated by our stockholders, which could limit our stockholders' ability to obtain a favorable judicial forum for disputes with us or our directors, officers, employees or stockholders.

The Proposed Charter will provide that, subject to limited exceptions, the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware shall be the sole and exclusive forum for any (i) derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of us, (ii) action asserting a claim of breach of a duty (including any fiduciary duty) owed by any current or former director, officer, stockholder, employee or agent of the Company to us or our stockholders, (iii) action asserting out of or relating to any provision of the DGCL, the Proposed Charter or the Proposed Bylaws or (iv) action asserting a claim governed by the internal affairs doctrine of the State of Delaware shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law. The Proposed Charter will also provide that, to the fullest extent permitted by law, the federal district courts of the United States will be the exclusive forum for resolving any complaint asserting a cause of action arising under the Securities Act. Any person or entity purchasing, otherwise acquiring or holding any interest in shares of our capital stock shall be deemed to have notice of and to have consented to the provisions of the provisions of the Proposed Charter described above. This choice of forum provision may limit a stockholder's ability to bring a claim in a judicial forum that it finds favorable for disputes with us or our directors, officers or other employees, which may discourage such lawsuits against us and our directors, officers and employees. This exclusive forum provision will not apply to claims under the Exchange Act, but will apply to actions arising under the Securities Act. Section 22 of the Securities Act, however, creates concurrent jurisdiction for federal and state courts over all suits brought to enforce any duty or liability created by the Securities Act or the rules and regulations thereunder.

Accordingly, there is uncertainty as to whether a court would enforce such a forum selection provision as written in connection with claims arising under the Securities Act, and investors cannot waive compliance with the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder. If a court were to find these provisions of the Proposed Charter inapplicable to, or unenforceable in respect of, one or more of the specified types of actions or proceedings, we may incur additional costs associated with resolving such matters in other jurisdictions, which could adversely affect our business and financial condition.

Risks Related to DTOC and the Business Combination

For the purposes of this section, "we," "us" and "our" refers to DTOC prior to the consummation of the Business Combination and to New AON subsequent to the consummation of the Business Combination.

DTOC's Sponsor and certain of its directors and officers have potential conflicts of interest in recommending that DTOC's stockholders vote in favor of approval of the Business Combination and approval of the other proposals described in this proxy statement/prospectus.

DTOC's Sponsor and certain of its directors and officers have interests in and arising from the Business Combination that are different from or in addition to the interests of DTOC's public stockholders, which may result in a conflict of interest, including the following:

- If the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not consummated by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), DTOC will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming 100% of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining stockholders and the DTOC Board, dissolving and liquidating. In such event, the 8,112,500 Founder Shares held by the Sponsor, which were acquired for a purchase price of approximately $0.003 per share prior to the IPO, would be worthless because the holders are not entitled to participate in any redemption or distribution with respect to such shares. Such shares had an aggregate market value of approximately $[] based upon the closing price of $[] per share on Nasdaq on [], the DTOC record date.
- The Sponsor, which is affiliated with Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 private warrants from DTOC for an aggregate purchase price of approximately $9.2 million (or $1.50 per warrant). These purchases took place on a private placement basis simultaneously with the consummation of the IPO. All of the proceeds DTOC received from these purchases were placed in the trust account. Such warrants had an aggregate market value of approximately $[] million based upon the closing price of $[] per warrant on Nasdaq on [], the DTOC record date. The private warrants will become worthless if DTOC does not consummate a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).

- In certain circumstances in which the Business Combination Agreement is terminated (as further described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Related Agreements”), the Sponsor may be required to reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions.
- If the Business Combination Agreement is terminated due to AON’s entry into an alternative transaction, AON is required to pay the Sponsor a termination fee of $18 million no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is 6 months following the termination and (ii) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.
- As further described above in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Extension Proposal”, the Sponsor may be required in certain circumstances to provide DTOC a loan in an amount sufficient to fund a deposit to the trust account for purposes of obtaining approval of the Extension Proposal.
- The Sponsor and DTOC’s officers, directors and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on DTOC’s behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations. However, if DTOC fails to consummate a business combination within the required period, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement. Accordingly, DTOC may not be able to reimburse these expenses if the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not completed by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).
- The Business Combination Agreement provides for the continued indemnification of DTOC’s current directors and officers and the continuation of directors and officers liability insurance covering DTOC’s current directors and officers.
- The Sponsor and DTOC’s officers and directors (or their affiliates) may make loans from time to time to DTOC to fund certain capital requirements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, $200,000 in the form of two promissory notes in favor of the Sponsor are outstanding, and further loans may be made after the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the loans will not be repaid and will be forgiven except to the extent there are funds available to DTOC outside of the trust account.
- Subject to limited exceptions, the Sponsor and Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, will not be permitted to transfer their shares of New AON common stock for 12 months following the Closing.
- Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing to certain vesting and forfeiture provisions.
- Pursuant to the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, certain parties, including the Sponsor and directors and officers of DTOC, will have registration rights, such as demand and piggy-back rights with respect to the shares of New AON common stock (subject to cooperation, cut-back provisions and suspension periods).
- Shalin R. Shah, Vipul Patel, Vance M. Wright-Browne, Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Ravi Sarin are each expected to become members of the New AON Board upon consummation of the Business Combination. As such, in the future, each of the aforementioned may receive cash fees, stock options, stock awards or other remuneration that the New AON Board determines to pay them and any applicable compensation as described under the section titled “Management of New AON After the Business Combination”.

- The Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi have each waived the anti-dilution adjustments set forth in DTOC's organizational documents, or any other anti-dilution or similar adjustment rights to which they may otherwise be entitled related to or arising from the Business Combination.
- The Sponsor and the Insiders agreed at the time of DTOC's IPO not to redeem any DTOC securities held by them in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combination and are obligated to vote in favor of the Business Combination. Neither the Sponsor nor the Insiders received any compensation for agreeing to not seek redemption or vote in favor of the Business Combination.
- Our Sponsor has made an investment for the Founder Shares at an average price per share of approximately $0.003 prior to the consummation of the IPO. As a result, even if the trading price of the New AON Class A common stock significantly declines, the value of the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor will be significantly greater than the amount the Sponsor paid to purchase such shares. Given the differential in the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the Founder Shares and the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the private placement warrants as compared to the price of the public shares and public warrants and the substantial number of New AON Class A common stock that the holders of the Founder Shares will receive upon conversion of the Founder Shares and the private placement warrants, the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders can earn a positive return on their investment, even if other DTOC stockholders have a negative return on their investment in New AON.
- DTOC's Existing Charter includes a limited waiver of the corporate opportunity doctrine, and any other analogous doctrine, that would otherwise apply to directors and officers of DTOC unless a corporate opportunity is offered to a director or officer solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of DTOC and such opportunity is one DTOC is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for DTOC to pursue.

These interests may have influenced DTOC's directors in making their recommendation that you vote in favor of the Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals in this proxy statement/prospectus.

The Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders who hold Founder Shares or Private Placement Warrants may receive a positive return on their investment even if DTOC's public stockholders experience a negative return on their investment after consummation of the Business Combination.

If DTOC is able to complete a business combination within the required time period, the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders who hold Founder Shares or Private Placement Warrants, which were acquired prior to the DTOC's IPO, or concurrently with the completion of the DTOC's IPO, may receive a positive return on their investment even if DTOC's public stockholders experience a negative return on their investment after consummation of the Business Combination.

DTOC's directors and officers have discretion in agreeing to changes or waivers to the terms of the Business Combination Agreement and related transactions, which may result in a conflict of interest when determining whether such changes or waivers are appropriate and in DTOC's public stockholders' best interest.

In the period leading up to the Closing, events may occur that, pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, would require DTOC to agree to amend the Business Combination Agreement, to consent to certain actions taken by AON or to waive rights to which DTOC is entitled to under the Business Combination Agreement. These events could arise because of changes in AON's business, a request by AON to undertake actions that would otherwise be prohibited by the terms of the Business Combination Agreement or the occurrence of other events that would have a material adverse effect on AON's business and would entitle DTOC to terminate the Business Combination Agreement. In any of such circumstances, it would be at DTOC's discretion, acting through DTOC's board of directors, to consent to such a request or action or waive such rights. The existence of the financial and personal interests of the directors described elsewhere in these risk factors may result in a conflict of interest on the part of one or more of the directors between what he or she may believe is best for the public stockholders and what he or she may believe is best for himself or herself in determining whether or not to take the requested action or waive DTOC's rights. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, DTOC does not believe there will be any requests, actions or waivers that DTOC's directors and officers would be likely to make after stockholder approval of the Business Combination Proposal has been obtained. While certain changes could be made without further stockholder approval, DTOC will circulate a new or amended proxy statement and resolicit DTOC's stockholders if changes to the terms of the Business Combination and related transactions that would have a material impact on DTOC's stockholders are required prior to the vote on the Business Combination Proposal.

If we seek stockholder approval of the Business Combination, DTOC's Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote in favor of the Business Combination, regardless of how DTOC's public stockholders vote.

As of the date hereof, the shares owned by our Initial Stockholders represents approximately 81.9% of the voting power of the outstanding common stock. Pursuant to the letter agreement, our Sponsor and each of our officers and directors have agreed to vote their shares of Class B common stock, as well as any Public Shares purchased during or after the Initial Public Offering (including in open market and privately negotiated transactions), in favor of our initial business combination. Accordingly, the agreement by our Sponsor and each of our officers and directors to vote in favor of our initial business combination will increase the likelihood that we will receive the requisite stockholder approval of the Business Combination and the transactions contemplated thereby.

Neither the DTOC Board nor any committee thereof obtained a third-party valuation in determining whether or not to pursue the Business Combination.

Neither the DTOC Board nor any committee thereof obtained an opinion from an independent investment banking or accounting firm that the price that DTOC is paying for AON is fair to DTOC from a financial point of view. Nor did the DTOC Board or any committee thereof obtain a third-party valuation in connection with the Business Combination. In analyzing the Business Combination, the DTOC Board and management conducted due diligence on AON. The DTOC Board reviewed, among other things, financial due diligence materials prepared by professional advisors, financial and market data and information on selected comparable companies, valuation of AON in its prior financings and the financial terms set forth in the Business Combination Agreement, and concluded that the Business Combination was in the best interest of DTOC stockholders. Accordingly, investors will be relying solely on the judgment of the DTOC Board and management in valuing AON, and the DTOC Board and management may not have properly valued AON's business. The lack of a fairness opinion or third-party valuation may also lead an increased number of stockholders to vote against the Business Combination or demand redemption of their shares, which could potentially adversely impact DTOC's ability to consummate the Business Combination.

Becoming a public company through a business combination rather than an underwritten offering presents risks to unaffiliated investors. Subsequent to the completion of the Business Combination, New AON may be required to subsequently take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on its financial condition, results of operations and the price of New AON securities, which could cause New AON stockholders to lose some or all of their investment.

A traditional initial public offering involves a company engaging underwriters to purchase its shares and resell them to the public. An underwritten offering imposes statutory liability on the underwriters for material misstatements or omissions contained in the registration statement unless they are able to sustain the burden of proving that they did not know and could not reasonably have discovered such material misstatements or omissions. This is referred to as a "due diligence" defense and results in the underwriters undertaking a detailed review of the business, financial condition and results of operations of the issuer and its subsidiaries. In a traditional initial public offering, investors may be able to recover damages from the underwriters in the event of misstatements and omissions in the registration statement and unavailability of the due diligence defense. Going public via a business combination with a SPAC does not involve any underwritten offering and may therefore result in less extensive vetting of the operating company's information that is presented to the public. In addition, going public via a business combination with a SPAC does not involve a book-building process as is the case in a traditional initial public offering. In a traditional initial public offering, the initial value of a company is set by investors who indicate the price at which they are prepared to purchase shares from the underwriters. In the case of a business combination involving a SPAC, the value of the target company is established by means of negotiations between the target company, the SPAC and, "PIPE" investors who agree to purchase shares at the time of the business combination, or in the case of this Business Combination, investors who agree to invest in the target company prior to and independent from the Closing. The process of establishing the value of a target company in a SPAC business combination may be less effective than a traditional initial public offering book-building process and also does not reflect events that may have occurred between the date of the signing of the BCA and the consummation of the Business Combination.

In addition, while traditional initial public offerings are frequently oversubscribed, resulting in additional potential demand for shares in the after market following the initial public offering, there is no comparable process of generating investor demand in connection with a business combination between a target company and a SPAC, which may result in lower demand for New AON's securities after the Closing, which could in turn, decrease liquidity and trading prices as well as increase the trading volatility of New AON's securities.

Becoming a public company through a business combination rather than an underwritten offering, as AON is seeking to do, presents risks to unaffiliated investors as described above. As a result, New AON, as the post-Business Combination company, may be forced to later write down or write off assets, restructure its operations, or incur impairment or other charges that could result in it reporting losses. Additionally, unexpected risks may arise and previously known risks may materialize. Even though these charges may be non-cash items and not have an immediate impact on New AON's liquidity, the fact that New AON reports charges of this nature could contribute to negative market perceptions about it or its securities. In addition, charges of this nature may cause New AON to be unable to obtain future financing on favorable terms or at all.

There may not be an active trading market for shares of New AON common stock, which may cause shares of New AON common stock to trade at a discount from their initial trading price and make it difficult to sell the shares of New AON common stock you purchase.

There has not previously been a public trading market for shares of New AON common stock. The initial trading price per share of common stock upon the consummation of the Business Combination may not be indicative of the price at which shares of New AON common stock will trade in the public market thereafter. We cannot predict the extent to which investor interest in New AON common stock will lead to the development of an active trading market on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange or how liquid that market might become. An active public market for New AON common stock may not develop or be sustained after the consummation of the Business Combination. If an active public market does not develop or is not sustained, it may be difficult for you to sell your shares of New AON common stock at a price that is attractive to you, or at all. The market price of New AON common stock may decline below the initial public trading price, and you may not be able to sell your shares of New AON common stock at a gain or at all.

Nasdaq or another reputable national securities exchange may not list our securities on its exchange, and if they are listed we may be unable to satisfy listing requirements in the future, which could limit investors' ability to effect transactions in our securities and subject us to additional trading restrictions.

As a result of the Business Combination, Nasdaq rules require that we apply to continue the listing of our common stock and warrants. While we will apply to have our common stock and warrants listed on Nasdaq upon consummation of the Business Combination, we will be required to meet Nasdaq's initial listing requirements. We may be unable to meet those requirements. Even if our securities continue to be listed on Nasdaq immediately following the Business Combination, we may be unable to maintain the listing of our securities in the future.

If we fail to meet the initial Nasdaq listing requirements and Nasdaq does not list our securities on its exchange, or if we are delisted, there could be significant material adverse consequences, including:

- a limited availability of market quotations for our securities;
- a limited amount of news and analyst coverage for New AON; and
- a decreased ability to obtain capital or pursue acquisitions by issuing additional equity or convertible securities.

Other reputable national securities exchanges, like the New York Stock Exchange, impose similar listing requirements.

If we do not develop and implement all required accounting practices and policies, we may be unable to provide the financial information required of a United States publicly traded company in a timely and reliable manner.

As AON is a privately held company, it has not been required to adopt all of the financial reporting and disclosure procedures and controls required of a United States publicly traded company. We expect that the implementation of all required accounting practices and policies and the hiring of additional financial staff will increase the operating costs of New AON and could require the management of New AON to devote significant time and resources to such implementation. If we fail to develop and maintain effective internal controls and procedures and disclosure procedures and controls, we may be unable to provide financial information and required SEC reports that are timely and reliable. Any such delays or deficiencies could harm us, including by limiting our ability to obtain financing, either in the public capital markets or from private sources and damaging our reputation, which in either case could impede our ability to implement our growth strategy. In addition, any such delays or deficiencies could result in our failure to meet the requirements for continued listing of our common stock and warrants on Nasdaq.

We may issue additional shares of common stock or other equity securities without your approval, which would dilute your ownership interest in us and may depress the market price of our common stock.

We may issue additional shares of common stock or other equity securities in the future in connection with, among other things, future acquisitions, repayment of outstanding indebtedness or grants under the Incentive Equity Plan without stockholder approval in a number of circumstances.

Our issuance of additional common stock or other equity securities could have one or more of the following effects:

- our existing stockholders' proportionate ownership interest in us will decrease;
- the amount of cash available per share, including for payment of dividends in the future, may decrease;
- the relative voting strength of each previously outstanding share of common stock may be diminished; and
- the market price of our common stock and warrants may decline.

If our performance following the Business Combination does not meet market expectations, the price of our securities may decline.

If our performance following the Business Combination does not meet market expectations, the price of our common stock may decline from the price of DTOC's common stock prior to the Closing. The market value of our common stock at the time of the consummation of the Business Combination may vary significantly from the price on the date the Business Combination Agreement was executed, the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, or the date on which New AON's stockholders vote on the Business Combination. Because the number of shares of New AON's common stock issued as consideration in the Business Combination will not be adjusted to reflect any changes in the market price of New AON's common stock, the value of the shares of New AON's common stock issued in the Business Combination may be higher or lower than the value of the same number of shares of DTOC's common stock on earlier dates.

In addition, following the Business Combination, fluctuations in the price of our common stock could contribute to the loss of all or part of your investment. Prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, there has not been a public market for AON's securities. Accordingly, the valuation ascribed to AON and AON's securities in the Business Combination may not be indicative of the price that will prevail in the trading market following the Business Combination. If an active market for our common stock develops and continues, the trading price of our common stock following the Business Combination could be volatile and subject to wide fluctuations in response to various factors, some of which are beyond our control. Any of the factors listed below could have a material adverse effect on your investment in our common stock and our common stock may trade at prices significantly below the price you paid for them.

Factors affecting the trading price of our common stock following the Business Combination may include:

- actual or anticipated fluctuations in our quarterly financial results or the quarterly financial results of companies perceived to be similar to us;
- changes in the market's expectations about our operating results;
- our operating results failing to meet market expectations in a particular period;
- changes in financial estimates and recommendations by securities analysts concerning us or our industry and market in general;
- operating and stock price performance of other companies that investors deem comparable to us;
- changes in laws and regulations affecting our business;
- commencement of, or involvement in, litigation involving us;
- changes in our capital structure, such as future issuances of securities or the incurrence of additional debt;
- the volume of shares of our common stock available for public sale;
- any significant change in our board or management;
- sales of substantial amounts of common stock by our directors, executive officers or significant stockholders or the perception that such sales could occur; and
- general economic and political conditions such as recessions, interest rates, fuel prices, international currency fluctuations and acts of war or terrorism.

Broad market and industry factors may depress the market price of our common stock irrespective of our operating performance. The stock market in general and Nasdaq has experienced price and volume fluctuations that have often been unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of the particular companies affected. The trading prices and valuations of these stocks, and of our securities, may not be predictable. A loss of investor confidence in our market or the stocks of other companies which investors perceive to be similar to us could depress our stock price regardless of our business, prospects, financial conditions or results of operations. A decline in the market price of our common stock also could adversely affect our ability to issue additional securities and our ability to obtain additional financing in the future.

AON is a private company and as such little information is publicly available regarding AON. This may result in the Business Combination not being as profitable as we expect, or at all.

While DTOC has conducted due diligence on AON, very little public information exists about private companies. As a result, the Business Combination could be less profitable than DTOC expects, or at all. Furthermore, the relative lack of information about a private company may hinder DTOC's ability to properly assess the value of AON which could result in DTOC's overpaying.

Even if DTOC consummates the Business Combination, the public warrants may never be in the money, and they may expire worthless. In addition, DTOC or New AON may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner that may be adverse to holders of public warrants with the approval by the holders of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants. As a result, the exercise price of your warrants could be increased, the exercise period could be shortened and the number of shares of Class A common stock purchasable upon exercise of a warrant could be decreased, all without your approval.

The exercise price for DTOC's warrants is $11.50 per share. There can be no assurance that the public warrants will be in the money prior to their expiration and, as such, the warrants may expire worthless.

The terms of the warrants may be amended in a manner that may be adverse to the holders. The Warrant Agreement between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as warrant agent, and DTOC provides that the terms of the warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder (i) to cure any ambiguity or to correct any mistake, including to cure, correct or supplement any defective provision, but requires the approval by the holders of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants to make any change that adversely affects the interests of the registered holders or (ii) to provide for the delivery, upon the election of warrant holders, of the kind and amount of shares of stock or other securities or property (including cash) receivable upon a reclassification, reorganization, merger or consolidation, or upon a dissolution following any such sale or transfer, that the holder of warrants would have received if such holder had exercised his, her or its warrant(s) immediately prior to such event (an "Alternative Issuance"). Accordingly, DTOC (or following the Business Combination, New AON) may amend the terms of the warrants in a manner adverse to a holder if holders of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants approve of such amendment. The ability of DTOC or New AON to amend the terms of the public warrants with the consent of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants is unlimited. Examples of such amendments could be amendments to, among other things, increase the exercise price of the warrants, shorten the exercise period or decrease the number of shares of common stock purchasable upon exercise of a warrant.

New AON may redeem your unexpired warrants prior to their exercise at a time that is disadvantageous to you, thereby making your warrants worthless.

Pursuant to the Warrant Agreement, New AON has the ability to redeem outstanding warrants (excluding any Private Placement Warrants or Working Capital Warrants held by the Sponsor or their permitted transferees) for cash at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at $0.01, provided that the last reported sales price (or the closing bid price of New AON common stock in the event the shares of New AON common stock are not traded on any specific trading day) of the common stock equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations and the like) on each of 20 trading days within the 30 trading-day period ending on the third business day prior to the date on which New AON send proper notice of such redemption; provided that on the date New AON gives notice of redemption and during the entire period thereafter until the time New AON redeems the warrants, New AON has an effective registration statement under the Securities Act covering the shares of New AON common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants and a current prospectus relating to them is available.

New AON also has the ability to redeem outstanding warrants for shares of New AON common stock at any time after they become exercisable and prior to their expiration, at $0.10; provided that (i) the last reported sales price (or the closing bid price of New AON common stock in the event the shares of New AON common stock are not traded on any specific trading day) of the New AON common stock equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations and the like) on each of 20 trading days within the 30 trading-day period ending on the third business day prior to the date on which New AON sends proper notice of such redemption and (ii) if the last reported sales price (or the closing bid price of New AON common stock in the event the shares of New AON common stock are not traded on any specific trading day) of the New AON common stock is less than $18.00 per share, the Private Placement Warrants are also concurrently exchanged at the same price (equal to a number of shares of common stock) as the outstanding Public Warrants; provided that on the date New AON gives notice of redemption and during the entire period thereafter until the time New AON redeems the warrants, New AON has an effective registration statement under the Securities Act covering the shares of New AON common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants and a current prospectus relating to them is available.

If and when the warrants become redeemable by New AON, New AON may exercise its redemption right even if New AON is unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under all applicable state securities laws. Redemption of the outstanding warrants could force a warrant holder: (i) to exercise its warrants and pay the exercise price therefore at a time when it may be disadvantageous for it to do so, (ii) to sell its warrants at the then-current market price when it might otherwise wish to hold its warrants or (iii) to accept the nominal redemption price which, at the time the outstanding warrants are called for redemption, will be substantially less than the market value of its warrants.

Warrants to purchase New AON common stock will become exercisable following the Business Combination, which could increase the number of shares eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to New AON stockholders.

Outstanding warrants to purchase an aggregate of 14,450,833 shares of New AON common stock will become exercisable on the 30th day following the Closing in accordance with the terms of the Warrant Agreement governing those securities. These warrants consist of 8,337,500 warrants originally included in the units issued in DTOC's IPO and 6,113,333 private placement warrants. Each warrant entitles its holder to purchase one share of New AON common stock at an exercise price of $11.50 per share and will expire at 5:00 p.m., New York time, five years after the Closing or earlier upon redemption of New AON common stock or New AON's liquidation. To the extent warrants are exercised, additional shares of New AON common stock will be issued, which will result in dilution to New AON's then existing stockholders and increase the number of shares eligible for resale in the public market. Sales of substantial numbers of such shares in the public market could depress the market price of New AON common stock.

Public stockholders who redeem their shares of Class A Common Stock may continue to hold any Public Warrants they own, which would result in additional dilution to non-redeeming holders upon exercise of the Public Warrants.

Public stockholders who redeem their Public Shares may continue to hold any Public Warrants they owned prior to redemption, which results in additional dilution to non-redeeming holders upon exercise of such Public Warrants. Assuming (i) all redeeming public stockholders acquired units in the IPO and continue to hold the Public Warrants that were included in the units, and (ii) maximum redemption of the common shares held by the redeeming public stockholders, 8,337,500 Public Warrants would be retained by redeeming public stockholders with a value of approximately $742,037.50, based on the market price of $0.089 of the Public Warrants as of June 8, 2023. As a result, the redeeming public stockholders would recoup their entire investment and continue to hold Public Warrants with an aggregate market value of $742,037.50, while non-redeeming public stockholders would suffer additional dilution in their percentage ownership and voting interest of the Company upon exercise of the Public Warrants held by redeeming public stockholders.

DTOC's stockholders will experience immediate dilution due to the issuance of common stock and securities convertible into the shares of common stock to AON equityholders as consideration in the Business Combination. Having a minority share position likely reduces the influence that DTOC's current stockholders have on the management of New AON.

Based on DTOC's current capitalization, DTOC anticipates issuing an aggregate of approximately 30,974,058 shares of New AON common stock to AON's equityholders as consideration in the Business Combination. It is anticipated that, upon completion of the Business Combination, based upon the As Exchanged Class A Share Ownership Assumptions: (1) DTOC Public Stockholders would own approximately 4.8% of New AON's outstanding common stock; (2) AEA Growth would own New AON Series A Preferred Stock that would be initially convertible into approximately 6,643,019 shares of New AON Class A common stock, which would represent approximately 14.8% of New AON's outstanding common stock; (3) the Sponsor and other DTOC Initial Stockholders would own 26.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock (assuming exercise of all Private Placement Warrants for New AON Class A Common Stock and excludes Sponsor Earnout Shares); and (4) the AON equityholders will hold approximately 81.0% of New AON's outstanding common stock.

If any shares of DTOC's common stock are redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, the percentage of New AON's outstanding common stock held by DTOC's public stockholders will decrease and the percentages of New AON's outstanding common stock held immediately following the Closing by each of DTOC's Initial Stockholders and AON equityholders will increase. See "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" for further information. To the extent that any of the outstanding warrants or options are exercised for shares of New AON's common stock, or awards are issued under the proposed Incentive Equity Plan, DTOC's existing stockholders may experience substantial dilution. Such dilution could, among other things, limit the ability of DTOC's current stockholders to influence New AON's management through the election of directors following the Business Combination.

Following the completion of the Business Combination, DTOC public stockholders are expected to beneficially own 1,847,069 shares of New AON's common stock, representing approximately 4.8% of our total voting power.

Our stockholders may be diluted by the future issuance of common stock, preferred stock or securities convertible or exchangeable into common or preferred stock, in connection with our incentive plans, acquisitions, capital raises or otherwise.

In the future, we expect to obtain financing or to further increase our capital resources by issuing additional shares of our capital stock or offering debt or other equity securities, including senior or subordinated notes, debt securities convertible into equity, or shares of preferred stock. Issuing additional shares of our capital stock, other equity securities, or securities convertible into equity may dilute the economic and voting rights of our existing stockholders, reduce the market price of our common stock, or both. Debt securities convertible into equity could be subject to adjustments in the conversion ratio pursuant to which certain events may increase the number of equity securities issuable upon conversion. Preferred stock, if issued, could have a preference with respect to liquidating distributions or a preference with respect to dividend payments that could limit our ability to pay dividends to the holders of our common stock. Our decision to issue securities in any future offering will depend on market conditions and other factors beyond our control, which may adversely affect the amount, timing, or nature of our future offerings. As a result, holders of our common stock bear the risk that our future offerings may reduce the market price of our common stock and dilute their percentage ownership.

New AON expects to incur significant, non-recurring costs in connection with consummating the Business Combination and related transactions.

New AON expects to incur significant, non-recurring costs in connection with consummating the Business Combination and related transactions. New AON will pay all fees, expenses and costs DTOC incurs or incurred on DTOC's behalf in connection with the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby (including the Business Combination). Additionally, the Business Combination Agreement provides that if the Business Combination is consummated, New AON will pay all fees, expenses and costs incurred by AON's or on AON's behalf, subject to certain limited exceptions, in connection with the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby (including the Business Combination). New AON currently estimates that transaction expenses will be approximately $12 to $15 million (excluding transaction-related bonuses), including post-closing expenses that will be paid by New AON.

Our independent registered public accounting firm's report contains an explanatory paragraph that expresses substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a "going concern."

As of December 31, 2022, we had $374,304 cash and working capital deficit, net of taxes, of $1,655,967. Further, we have incurred and expect to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of our finance and acquisition plans. Our plans to raise capital or to consummate an initial business combination may not be successful. We have until June 30, 2023, or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised, to complete an initial business combination (unless our stockholders approve a further extension). These factors, among others, raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. The financial statements contained elsewhere in this report do not include any adjustments that might result from our inability to continue as a going concern.

If we do not complete the Business Combination or another initial business combination within the prescribed timeframe set forth in our charter, or by the applicable extension date, we will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeem our Public Shares and liquidate, in which case our public stockholders may only receive $10.08 per share, or less than such amount in certain circumstances, and our warrants will expire worthless.

The Existing Charter provides that we must complete our initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) (the "SPAC Termination Date"). If we have not completed the Business Combination by the SPAC Termination Date (or such later date as may be approved by our stockholders), we will: (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the Public Shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to us to pay our franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses), divided by the number of then outstanding Public Shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of our remaining stockholders and our board of directors, dissolve and liquidate, subject in each case to our obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law. In such case, our public stockholders may only receive $10.08 per share, and our warrants will expire without value to the holder. In certain circumstances, our public stockholders may receive less than $10.08 per share on the redemption of their shares.

If third parties bring claims against us, the proceeds held in the Trust Account could be reduced and the per-share redemption amount received by stockholders may be less than $10.08 per share.

Our placing of funds in the Trust Account may not protect those funds from third-party claims against us. Although we will seek to have all vendors, service providers, prospective target businesses and other entities with which we do business execute agreements with us waiving any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies held in the Trust Account for the benefit of our public stockholders, such parties may not execute such agreements, or even if they execute such agreements they may not be prevented from bringing claims against the Trust Account, including, but not limited to, fraudulent inducement, breach of fiduciary responsibility or other similar claims, as well as claims challenging the enforceability of the waiver, in each case in order to gain advantage with respect to a claim against our assets, including the funds held in the Trust Account. If any third party refuses to execute an agreement waiving such claims to the monies held in the Trust Account, our management will perform an analysis of the alternatives available to it and will only enter into an agreement with a third party that has not executed a waiver if management believes that such third party's engagement would be significantly more beneficial to us than any alternative. Marcum LLP, our independent registered public accounting firm, and the underwriters of the IPO, have not executed agreements with us waiving such claims to the monies held in the Trust Account.

Examples of possible instances where we may engage a third party that refuses to execute a waiver include the engagement of a third-party consultant whose particular expertise or skills are believed by management to be significantly superior to those of other consultants that would agree to execute a waiver or in cases where management is unable to find a service provider willing to execute a waiver. In addition, there is no guarantee that such entities will agree to waive any claims they may have in the future as a result of, or arising out of, any negotiations, contracts or agreements with us and will not seek recourse against the Trust Account for any reason. Upon redemption of our Public Shares, if we do not complete the Business Combination or another initial business combination within the prescribed timeframe, or upon the exercise of a redemption right in connection with such business combination, we will be required to provide for payment of claims of creditors that were not waived that may be brought against us within the ten years following redemption. Accordingly, the per-share redemption amount received by public stockholders could be less than the $10.00 per share initially held in the Trust Account, due to claims of such creditors. Pursuant to the Letter Agreement, our Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to us if and to the extent any claims by a third party for services rendered or products sold to us, or a prospective target business with which we have entered into a written letter of intent, confidentiality or similar agreement or business combination agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the Trust Account to below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per Public Share and (ii) the actual amount per Public Share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account, if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, less taxes payable, provided that such liability will not apply to any claims by a third party or prospective target business who executed a waiver of any and all rights to the monies held in the Trust Account (whether or not such waiver is enforceable) nor will it apply to any claims under our indemnity of the underwriters of the IPO against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act. However, we have not asked our Sponsor to reserve for such indemnification obligations, nor have we independently verified whether our Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations and believe that our Sponsor's only assets are securities of our company. Therefore, we cannot assure you that our Sponsor would be able to satisfy those obligations. As a result, if any such claims were successfully made against the Trust Account, the funds available for the Business Combination or another initial business combination and redemptions could be reduced to less than $10.00 per Public Share. In such event, we may not be able to complete our initial business combination, and you would receive such lesser amount per share in connection with any redemption of your Public Shares. None of our officers, directors or members of our Sponsor will indemnify us for claims by third parties including, without limitation, claims by vendors and prospective target businesses.

Our stockholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against us to the extent of distributions received by them upon redemption of their shares.

Under the DGCL, stockholders may be held liable for claims by third parties against a corporation to the extent of distributions received by them in a dissolution. The pro rata portion of our Trust Account distributed to our public stockholders upon the redemption of our Public Shares in the event we do not complete the Business Combination or another initial business combination prior to June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) may be considered a liquidating distribution under Delaware law. If a corporation complies with certain procedures set forth in Section 280 of the DGCL intended to ensure that it makes reasonable provision for all claims against it, including a 60-day notice period during which any third-party claims can be brought against the corporation, a 90-day period during which the corporation may reject any claims brought, and an additional 150-day waiting period before any liquidating distributions are made to stockholders, any liability of stockholders with respect to a liquidating distribution is limited to the lesser of such stockholder's pro rata share of the claim or the amount distributed to the stockholder, and any liability of the stockholder would be barred after the third anniversary of the dissolution. However, it is our intention to redeem our Public Shares as soon as reasonably possible following the end of the 24th month after the closing of the IPO or the expiration of any extension period in the event we do not complete our initial business combination and, therefore, we do not intend to comply with the foregoing procedures.

Because we will not be complying with Section 280, Section 281(b) of the DGCL requires us to adopt a plan, based on facts known to us at such time that will provide for our payment of all existing and pending claims or claims that may be potentially brought against us within the ten years following our dissolution. However, because we are a blank check company, rather than an operating company, and our operations will be limited to searching for prospective target businesses to acquire, the only likely claims to arise would be from our vendors (such as lawyers, investment bankers, etc.) or prospective target businesses. If our plan of distribution complies with Section 281(b) of the DGCL, any liability of stockholders with respect to a liquidating distribution is limited to the lesser of such stockholder's pro rata share of the claim or the amount distributed to the stockholder, and any liability of the stockholder would likely be barred after the third anniversary of the dissolution. We cannot assure you that we will properly assess all claims that may be potentially brought against us. As such, our stockholders could potentially be liable for any claims to the extent of distributions received by them (but no more) and any liability of our stockholders may extend beyond the third anniversary of such date. Furthermore, if the pro rata portion of our Trust Account distributed to our public stockholders upon the redemption of our Public Shares in the event we do not complete the Business Combination or another initial business combination prior to June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) is not considered a liquidating distribution under Delaware law and such redemption distribution is deemed to be unlawful (potentially due to the imposition of legal proceedings that a party may bring or due to other circumstances that are currently unknown), then pursuant to Section 174 of the DGCL, the statute of limitations for claims of creditors could then be six years after the unlawful redemption distribution, instead of three years, as in the case of a liquidating distribution.

Our directors may decide not to enforce the indemnification obligations of our Sponsor, resulting in a reduction in the amount of funds in the Trust Account available for distribution to our public stockholders.

In the event that the proceeds in the Trust Account are reduced below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per share and (ii) the actual amount per share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, in each case net of the interest which may be withdrawn to pay taxes, and our Sponsor asserts that it is unable to satisfy its obligations or that it has no indemnification obligations related to a particular claim, our independent directors would determine whether to take legal action against our Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations.

While we currently expect that our independent directors would take legal action on our behalf against our Sponsor to enforce its indemnification obligations to us, it is possible that our independent directors in exercising their business judgment and subject to their fiduciary duties may choose not to do so in any particular instance if, for example, the cost of such legal action is deemed by the independent directors to be too high relative to the amount recoverable or if the independent directors determine that a favorable outcome is not likely. If our independent directors choose not to enforce these indemnification obligations, the amount of funds in the Trust Account available for distribution to our public stockholders may be reduced below $10.00 per share.

We may not have sufficient funds to satisfy indemnification claims of our directors and officers.

We have agreed to indemnify our officers and directors to the fullest extent permitted by law. However, our officers and directors have agreed to waive (and any other persons who may become an officer or director prior to the initial business combination will also be required to waive) any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies in the Trust Account and not to seek recourse against the Trust Account for any reason whatsoever (except to the extent they are entitled to funds from the Trust Account due to their ownership of Public Shares). Accordingly, any indemnification provided will be able to be satisfied by us only if (i) we have sufficient funds outside of the Trust Account or (ii) we consummate an initial business combination. Our obligation to indemnify our officers and directors may discourage stockholders from bringing a lawsuit against our officers or directors for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions also may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against our officers and directors, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit us and our stockholders. Furthermore, a stockholder's investment may be adversely affected to the extent we pay the costs of settlement and damage awards against our officers and directors pursuant to these indemnification provisions.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, a bankruptcy court may seek to recover such proceeds, and we and our board may be exposed to claims of punitive damages.

If, after we distribute the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, any distributions received by stockholders could be viewed under applicable debtor/creditor and/or bankruptcy laws as either a "preferential transfer" or a "fraudulent conveyance." As a result, a bankruptcy court could seek to recover all amounts received by our stockholders. In addition, our board of directors may be viewed as having breached its fiduciary duty to our creditors and/or having acted in bad faith, thereby exposing itself and us to claims of punitive damages, by paying public stockholders from the Trust Account prior to addressing the claims of creditors.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the claims of creditors in such proceeding may have priority over the claims of our stockholders and the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our stockholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.

If, before distributing the proceeds in the Trust Account to our public stockholders, we file a bankruptcy petition or an involuntary bankruptcy petition is filed against us that is not dismissed, the proceeds held in the Trust Account could be subject to applicable bankruptcy law, and may be included in our bankruptcy estate and subject to the claims of third parties with priority over the claims of our stockholders. To the extent any bankruptcy claims deplete the Trust Account, the per-share amount that would otherwise be received by our stockholders in connection with our liquidation may be reduced.

Actions taken by DTOC's Sponsor, DTOC's officers and directors to increase the likelihood of approval of the Business Combination Proposal and the other Proposals presented in this proxy statement/prospectus could have a depressive effect on the price of DTOC's common stock.

At any time prior to the Special Meeting, during a period when they are not then aware of any material nonpublic information regarding DTOC or DTOC's securities, DTOC's Sponsor, DTOC's directors, officers and their respective affiliates may enter into agreements to purchase shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against the Business Combination Proposal, or enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire shares of DTOC's common stock or vote their shares in favor of the Business Combination Proposal. While the exact nature of any other incentive arrangements that may be entered into in the future has not been determined as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, they might include, without limitation, arrangements to protect such investors or holders against potential loss in value of their shares, including the granting of put options and the transfer to such investors or holders of shares owned by the Initial Stockholders for nominal value. See, for example, "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions — DTOC Related Party Transactions — Founder Shares" and "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions — DTOC Related Party Transactions — Sponsor Support Agreement." The purpose of such purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood that the Business Combination Proposal is approved and to decrease the likelihood that holders request redemption of public shares. Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on the price of DTOC's common stock. For example, if as a result of these arrangements an investor or holder purchases shares for nominal value, the investor or holder may be more likely to sell such shares immediately following the Closing for a price below market value.

Our ability to successfully effect the Business Combination and the successful operation of the business thereafter will depend largely upon the efforts of certain key personnel, including the key personnel of AON, all of whom we expect to stay with New AON following the Business Combination. The loss of such key personnel could adversely affect the operations and profitability of the post-combination business.

Our ability to recognize certain benefits of the Business Combination and the successful operation of New AON's business following the Business Combination will depend upon the efforts of certain key personnel of AON. Although we expect all of such key personnel to remain with New AON following the Business Combination, the unexpected loss of key personnel may adversely affect the operations and profitability of New AON. In addition, our future success depends in part on our ability to identify and retain key personnel to succeed senior management. Furthermore, while we have closely scrutinized the skills, abilities and qualifications of the key AON personnel that will be employed by New AON, our assessment may not prove to be correct. If such personnel do not possess the skills, qualifications or abilities we expect or those necessary to manage a public company, the operations and profitability of New AON's business may be negatively impacted.

Subsequent to the completion of the Business Combination, we may be required to take write-downs or write-offs, restructuring and impairment or other charges that could have a significant negative effect on our financial condition, results of operations and our stock price, which could cause you to lose some or all of your investment.

Even though we conducted extensive due diligence in connection with our consideration of the Business Combination with AON, there is no assurance that such diligence surfaced all material issues that may be present inside AON's businesses, that it would be possible to uncover all material issues through a customary amount of due diligence, or that factors outside of the control of AON or DTOC will not later arise. As a result of these factors, we may be forced to later write-down or write-off assets, restructure our operations, or incur impairment or other charges that could result in our reporting losses. Furthermore, unexpected risks may arise and previously known risks may materialize in a manner not consistent with our preliminary risk analysis. Even though these charges may be non-cash items and not have an immediate impact on our liquidity, the fact that we report charges of this nature could contribute to negative market perceptions about us or our securities. In addition, charges of this nature may cause us to violate net worth or other covenants to which we may be subject as a result of assuming pre-existing debt held by a target business or by virtue of our obtaining debt financing to partially finance the initial business combination. Accordingly, any stockholders who choose to remain stockholders following the Business Combination could suffer a reduction in the value of their shares. Such stockholders are unlikely to have a remedy for such reduction in value unless they are able to successfully claim that the reduction was due to the breach by our officers or directors of a duty of care or other fiduciary duty owed to them, or if they are able to successfully bring a private claim under securities laws that the proxy solicitation or tender offer materials, as applicable, relating to the Business Combination constituted an actionable material misstatement or omission.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, New AON will be organized in an “up-C” structure, in which (i) New AON will own substantially all of the assets and business of AON, as well as any remaining assets of DTOC following distribution of its trust account as described herein, (ii) DTOC, to be renamed American Oncology Network, Inc., will be the holding company for the combined company’s business, holding a minority of the AON common units, and (iii) New AON’s only significant asset will be its equity interests in AON, which may not be sufficient to satisfy certain of New AON’s financial obligations following consummation of the Business Combination.

Upon consummation of the Business Combination, New AON will be a holding company and will have no material assets other than its equity interest in AON. New AON is not expected to have independent means of generating revenue or cash flow, and New AON’s ability to pay its taxes, operating expenses (including expenses resulting from its status as a publicly traded company) and pay any dividends, including any dividends made on the New AON Series A Preferred Stock, in the future will be dependent upon the financial results and cash flows of AON.

The financial condition and operating requirements of AON may limit New AON’s ability to obtain cash from AON, and there can be no assurance that the combined business will generate sufficient cash flow to enable AON to distribute funds to New AON or that applicable state law and contractual restrictions, including negative covenants under debt instruments, will permit such distributions. If AON does not distribute sufficient funds to New AON to pay its taxes or other expenses, New AON may default on contractual obligations or have to borrow additional funds. In the event that New AON is required to borrow additional funds, it could adversely affect its liquidity and subject New AON to additional restrictions imposed by lenders.

New AON anticipates that the distributions received from AON may, in certain periods, exceed its actual tax liabilities and other financial obligations. The New AON Board, in its sole discretion, will make any determination from time to time with respect to the use of any such excess cash so accumulated. New AON will have no obligation to distribute such cash (or other available cash other than any declared dividend) to its stockholders.

New AON may be subject to securities litigation, which is expensive and could divert management attention.

Following the Business Combination, our share price may be volatile and, in the past, companies that have experienced volatility in the market price of their stock have been subject to securities class action litigation.

New AON may be the target of this type of litigation in the future. Litigation of this type could result in substantial costs and diversion of management’s attention and resources, which could have a material adverse effect on business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. Any adverse determination in litigation could also subject New AON to significant liabilities.

Changes in laws or regulations or how such laws or regulations are interpreted or applied, or a failure to comply with any laws or regulations, may adversely affect our business, including our ability to complete the Business Combination, and results of operations.

We are and will be subject to laws and regulations enacted by national, regional and local governments and, potentially, foreign jurisdictions. In particular, we will be required to comply with certain SEC and other legal requirements, our business combination may be contingent on our ability to comply with certain laws and regulations and any post-business combination company may be subject to additional laws and regulations. Compliance with, and monitoring of, applicable laws and regulations may be difficult, time consuming and costly. Those laws and regulations and their interpretation and application may also change from time to time, including as a result of changes in economic, political social and government policies, and those changes could have a material adverse effect on our business, including our ability to negotiate or complete our initial business combination, and results of operations. In addition, a failure to comply with applicable laws or regulations, as interpreted and applied, could have a material adverse effect on our business, including our ability to complete the Business Combination, and our results of operations.

On March 30, 2022, the SEC issued proposed rules (the “2022 Proposed Rules”) relating to, among other items, enhancing disclosures in business combination transactions involving SPACs and private operating companies; amending the financial statement requirements applicable to transactions involving shell companies; effectively limiting the use of projections in SEC filings in connection with proposed business combination transactions; increasing the potential liability of certain participants in proposed business combination transactions; and the extent to which SPACs could become subject to regulation under the Investment Company Act, including a proposed rule that would provide SPACs a safe harbor from treatment as an investment company if they satisfy certain conditions that limit a SPAC's duration, asset composition, business purpose and activities. These rules, if adopted, whether in the form proposed or in revised form, may increase the costs and time needed to complete the Business Combination or impair our ability to complete the Business Combination.

The historical consolidated and unaudited pro forma financial information in this proxy statement/prospectus is not representative of the results New AON would have achieved as a stand-alone public company and may not permit you to predict its future results.

The historical consolidated and unaudited pro forma financial information in this proxy statement/prospectus does not reflect the financial condition, results of operations or cash flows that New AON would have achieved as a stand-alone public company during the periods presented or those it will achieve in the future as a result of added costs New AON expects to incur as a public company, including costs related to public company reporting, investor relations and compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. As a result of these matters, among others, it may be difficult for investors to compare New AON's future results to historical results or to evaluate its relative performance or trends in its business.

Barclays, the underwriter in our IPO, was to be compensated in part on a deferred basis for already-rendered underwriting services in connection with our IPO, yet Barclays gratuitously waived such compensation.

Pursuant to a letter dated June 6, 2023, Barclays, the underwriter in our IPO, has gratuitously waived any entitlement to its deferred underwriting fee that accrued from its participation in our IPO in the amount of $11,672,500, despite already having performed all its obligations to earn such fee. This fee was agreed between us and Barclays in the IPO underwriting agreement dated March 9, 2021. Barclays did not provide a reason for its waiving of the deferred underwriting fee in connection with the Business Combination. While Barclays claims no role and did not participate in any aspect of the Business Combination, and we have no other contractual relationship with Barclays, stockholders should be aware that the gratuitous waiver of a deferred underwriting fee is unusual.

Risks Related to the Redemption

For the purposes of this section, "we," "us" and "our" refers to DTOC prior to the consummation of the Business Combination and to New AON subsequent to the consummation of the Business Combination.

Our public stockholders, together with any affiliates of theirs or any other person with whom they are acting in concert or as a "group," will be restricted from exercising redemption rights with respect to more than 15% of the public shares.

A public stockholder, together with any of its affiliates or any other person with whom it is acting in concert or as a "group," will be restricted from exercising redemption rights with respect to more than 15% of the public shares. Accordingly, if you hold more than 15% of the public shares and the Business Combination Proposal is approved, you will not be able to exercise redemption rights with respect to the full amount of your shares and may be forced to hold the shares in excess of 15% or sell them in the open market. If the Business Combination is consummated, the value of such excess shares may not appreciate over time and the market price of our common stock may not exceed the per share redemption price paid in connection with the Business Combination.

If we seek stockholder approval of our initial business combination and we do not conduct redemptions pursuant to the tender offer rules, and if you or a "group" of stockholders are deemed to hold in excess of 15% of our Class A common stock, you will lose the ability to redeem all such shares in excess of 15% of our Class A common stock.

If we seek stockholder approval of our initial business combination and we do not conduct redemptions in connection with our initial business combination pursuant to the tender offer rules, our amended and restated certificate of incorporation will provide that a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such stockholder or any other person with whom such stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined under Section 13 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from seeking redemption rights with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the shares sold in the IPO without our prior consent, which we refer to as the "Excess Shares." However, we would not be restricting our stockholders' ability to vote all of their shares (including Excess Shares) for or against our initial business combination. Your inability to redeem the Excess Shares will reduce your influence over our ability to complete our initial business combination and you could suffer a material loss on your investment in us if you sell Excess Shares in open market transactions. Additionally, you will not receive redemption distributions with respect to the Excess Shares if we complete our initial business combination. And as a result, you will continue to hold that number of shares exceeding 15% and, in order to dispose of such shares, would be required to sell your stock in open market transactions, potentially at a loss.

A DTOC stockholder's decision as to whether to redeem his, her or its shares for a pro rata portion of the Trust Account may not put the stockholder in a better future economic position.

We can give no assurance as to the price at which a stockholder may be able to sell his, her or its public shares in the future following the completion of the Business Combination. Certain events following the consummation of any business combination, such as the Business Combination, may cause an increase in our share price, and may result in a lower value realized upon redemption than a stockholder might realize in the future had the stockholder not redeemed his, her or its shares. Similarly, if a stockholder does not redeem his, her or its shares, the stockholder will bear the risk of ownership of the public shares after the consummation of the Business Combination, and the risk that the stockholder may not be able, in the future to sell his, her or its shares, for a greater amount than the redemption price described in this proxy statement/prospectus. A stockholder should consult his, her or its tax and/or financial advisor for assistance on how this may affect his, her or its individual situation.

On June 27, 2023, the most recent practicable date prior to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the closing price per share of DTOC Class A common stock was $10.29. Public stockholders should be aware that, while we are unable to predict the price per share of New AON Class A common stock following the consummation of the Business Combination — and accordingly we are unable to predict the potential impact of redemptions on the per share value of Public Shares owned by non-redeeming public stockholders — increased levels of redemptions by public stockholders may be a result of the price per share of Public Shares falling below the redemption price. We expect that more public stockholders elect to redeem their Public Shares if the share price of the DTOC Class A common stock is below the projected redemption price of $10.00 per share, and we expect that more public stockholders may elect not to redeem their Public Shares if the share price of the Public Shares is above the projected redemption price of $10.00 per share. Each Public Share that is redeemed will represent both (i) a reduction, equal to the amount of the redemption price, of the cash that will be available to DTOC from the Trust Account and (ii) a corresponding increase in each public stockholder's pro rata ownership interest in New AON following the consummation of the Business Combination.

If a stockholder fails to receive notice of our offer to redeem our Public Shares in connection with our Business Combination, or fails to comply with the procedures for tendering its shares, such shares may not be redeemed.

We will comply with the tender offer rules or proxy rules, as applicable, when conducting redemptions in connection with our initial business combination. Despite our compliance with these rules, if a stockholder fails to receive our tender offer or proxy materials, as applicable, such stockholder may not become aware of the opportunity to redeem its shares and thus fail to submit a redemption request. In addition, this proxy statement/prospectus describes various procedures that must be complied with in order to validly tender or redeem Public Shares. For example, holders of DTOC public shares are required to, among other requirements, submit a request in writing and deliver their stock (either physically or electronically) to DTOC's transfer agent at least two business days prior to the Special Meeting. Stockholders electing to redeem their public shares will receive their pro rata portion of the amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the anticipated consummation of the Business Combination. See "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures" for additional information on how to exercise your redemption rights. If you do not timely submit your redemption request and deliver your common stock and comply with the other redemption requirements, you will not be entitled to redeem your common stock.

A new 1% U.S. federal excise tax would be imposed on us in connection with redemptions of shares of DTOC common stock.

On August 16, 2022, the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (the “Inflation Reduction Act”) was signed into federal law. The Inflation Reduction Act provides for, among other things, a new U.S. federal 1% excise tax on certain repurchases (including redemptions) of stock by publicly traded domestic (i.e., U.S.) corporations and certain domestic subsidiaries of publicly traded foreign corporations (each, a “covered corporation”) that occur after December 31, 2022. Because we are a Delaware corporation and its securities are traded on Nasdaq, we are a “covered corporation” for this purpose. The excise tax is imposed on the repurchasing corporation itself, not its stockholders from which shares are repurchased. The amount of the excise tax is generally 1% of the stock repurchase excise tax base of a covered corporation during a taxable year. The stock repurchase excise tax base generally equals the fair market value of the shares repurchased (at the time of the repurchase) by the covered corporation during the taxable year. However, for purposes of calculating the stock repurchase excise tax base, repurchasing corporations are permitted to net the fair market value of certain new stock issuances against the fair market value of stock repurchases during the same taxable year. In addition, certain exceptions apply to the excise tax. The U.S. Department of the Treasury has been given authority to provide regulations and other guidance to carry out and prevent the abuse or avoidance of the excise tax. On December 27, 2022, the IRS and the U.S. Department of the Treasury issued Notice 2023-2 to provide taxpayers with interim guidance addressing the application of the 1% excise tax. Notice 2023-2 provides an exclusive list of redemptions that are not treated as repurchases for purposes of the excise tax, including liquidations under Code Section 331.

Any redemptions of Public Shares will likely be subject to the excise tax. Whether and to what extent we would be subject to the excise tax would depend on a number of factors, including (i) the fair market value of the redemptions and repurchases in connection with the Business Combination, (ii) the nature and amount of any financing or equity issuances in connection with the Business Combination (or otherwise issued not in connection with the business combination but issued within the same taxable year of the business combination) and (iii) the content of regulations and other additional guidance from the U.S. Department of the Treasury. In addition, because the excise tax would be payable by us and not by the redeeming holder, the mechanics of any required payment of the excise tax have not been determined; however, we will not use the funds held in the Trust Account and any additional amounts deposited into the Trust Account (including the Initial Contribution and any Additional Contributions), as well as any interest earned thereon to pay the excise tax. The foregoing could cause a reduction in the cash available on hand to complete the Business Combination and could negatively impact our ability to complete the Business Combination.

The SEC has issued proposed rules relating to certain activities of SPACs. Certain of the procedures that we, a potential business combination target, or others may determine to undertake in connection with such proposals may increase our costs and the time needed to complete a business combination and may make it more difficult to complete a business combination.

On March 30, 2022, the SEC issued proposed rules (the “SPAC Rule Proposals”) that would, among other items, impose additional disclosure requirements in business combination transactions involving SPACs and private operating companies; amend the financial statement requirements applicable to business combination transactions involving such companies; update and expand guidance regarding the general use of projections in SEC filings, as well as when projections are disclosed in connection with proposed business combination transactions; increase the potential liability of certain participants in proposed business combination transactions; and impact the extent to which SPACs could become subject to regulation under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “Investment Company Act”), including a proposed rule that would provide SPACs a safe harbor from treatment as an investment company if they satisfy certain conditions that limit a SPAC’s duration, asset composition, business purpose and activities. The SPAC Rule Proposals have not yet been adopted and may be adopted in the proposed form or in a different form that could impose additional regulatory requirements on SPACs.

Certain of the procedures that we, a potential business combination target, or others may determine to undertake in connection with the SPAC Rule Proposals, or pursuant to the SEC’s views expressed in the SPAC Rule Proposals, may increase the costs and time of negotiating and completing a business combination, and may make it more difficult to complete a business combination. The need for compliance with the SPAC Rule Proposals may cause us to liquidate the funds in the Trust Account or liquidate the Company at an earlier time than we might otherwise choose.

If we are deemed to be an investment company for purposes of the Investment Company Act we would be required to institute burdensome compliance requirements and our activities would be severely restricted and as a result, we may abandon our efforts to consummate a business combination and liquidate the Company.

As described further above, the SPAC Rule Proposals relate, among other matters, to the circumstances in which SPACs such as ours could potentially be subject to the Investment Company Act and the regulations thereunder. The SPAC Rule Proposals would provide a safe harbor for such companies from the definition of "investment company" under Section 3(a)(1)(A) of the Investment Company Act, provided that a SPAC satisfies certain criteria, including a limited time period to announce and complete a business combination. Specifically, to comply with the safe harbor, the SPAC Rule Proposals would require a company to file a report on Form 8-K announcing that it has entered into an agreement with a target company for a business combination no later than 18 months after the effective date of the registration statement relating to the IPO (the "IPO Registration Statement"). The company would then be required to complete a business combination no later than 24 months after the effectiveness of the IPO Registration Statement. Because the SPAC Rule Proposals have not yet been adopted, there is currently uncertainty concerning the applicability of the Investment Company Act to a SPAC, including a company like ours, that has not entered into a definitive agreement within 18 months after the effective date of its IPO registration statement or that does not complete its initial business combination within 24 months. As a result, it is possible that a claim could be made that we have been operating as an unregistered investment company, although we intend to convert all of our investments in the Trust Account into cash, which will remain in the Trust Account, on or prior to the 24-month anniversary of the consummation of the IPO (see the risk factor entitled "We do not intend to continue to invest the proceeds held in the Trust Account in interest-bearing securities, which will limit the interest income available for payment of taxes and dissolution expenses or for distribution to public stockholders" below). If we are deemed to be an investment company and subject to compliance with and regulation under the Investment Company Act, our activities would be severely restricted. In addition, we would be subject to additional burdensome regulatory requirements and expenses for which we have not allotted funds. As a result, if we are deemed an investment company under the Investment Company Act, we may abandon our efforts to consummate a business combination and instead liquidate the Company.

We do not intend to continue to invest the proceeds held in the Trust Account in interest-bearing securities, which will limit the interest income available for payment of taxes and dissolution expenses or for distribution to public stockholders.

Prior to March 12, 2023, the proceeds from the IPO and the simultaneous private placement were being held in our Trust Account in the United States maintained by Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, acting as trustee, invested in U.S. "government securities", within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, having a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations. As a result of the extension of the period by which we are required to consummate our initial business combination, we determined that we will convert all of our investments in the Trust Account into cash, which will remain in the Trust Account. We intend to maintain the funds in the Trust Account in cash in an interest-bearing demand deposit account at a U.S.-bank until the earlier of the consummation of the Business Combination or our liquidation. We will receive lower interest on the funds held in such deposit account (as compared to continuing to invest such funds in interest-bearing U.S. government securities), which deposit account is expected to bear interest at a rate of 4% per annum based on current interest rates. However, we cannot assure you that such rate on the deposit account will not decrease or increase significantly. As a result, any decision to liquidate the investments held in the Trust Account and thereafter to hold all funds in the Trust Account in cash items would reduce the dollar amount our public stockholders would receive upon any redemption of Public Shares or our liquidation.

Risks Related to the Exchange Offer

As a result of the consummation of the Exchange Offer, holders of AON Class B-1 units will receive shares of New AON Class A common stock in exchange for their shares of AON Class B-1 units. Accordingly, participants in the Exchange Offer will become shareholders of New AON and no longer retain the rights and privileges associated with their ownership of AON Class B-1 units under the AON organizational documents following the receipt of shares of New AON Class A common stock upon the closing of the Exchange Offer.

If the Exchange Offer is consummated, holders of AON Class B-1 units will become holders of New AON Class A common stock. Their rights as New AON stockholders will be governed by the DGCL, Proposed Charter and Proposed Bylaws, rather than the DLLCA and Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement.

Even if less than all holders of AON Class B-1 units participate in the Exchange Offer, the AON Class B-1 units of non-participating holders may in certain circumstances be automatically exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock.

All outstanding AON Class B-1 units that are (a) not tendered prior to the Expiration Date or (b) tendered, but (i) properly withdrawn any time before the Expiration Date or (ii) for any valid reason, not accepted by DTOC, will continue to be outstanding according to their terms unmodified and, upon the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, will be reclassified into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. However, if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer and all outstanding AON Class B-1 units (including AON Class B-1 that have not been validly tendered or have been validly withdrawn) will automatically be exchanged, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder.

The exchange of AON Class B-1 units will increase the number of New AON Class A common stock shares eligible for future resale and result in dilution to New AON stockholders.

AON's Class B-1 units may be exchanged for shares of New AON Class A common stock pursuant to the Exchange Offer, which will increase the number of shares of New AON Class A common eligible for future resale in the public market and result in dilution to New AON stockholders in the event such Exchange Offer is completed. Assuming all outstanding AON Class B-1 units are exchanged into shares of New AON Class A common stock, it is estimated that New AON will issue 1.2 million additional shares of New AON Class A common stock in the Exchange Offer. This issuance of New AON Class A common stock will result in dilution to New AON stockholders and increase the number of shares eligible for resale in the public market.

Neither DTOC or AON has retained, or intends to retain, any unaffiliated representative to act on behalf of the holders of the AON Class B-1 units for purposes of negotiating the Exchange Offer or preparing a report concerning the fairness of the Exchange Offer or the Consent Solicitation. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be reclassified into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units. In addition, under the terms of AON's Class B-1 unit award agreements to its employees, vesting of the Class B-1 Units is subject to closing of the Business Combination, and therefore, if the Business Combination does not close, then the Class B-1 units will be automatically cancelled.

As of June 27, 2023, each share of DTOC Class A common stock traded at a price of $10.29 per share, although the price of New AON Class A common stock may increase or decrease prior to and following the Closing, and the terms of New AON Class A common stock will vary from the terms of DTOC Class A common stock as set forth in the organizational documents of DTOC. Participation in the Exchange Offer allows holders of AON's Class B-1 units to receive liquid securities that are expected to be listed for trading on the Nasdaq Stock Market.

You must make your own investment decision regarding the Exchange Offer based upon your own assessment of the value of the AON's Class B-1 units, the likely value of the New AON Class A common stock you may receive in the Exchange Offer, your investment objectives and any other factors you deem relevant.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATIONIntroduction

Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., a Delaware corporation (“DTC”) and American Oncology Network, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Company” or “AON”) are providing the following unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information to aid you in your analysis of the financial aspects of the Business Combination, as defined within this proxy statement/prospectus. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been prepared in accordance with Article 11 of Regulation S-X and should be read in conjunction with the accompanying notes.

The following unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of March 31, 2023, combines the unaudited balance sheet of DTC as of March 31, 2023, with the unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Company as of March 31, 2023, giving effect to the Business Combination and the Series A Investment as if it had been consummated on March 31, 2023.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2023, combines the unaudited statement of operations of DTC for the three months ended March 31, 2023, with the unaudited consolidated statement of operations of the Company for the three months ended March 31, 2023. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2022, combines the audited statement of operations of DTC for the year ended December 31, 2022, with the audited consolidated statement of operations of the Company for the year ended December 31, 2022. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations give effect to the Business Combination as if it had been consummated on January 1, 2022, the beginning of the earliest period presented.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information was derived from, and should be read in conjunction with, the following historical financial statements and the accompanying notes, which are included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus:

- The historical unaudited condensed financial statements of DTC as of and for the three months ended March 31, 2023, and the historical audited financial statements of DTC as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022; and
- The historical unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of the Company as of and for the three months ended March 31, 2023, and the historical audited consolidated financial statements of the Company as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022.

The foregoing historical financial statements have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been prepared based on the aforementioned historical financial statements and the assumptions and adjustments as described in the notes to the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information. The pro forma adjustments reflect transaction accounting adjustments related to the Business Combination, which is discussed in further detail below. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are presented for illustrative purposes only and do not purport to represent DTC’s consolidated results of operations or consolidated financial position that would actually have occurred had the Business Combination been consummated on the dates assumed or to project DTC’s consolidated results of operations or consolidated financial position for any future date or period.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information should also be read together with “DTC Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations ” and “AON Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations, ” and other financial information included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Description of the Business Combination

DTC, AON, the AON Class C Preferred Investor and Merger Sub have entered into a Business Combination Agreement, dated as of June 14, 2023 (which further amends and restates the Business Combination Agreement entered into by DTC and AON as of October 5, 2022, and amended and restated on January 6, 2023 and April 27, 2023). Pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, DTOC and the Company will undertake a series of transactions resulting in the organization of the combined post-business combination company as an umbrella partnership C corporation, in which substantially all the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. For purposes of this proxy statement/prospectus, "New AON" means American Oncology Network Inc. (f/k/a Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.) and its consolidated subsidiaries, after giving effect to the Business Combination. The Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
- on the closing of the Business Combination (the "Closing"), AON will amend and restate its operating agreement (the "Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement") to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units, and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock (the "AON common units") in an amount equal to the quotient of (a) the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units (as defined below) participating in the Exchange Offer (as defined below) in such per unit calculation) divided by (b) $10.00 (the "Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio");
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the quotient of (a) the excess of the net equity value per unit of AON (without taking into account any AON Class B-1 units participating in the Exchange Offer in such per unit calculation) over the applicable distribution threshold divided by (b) $10.00 (the "Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio");
 - existing AON Class C units into AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the greater of (a) the number of AON common units issuable upon conversion of each of the AON Class C units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor pursuant to the AON LLC Agreement as of the Closing, multiplied by the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio and (b) the aggregate Class C Liquidation Preference (as defined in the AON LLC Agreement) per AON Class C unit as of Closing divided by $10.00 (the "Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio");

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, (i) the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,643 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units;

- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A Common Stock (the "Practice Profit Pool Shares"). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will amend and restate its charter (the "Proposed Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of New AON preferred stock in an amount sufficient for the consideration to be issued in the First Step (as defined below) and (ii) file a certificate of designation (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") pursuant to which New AON will create and designate a new series of New AON preferred stock as Series A convertible preferred stock (the "New AON Series A Preferred Stock") with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations; and

- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipient (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units, and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

The Board of Managers of AON has authorized and approved the issuance to its employees (which includes certain employees of AON that are holders of practice profit pool interests) of up to 460 AON Class B-1 units that have the same rights, terms and restrictions of the other AON Class B units issued and outstanding under AON's operating agreement, but that will vest only upon the consummation of the Business Combination (the "AON Class B-1 units"). To incentivize retention of AON employees following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders, DTOC is offering to the holders of AON Class B-1 units to exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder (such offer, the "Exchange Offer"). Concurrently with the Exchange Offer, DTOC and AON are also soliciting consents from the holders of AON Class B-1 units to certain amendments to the terms of the awards and the unit grant agreements pursuant to which the AON Class B-1 units were granted (the "Consent Solicitation") to provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all AON Class B-1 units not otherwise tendered in the Exchange Offer into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder (collectively, the "Proposed Amendments").

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be converted into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units.

Anticipated Accounting Treatment for the Business Combination

As the Company does not meet any of the characteristics of a VIE under ASC 810, the Transaction was evaluated under ASC 805, Business Combinations. Notwithstanding the legal form of the Business Combination pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, the Business Combination will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under this method of accounting, DTOC will be treated as the acquired company and AON will be treated as the acquirer for financial statement reporting purposes. The Company has been determined to be the accounting acquirer based on, in summary, an evaluation of the following primary facts and circumstances:

- AON's directors will represent a majority of the board seats for New AON's board of directors;
- AON's senior management will be the senior management of the combined company;
- AON's operations comprising the ongoing operations of the post-combination company; and
- AON's relative size is significantly larger compared to DTOC.

Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the financial statements of the post-combination entity will represent a continuation of the financial statements of the Company with the acquisition being treated as the equivalent of the Company issuing stock for the net assets of DTOC, accompanied by a recapitalization. The net assets of DTOC will be stated at historical cost, with no goodwill or other intangible assets recorded.

Accounting for the Earnout Shares

Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing (the "Sponsor Earnout Shares") to the following vesting and forfeiture provisions:

- the Sponsor Earnout Shares will vest when the volume-weighted average price of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $13.50 per share for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period beginning after the Closing and ending 60 months following the Closing;
- the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be released immediately upon the consummation of a change of control transaction within the 60-month period following the Closing; and
- if the Sponsor Earnout Shares are not released pursuant to the foregoing provisions on or before the date that is 60 months after the Closing, then the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be forfeited immediately following such date.

As the Business Combination will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization, the issuance of the Sponsor Earnout Shares to the Company's existing shareholders is anticipated to be accounted for as an equity transaction. The accounting for the Sponsor Earnout Shares was evaluated under ASC Topic 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity, and ASC Subtopic 815-40, Derivatives and Hedging — Contracts in Entity's Own Equity, to determine if the Sponsor Earnout Shares should be classified as a liability or within equity. As part of that preliminary analysis, it was determined that the Sponsor Earnout Shares are freestanding from the related shares of common stock, do not meet the criteria within ASC 480 to be classified as a liability, and meet the criteria in ASC 815-40 to be considered indexed to the post-combination entity's common stock and classified within equity. Therefore, an adjustment to recognize the Sponsor Earnout Shares would have no net impact on any financial statement line item as it would simultaneously increase and decrease additional paid-in capital. Thus, no adjustment has been applied to the unaudited pro forma combined financial information related to the Sponsor Earnout Shares.

Basis of Pro Forma Presentation

The historical financial information has been adjusted to give pro forma effect to the transaction accounting required for the Business Combination. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information reflects the application of transaction accounting adjustments and are based upon available information and certain assumptions, described in the accompanying notes hereto, that management believes are reasonable under the circumstances.

Pursuant to the Existing Charter, Public Stockholders are offered the opportunity to redeem, upon the closing of the Business Combination, shares of DTOC's Class A Common Stock then held by them for cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account. At a special meeting of stockholders held on March 2, 2023 (the "March Special Meeting"), DTOC's stockholders approved the Extension Amendment Proposal (the "Extension Amendment"). In connection with the approval of Extension Amendment Proposal, the Sponsor and DTOC's Chief Financial Officer converted all of their respective Founder Shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. In addition, the holders of 31,502,931 shares of common stock of DTOC properly exercised their right to redeem their shares for cash at a redemption price of approximately $10.19 per share, for an aggregate redemption amount of approximately $321.2 million. As such, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements present two possible redemption scenarios as follows:

- Assuming No Additional Redemptions — No additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock are redeemed; and
- Assuming Additional Redemptions — The additional redemption of 1,847,069 shares of DTOC Class A common stock for a total redemption of 33,350,000 shares of DTOC Class A common stock, which is derived from the number of additional shares that could be redeemed in connection with the Business Combination, for an aggregate payment of approximately $333.5 million from the Trust Account.

On April 27, 2023, AON and GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the "AON Class C Preferred Investor") entered into a Unit Purchase Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on June 7, 2023 (as amended, the "Unit Purchase Agreement"), which provides for an investment of at least $65.0 million with an option to increase the investment to $75.0 million in connection with the issuance of AON Class C units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

On June 7, 2023, AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor closed the investment contemplated under the Unit Purchase Agreement, pursuant to which the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 AON Class C units at an aggregate purchase price of $65.0 million. Under the Unit Purchase Agreement, the AON Class C Preferred Investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the Closing of the Business Combination, at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. In connection with the Series A Investment, such AON Series A preferred units, together with any accrued dividends thereon, will be exchanged pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement for a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio. In connection with the Series A Investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement, to among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units and issue such units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor. In connection with such closing, on June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC also amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the First Step, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60.0 million. As a result of these mergers, New AON will hold 100% of the AON Series A preferred units. As a result of the Series A Investment, there will no longer be any additional equity or equity-linked financings, including pursuant to a PIPE, in connection with the Business Combination. In addition, AON used a portion of the proceeds from the Series A Investment to pay the preferred returns on the AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units. New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible into shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Certificate of Designations of Series A Preferred Stock of New AON (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") to be adopted by the New AON Board immediately prior to the Closing.

Upon the consummation of the Business Combination, we estimate that shares outstanding as presented in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements include the following:

	Assuming No Additional Redemptions		Assuming Additional Redemptions
	Shares	%	Shares	%
New AON Class B shareholders (Former AON shareholders)	27,973,813	62.3%	27,973,813	65.0%

Assumptions and estimates underlying the unaudited pro forma adjustments set forth in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are described in the accompanying notes. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been presented for illustrative purposes only and are not necessarily indicative of the operating results and financial position that would have been achieved had the Business Combination and related transactions occurred on the dates indicated. Further, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements do not purport to project the future operating results or financial position of DTOC following the completion of the Business Combination and related transactions. The unaudited pro forma adjustments represent management's estimates based on information available as of the date of these unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements and are subject to change as additional information becomes available and analyses are performed. DTOC and the Company have not had any historical relationship prior to the Business Combination. Accordingly, no pro forma adjustments were required to eliminate activities between the companies.

NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION1. Basis of Presentation

The pro forma adjustments have been prepared as if the Business Combination had been consummated on March 31, 2023, in the case of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet, and, in the case of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations, as if the Business Combination had been consummated on January 1, 2022, the beginning of the earliest period presented in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been prepared assuming the following methods of accounting in accordance with GAAP.

The Business Combination will be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the financial statements of the post-combination entity will represent a continuation of the financial statements of the Company with the acquisition being treated as the equivalent of the Company issuing stock for the net assets of DTOC, accompanied by a recapitalization.

The net assets of DTOC will be stated at historical cost, with no goodwill or other intangible assets recorded.

The pro forma adjustments represent management's estimates based on information available as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus and are subject to change as additional information becomes available and additional analyses are performed. Management considers this basis of presentation to be reasonable under the circumstances.

One-time direct and incremental transaction costs anticipated to be incurred prior to, or concurrent with, the Closing are reflected in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as a direct reduction to the post-combination entity's additional paid-in capital and are assumed to be cash settled.

2. Adjustments and Assumptions to the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Balance Sheet as of March 31, 2023

The adjustments included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of March 31, 2023, are as follows:

- (a) Represents the reclassification of cash and investments of $19.0 million held in the Trust Account that become available in conjunction with the Business Combination.
- (b) Reflects the reclassification of 1,847,069 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and additional paid-in capital for approximately $18.6 million, using par value of $0.0001 per share, subject to possible redemption and the issuance of shares to DTOC public shareholders.
- (c) Represents the pro forma adjustment to record the Series A Investment net proceeds pursuant to the June 7, 2023 Unit Purchase Agreement, in which the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased 2,459 AON Class C Units at an aggregate purchase price of $65.0 million, net of $0.5 million of issuance costs. Pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, also reflects issuance of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio.

New AON has preliminarily evaluated the accounting for the New AON Series A Preferred Stock in accordance with the requirements of ASC 480-10-S99. For purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, the Series A Investment is classified as mezzanine equity. However, the evaluation and finalization of accounting conclusions including, but not limited to, classification of the instrument, impact to earnings per share, analysis of any potential embedded derivatives and the impact to other preferred/equity units are ongoing and subject to change.

- (d) Reflects the elimination of DTOC's historical accumulated deficit.
- (e) Reflects the removal of $11.7 million of deferred underwriters' fees which were waived subsequent to the issuance of DTOC's March 31, 2023 financial statements.

- (f) Represents the estimated incremental transaction costs incurred by DTOC and the Company of approximately $6.8 million for advisory, banking, printing, legal and accounting fees.

Under the No Additional Redemptions scenario and the Additional Redemptions Scenario, transaction expenses of $5.6 million are expected to be expensed as incurred, as reflected in adjustment (ee) in the income statement for the year ended December 31, 2022.

Under the No Additional Redemptions scenario and the Additional Redemptions Scenario, $4.8 million DTOC transaction expenses were recorded in accumulated deficit and subsequently presented in APIC, to reflect the elimination of DTOC's historical accumulated deficit for the expenses incurred. The remaining $0.8 million of AON expenses were presented in accumulated earnings, to reflect the expense incurred. The $1.2 million in costs that were direct and incremental to the equity raise were netted against the proceeds of the Business Combination.

Additional Redemptions transaction accounting adjustments reflect the true-up to balances noted below.

- (h) Represents the Additional Redemption of 1,847,069 shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock subject to redemption for approximately $19.0 million (based on the remaining fair value of cash held in the Trust Account of approximately $19.0 million).

- (i) The financial results of AON and its wholly-owned subsidiaries are consolidated with and into New AON, and following the Business Combination, a portion of the consolidated net income (loss) of AON, which the former AON unitholders are entitled to or are required to absorb, are allocated to the noncontrolling interests (the "NCI"). The respective controlling interests and noncontrolling interests in AON as reflected in New AON's financial statements depend on the level of redemptions. The estimated possible range of controlling interests is 30.99%-28.03% and the estimated possible range of noncontrolling interests is 69.01% — 71.97%. For purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, a controlling interest of 30.99% and a noncontrolling interest of 69.01% were used in the No Additional Redemptions scenario and a controlling interest of 28.03% and a noncontrolling interest of 71.97% were used in the Additional Redemptions scenario. The Company has excluded Earnouts in the calculation of the ownership interest in AON as the Earnouts are subject to forfeiture if the achievement of a stock price threshold is not met within five years of the Business Combination.

New AON is currently evaluating the requirements of ASC 480-10-S99 regarding permanent versus mezzanine equity presentation of the noncontrolling interest. For purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, noncontrolling interest is classified as permanent equity. However, the evaluation and finalization of accounting conclusions regarding the classification are ongoing and subject to change in accordance with the terms contained within the final agreement.

- (j) On March 6, 2023, in connection with the Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, DTOC issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. The promissory note bears no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory note will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the Business Combination. Further, the Sponsor had advanced DTOC $50,000 for working capital purposes during the three months ended

March 31, 2023. The pro forma adjustment represents the repayment of the promissory note and Sponsor advances upon the consummation of the Business Combination.

- (k) Represents the estimated distribution of cash equal to the preferred return set forth in the AON operating agreement to holders of AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units in the amount of $8.1 million, or $4.0 million and $4.1 million, respectively.
- (l) Represents the issuance of 3,002,245 shares of AON Class B Prefunded Warrants to former AON A-1 unitholders with an exercise price of $0.01. The AON Class B Prefunded Warrants are exercisable into one share of New AON Class B Common Stock. A share of New AON Class B Common Stock, together with an AON common unit, may be exchanged for one share of New AON Class A common stock. Because New AON Class B Common Stock has limited liquidity or value if the holder does not also possess an AON Common Unit, and because the AON Class B Prefunded Warrants are exercisable into New AON Class B Common Stock, the Company has estimated fair value of the warrants at $0.00. New AON is currently evaluating the accounting treatment related to these warrants. For purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, these warrants are classified as liability instruments. However, the evaluation and finalization of accounting conclusions regarding the classification are ongoing and subject to change based on final agreements.
- (m) Represents the recording of a deferred tax asset and income tax liability associated with the No Additional Redemptions Scenario and the Additional Redemptions Scenario, as follows:
- No Additional Redemptions Scenario* — Reflects the pro forma adjustment to recognize a net deferred tax asset of $0.8 million and the pro forma adjustment to reflect an income tax receivable of $0.2 million.
- Temporary differences, resulting from differences including our investment in AON and a valuation allowance, resulted in a pro forma net deferred tax asset of $0.8 million as of March 31, 2023.
- Additional Redemptions Scenario* — Reflects the pro forma adjustment to recognize a net deferred tax asset of $0.8 million and pro forma adjustment to recognize an income tax receivable of $0.3 million.
- Temporary differences, resulting from differences including our investment in AON and a valuation allowance, resulted in a pro forma net deferred tax asset of $0.8 million as of March 31, 2023.
- (n) Represents the reclassification of capitalized offering costs included in other assets to additional paid-in-capital in the amount of $0.8 million.
- (o) Represents the vesting of AON Class B profit interest awards and AON Class B-1 units noted in the pro forma adjustment (gg), in the aggregate amount of $13.7 million, recorded in accumulated deficit and accumulated paid-in-capital.
- (p) Represents the payment of the accrued DTOC transaction expenses included in Accounts Payable in the Historical DTOC balance sheet as of March 31, 2023.
- (q) In the No Additional Redemptions scenario, the pro forma adjustment represents the reduction of excise tax payable for the issuance New AON Series A Preferred Stock, in the aggregate amount of $0.7 million, recorded in excise tax payable and APIC.
- In the Additional Redemptions Scenario, the pro forma adjustment represents the net impact of the $0.7 million above, offset by the accrual of an additional $0.2 million in excise tax for the redemption of 1,847,069 shares of New AON Class A common stock, in the net amount of $0.5 million, recorded in excise tax payable and APIC.
- (r) Represents the reclassification entry from APIC to accumulated earnings (deficit), in order to remove the negative balance in APIC.

3. Adjustments and Assumptions to the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Statement of Operations for the three months ended March 31, 2023

In the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2023, $0.5 million and $0.5 million of historical Digital Transformation Corp. costs have been reclassified from "Formation and operating costs" to "General and administrative expenses" and "Transaction related expenses", respectively, to align financial statement descriptions.

The adjustments included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2023, are as follows:

- (ii) Reflects the elimination of unrealized gains and losses on marketable securities held in the Trust Account.
- (jj) Reflects the elimination of interest earned on marketable securities held in the Trust Account.
- (kk) Reflects the income tax effect related to the transaction accounting adjustments, and the controlling interest of AON historical results for the AON partnership entities, using a pro forma combined blended U.S. federal and state statutory tax rate of 25.00% for the three months ended March 31, 2023.
- (ll) The net loss of New AON was reduced by the estimated noncontrolling interest ownership indicated in the No Additional Redemptions scenario and Additional Redemptions scenario of 69.01% and 71.97%, respectively:

(amounts in thousands)	Pro Forma Adjustments (Assuming No Additional Redemptions)	Pro Forma Combined Assuming Additional Redemptions	Pro Forma Adjustments (Assuming Additional Redemptions)

Net income (loss) attributable to noncontrolling interest	356	369	13

- (mm) Reflects the reversal of AON and DTOC transaction expenses incurred in the three months ended March 31, 2023. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations give effect to the Business Combination as if it had been consummated on January 1, 2022. As such, all transaction expenses are reflected in the year ended December 31, 2022 statement of operations, see Note (hh).

4. Adjustments and Assumptions to the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Statement of Operations for the year ended December 31, 2022

In the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2022, $0.3 million and $2.0 million of historical Digital Transformation Corp. costs have been reclassified from "Formation and operating costs" to "General and administrative expenses" and "Transaction related expenses," respectively, to align financial statement descriptions.

The adjustments included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2022, are as follows:

- (aa) Reflects the elimination of unrealized gains and losses on marketable securities held in the Trust Account.
- (bb) Reflects the elimination of interest earned on marketable securities held in the Trust Account.

(cc) Reflects the income tax effect related to the transaction accounting adjustments, and the controlling interest of AON historical results for the AON partnership entities, using a pro forma combined blended U.S. federal and state statutory tax rate of 25.00%, for the year ended December 31, 2022.

(dd) The net loss of New AON was reduced by the estimated noncontrolling interest ownership indicated in the No Additional Redemptions scenario and Additional Redemptions scenario of 69.01% and 71.97%, respectively.

Noncontrolling interest percentage	69.01%	71.97%
Net income (loss) attributable to noncontrolling interest	(10,135)	(10,514)	(379)

(ee) Reflects the incremental portion of transaction costs expected to be expensed as incurred based on the nature of the costs, as noted at adjustment (f).

(ff) Reflects $3.3 million of historical AON costs that have been reclassified from "General and administrative expenses" to "Transaction related expenses" to align financial statement descriptions.

(gg) Reflects $7.2 million of stock compensation related to the issuance of 1.7 million shares of AON Class B-1 units at a fair market value of $4.35 per share and $6.5 million of stock compensation expense related to the vesting of 405 shares of AON Class B profit interest awards.

(hh) Reflects $2.5 million of AON and DTOC transaction expenses attributed to the December 31, 2022 Statement of Operations, as noted in pro forma adjustment (mm).

5. Earnings per Share Information

The pro forma weighted average shares calculations have been performed for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and the year ended December 31, 2022 using the historical weighted average shares outstanding, and the issuance of additional shares in connection with the Business Combination, assuming the transaction occurred on January 1, 2022. As the Business Combination is being reflected as if it had occurred at the beginning of the periods presented, the calculation of weighted average share outstanding for both basic and diluted earnings per share assumes that the shares issuable relating to the Business Combination have been outstanding for the entire periods presented. If 100% of shares are redeemed, this calculation is retroactively adjusted to eliminate such shares for the entire periods.

- (1) The net loss for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and the year ended December 31, 2022 results in an anti-dilutive effect on earnings per share for all potentially dilutive instruments, therefore basic weighted average shares outstanding equals diluted weighted average shares outstanding for the period.

SPECIAL MEETING OF DTOC STOCKHOLDERS

This proxy statement/prospectus is being provided to DTOC stockholders as part of a solicitation of proxies by the DTOC Board for use at the Special Meeting to be held on _____, 2023, and at any adjournment or postponement thereof. This proxy statement/prospectus contains important information regarding the Special Meeting, the Proposals on which you are being asked to vote and information you may find useful in determining how to vote and voting procedures.

This proxy statement/prospectus is being first mailed on or about _____, 2023 to all stockholders of record of DTOC as of _____, 2023, the record date for the Special Meeting. Stockholders of record who owned shares of DTOC common stock at the close of business on the DTOC record date are entitled to receive notice of, attend and vote at the Special Meeting.

The Special Meeting will be held exclusively via a live webcast at [_____], on _____, 2023 at _____, Pacific Time. To participate in the virtual meeting, a DTOC stockholder of record will need the 16-digit control number included on their proxy card or instructions that accompanied their proxy materials, if applicable, or to obtain a proxy form from their broker, bank or other nominee. The Special Meeting webcast will begin promptly at _____, Eastern Time. DTOC stockholders are encouraged to access the Special Meeting prior to the start time. If you encounter any difficulties accessing the virtual meeting or during the meeting time, please call the technical support number that will be posted on the virtual meeting login page.

Voting Power; Record Date

As a DTOC stockholder, you have a right to vote on the matters presented at the Special Meeting, which are summarized above and fully set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus. You will be entitled to vote or direct votes to be cast at the Special Meeting if you owned DTOC common stock at the close of business on _____, 2023, which is the record date for the Special Meeting. You are entitled to one vote for each share of DTOC common stock that you owned as of the close of business on the DTOC record date. If your shares are held in "street name" or are in a margin or similar account, you should contact your broker, bank or other nominee to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly counted. As of the close of business on [_____] there were 10,184,569 shares of DTOC common stock outstanding, of which 75,000 are shares of DTOC Class B common stock and 10,109,569 are shares of DTOC Class A common stock.

Proposals at the Special Meeting

At the Special Meeting, DTOC stockholders will vote on the following Proposals:

- Proposal No. 1 — The Business Combination Proposal: To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Business Combination Agreement and approve the transactions contemplated thereby;
- Proposal No. 2 — The Listing Proposal: To consider and vote upon a proposal for purposes of complying with applicable listing rules of Nasdaq (and in the event DTOC and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange), to approve the issuance of New common stock and other securities exchangeable into New AON common stock in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement;
- Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal: To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve and adopt the Proposed Charter;
- Proposal No. 4 — The Advisory Governance Proposal: To consider and vote upon, on a non-binding advisory basis, a separate proposal with respect to certain governance provisions in the Proposed Charter, which is being separately presented in accordance with SEC requirements;
- Proposal No. 5 — The Director Election Proposal: For the holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock to consider and vote upon a proposal to elect eight directors, effective at the Closing, to serve staggered terms on New AON Board until the 2024, 2025 and 2026 annual meetings of stockholders and until their respective successors are duly elected and qualified, subject to their earlier death, resignation or removal;

- Proposal No. 6— The Incentive Equity Plan Proposal: To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the Incentive Equity Plan to be effective after the closing of the Business Combination; and
- Proposal No. 7— The Adjournment Proposal: To consider and vote upon a proposal to approve the adjournment of the Special Meeting to a later date or dates, if necessary, to permit further solicitation and vote of proxies in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason permitted by the Business Combination Agreement in connection with, the approval of one or more of the other Proposals at the Special Meeting.

THE DTOC BOARD RECOMMENDS THAT YOU VOTE “FOR” EACH OF THESE PROPOSALS

Vote of DTOC’s Sponsor, Directors and Officers

The Insiders, including the Sponsor, have agreed to vote their Founder Shares in favor of the Business Combination. Currently, the Insiders own approximately 81.9% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

The Insiders have waived any redemption rights, including with respect to any shares of DTOC Class A common stock purchased in DTOC’s IPO or in the aftermarket, in connection with the Business Combination.

Quorum and Required Vote for Proposals for the Special Meeting

A quorum of DTOC’s stockholders is necessary to hold a valid meeting. A quorum will be present at the Special Meeting if holders of a majority of the voting power of our outstanding shares of common stock entitled to vote on any of the proposals to be voted on at the Special Meeting are present at the Special Meeting. Abstentions and broker non-votes will count as present for the purposes of establishing a quorum at the Special Meeting.

The approval of each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class. The approval of the Director Election Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a plurality of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon at the Special Meeting, voting as a single class. Abstentions will be counted in connection with determination of whether a valid quorum is established but will have no effect on the vote with respect to such Proposals. The failure to vote and broker non-votes will also have no effect on the vote with respect to such Proposals.

Approval of the Charter Amendment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class A common stock and the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, each voting as a separate class, as well as the vote of a majority of the issued and outstanding shares of DTOC common stock, voting together as a single class. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote “AGAINST” the Charter Amendment Proposal.

The Insiders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of the Business Combination. Currently, the Insiders own approximately 81.9% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

The transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement will be consummated only if the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal and the Charter Amendment Proposal are approved at the Special Meeting. It is important for you to note that in the event that the Business Combination

Proposal, the Listing Proposal and the Charter Amendment Proposal do not receive the requisite vote for approval, we will not consummate the Business Combination.

Recommendation to DTOC's Stockholders

The DTOC Board believes that each of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal to be presented at the Special Meeting is in the best interests of DTOC and DTOC stockholders and recommends that its stockholders vote "FOR" each of the Proposals.

When you consider the recommendation of the DTOC Board in favor of approval of the Business Combination Proposal, you should keep in mind that the Sponsor and certain members of the DTOC Board and officers have interests in the Business Combination that may be different from, or in addition to, your interests as a stockholder. Stockholders should take these interests into account in deciding whether to approve the Proposals presented at the Special Meeting, including the Business Combination Proposal. These interests include, among other things:

- If the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not consummated by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), DTOC will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming 100% of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining stockholders and the DTOC Board, dissolving and liquidating. In such event, the 8,112,500 Founder Shares held by the Sponsor, which were acquired for a purchase price of approximately $0.003 per share prior to the IPO, would be worthless because the holders are not entitled to participate in any redemption or distribution with respect to such shares. Such shares had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] based upon the closing price of $[—] per share on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date.
- The Sponsor, which is affiliated with Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 private warrants from DTOC for an aggregate purchase price of approximately $9.2 million (or $1.50 per warrant). These purchases took place on a private placement basis simultaneously with the consummation of the IPO. All of the proceeds DTOC received from these purchases were placed in the trust account. Such warrants had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] million based upon the closing price of $[—] per warrant on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date. The private warrants will become worthless if DTOC does not consummate a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).
- In certain circumstances in which the Business Combination Agreement is terminated (as further described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled "Related Agreements"), the Sponsor may be required to reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions.
- If the Business Combination Agreement is terminated due to AON's entry into an alternative transaction, AON is required to pay the Sponsor a termination fee of $18 million no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is 6 months following the termination and (ii) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.
- As further described above in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled "Extension Proposal", the Sponsor may be required in certain circumstances to provide DTOC a loan in an amount sufficient to fund a deposit to the trust account for purposes of obtaining approval of the Extension Proposal.
- The Sponsor and DTOC's officers, directors and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on DTOC's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations. However, if DTOC fails to consummate a business combination within the required period, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement. Accordingly, DTOC may not be able to reimburse these expenses if the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not completed by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).

- The Business Combination Agreement provides for the continued indemnification of DTOC's current directors and officers and the continuation of directors and officers liability insurance covering DTOC's current directors and officers.
- The Sponsor and DTOC's officers and directors (or their affiliates) may make loans from time to time to DTOC to fund certain capital requirements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, $200,000 in the form of two promissory notes in favor of the Sponsor are outstanding, and further loans may be made after the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the loans will not be repaid and will be forgiven except to the extent there are funds available to DTOC outside of the trust account.
- Subject to limited exceptions, the Sponsor and Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, will not be permitted to transfer their shares of New AON common stock for 12 months following the Closing.
- Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing to certain vesting and forfeiture provisions.
- Pursuant to the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, certain parties, including the Sponsor and directors and officers of DTOC, will have registration rights, such as demand and piggy-back rights with respect to the shares of New AON common stock (subject to cooperation, cut-back provisions and suspension periods).
- Todd Schonherz, Stephen "Fred" Divers, Shalin R. Shah, Vipul Patel, Vance M. Wright-Browne, Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Ravi Sarin are each expected to become members of the New AON Board upon consummation of the Business Combination. As such, in the future, each of the aforementioned may receive cash fees, stock options, stock awards or other remuneration that the New AON Board determines to pay them and any applicable compensation as described under the section titled "Management of New AON After the Business Combination".
- The Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi have each waived the anti-dilution adjustments set forth in DTOC's organizational documents, or any other anti-dilution or similar adjustment rights to which they may otherwise be entitled related to or arising from the Business Combination.
- The Sponsor and the Insiders agreed at the time of DTOC's IPO not to redeem any DTOC securities held by them in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combination and are obligated to vote in favor of the Business Combination. Neither the Sponsor nor the Insiders received any compensation for agreeing to not seek redemption or vote in favor of the Business Combination.
- Our Sponsor has made an investment for the Founder Shares at an average price per share of approximately $0.003 prior to the consummation of the IPO. As a result, even if the trading price of the New AON Class A common stock significantly declines, the value of the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor will be significantly greater than the amount the Sponsor paid to purchase such shares. Given the differential in the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the Founder Shares and the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the private placement warrants as compared to the price of the public shares and public warrants and the substantial number of New AON Class A common stock that the holders of the Founder Shares will receive upon conversion of the Founder Shares and the private placement warrants, the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders can earn a positive return on their investment, even if other DTOC stockholders have a negative return on their investment in New AON.
- DTOC's Existing Charter includes a limited waiver of the corporate opportunity doctrine, and any other analogous doctrine, that would otherwise apply to directors and officers of DTOC unless a corporate opportunity is offered to a director or officer solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of DTOC and such opportunity is one DTOC is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for DTOC to pursue. The potential conflict of interest relating to the limited waiver of the corporate opportunities doctrine in DTOC's Existing Charter did not impact DTOC's search for an acquisition target and DTOC was not prevented from reviewing any opportunities as a result of such waiver.

Abstentions and Broker Non-Votes

Abstentions are considered present for purposes of establishing a quorum. Abstentions will have no effect on the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal or the Adjournment Proposal.

Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote will have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal.

In general, if your shares are held in "street" name and you do not instruct your broker, bank or other nominee on a timely basis on how to vote your shares, your broker, bank or other nominee, in its sole discretion, may either leave your shares unvoted or vote your shares on routine matters, but not on any non-routine matters.

All of the Proposals contained herein are considered non-routine matters. As such, without your voting instructions, your brokerage firm cannot vote your shares on any of the Proposals to be voted on at the Special Meeting without your instruction.

Attending the Special Meeting; Voting Virtually at the Meeting

In light of on-going developments related to COVID-19 and after careful consideration, the DTOC Board has determined to hold the Special Meeting virtually in order to facilitate stockholder attendance and participation by enabling stockholders to participate from any location and at no cost.

To participate in the virtual special meeting, which we refer to as the "Special Meeting," the DTOC stockholder will need the 16-digit control number included on their proxy card or instructions that accompanied their proxy materials, if applicable, or to obtain a proxy form from their broker, bank or other nominee. The Special Meeting webcast will begin promptly at _____, Eastern Time. DTOC stockholders are encouraged to access the Special Meeting prior to the start time. Online check-in will begin at _____, and DTOC stockholders should allow ample time for the check-in procedures. If you encounter any difficulties accessing the virtual meeting or during the meeting time, please call the technical support number that will be posted on the virtual meeting login page.

DTOC stockholders will be able to attend the Special Meeting online, vote their shares electronically and submit questions during the Special Meeting by visiting <https://www.cstproxy.com/dtocorp/2023>. To submit questions, you will need the 16-digit control number included on their proxy card or instructions that accompanied their proxy materials, if applicable, or to obtain a proxy form from their broker, bank or other nominee. The DTOC Board will try to answer as many stockholder-submitted questions as time permits that comply with the meeting rules of conduct. However, the DTOC Board reserves the right to edit profanity or other inappropriate language, or to exclude questions that are not pertinent to Special Meeting matters or that are otherwise inappropriate. If substantially similar questions are received, they will be grouped together, and a single response will be provided to avoid repetition.

Voting Your Shares

Each share of DTOC common stock that you own in your name entitles you to one vote on each of the Proposals for the Special Meeting. Your proxy card or cards show the number of shares of DTOC common stock that you own. There are several ways to vote your shares of DTOC common stock:

- You can vote your shares by completing, signing, dating and returning the enclosed proxy card in the postage-paid envelope provided. If you hold your shares in "street name," which means your shares are held of record by a broker, bank or other nominee, you should follow the instructions provided to you by your broker, bank or nominee to ensure that votes related to the shares you beneficially own are properly represented and voted at the meeting. If you vote by proxy card, your "proxy," whose name is listed on the proxy card, will vote your shares as you instruct on the proxy card. If you sign and return the proxy card but do not give instructions on how to vote your shares, your shares of our common stock will be voted as recommended by our board of directors. The DTOC Board recommends voting "FOR" the Business Combination Proposal, "FOR" the Listing Proposal, "FOR" the Charter Amendment Proposal, "FOR" the Advisory Governance Proposal, "FOR" the Director Election Proposal, "FOR" the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and "FOR" the Adjournment Proposal.

- You can participate in the virtual Special Meeting and vote during the Special Meeting even if you have previously voted by submitting a proxy as described above. However, if your shares of common stock are held in the name of your broker, bank or other nominee, you must get a proxy from the broker, bank or other nominee. That is the only way we can be sure that the broker, bank or nominee has not already voted your shares of common stock.

Revoking Your Proxy

If you give a proxy, you may revoke it at any time before the Special Meeting or at such meeting by doing any one of the following:

- you may send another proxy card with a later date;
- you may notify _____ by email at _____, before the Special Meeting that you have revoked your proxy; or
- you may participate in the virtual Special Meeting, revoke your proxy, and vote during the Special Meeting, as indicated above.

No Additional Matters May Be Presented at the Special Meeting

The Special Meeting has been called only to consider the approval of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, Advisory Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal and the Adjournment Proposal. Under our bylaws, other than procedural matters incident to the conduct of the Special Meeting, no other matters may be considered at the Special Meeting if they are not included in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Who Can Answer Your Questions about Voting

If you have any questions about how to vote or direct a vote in respect of your shares of DTOC common stock, you may call Morrow Sodali, our proxy solicitor, at (800) 662-5200. Banks and Brokerage Firms may call collect at: (203) 658-9400.

Redemption Rights and Procedures

Pursuant to the current charter, any holders of DTOC's public shares may demand that such shares be redeemed in exchange for a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination. If demand is properly made and the Business Combination is consummated, these shares, immediately prior to the Business Combination, will cease to be outstanding and will represent only the right to receive a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account which holds the proceeds of DTOC's IPO (calculated as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, less franchise and income taxes payable). For illustrative purposes, based on funds in the Trust Account of $19,181,938.82 on June 7, 2023, the estimated per share redemption price would have been approximately $10.39.

In order to exercise your redemption rights, you must:

- check the box on the enclosed proxy card to elect redemption;
- submit a request in writing that DTOC redeem your public shares for cash. The request must identify the beneficial owner of the shares to be redeemed and must be sent to DTOC's transfer agent at the following address:

Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company
1 State Street, 30th floor
New York, NY 10004
Attention: SPAC Redemptions
Email: spacredemptions@continentalstock.com

- deliver your public shares either physically or electronically through DTC to DTOC's transfer agent at least two business days before the Special Meeting. Stockholders seeking to exercise redemption rights and opting to deliver physical certificates should allot sufficient time to obtain physical certificates from the transfer agent and time to effect delivery. It is DTOC's understanding that stockholders should generally allot at least two weeks to obtain physical certificates from the transfer agent. However, DTOC does not have any control over this process and it may take longer than two weeks. Stockholders who hold their shares in "street name" will have to coordinate with their bank, broker or other nominee to have the shares certificated or delivered electronically.

If you have other questions please contact:

Kevin Nazemi
Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.
10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126
Los Angeles, CA 90067
Tel: (360) 949-1111

If you do not properly comply with the procedures and requirements to redeem your public shares described above, your shares will not be redeemed. Any demand for redemption, once made, may be withdrawn at any time until the date of the Special Meeting. After the date of the Special Meeting, a demand for redemption may only be withdrawn with DTOC's written consent. If you delivered your shares for redemption to DTOC's transfer agent and decide within the required timeframe not to exercise your redemption rights, you may request that DTOC's transfer agent return the shares (physically or electronically). You may make such request by contacting DTOC's transfer agent at the phone number or address listed above prior to the date of the Special Meeting.

Any redemptions by DTOC's public stockholders will decrease the funds in the Trust Account available to us to consummate the Business Combination and related transactions.

Prior to exercising redemption rights, stockholders should verify the market price of DTOC common stock as they may receive higher proceeds from the sale of their common stock in the public market than from exercising their redemption rights. DTOC cannot assure you that you will be able to sell your shares of DTOC common stock in the open market, even if the market price per share is higher than the redemption price, as there may not be sufficient liquidity in our common stock when you wish to sell your shares.

If you exercise your redemption rights, your shares of DTOC common stock will cease to be outstanding immediately prior to the Business Combination and will only represent the right to receive a pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account. You will no longer own those shares and will have no right to participate in, or have any interest in, the future growth of the combined company following the Business Combination, if any. You will be entitled to receive cash for these shares only if you properly and timely demand redemption.

If the Business Combination is not approved and DTOC does not consummate an initial business combination by the SPAC Termination Date, DTOC will be required to dissolve and liquidate our Trust Account by returning the then remaining funds in such account to the public stockholders and DTOC's warrants will expire worthless.

Appraisal Rights

Appraisal rights are not available to holders of shares of DTOC common stock in connection with the Business Combination.

INFORMATION ABOUT DTOC

General

DTOC is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on November 17, 2020 that will seek to effect a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or other similar business combination, with one or more businesses or assets. DTOC's Sponsor is Digital Transformation Sponsor LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Sponsor"). To date, DTOC's efforts have been limited to organizational activities as well as activities related to this offering. DTOC has generated no operating revenues to date and DTOC does not expect that it will generate operating revenues until it consummates its initial business combination.

The registration statement for DTOC's IPO was declared effective on March 9, 2021. On March 12, 2021, it consummated DTOC's IPO of 33,350,000 units generating gross proceeds of $333,500,000. Each unit consisted of one share of DTOC's Class A common stock and one-fourth of one warrant where each whole warrant entitles the holder to purchase one whole share of DTOC Class A common stock. Simultaneously with the closing of DTOC's IPO, DTOC consummated the sale of 6,113,333 placement units at a price of $1.50 per unit in a private placement to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds of $9,170,000. The Initial Stockholders hold an aggregate 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock, all of which were issued in a private placement prior to DTOC's IPO.

Following the closing of DTOC's IPO on March 12, 2021, an amount of $333,500,000 ($10.00 per unit) from the net proceeds of the sale of the units in DTOC's IPO and the placement units was placed in a Trust Account and invested in U.S. government securities, within the meaning set forth in Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, with a maturity of 185 days or less or in any open-ended investment company that holds itself out as a money market fund selected by DTOC meeting the conditions of Rule 2a-7 of the Investment Company Act, as determined by DTOC, until the earlier of: (i) the consummation of a business combination, (ii) the redemption of any public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the current charter to modify the substance or timing of our obligation to redeem 100% of DTOC's public shares if DTOC does not complete a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised); or (iii) the distribution of the Trust Account, if DTOC is unable to complete a business combination within the combination period or upon any earlier liquidation of us.

As of June 7, 2023, there was $19,181,938.82 held in the Trust Account. As of June 7, 2023, DTOC has withdrawn $946,700 from the Trust Account to pay for franchise taxes.

Effecting DTOC's Initial Business Combination

DTOC is not presently engaged in, and DTOC will not engage in, any operations prior to the Business Combination. DTOC intends to pay certain expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions using cash held in the Trust Account, and issue authorized but unissued shares of DTOC common stock in respect of the consideration for the Business Combination. If any of the funds released from the Trust Account are not used to fund the fees and expenses relating to the Business Combination and other transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, or to fund redemptions of DTOC common stock, they will be used for general corporate purposes of the combined company, which may include repayment of indebtedness.

Redemption Rights for Holders of Public Shares

DTOC is providing the DTOC public stockholders with the opportunity to redeem all or a portion of their shares of DTOC Class A common stock upon the consummation of the Business Combination at a per share price, payable in cash, equal to the quotient obtained by dividing: (i) the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, including interest not previously released to DTOC to pay its franchise and income taxes, by (ii) the total number of then outstanding public shares. The amount in the Trust Account is approximately $10.39 per public share (based on the Trust Account balance as of June 7, 2023). There will be no redemption rights upon the consummation of our initial business combination with respect to DTOC's warrants. The Sponsor and DTOC's officers and directors have agreed to waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares (i) in connection with the consummation of a business combination, (ii) in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to the current charter to (a) modify the substance or timing of DTOC's obligation to allow redemption in connection with its initial business combination or to redeem 100% of DTOC's public shares if DTOC does not complete its initial business combination within the time frame set forth in the charter or (b) with respect to any other provision relating to stockholders' rights or pre-initial business combination activity (although the Sponsor and the Insiders shall be entitled to liquidation rights with respect to any public shares it or they hold if DTOC fails to consummate a business combination within the time period set forth in the charter).

Submission of DTOC's Initial Business Combination to a Stockholder Vote

DTOC is providing DTOC's public stockholders with redemption rights upon consummation of the Business Combination. Public stockholders electing to exercise redemption rights will be entitled to receive cash equal to their pro rata share of the aggregate amount on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the Closing, provided that such stockholders follow the specific procedures for redemption set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus under "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures." Unlike many other blank check companies, DTOC's public stockholders are not required to vote against the Business Combination in order to exercise redemption rights. If the Business Combination is not completed, then public stockholders electing to exercise redemption rights will not be entitled to redeem the shares of common stock and will not receive payment for any shares they elected to redeem.

The Initial Stockholders have agreed to vote any shares of DTOC common stock owned by them in favor of the Business Combination.

Extension of Time to Complete a Business Combination

On February 9, 2023, DTOC filed a definitive proxy statement with the SEC soliciting the approval of its stockholders for, among other things, a proposal (the "Extension Amendment Proposal") to extend the date by which DTOC has to consummate a business combination (the "Combination Period") from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and to give the Sponsor the option to further extend the Combination Period beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional one (1) month each time to September 30, 2023 (collectively, the "Extension Options"). On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

At the special meeting of stockholders held on March 2, 2023 (the "March Special Meeting"), DTOC's stockholders approved the Extension Amendment Proposal (the "Extension Amendment"). In connection with the approval of Extension Amendment Proposal, the Sponsor and Mr. Francis, DTOC's Chief Financial Officer converted all of their respective Founder Shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following conversion, such shares will vote together with the Public Shares on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of the IPO, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon. In connection with the votes to approve the proposals at the March Special Meeting, the holders of 31,502,931 shares of common stock of DTOC properly exercised their right to redeem their shares for cash at a redemption price of approximately $10.19 per share, for an aggregate redemption amount of approximately $321.2 million, leaving approximately $18.8 million in the Trust Account, not including the $150,000 deposited into the Trust Account by the Sponsor in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

Limitation on Redemption Rights

Notwithstanding the foregoing, a public stockholder, together with any affiliate of such public stockholder or any other person with whom such public stockholder is acting in concert or as a "group" (as defined under Section 13 of the Exchange Act), will be restricted from redeeming its public shares with respect to more than an aggregate of 15% of the shares. Accordingly, if a public stockholder, alone or acting in concert or as a group, seeks to redeem more than 15% of the public shares, then any such shares in excess of that 15% limit would not be redeemed for cash.

Employees

DTOC currently has no full time employees and does not intend to have any full time employees prior to consummation of the Business Combination. Each of DTOC's executive officers and directors is engaged in other business endeavors and is not obligated to contribute any specific number of hours per week to DTOC's affairs, but they intend to devote as much of their time as they deem necessary to DTOC's affairs until we have completed the Business Combination.

Mr. Francis previously served as the Chief Executive Officer of Southern California Reproductive Center, a leading chain of fertility clinics, from September 2015 to June 2020, and as its Chief Financial Officer from May 2014 to September 2015. Prior to that, Mr. Francis served as Chief Financial Officer from December 2010 to May 2014 and as EVP, Business Development from November 2008 to December 2010 of Apollo Medical Holdings, Inc., a publicly traded healthcare management company. Prior to Apollo, Mr. Francis was an investment banker at CIBC World Markets Inc. from March 2000 to September 2008, in the middle market healthcare and capital markets groups focused on healthcare, technology and industrials. Mr. Francis currently serves on the board of directors of RaceRocks, a Canadian technology company focused on virtual reality training and remote learning for the defense industry. Mr. Francis also acts as an executive advisor to a number of private healthcare companies. Mr. Francis graduated from McGill University with a Bachelor of Commerce.

DTOC's Board of Directors

Mr. Bradley Fluegel has served on the DTOC Board since DTOC's IPO. Mr. Fluegel currently advises a number of technology-enabled healthcare companies including Interwell Health Inc., Galileo Inc., Hims Inc., Pager Inc., and VillageMD Chicago, LLC. From October 2012 to January 2018, Mr. Fluegel was the Senior Vice President, Chief Healthcare Commercial Market Development Officer and Chief Strategy and Business Development Officer for Walgreens Company. Prior to Walgreens, Mr. Fluegel served as an executive in residence at Health Evolution Partners from April 2011 to September 2012, Executive Vice President and Chief Strategy and External Affairs Officer of Anthem Inc. from October 2007 to December 2010, Senior Vice President of National Accounts and Vice President of Enterprise Strategy at Aetna Inc. from March 2005 to September 2007, and Chief Executive Officer for Reden & Anders (Optum Consulting) from October 2002 to February 2005. Mr. Fluegel currently serves on the board of directors of MJHS in New York City, Performant Financial Corporation, AdhereHealth LLC and Premera Blue Cross. Mr. Fluegel earned a MPP from Harvard University's Kennedy School of Government and a BBA from the University of Washington. Mr. Fluegel also serves as a lecturer at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Business.

Mr. Jim Moffatt has served on the DTOC Board since DTOC's IPO. Mr. Moffatt held various leadership positions at Deloitte LLP from 1986 to 2018, including: Vice Chairman of Deloitte Consulting from January 2018 to December 2018, Global Chief Executive Officer of Deloitte Consulting from June 2015 to December 2017, Deputy Chief Executive Officer — Global for Deloitte U.S. from April 2015 to March 2017, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer for Deloitte Consulting U.S. from May 2011 to December 2015, Managing Principal for Deloitte U.S. Consulting Clients & Industries from June 2009 to May 2011, National Managing Director Consulting Client Excellence and Regions Leader from June 2007 to May 2009, Principal from June 1994 to May 2007, and Senior Manager from June 1986 to May 1994. Mr. Moffatt currently serves on several boards including Henry Schein One, First Hawaiian, Inc., and its principal subsidiary, First Hawaiian Bank, AmplifAI, Icertis and Optiv Security Inc. He is also a Board Partner to Greycoft and Senior Advisor to KKR. Mr. Moffatt serves as an advisor to Centre for Neuro Skills, SparkCognition, Bridgepoint LLC, TenOneTen, and March Capital, among others. He also serves on academic committees for organizations including the UCLA Anderson School and the UC San Diego Foundation Board. Mr. Moffatt previously served on the UCLA Chancellor's Cabinet Council and Corporate Council of the American Film Institute. Mr. Moffatt holds an MBA from UCLA Anderson School of Management and a Bachelor of Arts from University of California, San Diego. We believe Mr. Moffatt is well qualified to serve on our board of directors based on his strong business and organizational leadership skills and his deep understanding of the healthcare industry.

Ms. Heather Zynczak has served on the DTOC Board since DTOC's IPO. From August 2016 to October 2020, Ms. Zynczak served as the Chief Marketing Officer of Pluralsight Inc. Prior to Pluralsight, from March 2012 to August 2016, Ms. Zynczak served as the Chief Marketing Officer of Domo Inc. Prior to Domo, Ms. Zynczak served as the Global Vice President of Marketing of SAPSE from February 2006 to March 2012, and as Senior Director of Product Strategy of Oracle Corporation from September 2001 to February 2006. Prior to Oracle, Ms. Zynczak served in consulting roles with Booz Allen Hamilton Inc., Boston Consulting Group, and Accenture plc. Ms. Zynczak currently serves on the board of directors of Thryv Holdings, Inc. and as an Operating Advisor to Elsewhere Partners, a growth-stage venture capital firm. Ms. Zynczak has an MBA from The Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania and a Bachelor of Business Administration from University of Texas at Austin. We believe that Ms. Zynczak is well qualified to serve on our board of directors based on her business expertise and business industry contacts.

Director Independence

Nasdaq listing rules require that a majority of the DTOC Board be independent. An "independent director" is defined generally as a person other than an officer or employee of the company or its subsidiaries or any other individual having a relationship, which, in the opinion of the company's board of directors, would interfere with the director's exercise of independent judgment in carrying out the responsibilities of a director. DTOC has three "independent directors" as defined in Nasdaq listing rules and applicable SEC rules. The DTOC Board has determined that each of Bradley Fluegel, Jim Moffatt and Heather Zynczak are independent directors under applicable SEC and Nasdaq listing rules. DTOC's independent directors will have regularly scheduled meetings at which only independent directors are present.

Number, Terms of Office and Election of Directors and Officers

The DTOC Board consists of four (4) members and is divided into two classes, with only one class of directors being elected in each year, and with each class (except for those directors appointed prior to DTOC's first annual meeting of stockholders) serving a two-year term. The term of office of the first class of directors, consisting of Mr. Moffatt and Ms. Zynczak, expires at the Annual Meeting. The term of office of the second class of directors, consisting of Mr. Nazemi and Mr. Fluegel, expires at the 2023 annual meeting of stockholders.

Prior to DTOC's initial business combination, only holders of DTOC Class B common stock will have the right to elect DTOC's directors and remove members of the DTOC Board for any reason, and holders of DTOC's public shares will not have the right to vote on the election of directors during such time. These provisions of the current charter may only be amended if approved by holders of a majority of the shares of DTOC Class B common stock. Subject to any other special rights applicable to the stockholders, prior to DTOC's initial business combination, any vacancies on the DTOC Board may be filled by a majority vote of the remaining directors then in office, even if less than a quorum, or by a sole remaining director (and not by stockholders).

DTOC's officers are appointed by the DTOC Board and serve at the discretion of the DTOC Board, rather than for specific terms of office. The DTOC Board is authorized to appoint persons to the offices set forth in DTOC's bylaws as it deems appropriate. DTOC's bylaws provide that DTOC's officers may consist of a Chairman of the Board, Chief Executive Officer, a Chief Financial Officer, President, Vice Presidents, Treasurer, Assistant Secretaries, a Secretary and such other offices as may be determined by the DTOC Board.

Board of Directors and Committees

The DTOC Board has two standing committees: an audit committee and a compensation committee. Both of DTOC's audit committee and compensation committee are composed solely of independent directors. Each committee operates under a charter that was approved by the DTOC Board and has the composition and responsibilities described below. The charter of each committee is available on DTOC's website at www.dtocorp.com.

During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2021, the DTOC Board held 12 meetings, the DTOC audit committee held three meetings and the DTOC compensation committee held no meetings. Each of DTOC's directors attended at least 75% of their respective board and committee meetings. DTOC does not have a policy regarding director attendance at annual meetings but encourages the directors to attend if possible.

Audit Committee

The members of DTOC's audit committee are Bradley Fluegel, Jim Moffatt and Heather Zynczak, Bradley Fluegel, Jim Moffatt and Heather Zynczak, with Mr. Fluegel serving as chairperson.

Each member of the audit committee is financially literate and the DTOC Board has determined that Mr. Fluegel qualifies as an "audit committee financial expert" as defined in applicable SEC rules and has accounting or related financial management expertise.

DTOC has adopted an audit committee charter, which details the purpose and principal functions of the audit committee, including:

- assisting board oversight of (1) the integrity of DTOC's financial statements, (2) DTOC's compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, (3) DTOC's independent registered public accounting firm's qualifications and independence, and (4) the performance of DTOC's internal audit function and independent registered public accounting firm;
- the appointment, compensation, retention, replacement, and oversight of the work of the independent registered public accounting firm engaged by DTOC;
- pre-approving all audit and permitted non-audit services to be provided by the independent registered public accounting firm engaged by us, and establishing pre-approval policies and procedures;
- setting clear hiring policies for employees or former employees of the independent registered public accounting firm, including but not limited to, as required by applicable laws and regulations;
- setting clear policies for audit partner rotation in compliance with applicable laws and regulations;

- obtaining and reviewing a report, at least annually, from the independent registered public accounting firm describing (1) the independent registered public accounting firm's internal quality-control procedures, (2) any material issues raised by the most recent internal quality-control review, or peer review, of the audit firm, or by any inquiry or investigation by governmental or professional authorities, within the preceding five years respecting one or more independent audits carried out by the firm and any steps taken to deal with such issues, and (3) all relationships between the independent registered public accounting firm and DTOC to assess the independent registered public accounting firm's independence;
- meeting to review and discuss DTOC's annual audited financial statements and quarterly financial statements with management and the independent registered public accounting firm, including reviewing DTOC's specific disclosures under "DTOC Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations";
- reviewing and approving any related party transaction required to be disclosed pursuant to Item 404 of Regulation S-K promulgated by the SEC prior to DTOC entering into such transaction; and
- reviewing with management, the independent registered public accounting firm, and DTOC's legal advisors, as appropriate, any legal, regulatory or compliance matters, including any correspondence with regulators or government agencies and any employee complaints or published reports that raise material issues regarding DTOC's financial statements or accounting policies and any significant changes in accounting standards or rules promulgated by the Financial Accounting Standards Board, the SEC or other regulatory authorities.

Compensation Committee

The members of DTOC's compensation committee are Jim Moffatt and Heather Zynczak, with Ms. Zynczak serving as chairperson. DTOC has adopted a compensation committee charter, which details the purpose and responsibility of the compensation committee, including:

- reviewing and approving on an annual basis the corporate goals and objectives relevant to DTOC's Chief Executive Officer's compensation, if any is paid by us, evaluating DTOC's Chief Executive Officer's performance in light of such goals and objectives and determining and approving the remuneration (if any) of DTOC's Chief Executive Officer based on such evaluation;
- reviewing and making recommendations on an annual basis to our board of directors with respect to (or approving, if such authority is so delegated by our board of directors) the compensation, if any is paid by us, and any incentive-compensation and equity-based plans that are subject to board approval of all of DTOC's other officers;
- reviewing on an annual basis our executive compensation policies and plans;
- implementing and administering our incentive compensation equity-based remuneration plans;
- assisting management in complying with DTOC's proxy statement and annual report disclosure requirements;
- approving all special perquisites, special cash payments and other special compensation and benefit arrangements for DTOC's officers and employees;
- if required, producing a report on executive compensation to be included in DTOC's annual proxy statement; and
- reviewing, evaluating and recommending changes, if appropriate, to the remuneration for directors.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, as indicated above, until the earlier of the consummation of DTOC's initial business combination or its liquidation and in connection with potentially providing financing or other investments in connection with an initial business combination, no compensation of any kind, including finders, consulting or other similar fees, will be paid to any of DTOC's existing stockholders, officers, directors or any of their respective affiliates, prior to, or for any services they render in order to effectuate the consummation of an initial business combination. Accordingly, it is likely that prior to the consummation of an initial business combination, the compensation committee will only be responsible for the review and recommendation of any compensation arrangements to be entered into in connection with such initial business combination.

The charter also provides that the compensation committee may, in its sole discretion, retain or obtain the advice of a compensation consultant, legal counsel or other adviser and will be directly responsible for the appointment, compensation and oversight of the work of any such adviser. However, before engaging or receiving advice from a compensation consultant, external legal counsel or any other adviser, the compensation committee will consider the independence of each such adviser, including the factors required by Nasdaq and the SEC.

Director Nominations

DTOC does not have a standing nominating committee, though it intends to form a corporate governance and nominating committee as and when required to do so by applicable law or stock exchange rules. In accordance with Rule 5605(e)(2) of Nasdaq listing rules, a majority of the independent directors may recommend a director nominee for selection by the board of directors. The DTOC Board believes that the independent directors can satisfactorily carry out the responsibility of properly selecting or approving director nominees without the formation of a standing nominating committee. In accordance with Rule 5605(e)(1)(A) of Nasdaq listing rules, all such directors are independent. As there is no standing nominating committee, DTOC does not have a nominating committee charter in place.

DTOC has not formally established any specific, minimum qualifications that must be met or skills that are necessary for directors to possess. In general, in identifying and evaluating nominees for director, the DTOC Board considers educational background, diversity of professional experience, knowledge of the business, integrity, professional reputation, independence, wisdom, and the ability to represent the best interests of DTOC's stockholders.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

None of DTOC's officers currently serves, or in the past year has served, as a member of the compensation committee of any entity that has one or more officers serving on the DTOC Board.

Section 16(a) Beneficial Ownership Reporting Compliance

Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act requires our officers, directors and persons who beneficially own more than ten percent of our common stock to file reports of ownership and changes in ownership with the SEC. These reporting persons are also required to furnish us with copies of all Section 16(a) forms they file. Based solely upon a review of such forms, we believe that during the year ended December 31, 2021, there were no delinquent filers.

Code of Ethics

DTOC has adopted a code of business conduct and ethics (the "Code of Ethics") applicable to DTOC's directors, officers and employees, including DTOC's principal executive officer, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer and controller, or persons performing similar functions that complies with the rules and regulations of Nasdaq. Our Code of Ethics is a "code of ethics," as defined in Item 406(b) of Regulation S-K. DTOC has posted a copy of the Code of Ethics on DTOC's website at www.dtocorp.com. DTOC's website and the information contained on, or that can be accessed through, the website is not deemed to be incorporated by reference in, and is not considered part of, this proxy statement/prospectus. In addition, a copy of the Code of Ethics will be provided without charge upon request from DTOC. DTOC intends to disclose any amendments to or waivers of certain provisions of the Code of Ethics on DTOC's website.

Conflicts of Interest

DTOC's officers, directors and any of their respective affiliates may sponsor or form, and, in the case of individuals, serve as a director or officer of, other blank check companies similar to DTOC during the period in which DTOC is seeking an initial business combination. Any such companies may present additional conflicts of interest in pursuing an acquisition target. However, DTOC does not believe that any such potential conflicts would materially affect its ability to identify and pursue business combination opportunities or to complete an initial business combination.

Potential investors should also be aware of the following other potential conflicts of interest:

- None of DTOC's officers or directors is required to commit his or her full time to DTOC's affairs and, accordingly, may have conflicts of interest in allocating his or her time among various business activities.
- In the course of their other business activities, DTOC's officers and directors may become aware of investment and business opportunities which may be appropriate for presentation to DTOC as well as the other entities with which they are affiliated. DTOC's management may have conflicts of interest in determining to which entity a particular business opportunity should be presented.
- As an inducement to DTOC and the underwriter of DTOC's IPO to enter into the IPO underwriting agreement and to proceed with the IPO, the Insiders executed the Letter Agreement at the time of DTOC's IPO, pursuant to which DTOC's Sponsor and each of DTOC's officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with the completion of an initial business combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to DTOC's current charter (A) to modify the substance or timing of DTOC's obligation to allow redemption in connection with our initial business combination or to redeem 100% of our public shares if DTOC does not complete its initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all the Extension Options are exercised) or (B) with respect to any other provision relating to stockholders' rights or pre-initial business combination activity and (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if DTOC fails to complete its initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or by September 30, 2023 if all the Extension Options are exercised), although they will be entitled to liquidating distributions from the trust account with respect to any public shares they hold if DTOC fails to complete our initial business combination within the prescribed timeframe. The Insiders did not receive any additional consideration in exchange for such agreements. If DTOC does not complete its initial business combination within such applicable time period, the proceeds of the sale of the private placement warrants held in the Trust Account will be used to fund the redemption of DTOC's public shares, and the private placement warrants will expire without value to the holder. With certain limited exceptions, the Founder Shares will not be transferable or assignable by until the earlier of: (A) one year after the completion of DTOC's initial business combination or (B) subsequent to DTOC's initial business combination, (x) if the last reported sale price of DTOC's Class A common stock equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after DTOC's initial business combination, or (y) the date on which DTOC completes a liquidation, merger, capital stock exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of DTOC's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of Class A common stock for cash, securities or other property. With certain limited exceptions, the private placement warrants and the common stock underlying such warrants will not be transferable, assignable or saleable by our sponsor or its permitted transferees until 30 days after the completion of DTOC's initial business combination. Because DTOC's sponsor and officers and directors directly or indirectly own common stock and warrants, the Sponsor and such officers and directors may have a conflict of interest in determining whether a particular target business is an appropriate business with which to effectuate DTOC's initial business combination.
- DTOC's officers and directors may have a conflict of interest with respect to evaluating a particular business combination if the retention or resignation of any such officers and directors were to be included by a target business as a condition to any agreement with respect to the initial business combination.
- DTOC's Sponsor, officers or directors may have a conflict of interest with respect to evaluating a business combination and financing arrangements as it may obtain loans from the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of DTOC's officers or directors to finance transaction costs in connection with an intended initial business combination. Up to $2,000,000 of such loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. Such warrants would be identical to the private placement warrants, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period.

The conflicts described above may not be resolved in DTOC's favor.

In general, officers and directors of a corporation incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware are required to present business opportunities to a corporation if:

- the corporation could financially undertake the opportunity;
- the opportunity is within the corporation's line of business; and
- it would not be fair to the corporation and its stockholders for the opportunity not to be brought to the attention of the corporation.

As a result of multiple business affiliations, DTOC's officers and directors may have similar legal obligations relating to presenting business opportunities meeting the above-listed criteria to multiple entities. Furthermore, DTOC's Existing Charter includes a limited waiver of the corporate opportunity doctrine, and any other analogous doctrine, that would otherwise apply to directors and officers of DTOC unless a corporate opportunity is offered to a director or officer solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of DTOC and such opportunity is one DTOC is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for DTOC to pursue. The potential conflict of interest relating to the limited waiver of the corporate opportunities doctrine in DTOC's Existing Charter did not impact DTOC's search for an acquisition target and DTOC was not prevented from reviewing any opportunities as a result of such waiver.

Below is a table summarizing the entities to which our officers and directors currently have fiduciary duties or contractual obligations:

Individual	Entity	Entity's Business	Affiliation
Kevin Nazemi	Lobby 7 Partners LLC	Investment Firm	Partner
	Lobby 7 Capital	Investment Firm	Chief Executive Officer
	Premera Blue Cross	Health Insurance	Director
	Charlie Financial Incorporated	Banking Technology Services	Chief Executive Officer
Kyle Francis	RaceRocks	Remote Training	Director
		Audit Services	Director
Bradley Fluegel	MJHS Health System	Health Services	Director
	AdhereHealth	Healthcare Technology	Director
	Premera Blue Cross	Health Insurance	Director
Heather Zynczak	Thryv Holdings	Software	Director
Jim Moffat	Henry Schein One	Dental Technology	Director
	First Hawaiian, Inc.	Banking Services	Director
	AmplifAI	Software	Director
	Icertis	Software	Director
	Optiv Security Inc.	Information Security	Director
	Greycroft	Investment Firm	Board Partner

The individuals listed in the table above may also be affiliated with and/or owe fiduciary duties to or have contractual obligations to affiliates of the listed entities, including subsidiaries, portfolio companies and other investments and ventures of the listed entities.

DTOC is not prohibited from pursuing an initial business combination or subsequent transaction with a company that is affiliated with its Sponsor, officers or directors. In the event DTOC seeks to complete its initial business combination or, subject to certain exceptions, subsequent material transactions with a company that is affiliated with its Sponsor, officers or directors, DTOC, or a committee of independent directors, to the extent required by applicable law or based upon the direction of the DTOC Board or a committee thereof, will obtain an opinion from an independent investment banking firm or another entity that commonly renders valuation opinions that such initial business combination or transaction is fair to DTOC from a financial point of view.

DTOC has agreed not to enter into a definitive agreement regarding an initial business combination without the prior consent of the Sponsor. Pursuant to the Letter Agreement, the Sponsor and each of DTOC's officers and directors have agreed to vote any Founder Shares held by them in favor of the Business Combination.

Executive Compensation

Compensation Discussion and Analysis

None of DTOC's directors or officers has received any compensation for services rendered to DTOC except (i) DTOC's independent directors, who each received 25,000 shares of Class B common stock in March 2021 and (2) Kyle Francis, our Chief Financial Officer, who received 150,000 shares of Class B common stock in March 2021. Other than the aggregate 225,000 shares of Class B common stock transferred to our independent directors and our Chief Financial Officer, no compensation of any kind, including finders or other similar fees, will be paid to any of our Sponsor, Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer and directors, or any of their respective affiliates, prior to, or for any services they render in order to effectuate, the consummation of a business combination. However, DTOC's Sponsor, directors and officers, or any of their respective affiliates, will be reimbursed for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with activities on DTOC's behalf such as identifying potential target businesses and performing due diligence on suitable business combinations. There is no limit on the amount of these out-of-pocket expenses. For more information about the interests of the Sponsor in the Business Combination, see "The Business Combination Proposal and The Business Combination Agreement."

After the completion of DTOC's initial Business Combination, directors or members of DTOC's management team who remain with DTOC may be paid consulting, management or other compensation from the combined company. All such compensation will be fully disclosed to stockholders. The amount of such compensation is not known at this time, because the directors of the post-combination business will be responsible for determining executive officer and director compensation.

DTOC is not party to any agreements with DTOC's directors and officers that provide for benefits upon termination of employment. The existence or terms of any such employment or consulting arrangements may influence DTOC's management's motivation in identifying or selecting a target business, and DTOC does not believe that the ability of DTOC's management to remain with DTOC after the consummation of its initial business combination should be a determining factor in DTOC's decision to proceed with any potential business combination.

Since DTOC's formation, DTOC has not granted any stock options or stock appreciation rights or any other awards under long-term incentive plans to any of their executive officers or directors.

Independent Auditors' Fees

The firm of Marcum LLP ("Marcum") acts as DTOC's independent registered public accounting firm. The following is a summary of fees paid or to be paid to Marcum for services rendered. Marcum will not act as the independent registered public accounting firm for the combined company after Closing.

Audit Fees

Audit fees consist of fees billed for professional services rendered for the audit of DTOC's year-end financial statements and services that are normally provided by Marcum in connection with regulatory filings. The aggregate fees billed by Marcum for professional services rendered for the audit of DTOC's annual financial statements, review of the financial information included in our Form 10-Qs and other required filings with the SEC for the years ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020, including services in connection with DTOC's IPO, totaled $118,965 and $15,450, respectively. The above amounts include interim procedures and audit fees, as well as attendance at Audit Committee meetings.

Audit-Related Fees

Audit-related services consist of fees billed for assurance and related services that are reasonably related to performance of the audit or review of DTOC's financial statements and are not reported under "Audit Fees." These services include attest services that are not required by statute or regulation and consultations concerning financial accounting and reporting standards. DTOC did not pay Marcum for consultations concerning financial accounting and reporting standards during the years ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020.

Tax Fees

DTOC did not pay Marcum for tax planning and tax advice during the years ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020.

All Other Fees

DTOC did not pay Marcum for other services for the years ended December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020.

Audit Committee Pre-Approval Policies and Procedures

DTOC's Audit Committee was formed upon the consummation of DTOC's IPO. As a result, the Audit Committee did not pre-approve all of the foregoing services, although any services rendered prior to the formation of DTOC's Audit Committee were approved by the DTOC Board. Since the formation of DTOC's Audit Committee, and on a going-forward basis, the Audit Committee has and will pre-approve all auditing services and permitted non-audit services to be performed for DTOC by its auditors, including the fees and terms thereof (subject to the de minimis exceptions for non-audit services described in the Exchange Act which are approved by the Audit Committee prior to the completion of the audit).

Legal Proceedings

To the knowledge of DTOC's management, there is no material litigation, arbitration or governmental proceeding currently pending against DTOC or any members of our management team in their capacity as such. In addition, in the ordinary course of DTOC's business, DTOC is also subject to lawsuits, investigations and claims. Regardless of the outcome of these matters, litigation can have an adverse impact on DTOC because of defense and settlement costs, diversion of management resources and other factors.

Periodic Reporting and Audited Financial Statements

DTOC has registered its securities under the Exchange Act and has reporting obligations, including the requirement to file annual and quarterly reports with the SEC. In accordance with the requirements of the Exchange Act, DTOC's annual reports contain financial statements audited and reported on by DTOC's independent registered public accounting firm.

DTC MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following discussion and analysis should be read in conjunction with our financial statements and the notes thereto included elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus. This discussion contains forward-looking statements reflecting our current expectations, estimates and assumptions concerning events and financial trends that may affect our future operating results or financial position. Actual results and the timing of events may differ materially from those contained in these forward-looking statements due to a number of factors, including those discussed in the sections titled "Risk Factors" and "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements."

Overview

We are a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on November 17, 2020 for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses (a "business combination"). Our Sponsor is Digital Transformation Sponsor LLC, a Delaware limited liability company.

The registration statement for our initial public offering (the "IPO") was declared effective on March 9, 2021. On March 12, 2021, we consummated the IPO of 33,350,000 units (including 3,350,000 units issued to the Underwriters pursuant to the partial exercise of the over-allotment option granted to the Underwriters) ("Units" and, with respect to the Class A common stock included in the Units being offered, the "Public Shares"), at $10.00 per Unit, generating gross proceeds of $333.5 million, and incurring offering costs of approximately $18.9 million, inclusive of approximately $11.7 million in deferred underwriting commissions, which was gratuitously waived on June 6, 2023 pursuant to a letter from Barclays Capital Inc. ("Barclays"), the sole underwriter of DTC's IPO. Barclays did not provide a reason for its waiving of the deferred underwriting discounts and commissions in connection with the AON Business Combination. No relationship existed between Barclays and DTC after the close of DTC's IPO, and Barclays had no role in the identification or evaluation of any business combination targets nor did Barclays provide any advisory services in connection with the proposed Business Combination.

Additionally, Barclays was not responsible for the preparation of any disclosure that is included in this proxy statement/prospectus, or any materials underlying such disclosure. Barclays was not involved in the preparation of any materials received by the DTC Board or management related to the Business Combination. Barclays has not produced any work product in relation to the Business Combination for which DTC relied on their expertise. Barclays is not responsible for any part of this proxy statement/prospectus. Accordingly, stockholders should not place any reliance on the participation of Barclays in DTC's IPO in respect of the Business Combination.

Simultaneously with the closing of the IPO, we consummated the private placement ("Private Placement") of 6,113,333 warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant ("Private Placement Warrants" and, together with the warrants included in the Units, the "Warrants") to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds of approximately $9.2 million.

Upon the closing of the IPO and the Private Placement on March 12, 2021, $333.5 million ($10.00 per Unit) of the net proceeds of the sale of the Units in the IPO and the Private Placement were placed in a trust account ("Trust Account") located in the United States with Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company acting as trustee, and invested only in U.S. "government securities," within the meaning of Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the "Investment Company Act"), having a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 promulgated under the Investment Company Act, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations, as determined by us until the earlier of: (i) the completion of a business combination and (ii) the distribution of the Trust Account as described below.

On March 6, 2023, following the special meeting of stockholders on March 2, 2023 (the "March Special Meeting") held to approve the Extension Proposal, we entered into an amendment (the "Trust Agreement Amendment”) to the Trust Agreement to allow the extension of the date by which the Company must consummate its initial business combination from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and the option to further extend the date by which it has to consummate a business combination beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional (1) month each time to September 30, 2023 (collectively, the “Extension Options”). In connection with the extension, our stockholders holding 31,502,931 public shares exercised their right to redeem such shares for a pro rata portion of the funds in the trust account. As a result, $321,160,140 (approximately $10.19 per share) was removed from the trust account to pay such holders. On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

On March 6, 2023, in connection with the March Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, we issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account to fund the first Extension Option. As repayment, we issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $50,000. The promissory notes bear no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory notes will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the Business Combination with AON.

In connection with the approval of the Extension Amendment Proposal and Trust Agreement Amendment Proposal, our Chief Financial Officer and the Sponsor elected to convert all their respective DTOC Class B shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following the conversion, such shares will vote together with the rest of the DTOC Class A common stock on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of DTOC’s initial public offering, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon.

If we have not completed a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), we will (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the Public Shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to us to pay our franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of such net interest to pay dissolution expenses), divided by the number of then outstanding Public Shares, which redemption will completely extinguish Public Stockholders’ rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the remaining stockholders and our board of directors, liquidate and dissolve, subject in each case to our obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

Proposed Business Combination

On October 5, 2022, the Company entered into a Business Combination Agreement with American Oncology Network, LLC (“AON”), which was subsequently amended and restated on January 6, 2023, on April 27, 2023 and on June 14, 2023. As a result of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (the “Business Combination”), the combined company will be organized in an umbrella partnership C corporation structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will be held by AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows: (i) on the closing of the Business Combination (the “Closing”), AON will amend and restate its operating agreement (the “Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement”) to reclassify its existing Class A units, Class A-1 units and Class B units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of DTOC Class A common stock and its existing AON Class C units into AON Series A preferred units; (ii) upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON’s subsidiaries into an equal number of (x) AON common units and (y) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “Practice Profit Pool Shares”); (iii) the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC

Agreement, DTOC will amend and restate its charter (the "Proposed Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of DTOC Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis. (b) amendment of the terms of DTOC Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) designation of a new series of New AON preferred stock as Series A convertible preferred stock (the "New AON Series A Preferred Stock") with such rights and preferences as provided for in the certificate of designation of the New Aon Series A Preferred Stock (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designation") and authorization of such number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio; and (iv) on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and the filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue common units to DTOC in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of DTOC Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) a majority of the members of the AON Board of Managers will be appointed by DTOC, (c) AON will distribute shares of DTOC Class B common stock (or Class B Prefunded Warrants) to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units, and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through the Class B Prefunded Warrants) for shares of DTOC Class A common stock.

Promissory Notes

On March 2, 2023, in connection with the Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, we issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account to fund the first Extension Option. As repayment, we issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $50,000. The promissory notes bear no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory notes will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the AON Business Combination.

Results of Operations

For the three months ended March 31, 2023, we had a net income of approximately $0.18 million, which included an interest income of approximately $2.34 million, offset by formation and operating costs of approximately $1.01 million, and provision for income taxes of $0.45 million, a loss from the change in fair value of warrant liabilities of approximately $0.56 million and unrealized loss on marketable securities of $0.14 million. Our business activities from inception to March 31, 2023, consisted primarily of our formation and completing our IPO, and since our IPO, our activity has been limited to the search for a target to consummate a Business Combination, conducting due diligence on identified targets for a Business Combination and entering into the Business Combination Agreement.

We have 14,450,833 warrants outstanding (comprised of 8,337,500 Public Warrants and 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants). We account for the Warrants as a warrant liability in accordance with ASC 815-40 and are presented within warrant liabilities on the condensed balance sheet. The warrant liabilities are measured at fair value at inception and on a quarterly basis thereafter, with changes in fair value presented within change in fair value of warrant liabilities in the condensed statement of operations. We established the initial fair value of approximately $20.2 million for our Public Warrants and Private Placement Warrants on March 12, 2021, the date of our IPO, and as of March 31, 2021, using a Monte Carlo simulation model. As of March 31, 2023, the fair value of our Public Warrants and Private Placement Warrants was approximately $1.43 million are presented within warrant liabilities on the condensed balance sheet.

For the three months ended March 31, 2022, we had a net income of approximately $3.52 million, which included a loss from operations of $0.25 million, and offset by a gain from the change in fair value of warrant liabilities of $3.76 million, and interest income of $0.01 million. Our business activities from inception to March 31, 2022 consisted primarily of our formation and completing our IPO, and since the offering, our activity has been limited to identifying and evaluating prospective acquisition targets for a Business Combination.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our liquidity needs up to March 12, 2021 had been satisfied through a capital contribution from the Sponsor of $25,000 for the Founder Shares (7,187,500 shares of Class B common stock) and the loan under an unsecured promissory note from the Sponsor of up to $300,000 which was paid in full on March 12, 2021 from the IPO proceeds. Subsequent to the consummation of the IPO, our liquidity needs had been satisfied through the net proceeds from the consummation of the Private Placement not held in the Trust Account. In addition, in order to finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, our Sponsor or an affiliate of our Sponsor, or certain of our officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, provide us working capital loans. On March 2, 2023, in connection with the March Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account to fund the first Extension Option. As repayment, we issued unsecured promissory notes to the Sponsor for $150,000 and $50,000. The promissory notes bear no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory notes will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the Business Combination.

As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, we had cash of $3,975 and $374,304, respectively, and working capital deficit (net of $415,819 and $1,063,635, respectively, of taxes accrued and to be paid from the Trust Account), of $6,551,786 and $1,655,967, respectively. We have incurred and expect to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans. We believe it will need to raise additional funds in order to meet the expenditures required for operating its business and to consummate a business combination. If we are unable to complete a business combination because we do not have sufficient funds available, we will be forced to cease operations and liquidate the Trust Account. Management has the option to address this uncertainty through working capital loans from the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of our officers and directors who may, but are not obligated to, loan our funds as may be required. Up to $2,000,000 of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. In addition, following the business combination, if cash on hand is insufficient, we may need to obtain additional financing in order to meet its obligations.

In addition, we have until June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), to complete the Business Combination, unless such period is extended by our stockholders. It is uncertain that we will be able to consummate an initial business combination by this time. If an initial business combination is not consummated by this date, there will be a mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution. The liquidity condition and date for mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution raise substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern one year from the date that these audited financial statements are issued. The audited financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Contractual Obligations

We do not have any long-term debt obligations, capital lease obligations, operating lease obligations, purchase obligations or long-term liabilities.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

This management's discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations is based on our financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. The preparation of these audited financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities in our audited financial statements. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate our estimates and judgments, including those related to fair value of financial instruments and accrued expenses. We base our estimates on historical experience, known trends and events and various other factors that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions. Except as set forth below, there have been no significant changes in our critical accounting policies as discussed in our Form 10-K filed by us with the SEC on March 31, 2023.

Critical accounting estimates made in our audited financial statements include the estimated fair values of our warrant liability and investments in the trust which can impact the redemption value of our Class A common stock subject to possible redemption. The fair value of our financial assets and liabilities reflects management's estimate of amounts that we would have received in connection with the sale of the assets or paid in connection with the transfer of the liabilities in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. In connection with measuring the fair value of its assets and liabilities, we seek to maximize the use of observable inputs (market data obtained from independent sources) and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs (internal assumptions about how market participants would price assets and liabilities). The following fair value hierarchy is used to classify assets and liabilities based on the observable inputs and unobservable inputs used in order to value the assets and liabilities:

- Level 1, Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not being applied. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.
- Level 2, Valuations based on (i) quoted prices in active markets for similar assets and liabilities, (ii) quoted prices in markets that are not active for identical or similar assets, (iii) inputs other than quoted prices for the assets or liabilities, or (iv) inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by market through correlation or other means.
- Level 3, Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

Warrants Liability

We evaluated the Warrants in accordance with ASC 815-40, "Derivatives and Hedging — Contracts in Entity's Own Equity" and concluded that a provision in the Warrant Agreement related to certain tender or exchange offers as well as provisions that provided for potential changes to the settlement amounts dependent upon the characteristics of the holder of the warrant, precludes the Warrants from being accounted for as components of equity. As the Warrants meet the definition of a derivative as contemplated in ASC 815 and are not eligible for an exception from derivative accounting, the Warrants are recorded as derivative liabilities on the Balance Sheet and measured at fair value at inception (on the date of the IPO) and at each reporting date in accordance with ASC 820, "Fair Value Measurement", with changes in fair value recognized in the Statements of Operations in the period of change.

Common Stock Subject to Possible Redemption

All of the 33,350,000 Class A common stock sold as part of the Units in the Public Offering contain a redemption feature which allows for the redemption of such Public Shares in connection with our liquidation, if there is a stockholder vote or tender offer in connection with the business combination and in connection with certain amendments to our second amended and restated certificate of incorporation. In accordance with SEC and its staff's guidance on redeemable equity instruments, which has been codified in ASC 480-10-S99, redemption provisions not solely within our control require common stock subject to redemption to be classified outside of permanent equity. Ordinary liquidation events, which involve the redemption and liquidation of all of the entity's equity instruments, are excluded from the provisions of ASC 480. Accordingly, at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, all shares of Class A common stock subject to possible redemption is presented as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' equity section of our balance sheets, respectively.

We recognize changes in redemption value immediately as they occur and adjust the carrying value of redeemable common stock to equal the redemption value at the end of each reporting period. Increases or decreases in the carrying amount of redeemable common stock are affected by charges against additional paid in capital and accumulated deficit.

Net Income Per Common Stock

We comply with accounting and disclosure requirements of FASB ASC Topic 260, Earnings Per Share. Net income per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. We have two classes of shares, Class A common stock and Class B common stock. Earnings and losses are shared pro rata between the two classes of shares. We have not considered the effect of warrants sold in the IPO and the Private Placement to purchase 14,450,833 shares of common stock in the calculation of diluted income per share, since the exercise of the warrants are contingent upon the occurrence of future events. As a result, diluted net income per common stock is the same as basic net income per common stock for the period presented.

Our statements of operations apply the two-class method in calculating net income per share. Basic and diluted net income per common stock for Class A common stock and Class B common stock is calculated by dividing net income attributable to us by the weighted average number of shares of Class A common stock and Class B common stock outstanding, allocated proportionally to each class of common stock.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-06, Debt-Debt with Conversion and Other Options (Subtopic 470-20) and Derivatives and Hedging-Contracts in Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity ("ASU 2020-06"), which simplifies accounting for convertible instruments by removing major separation models required under current GAAP. The ASU also removes certain settlement conditions that are required for equity-linked contracts to qualify for scope exception, and it simplifies the diluted earnings per share calculation in certain areas. For smaller reporting entities, ASU 2020-06 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied on a full or modified retrospective basis, with early adoption permitted beginning on January 1, 2021. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on our balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

In June 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-03, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820): Fair Value Measurement of Equity Securities Subject to Contractual Sale Restrictions ("ASU 2022-03"), which clarifies the principles of fair value measurement when measuring the fair value of an equity security subject to contractual sale restriction and improves current GAAP by reducing diversity in practice, reducing the cost and complexity in measuring fair value, and increasing comparability of financial information across reporting entities holding those investments. The ASU also introduces new disclosure requirements for equity securities subject to contractual sale restrictions that are measured at fair value under current GAAP. ASU 2022-03 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied prospectively with any adjustments from adoption being recognized in earnings and disclosed on the date of adoption. Early adoption is permitted. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on our balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

Our management does not believe that any other recently issued, but not effective, accounting standards, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on our audited financial statements.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, we did not have any off-balance sheet arrangements as defined in Item 303(a)(4)(ii) of Regulation S-K.

JOBS Act

The Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012 (the "JOBS Act") contains provisions that, among other things, relax certain reporting requirements for qualifying public companies. We qualify as an "emerging growth company” and under the JOBS Act are allowed to comply with new or revised accounting pronouncements based on the effective date for private (not publicly traded) companies. We are electing to delay the adoption of new or revised accounting standards, and as a result, we may not comply with new or revised accounting standards on the relevant dates on which adoption of such standards is required for non-emerging growth companies. As a result, the audited financial statements may not be comparable to companies that comply with new or revised accounting pronouncements as of public company effective dates.

Additionally, we are in the process of evaluating the benefits of relying on the other reduced reporting requirements provided by the JOBS Act. Subject to certain conditions set forth in the JOBS Act, if, as an “emerging growth company,” we choose to rely on such exemptions we may not be required to, among other things, (i) provide an auditor’s attestation report on our system of internal controls over financial reporting pursuant to Section 404, (ii) provide all of the compensation disclosure that may be required of non-emerging growth public companies under the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, (iii) comply with any requirement that may be adopted by the PCAOB regarding mandatory audit firm rotation or a supplement to the auditor’s report providing additional information about the audit and the financial statements (auditor discussion and analysis) and (iv) disclose certain executive compensation related items such as the correlation between executive compensation and performance and comparisons of the CEO’s compensation to median employee compensation. These exemptions will apply for a period of five years following the completion of our IPO or until we are no longer an “emerging growth company,” whichever is earlier.

INFORMATION ABOUT AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK, LLCOverview

Since its inception in 2018, American Oncology Network, LLC ("AON") has offered a progressive model of physician-led, community-based oncology management. AON preserves and elevates community oncology by helping its physicians navigate the complex healthcare landscape, providing them an efficient platform to work autonomously and thrive, and most importantly, improving the quality of patient care that is being delivered. We are an alliance of physicians and veteran healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success and viability of oncology diagnosis and treatment in community-based settings. As of December 31, 2022, AON's platform includes 106 physicians and 30 practices across 77 locations in 17 states. Our robust platform provides oncology practices with comprehensive support, access to revenue-diversifying adjacent services and practice management expertise to empower physicians to make cancer care better for every patient.

Our mission is to provide the best cancer care that is affordable and close to where patients live and work. We believe the key to accessible and equitable healthcare lies in the strength of community healthcare practices and we are committed to closing the gap in cancer care to ensure every patient has access to the optimal care needed to help in their fight against cancer. To accomplish this, we have practices in some of the most densely populated cities as well as rural areas where medical resources are scarce. We deliver cancer care innovation by bringing new treatments to the forum and also by ensuring the access to the necessary adjacent services to provide comprehensive quality cancer care and, preserving the delivery of personalized cancer care in the community oncology setting.

Through access to care-enhancing patient services such as a centralized specialty pharmacy, wide ranging clinical lab and pathology, a fully integrated technology platform anchored by an oncology-specific electronic medical record system, as well as a care management team and a variety of financial assistance programs, our patients receive expert cancer care at each of our clinics.

We provide patients a variety of services to enhance patient care throughout the healthcare journey: high-quality and timely laboratory services for routine and specialized testing; in-house professional and technical pathology providing complete, accurate and timely pathology reports; in-house specialty pharmacy with patient education, financial assistance, and 24/7 patient assistance; and care management support services including nutrition guidance.

As the future of healthcare continues to transition from volume to value, we are at the forefront of this initiative by ensuring care quality over care quantity and adopting a patient-first mentality. Through an integrated system of seamless communication, coordination and patient care for better health outcomes, AON practices benefit from decreased expenditures through the implementation of centralized administrative services, processes, and technologies designed to support effective decision-making such as optimal pricing on drugs and medical supplies. Our patients benefit through our 24/7 clinical care support leading to a reduction in unnecessary emergency room visits and admissions and enhanced care quality. Ultimately, the payors benefit from more efficient delivery of high-quality, comprehensive services comparable to any hospital system at a lower cost point.

Though our network spans the country, its clinicians are interconnected and focused on driving change not just at their local clinics, but throughout our network. Our Network Practices unite in collaboration through a physician advisory board, which acts as a liaison between AON management and our Network Practices so that we remain apprised of issues and opinions concerning our Network Practices. In addition, our Network Practices also remain at the forefront of new discoveries and findings by expanding and improving cancer treatment options for every patient through a pharmacy and therapeutics committee that continuously updates its formulary in real time as advanced therapeutics come to market and through participating in clinical research to ensure we remain on the cutting edge of cancer protocols. Patients benefit from convenient access to clinical trials that we participate in without the need to travel to large cities or tertiary cancer care facilities, and personalized care by matching a patient's cancer to a tailored therapy using molecular profiling.

We have made significant investment in a resilient, integrated technology platform to support the practices which includes a fully-integrated electronic health record and a robust decision support tool and analytics engine. Our development of compliance materials ensures consistency and optimal patient experiences and meets or exceeds the Office of Inspector General (“OIG”) guidelines.

We believe that our position in the market and focus on elevating the state of oncology care with our affiliated providers bodes well for future growth. Our proprietary technology platform supports this growth and enables the Network Practices to standardize and deliver consistent care at scale. We believe that our model will support growth into new markets and allow us to continue to service more patients across the United States.

Market Overview

Our business is focused on caring for adult and senior populations with medical oncology and related care needs, including members of Medicare Advantage (“MA”) plans run by private insurance companies on behalf of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, or CMS, as well as traditional Fee-For-Service (“FFS”) Medicare, Medicaid, other government healthcare programs and commercial insurance populations.

As of December 31, 2022, we were active in 77 locations across 30 practices in 17 states. We also operate a triple-accredited specialty pharmacy and a state of the art clinical laboratory. According to the Community Oncology Services Global Market Report 2023, the global community oncology services market size will grow from $47.95 billion in 2022 to $53.79 billion in 2023 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 12.2% and is expected to grow to $81.33 billion in 2027 at a CAGR of 10.9%. Furthermore, according to the BCC Research Global Oncology Pharmaceuticals Market Report, the oncology pharmaceuticals market, which is also a significant market of AON’s services, is currently a $177 billion industry and is expected to grow to $314 billion by 2026. This expanding market provides us with a substantial opportunity to grow in both our legacy, existing markets, as well as in our new expansion geographies.

Our Care Model

Since our founding, we have offered a progressive model of physician-led, community-based oncology management. It preserves and elevates community oncology by helping our physicians navigate the complex healthcare landscape, providing them an efficient platform to work autonomously and thrive, and most importantly, improving the quality of patient care that is being delivered. Our care model is focused on delivering personalized, evidenced-based care consistently and at scale. We seek to deliver better patient outcomes for lower costs, and to care for more of our payors’ patient populations. Our care model is team-focused and values-driven and promotes a culture of loyalty and trust from providers and staff, leading to strong clinical outcomes.

DRIVEN BY C.A.R.E. VALUES...

- Continuously Supporting the Patient — Deliver results by providing compassionate oncology and hematology services with continued focus on the patient.
- Always Do the Right Thing — Committed to personal excellence, accountability, and integrity, abiding by the highest regulatory standards, performing in the most ethical manner, and taking responsibility for actions.
- Respectfully Engage — Foster positive relationships, encourage diversity of thought, and promote trust among teams and customers; encouraging healthy debate and respect for the thoughts and opinions of others; believing that talent, skills, and expertise are most important.
- Exceed Expectations — Striving to provide excellence in all things; creating a standard of caring that goes above and beyond while embracing change in support of continuous improvement for patients.

Our Network Physician Practices

We operate our physician practices through management service agreements (“MSAs”) between American Oncology Management Company, LLC (“AOMC”), and American Oncology Partners, P.A. (“AON Partners”), and American Partners of Maryland, P.A. (“Partners of Maryland”). AOMC is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company while AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are physician owned. Under our MSAs, we have agreed to serve, on an exclusive basis, as manager and administrator of each of our practice’s non-medical functions while healthcare services and items provided to patients are provided by physicians and other licensed healthcare providers employed by or under contract with a practice. Under the MSAs, the responsibilities of AOMC include, but are not limited to negotiating provider and payor contracts, employment and compensation decisions, billing and collections, furnishing all supplies and equipment necessary for the respective practice’s operations as well as, necessary real estate, contracting on behalf of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland, entering into leases, holding a power of attorney to perform the above activities, preparing, maintaining and administering all accounting records (including financial reporting), expense payment, and maintenance of all information systems/software. Furthermore, the MSAs provide that AON Partners and Partners of Maryland have sole discretionary authority on decisions with respect to medical practice and shall be based on their professional judgment and in the best interests of patients. The MSAs also provide that AOMC will not interfere with AON Partners’ and Partners of Maryland’s decisions with respect to the supervision, selection, terms, conditions or obligations of their physicians and healthcare professionals. In addition, the MSAs provide that services provided by AOMC will comply with applicable federal and state requirements, as well as any accreditation and certification requirements applicable to medical practices. We are paid a management fee to compensate AOMC for the services provided. The management fee has fixed and variable components, and is negotiated and agreed upon on an annual basis by AOMC and AON Partners or Partners of Maryland, respectively. The fixed amount of the management fee to be agreed upon is based primarily on expenses incurred by AOMC in connection with providing management and administrative services to each of AON Partners’ and Partners of Maryland’s medical practices. The variable component of the management fee is based primarily on the volume of collections by AON Partners and Partners of Maryland and their respective profitability. The variable component of the management fee does not exceed 10% of the collections of our practices. In accordance with relevant accounting guidance, each of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland is determined to be a variable interest entity, or VIE, of AON because AON has the ability under the MSAs to direct the activities (except for clinical decisions) that most affect the economic performance and profitability of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. Our MSAs with AON Partners or Partners of Maryland have five year terms that automatically renew for successive five year terms, unless terminated upon mutual agreement of the parties or unilaterally by a party following a material breach or commencement of bankruptcy or liquidation events by the other party, or a governmental or judicial termination order against a party. In accordance with relevant accounting guidance, each of the AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are determined to be variable interest entities, or VIEs, of the Company as the Company has the ability, through the MSA, to direct the activities (excluding clinical decisions) that most significantly affect the practice’s economic performance.

Our Value Proposition

We believe we have developed a compelling value proposition for each of our patients, providers, and payors. We seek to provide high quality and lower cost care delivery through the following capabilities:

Patient

- Quality providers, continuous clinical improvements, and ancillary services such as clinical laboratory, professional and technical pathology services, oral oncolytic pharmacy, care management, and access to clinical trials set a high standard of patient care.
- Optimization of centralized administrative services allows providers the opportunity to maximize time serving patients.
- In addition to traditional oncology care, a focus on addressing patients’ mental and spiritual health.
- Delivery of true Value Base Care (“VBC”) through participation in alternative payment models such as CMS’ Oncology Care Model.

Providers

- Strong culture, based on a prominent clinical reputation, and attractive physician ownership model enable us to attract and retain the best providers in a competitive market.
- Proven practice management expertise, driving practice growth by providing outstanding administrative support including managed care services, drug procurement, and revenue cycle management, as well as a proprietary playbook on driving same store growth of new patients for AON practices.
- Access to new revenue streams through centralized ancillaries such as clinical lab, pathology, and oral oncolytic pharmacy enables practice growth.
- Differentiated, provider-centric culture attracts the industry's leading providers.
- 96% Physician Quality Score according to CMMI (Center of Medicare and Medicaid Innovation).

Payors

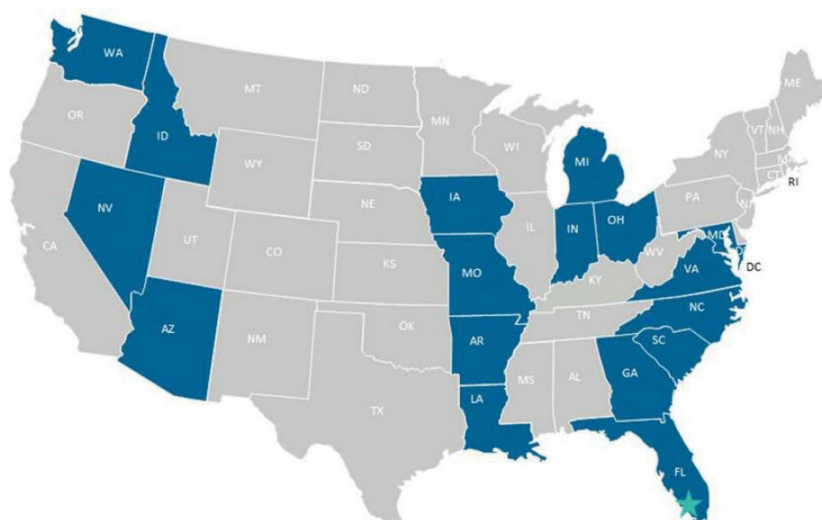

- Experienced and knowledgeable centralized Payor Strategy & Relations team coordinates with practices to maintain close relationships with all payors across the AON platform.
- Robust suite of solutions offered to practices driving cost savings for payors, addressing three cost drivers: 1) Variable use of drugs and diagnostics during treatment; 2) Deterioration of patient health between treatments; and 3) Ineffective interventions near the end of life.
- Optimized management solutions generating operational efficiencies and cost savings shared with payors.

We strive to add value by consistently performing these activities effectively. The goal is a lower cost of care for the same or better clinical outcomes while providing a superior patient experience.

Growth Strategy and Opportunities

To date, we have achieved rapid growth through acquisition of existing practices and through organic growth of these practices after acquisition. Revenue has grown at a roughly 53% CAGR from 2019 to 2022.

Our practice footprint as of December 31, 2022 spanned approximately 17 states with 30 practices in 77 locations.

We anticipate adding more managed practices in the future across our markets through acquisitions and through organic growth within existing practices.

Our go-to-market strategy focuses on demographic trends, secular tailwinds, and fragmented community-based oncology practices facing pricing pressures, as follows:

- According to BCC Research, oncology medicine spending is forecasted to grow at a 12% long-term CAGR.
- Recent treatments tailored to the specific genomic sequence of each patient's tumor have continued to drive growth in the oncology market.
- The number of cancer cases through 2040 is expected to grow five times faster than the population growth per the Journal of Clinical Oncology.
- The oncology service market is vast and extremely fragmented in the U.S. Of the over 12,000 oncologists in the country, approximately 76% work in practices that employ between 1 – 5 oncologists.

We are well-positioned to capitalize on this growth opportunity given our hands-on, "Patient-First" model, practice revenue diversification offerings such as our in-house pathology lab, and our specialty pharmacy which can dispense over 96% of the oral oncolytics available in the market today. We have multiple strategies we believe can achieve long-term growth.

- Significant Growth Embedded Within Existing Business: Our existing physician base will continue to grow as AON drive deeper penetration of adjacent services and our physician recruitment team recruits new physicians to practices that are already part of the AON network. We have invested heavily in corporate infrastructure over the past two years, which should lead to significant operating leverage.
- New Service Line Growth: New service lines will drive growth from our existing physician base and attract new physicians to the network. A sample of such new services that have been recently implemented are as follows:
 - In December 2022, we launched our new AON Pharmacy MSA model that will offer potential AON practices access to pharmaceutical management and a la carte services.
 - We are initiating new revenue streams developed from clinical informatics and data licensing subscriptions.
 - Implementing new CMS-approved patient services including Principal Care Management ("PCM"), Transitional Care Management ("TCM"), and Chronic Care Management ("CCM").
 - Participation in alternative payment models developed by CMMI and third-party payors.
- M&A Opportunities: We plan to pursue accelerated growth through acquisition with a more aggressive approach towards M&A. Access to the public markets allows us to pursue a broader M&A strategy and opening up the universe of potential targets. In addition, our more robust service offerings and flexibility in deal structuring will allow for acceleration of our M&A efforts.
- Expansion of research initiatives: We believe today's research is tomorrow's standard of care, accordingly, AON plans to expand our national research platform. Access to cutting edge clinical trials within the community setting will be critical to oncology research and drug development and AON practices have the best opportunity to offer patients access to such trials. We offer centralized administrative resources and innovative technology solutions that allows for the timely and efficient expansion in numbers of research investigators and clinical locations throughout the US. With a significant investment in our standardized technology platform, AON maintains the ability to collaborate closely with trial sponsors in order to timely identify patients for clinical trial accrual across our network.

Contracting

Governmental programs, such as Medicare and Medicaid, are collectively the largest payors for our affiliated practices and includes Managed Medicare and Medicaid programs whereby Medicare and Medicaid contract with third-party payors to administer health plans for their beneficiaries. Under such programs, physicians are reimbursed at negotiated rates rather than the Medicare fee schedule and the payor is a third-party, rather than Medicare and Medicaid itself.

Medicare reimbursement for physician services is based on a fee schedule, which establishes payment for a given service, in relation to actual resources used in providing the service, through the application of relative value units. The resources used are converted into a dollar amount of reimbursement through a conversion factor, which is updated annually by CMS, based on a formula.

Also, Medicare reimburses providers for oncology pharmaceuticals administered in our clinics based on the average sales price ("ASP") for drugs plus a fixed percentage (adjusted for sequestration). Our ability to manage pharmaceutical acquisition costs and concentration of our purchases with a limited number of manufacturers is critical to our success. Nearly all of our pharmaceutical pricing advantage relative to other suppliers is derived from a limited number of drugs. Implementation of ASP-based reimbursement has reduced the amount of differential pricing that is available to us from pharmaceutical manufacturers, which is one of our key competitive strengths.

In addition to traditional FFS arrangements, we continue to explore several other forms of alternative payment models including value-based arrangements. Although many of these arrangements continue to be based on an FFS-based methodology, our affiliated providers are eligible to earn additional bonuses based on their ability to achieve oncology-specific clinical and other quality of care-based benchmarks as well as financial rewards often based on total cost of care. While these alternative value-based arrangements may not produce as much initial revenue, we believe this flexibility in contracting models will allow us to speed our expansion into new markets while preserving the value-based economics that are critical for our business' growth and success.

Payor Relationships

We are attractive to physician practices because of our ability to efficiently manage payor relationships for our Network Practices. As is the case with many healthcare providers, our Network Practices seek payment for their services from a limited number of payors. We generally manage our Network Practices' payor contracts on a state-by-state basis, entering into a separate contract in each state with the local affiliate of the relevant payor such that no one local payor contract accounts for a majority of our collective revenue. Our centralized Payor Strategy & Relations team coordinates with practices and fosters close relationships with all payors across the AON platform. Our solutions offer unique cost savings opportunities to payors, and our optimized revenue cycle management function generates operation efficiencies and cost savings that are shared with payors. We believe these factors make our practices attractive to payors. Our Network Practices have long-term contracts with many payors including some of the biggest and most respected names in healthcare, including Anthem and United Healthcare. Generally, the contracts with our payors are entered into on substantially consistent terms. These terms include the period of performance, reimbursement rates and termination clauses that are standard in the industry. For example, typically, many of our contracts are terminable for convenience by either the payor or us after a notice period has passed. Many of our payor contracts include cure periods for certain breaches, during which time we may attempt to resolve any issues that would trigger a payor's ability to terminate the contract. Typically, contracts may be terminated immediately by the payor if we lose applicable licenses, go bankrupt, lose our liability insurance, become insolvent, file for bankruptcy or receive an exclusion, suspension or debarment from state or federal government authorities. We consider our relationships with our payors to be very strong.

Practice Structure, Staffing and Network Design

We have a standard clinic design and approach to staffing that we continually improve and refine. Managed clinics average 6,200 square feet and typically offer services from up to 30 providers (physicians and advanced practice providers) per clinic. We have flexibility around clinic size to allow us to establish smaller clinics and part time staffing in areas where needed to ensure the Network Practices can meet patient needs under existing payor contracts. We group our managed clinics by geography into regions. We have operations teams managing our markets and regions allowing us to drive performance and scale efficiently.

Competition

The U.S. healthcare industry is highly competitive. We compete directly with national, regional, and local providers of healthcare for patients and physicians. Our primary competitors are traditional community oncology physician practices, local and national health systems and national oncology management service organizations such as US Oncology Network, Inc., and OneOncology, Inc. Similar to the Company, US Oncology Network, Inc. and OneOncology, Inc. each offers a nationwide oncology management platform that offers diagnostics, specialty pharmacies and clinical laboratories; however, we differentiate ourselves from these competitors in our management model. We give our network physicians a high level of autonomy with respect to their practice after joining our network as AON employed physicians. We believe this structure differentiates us from our competitors. Some of our competitors may have greater recognition and be more established in their respective communities than we are and may have greater financial and other resources than we have. Competing oncology care providers may also offer larger facilities or different programs or services than our Network Practices do, which, combined with the foregoing factors, may result in our competitors being more attractive to our current patients, potential patients, and referral sources. We believe the principal competitive factors for serving the healthcare market include patient experience, quality of care, health outcomes, total cost of care, brand identity and trust in that brand. We believe we compete favorably on all these factors within the markets we serve.

Government RegulationRegulatory Licensing, Accreditation and Certification

Participants in the healthcare industry are required to comply with extensive government regulation at the federal, state and local levels. If we fail to comply with applicable laws and regulations, we may be subject to criminal penalties and civil sanctions, our providers could lose their licenses and we could lose our ability to participate in Medicare, Medicaid, and other government programs. These legal and regulatory standards address, among other issues, licensure, certification, and enrollment with government programs; the necessity and adequacy of medical care; quality of medical equipment and services; qualifications of medical and support personnel; operating policies and procedures; billing and coding for services; handling overpayments; classifications of levels of care provided;; relationships with referral sources and referral recipients; maintenance of adequate records;; rate-setting; building codes; environmental protection; privacy and security; interoperability and refraining from information blocking; debt collection; balance billing and billing for out-of-network services; and communications with patients and consumers.

Our clinics are subject to periodic inspection by federal, state, and local authorities to determine their compliance with applicable regulations and requirements necessary for licensing and certification. All of our clinics and providers are licensed under appropriate state laws and are qualified to participate in Medicare and Medicaid programs. Government regulations may change. If that happens, we may have to make changes to our facilities, equipment, personnel, and services so that our practices remain certified and qualified to participate in these programs. We believe that our practices are in substantial compliance with current federal, state, and local regulations and standards. We cannot be certain that governmental officials responsible for enforcing these laws or whistleblowers will not assert that we are in violation of them or that such statutes or regulations will be interpreted by the courts in a manner consistent with our interpretation.

State Corporate Practice of Medicine and Fee-Splitting Laws

Some states, including states where we operate, prohibit unlicensed persons or business entities, including corporations, from employing physicians. These prohibitions are generally referred to as prohibitions against the "corporate practice of medicine," and their primary objective is to protect physicians' independent medical judgment from the influence of corporate profit motives. Corporate practice of medicine doctrines vary from state to state, and can be found in a mix of state laws and regulations, case law and state attorney general opinions. But in virtually all (if not all) states, physicians are generally permitted to practice medicine through professional corporations or professional limited liability companies that restrict their ownership solely to licensed physicians.

Some states, including states where we operate, also have adopted laws that prohibit “fee-splitting” arrangements with physicians and unlicensed persons or business entities. Possible sanctions for violations of corporate practice of medicine and fee-splitting restrictions include loss of a physician’s license, civil and criminal penalties, and rescission of business arrangements. These laws vary from state to state, are often vague and in some cases, have seldom been interpreted by the courts or regulatory agencies.

In order to comply with these various state laws and doctrines, a non-licensed entity that enters into a business relationship with a physician practice will often use a management services model. In this structure, a professional corporation or limited liability company is formed with 100% physician ownership. Such physician-owned entity contracts with a management services organization to furnish management and other services to the professional entity in consideration of a commercially reasonable, fair market value fee. The physician-owned entity employs or contract with all of the practice’s licensed clinical personnel, such as physicians and advanced practice practitioners. The management services organization employs all of the non-clinical personnel who will furnish administrative and business services to the physician-owned entity, such as financial management, billing and collection, human resources, management of office space, etc. The physician-owned entity typically pays for all clinical compensation, benefits and malpractice insurance expenses of the practice from the professional revenues it generates. The management services organization, on the other hand, will incur all other expenses for the practices, which it will pay using its management fee. The end result is that the physician-owned entity maintains control over the clinical aspects of the practice — maintaining independent professional judgment with respect to patient care — and the management services organization manages the physician-owned entity’s back office functions. AON employs such an accepted model to comply with state regulations relating corporate practice and fee splitting laws in the states where AON operates.

Healthcare Fraud and Abuse Laws

We are subject to a number of federal and state healthcare regulatory laws that restrict certain business practices in the healthcare industry. These laws include, but are not limited to, federal and state anti-kickback, self-referral, false claims, and other healthcare fraud and abuse laws.

The federal Anti-Kickback Statute, or AKS, which prohibits the knowing and willful offer, payment, solicitation or receipt of any bribe, kickback, rebate, or other remuneration for referring an individual, in return for ordering, leasing, purchasing, or recommending or arranging for or to induce the referral of an individual or the ordering, purchasing, or leasing of items or services covered, in whole or in part, by any federal healthcare program, such as Medicare and Medicaid. Courts have interpreted this statute broadly and held that there is a violation of the AKS if just one purpose of the remuneration is to generate referrals, even if there are other lawful purposes. Furthermore, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it to have committed a violation.

The federal physician self-referral law, the Stark Law, which, subject to limited exceptions, prohibits physicians from referring Medicare or Medicaid patients to an entity for the provision of certain designated health services, or DHS if the physician or a member of such physician’s immediate family has a direct or indirect financial relationship (including an ownership interest or a compensation arrangement) with the entity, and prohibits the entity from billing Medicare or Medicaid for such DHS.

The federal False Claims Act, or FCA, which imposes civil and criminal liability on individuals or entities that knowingly submit false or fraudulent claims for payment to the government or knowingly make, or cause to be made, a false statement in order to have a false claim paid, including qui tam or whistleblower suits. There are many potential bases for liability under the FCA. The government has used the FCA to prosecute Medicare and other government healthcare program fraud such as coding errors, billing for services not provided, and providing care that is not medically necessary or that is substandard in quality. In addition, the government may assert that a claim including items or services resulting from a violation of the AKS or Stark Law constitutes a false or fraudulent claim for purposes of the FCA.

The Civil Monetary Penalties Law, which prohibits, among other things, an individual or entity from offering remuneration to a federal healthcare program beneficiary that the individual or entity knows or should know is likely to influence the beneficiary to order or receive healthcare items or services from a particular provider. We may also be subject to civil monetary penalties and other sanctions under the statute if we or our Network Practices hire or contract with any individuals or entities that are or become excluded from government healthcare programs, for the provision of items or services for which payment may be made under such programs.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 ("HIPAA") also established federal criminal statutes that prohibit, among other things, knowingly and willfully executing, or attempting to execute, a scheme to defraud any healthcare benefit program, including private third-party payors, and knowingly and willfully falsifying, concealing or covering up a material fact or making any materially false, fictitious or fraudulent statement in connection with the delivery of or payment for healthcare benefits, items or services. Similar to the AKS, a person or entity does not need to have actual knowledge of the statute or specific intent to violate it in order to have committed a violation.

Several states in which we operate have also adopted similar fraud and abuse laws as described above. The scope of these laws and the interpretations of them vary from state to state and are enforced by state courts and regulatory authorities, each with broad discretion. Some state fraud and abuse laws apply to items or services reimbursed by any payor, including patients and commercial insurers, not just those reimbursed by a federally funded healthcare program.

The laws and regulations in these areas are complex, changing and often subject to varying interpretations. As a result, there is no guarantee that a government authority will find that we or our Network Practices are in compliance with all such laws and regulations that apply to our business. Further, because of the breadth of these laws and the narrowness of the statutory exceptions and safe harbors available, it is possible that some of the business activities undertaken by us or our Network Practices could be subject to challenge under one or more of these laws, including, without limitation, patient assistance programs that waive or reduce the patient's obligation to pay copayments, coinsurance or deductible amounts owed for the services provided to them if they meet certain financial need criteria. If our or our Network Practices' operations are found to be in violation of any of such laws or any other governmental regulations that apply, we may be subject to significant penalties, including, without limitation, administrative, civil, and criminal penalties, damages, fines, disgorgement, the curtailment or restructuring of operations, integrity oversight and reporting obligations, contractual damages, exclusion from participation in federal and state healthcare programs and imprisonment. In addition, any action against us or our Network Practices for violation of these laws or regulations, even if successfully defended against it, could cause us to incur significant legal expenses, divert our management's attention from the operation of our business and result in adverse publicity, or otherwise experience a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations, financial condition, cash flows, reputation as a result.

Healthcare Reform

Our revenue is dependent on the healthcare industry and could be affected by changes in healthcare spending, reimbursement, and policy. By way of example, the Affordable Care Act (ACA), which was enacted in 2010, made major changes in how healthcare is delivered and reimbursed, and it increased access to health insurance benefits to the uninsured and underinsured populations of the United States. Since its enactment, there have been judicial, executive, and Congressional challenges to certain aspects of the ACA. On June 17, 2021, the U.S. Supreme Court dismissed the most recent judicial challenge to the ACA brought by several states without specifically ruling on the constitutionality of the ACA. Prior to the Supreme Court's decision, President Biden issued an executive order initiating a special enrollment period from February 15, 2021 through August 15, 2021 for purposes of obtaining health insurance coverage through the ACA marketplace. The executive order also instructed certain governmental agencies to review and reconsider their existing policies and rules that limit access to healthcare. It is unclear how healthcare reform measures enacted by Congress or implemented by the Biden administration, if any, will impact our business.

Other legislative changes have been proposed and adopted since the ACA was enacted. These changes include aggregate reductions to Medicare payments to providers of 2% per fiscal year, which began in 2013 and will remain in effect through 2030, with the exception of a temporary suspension from May 1, 2020 through March 31, 2022. Under current legislation, the actual reduction in Medicare payments varies from 1% from April 1, 2022 to June 30, 2022, to up to 3% in the final fiscal year of this sequester, unless additional Congressional action is taken. In January 2013, the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 was signed into law, which, among other things, further reduced Medicare payments to several types of providers, including hospitals, imaging centers and cancer treatment centers, and increased the statute of limitations period for the government to recover overpayments to providers from three to five years. New laws may result in additional reductions in Medicare and other healthcare funding, which may materially adversely affect consumer demand and affordability for our products and services and, accordingly, the results of our financial operations. Additional changes that may affect our business include the expansion of new programs such as Medicare payment for performance initiatives for physicians under the Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act of 2015, or MACRA, which first affected physician payment in 2019. At this time, it is unclear how the introduction of the Medicare quality payment program will impact overall physician reimbursement. The Inflation Reduction Act of 2022, or IRA, signed into law on August 16, 2022, also contains a number of provisions designed to limit or reduce drug prices under the Medicare program, reduce beneficiary out-of-pocket spending under Medicare's prescription drug benefit, and expand subsidies for individuals to obtain private health insurance under the ACA. While these provisions of the IRA do not apply directly to healthcare providers like our Network Practices, we are continuing to evaluate the potential impact, if any, that the IRA may have on our business.

The 21st Century Cures Act (the "Cures Act"), which was signed into law in December 2016, includes provisions related to data interoperability, information blocking and patient access. In May 2020, the HHS Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology, or ONC, and CMS published the Cures Act final rule, which was intended to clarify provisions of the Cures Act regarding interoperability and information blocking, and include, among other things, requirements surrounding information blocking, changes to ONC's health IT certification program and requirements that CMS-regulated payors make relevant claims/care data and provider directory information available through standardized patient access and provider directory application programming interfaces, or APIs, that connect to provider electronic health record systems, or EHRs. The final rule will transform the way in which healthcare providers, health IT developers, health information exchanges/health information networks, or HIEs/HINs, and health plans share patient information, and create significant requirements for healthcare industry participants. For example, the final rule, which went into effect on April 5, 2021, prohibits healthcare providers, health IT developers of certified health IT, and HIEs/HINs from engaging in practices that are likely to interfere with, prevent, materially discourage, or otherwise inhibit the access, exchange, or use of electronic health information, or EHI, also known as "information blocking." To further support access and exchange of EHI, the final rule identifies eight "reasonable and necessary activities" as exceptions to information blocking activities, as long as specific conditions are met. Any failure to comply with these rules could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

There is also uncertainty regarding the potential impact of other reform efforts at the federal and state levels. For example, some members of Congress have proposed measures that would expand government-sponsored coverage, including proposals to expand coverage of federally-funded insurance programs as an alternative to private insurance or establish a single-payer system (such reforms often referred to as "Medicare for All"). Some states have implemented or are considering measures such as individual health insurance mandates and public health insurance options. Other initiatives and proposals, including those aimed at price transparency and out-of-network charges, may impact prices and the relationships between health care providers, insurers and patients. For example, the No Surprises Act requires providers to send an insured patient's health plan a good faith estimate of expected charges, including billing and diagnostic codes, prior to when the patient is scheduled to receive the item or service.

HIPAA Administrative Simplification and Privacy and Security Requirements

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996, or HIPAA, requires the use of uniform electronic data transmission standards for healthcare claims and payment transactions submitted or received electronically. These provisions are intended to encourage electronic commerce in the healthcare industry. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Agency ("HHS") has established electronic data transmission standards and code sets that all healthcare providers must use when submitting or receiving certain healthcare transactions electronically and has issued operating rules to promote uniformity in the implementation of each standardized electronic transaction. HIPAA also requires that each provider use a National Provider Identifier.

As required by HIPAA, HHS has issued privacy and security regulations that extensively regulate the use and disclosure of individually identifiable health-related information and require covered entities, including health plans and most healthcare providers, to implement administrative, physical and technical practices to protect the security of individually identifiable health information that is electronically maintained or transmitted. Business associates (entities that handle protected health information for or on behalf of covered entities) are subject to direct liability for violation of applicable provisions of the regulations. In addition, a covered entity may be subject to penalties as a result of a business associate violating HIPAA, if the business associate is found to be an agent of the covered entity. We have developed and utilize a HIPAA compliance plan as part of our effort to comply with HIPAA privacy and security requirements. Our ongoing efforts to comply with privacy regulations and security regulations have and will continue to impose significant costs on us.

Covered entities must report breaches of unsecured protected health information to affected individuals without unreasonable delay, but not to exceed 60 days of discovery of the breach by the covered entity or its agents. Notification must also be made to HHS and, in certain situations involving large breaches, to the media. HHS is required to publish on its website a list of all covered entities that report a breach involving more than 500 individuals. All non-permitted uses or disclosures of unsecured protected health information are presumed to be breaches unless the covered entity or business associate establishes that there is a low probability the information has been compromised. Various state laws and regulations may also require us to notify affected individuals in the event of a data breach involving individually identifiable information.

Violations of the HIPAA privacy and security regulations may result in criminal penalties and in substantial civil penalties per violation. The civil penalties are adjusted annually based on updates to the consumer price index. HHS is required to perform compliance audits. In addition to enforcement by HHS, state attorneys general are authorized to bring civil actions seeking either injunction or damages in response to violations of HIPAA privacy and security regulations that threaten the privacy of state residents. HHS may resolve HIPAA violations through informal means, such as allowing a covered entity to implement a corrective action plan, but HHS has the discretion to move directly to impose monetary penalties and is required to impose penalties for violations resulting from willful neglect. We are also subject to any federal or state privacy-related laws that are more restrictive than the privacy regulations issued under HIPAA. These laws vary and could impose additional penalties and subject us to additional privacy and security restrictions. For example, the Federal Trade Commission uses its consumer protection authority to initiate enforcement actions in response to data breaches. In addition, various states have enacted, and other states are considering, new laws and regulations concerning the privacy and security of consumer and other personal information. To the extent we are subject to such requirements, these laws and regulations often have far-reaching effects, are subject to amendments and changing requirements and updates to regulators' enforcement priorities, may require us to modify our data processing practices and policies, may require us to incur substantial costs and expenses to comply and may subject our business to a risk of increased potential liability. These laws and regulations often provide for civil penalties for violations, as well as a private right of action for data breaches, which may increase the likelihood or impact of data breach litigation. Any failure or perceived failure, by us or by third parties with whom we work, to comply with these data protection, privacy and security, or consumer protection laws and regulations could result in enforcement actions, including fines and liability, claims for damages, reputational harm, and other adverse effects on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Intellectual Property

We own a number of active trademark registrations. The failure to protect our intellectual property assets could have a material adverse effect on our business; however, the loss of any single trademark or service mark, taken alone, would not have a material adverse effect on the Company as a whole.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, we may receive inquiries or subpoenas from state regulators, state Medicaid Fraud Control units, fiscal intermediaries, CMS, the U.S. Department of Justice and other government entities regarding various Medicare and Medicaid issues. In addition, we may be subject to other claims and lawsuits arising in the ordinary course of our business including lawsuits and claims related to billing practices and the administration of charity care policies at our practices. Based on current knowledge, management does not believe that loss contingencies arising from pending legal, regulatory and governmental matters, including the matters described herein, will have a material adverse effect on the consolidated financial position or liquidity of the Company.

Insurance

As part of our business of providing oncology care to our patients, we may be subject to legal actions alleging liability on our part. To cover claims arising out of the operations of our clinics and providers, we maintain professional malpractice liability insurance and general liability insurance on a claims-made basis in excess of those amounts for which we are self-insured, in amounts we believe to be sufficient for our operations. We also maintain umbrella liability coverage for claims which, due to their nature or amount, are not covered by our other insurance policies. However, our insurance coverage does not cover all claims against us or may not continue to be available at a reasonable cost for us to maintain adequate levels of insurance.

Employees and Human Capital Resources

As of March 28, 2023, we employed approximately 1,520 employees, including approximately 106 physicians and 84 advanced practice providers that we employ through our physician owned subsidiaries AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. None of our employees are represented by a labor union or party to a collective bargaining agreement. We consider our relations with our employees to be good.

The healthcare industry, and in particular, oncology care, is currently facing workforce challenges and this has become a significant operating issue for healthcare providers. A multipronged approach including staff retention bonuses, market adjustments to compensation, continuation of annual bonuses, competitive fringe benefits including access to robust health insurance and retirement programs have assisted in increasing the retention of our providers and employees. We believe that these efforts will aid in our ability to acquire new clinics and retain our current clinics. Due to the challenges above and other factors, our practices, like many other healthcare providers, have experienced rising labor costs. We may be required to continue to enhance wages and benefits to recruit and retain healthcare providers.

Environmental Matters

We are subject to a number of federal, state and local environmental laws, rules and regulations that govern, among other things, our disposal of medical waste, as well as our use, storage, transportation and disposal of hazardous and toxic materials. In addition, we could be affected by climate change to the extent that climate change results in severe weather conditions or other disruptions impacting the communities in which our facilities are located or adversely impacts general economic conditions, including in communities in which our facilities are located. At the current time, our compliance with environmental legal requirements, including legal requirements relating to climate change, does not have a material effect on our capital expenditures, financial results or operations. However, it is possible that developments may arise in the future as a result of climate change or other environmental developments that we are unable to currently predict.

Properties

Our principal corporate offices are located in Fort Myers, Florida where we lease approximately 9,500 square feet of office space that expires in 2030. We use this facility for administration, billing and collections, technology and development and professional services. We believe that our facilities are adequate to meet our needs for the immediate future, and that, should it be needed, suitable additional space will be available to accommodate any such expansion of our operations.

We lease all of the 78 properties used for our practice locations as well as administrative facilities under operating leases. As of December 31, 2022, we have leases located in Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Arizona, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Maryland, Virginia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and the District of Columbia. Generally, our leases are "net" leases, which require us to pay all of the cost of insurance, taxes, maintenance, and utilities. We intend to lease the premises for any new practice locations. Our typical practice occupies an average of 6,200 square feet.

Additional Information

AON was originally formed as a limited liability company in Delaware on February 23, 2017. AON is structured as a holding company and owns one wholly owned subsidiary, American Oncology Management Company, LLC ("AOM"). Our corporate website www.aoncology.com. Todd Schonherz has over 30 years of healthcare experience and has served as AON's Chief Executive Officer since 2021 and was previously President & Chief Operating Officer of AON since its inception in 2017 to 2021. Previously, he was Chief Operating Officer of Florida Cancer Specialists (FCS). Prior to his role as COO of FCS in 2011, Mr. Schonherz was Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer for US Oncology from 1999 to 2010. Mr. Schonherz' consulting and management experience in healthcare information technology includes positions with Datamedic Corporation (acquired by VitalWorks and later Amicas Corporation), Multum Corporation (acquired by Cerner Corporation), and MedE America (acquired by WebMD and later HLTH Corporation). Mr. Schonherz received a bachelor's degree in health policy and administration from Pennsylvania State University. Mr. Schonherz has presented at national industry conferences including multiple Community Oncology Alliance (COA) conferences as well as national and regional information technology conferences. We believe Mr. Schonherz's 30 years of healthcare experience gives him a thorough understanding of all aspects of our business and operations and qualifies him to serve our Board of Directors.

David H. Gould has served as Chief Financial Officer at AON since September 2020. Prior to joining AON, David served as Chief Financial Officer at ApolloMD from 2016 to 2020. Prior to joining ApolloMD, David served approximately 10 years in progressively senior positions and ultimately as the Vice President of Finance and Assistant Treasurer at Cumulus Media. Prior to that, he held financial management roles with both publicly traded and private companies within the healthcare industry. David started his career in public accounting with the national audit firm of Ernst & Young out of their Washington, D.C. office. David holds a Bachelor of Science in Accounting from University of Maryland.

Stephen "Fred" Divers, MD has been AON's Chief Medical Officer since 2022. In addition, since 2018, Dr. Divers is a Medical Oncologist with Genesis Cancer and Blood Institute, one of the first practices to join the AON network. In July 2020, Mr. Divers was named Advisory Board Chairman. Dr. Divers has provided physician leadership as a member of several national committees and currently serves on the Board of Directors for the Community Oncology Alliance (COA). He attended medical school at the Louisiana State University School of Medicine. He completed his residency at the University of North Carolina and a fellowship at the University of Alabama at Birmingham Cancer Center. We believe that Dr. Diver's experience as an executive and his breadth of knowledge and valuable understanding of oncology care qualifies him to serve on our Board of Directors.

Shalin R. Shah, DO has served as a Director on AON's Board of Managers since 2022. He has served multiple terms on the Executive Board of Florida Cancer Specialists & Research Institute, LLC and is a former member of its Finance Committee. He is also a board member of the Florida Society of Clinical Oncology (FLASCO) and was the previous Vice President of the Clinical Practice Committee for FLASCO. Dr. Shah actively serves on several other boards in healthcare, technology and education. After graduating from the University of Miami, Dr. Shalin Shah completed his residency at the University of Florida in Jacksonville, Florida, followed by a fellowship in oncology. Dr. Shah is a medical oncologist and hematologist with Florida Cancer Specialists & Research Institute and practices in Tampa, Florida. We believe Dr. Shah's experience as an executive and as an oncology physician qualifies him to serve on our Board of Directors.

Douglas Heldreth, MD has served as a Director on AON's Board of Managers since 2021. Dr. Heldreth currently practices medicine in Naples, Florida at Florida Cancer Specialists & Research Institute, LLC and has since 1996. He also served as Medical Director of Hope Hospice in Fort Myers, Florida. After graduating from West Virginia University School of Medicine, Dr. Douglas Heldreth completed his internship at Charleston Area Medical Center in Charleston, West Virginia and his residency at Orlando Regional Medical Center/University of Florida in Orlando, Florida. We believe Dr. Heldreth's lengthy career in oncology and his breadth of knowledge and prior leadership position in medical practice qualifies him to serve on our Board of Directors. Dr. Heldreth will resign from the Board of Managers of AON effective as of June 30, 2023. Dr. Heldreth's resignation is not a result of, in whole or in part, of any disagreement with AON.

Vipul Patel, MD has served as a Director on AON's Board of Managers since 2019. He is Board certified in medical oncology and hematology. Dr. Patel currently practices medicine in Ocala, Florida at Florida Cancer Specialists & Research Institute, LLC. Dr. Patel previously served as director of clinical trials for an Institutional Review Board in Gaston, N.C. He has been published in several prestigious journals, including the International Journal of Cancer. Prior to entering clinical practice, he served as a teaching assistant in biochemistry and anatomy at Vanderbilt University and as an instructor of hematology/oncology to second-year medical students at Meharry Medical College in Nashville. After receiving his medical degree from Ross University School of Medicine in the West Indies, Dr. Vipul Patel completed a residency in internal medicine at the Medical College of Georgia in Augusta, Georgia and at Vanderbilt University Medical Center in Nashville, Tennessee. We believe Dr. Patel's extensive leadership in cancer research and his service as a director of clinical trials for an Institutional Review Board qualify him to serve on our Board of Directors.

Vance M. Wright-Browne, MD has served as a Director on AON's Board of Managers since January 2023. Dr. Wright-Browne is Board certified in medical oncology, hematology and internal medicine. Since 2018, Dr. Wright-Browne served on the Board of Trustees for Fawcett Memorial Hospital. Since 2016, Dr. Wright-Browne served on the Board of Directors for the Virginia B. Andes Volunteer Community Clinic. Dr. Wright-Browne graduated from medical school at the University of West Indies located in Kingston, Jamaica and was awarded a Fellowship in Oncology/Hematology at MD Anderson Cancer Center located in Houston, Texas. We believe that Dr. Wright-Browne's experience as an executive and her breadth of knowledge and valuable understanding of oncology care qualify her to serve on our Board of Directors.

James Stith has served as a Director on AON's Board of Managers since June 2023. Since 2021, Mr. Stith has served as a Partner at AEA Growth, a private equity growth fund managed by AEA Investors LP, a global investment firm. From 2016 to 2021, Mr. Stith served as Co-founder and Partner at ROCA Partners, a growth equity investment firm. Prior to ROCA Partners, Mr. Stith served as an M&A executive at IAC/InterActiveCorp (a publicly-traded portfolio of consumer media and technology companies), a private equity investor at Ares Management (a global alternative investment manager), and an investment banker at Lehman Brothers (a former global financial services firm). Mr. Stith holds a B.A. in Economics and International Relations from the University of Pennsylvania. We believe Mr. Stith's extensive experience in growth equity and healthcare investing qualifies him to serve on our Board of Directors.

AON MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following discussion and analysis provides information which AON's management believes is relevant to an assessment and understanding of AON's results of operations and financial condition. You should read the following discussion and analysis of AON's financial condition and results of operations together with AON's condensed consolidated unaudited financial statements as of March 31, 2023 and for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, and its audited consolidated financial statements as of and for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, together with the related notes thereto, included in this proxy statement/prospectus. This discussion and analysis should also be read together with the unaudited pro forma financial information in the section entitled "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information" and a description of AON's business in the section entitled "Information About AON."

Certain of the information contained in this discussion and analysis or set forth elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus, including information with respect to plans and strategy for AON's business, includes forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. As a result of many factors, including those factors set forth in the section entitled "Risk Factors," AON's actual results could differ materially from the results described in or implied by the forward-looking statements contained in the following discussion and analysis. You should carefully read the section entitled "Risk Factors" to gain an understanding of the important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from AON's forward-looking statements. Unless otherwise indicated or the context otherwise requires, references in this AON Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations section to "AON," "we," "us," "our," the "Company," and other similar terms refer to AON prior to the Business Combination and to New AON and its consolidated subsidiaries after giving effect to the Business Combination.

Overview

Since its inception in 2018, AON has offered an innovative model of physician-led, community-based oncology management. AON preserves and elevates community oncology by helping its physicians navigate the complex healthcare landscape, providing them an efficient platform to work autonomously and thrive, and most importantly, improving the quality of patient care that is being delivered. We are an alliance of physicians and veteran healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success and viability of oncology diagnosis and treatment in community-based settings. As of March 31, 2023, we have approximately 104 physicians and 83 advanced practice providers across 71 locations in 16 states and the District of Columbia. Our robust platform provides oncology practices with comprehensive support, access to revenue-diversifying adjacent services and practice management expertise to empower physicians to make cancer care better for every patient.

Our mission is to provide the best cancer care that is affordable and close to where patients live and work. We believe the key to accessible and equitable healthcare lies in the strength of community healthcare practices and we are committed to closing the gap in cancer care to ensure every patient has access to the optimal care needed to help in their fight against cancer. To accomplish this, we have practices in some of the most densely populated cities as well as rural areas where medical resources are scarce. We deliver cancer care innovation by bringing new treatments to the forum and also by ensuring access to the necessary adjacent services to provide comprehensive quality cancer care and preserving the delivery of personalized cancer care in the community oncology setting.

Through access to care-enhancing patient services such as a centralized specialty pharmacy, wide ranging clinical lab and pathology services, a fully integrated technology platform anchored by an oncology-specific electronic medical record system, as well as a caring management team and a variety of financial assistance programs, our patients receive expert cancer care at each of our clinics.

We provide patients a variety of services to enhance patient care throughout the healthcare journey: high-quality and timely laboratory services for routine and specialized testing; in-house professional and technical pathology services providing complete, accurate and timely pathology reports; in-house specialty pharmacy with patient education, financial assistance, and 24/7 patient assistance; and care management support services including nutrition guidance.

As the future of healthcare continues to transition from volume to value, we are at the forefront of this initiative by ensuring we remain focused on care quality over care quantity and maintaining a patient-first mentality. Through an integrated system of seamless communication, coordination and patient care for better health outcomes, AON practices benefit from decreased expenditures through the implementation of centralized administrative services, processes, and technologies designed to support effective decision-making such as optimal pricing on drugs and medical supplies. Our patients benefit through our 24/7 clinical care support leading to a reduction in unnecessary emergency room visits and admissions and enhanced care quality. Ultimately, the payors benefit from more efficient delivery of high-quality, comprehensive services comparable to any hospital system at a lower cost point.

Though our network spans the country, our clinicians are interconnected and focused on driving change not just at their local clinics, but throughout our network. Our Network Practices not only unite in collaboration through a physician advisory board, but they also remain at the forefront of new discoveries and findings by expanding and improving cancer treatment options for every patient through a Pharmacy and Therapeutics Committee that continuously updates its formulary in real time as advanced therapeutics come to market and through participating in clinical research to ensure we remain on the cutting edge of cancer protocols. Patients benefit from convenient access to clinical trials that we participate in without the need to travel to large cities or tertiary cancer care facilities, and personalized care by matching a patient's cancer to a tailored therapy using molecular profiling.

We have invested significantly in a resilient, integrated technology platform to support the practices which includes a fully integrated electronic health record and a robust decision support tool and analytics engine. Our development of compliance materials ensures consistency and optimal patient experiences that meets or exceeds the Office of Inspector General ("OIG") guidelines.

We believe that our position in the market and focus on elevating the state of oncology care with our affiliated providers bodes well for future growth. Our proprietary technology platform supports this growth and enables the Network Practices to standardize and deliver consistent care at scale. We believe that our model will support growth into new markets and allow us to continue to service more patients across the United States.

The Business Combination

On June 14, 2023, DTOC, AON, AON Class C Preferred Investor and Merger entered into the Business Combination Agreement (which further amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement entered into by DTOC and AON as of October 5, 2022, and amended and restated on January 6, 2023 and April 27, 2023). As a result of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination, the combined company will be organized in an umbrella partnership C corporation structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company, New AON, will be held by AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
- on the closing of the Business Combination (the "Closing"), AON will adopt the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock at an exchange ratio equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units at an exchange ratio equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio;

- existing AON Class C units into the number of AON Series A preferred units equal to the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio;

as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, (i) the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,688 AON common units, (ii) the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON Common units, and (iii) the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio at which existing AON Class C units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 2,702 AON Series A preferred units; upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the "Practice Profit Pool Shares"). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10;

- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will amend and restate its charter (the "Proposed Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) designation of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock with such rights and preferences as provided for in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designation and authorization of such number of shares of New AON Series A preferred stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio; and
- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON common equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants), for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

We expect the Business Combination to be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under this method of accounting, DTOC is expected to be treated as the "acquired" company for financial reporting purposes. This determination was primarily based on AON's directors comprising a majority of the board seats for New AON's board of directors, AON senior management comprising substantially all of the senior management of the post-combination company, and AON comprising the substantive operations pre-combination as well as the ongoing operations of the post-combination company. Accordingly, for accounting purposes, the financial statements of the combined entity will represent a continuation of the financial statements of AON with the Business Combination being treated as the equivalent of AON issuing stock for the net assets of DTOC, accompanied by a recapitalization whereby no goodwill or other intangible assets are recorded.

Key Factors Affecting Performance & Non-GAAP Measures

Factors Affecting Our Revenues

There are many factors that drive patient service revenues; however, we focus on certain key metrics such as:

- Total patient encounters which include initial consultations and treatments, new patient encounters, recurring patient encounters and treatments, and cancer vs non cancer patients.
- Patient referrals which are also an important driver of patient service revenue; we manage the referral pipeline locally through the coordinated efforts of our physician liaisons working with our physicians to market our practices by visiting referral sources such as, primary care providers and other medical specialties.

Factors Affecting Our Operating Costs

Operating costs are primarily dependent upon factors such as:

- The cost of prescription drugs used in our treatment plans which include both intravenous and oral oncolytics. The management of these costs are a critical component of our business as it is our single largest expense. We manage this cost by strategic volume purchases and continuously evaluating the most clinically effective drug for cancer type through our Pharmaceutical and Therapeutics Committee.
- Clinical compensation and benefits, including non-medical personnel, represent our second largest operating expense. These costs are impacted by both micro and macro-economic factors as well as local competition for personnel that could impact costs associated with personnel. In particular, in all of our markets, we have seen significant increases in compensation for qualified nursing resources. We continuously monitor wages period over period to mitigate the impact of variations in industry and macro-economic labor conditions.
- We lease all of our facilities, therefore real-estate costs are a significant component of our operating costs. We continuously monitor local and national real estate conditions to actively manage our exposure to fluctuating occupancy costs.

Key Non-GAAP Financial Measures We Use to Evaluate Our Performance

Adjusted EBITDA

This filing includes the non-GAAP financial measure "Adjusted EBITDA". Management views this metric as a useful way to look at the performance of our operations between periods and to exclude decisions on capital investment and financing that might otherwise impact the review of profitability of the business based on present market conditions. Management believes this measure provides an additional way of viewing aspects of the Company's operations that, when viewed with the GAAP results, provides a more complete understanding of the Company's results of operations and the factors and trends affecting the business.

Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income prior to interest income, interest expense, income taxes, and depreciation and amortization, as adjusted to add back certain other non-cash charges that we may record each year, such as stock-compensation expense, as well as non-recurring charges such as expenses incurred related to major operational transitions. We believe these expenses and non-recurring charges are not considered an indicator of ongoing company performance. The measures are used as a supplement to GAAP results in evaluating certain aspects of our business, as described below. We believe Adjusted EBITDA is useful to investors in evaluating our performance because the measure considers the performance of our operations, excluding decisions made with respect to capital investment, financing, and other non-recurring charges as outlined above.

The Company includes Adjusted EBITDA because it is an important measure upon which our management uses to assess the results of operations, to evaluate factors and trends affecting the business, and to plan and budget future periods. However, non-GAAP financial measures should be considered a supplement to, and not as a substitute for, or superior to, the corresponding measures calculated in accordance with GAAP. Non-GAAP financial measures used by management may differ from the non-GAAP measures used by other companies, including the Company's competitors. Management encourages investors and others to review the Company's financial information in its entirety, and not to rely on any single financial measure. Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered as an alternative to net income as an indicator of our performance or as an alternative to any other measure prescribed by GAAP as there are limitations to using such non-GAAP measures. We compensate for these limitations by providing disclosure of the differences between Adjusted EBITDA and GAAP results, including providing a reconciliation to GAAP results, to enable investors to perform their own analysis of our operating results.

Components of Results of Operations

Patient Service Revenue, net

The Company receives payments from the following sources for services rendered: (i) commercial insurers; (ii) pharmacy benefit managers ("PBMs"); (iii) the federal government under the Medicare program administered by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services ("CMS"); (iv) state governments under Medicaid and other programs, including managed Medicare and Medicaid; and (v) individual patients.

The primary elements of patient service revenue are from fee for service ("FFS") revenue which includes revenue from required patient infusion and injection treatments, as well as oral prescription drugs. FFS revenue comprise revenues in which we bill and collect for medical services rendered by our physicians or nurse practitioners including office visits and consults. FFS revenue also includes infusion therapies and treatment. FFS revenue consists of fees for medical services provided to patients. Payments for services provided are generally less than billed charges. The Company records revenue net of an allowance for contractual adjustments, which represents the net revenue expected to be collected from third-party payors (including managed care, commercial, and governmental payors such as Medicare and Medicaid), and patients. These expected collections are based on fees and negotiated payment rates in the case of third-party payors, the specific benefits provided for under each patient's healthcare plan, mandated payment rates in the case of Medicare and Medicaid programs, and historical cash collections (net of recoveries). The recognition of net revenue (gross charges less contractual allowances) from such services is dependent on certain factors, such as, the proper completion of medical charts following a patient visit, proper medical coding of the charts, and the verification and authorization of each patient's eligibility at the time services are rendered as to the payor(s) responsible for payment of such services.

Oral prescription drugs comprise revenues from prescriptions written by our doctors to their patients which are dispensed directly by AON's specialty pharmacy. Revenue for the oral prescription is based on fee schedules set by various PBMs and other third-party payors. The fee schedule is often subject to direct and indirect remuneration ("DIR") fees, which are based primarily on adherence and other metrics. DIR fees may be significant and may be assessed in the periods after payments are received against future payments. The Company recognizes revenue, net of estimated DIR fees, at the time the patient takes possession of the oral drug.

HHS grant income

HHS grant income represents a grant from the Department of Health and Human Services as part of a government stimulus program which was designed to assist small businesses during the pandemic and does not require repayment.

Other Revenue

Other revenue is primarily generated from service arrangements with various hospitals systems and data contracts as well as through clinical trials.

Cost of Revenue

Cost of services primarily includes chemotherapy drug costs, clinician salaries and benefits, medical supplies, and clinical occupancy costs. Clinicians include oncologists, advanced practice providers such as physician assistants and nurse practitioners, and registered nurses. Specialty pharmacy costs primarily include the cost of oral medications dispensed from the specialty pharmacy including overhead costs for running a free-standing pharmacy and shipping costs to patients.

General and administrative

Our general and administrative expenses include corporate occupancy costs, technology infrastructure, operations, clinical and quality support, finance, legal, human resources, and business development. Depreciation and amortization expenses are also included in general and administrative expenses. The Company expects its general and administrative expenses to increase over time following the consummation of the Business Combination due to the additional legal, accounting, insurance, investor relations and other costs that the Company will incur as a public company, as well as other costs associated with continuing to grow the business. While we expect general and administrative expenses to increase in the foreseeable future, such expenses are on average are expected to decrease as a percentage of revenue over the long term, as the company continues to scale its operations.

Results of Operations

Comparison of the Three Months Ended March 31, 2023 and 2022

Revenue

(dollars in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2023	2022	$	%
Patient service revenue, net	$ 301,773	$ 260,971	$40,802	15.6%
Other revenue	1,958	1,507	451	29.9%
Total revenue	$ 303,731	$ 262,478	$41,253	15.7%

Revenue increased by $41.3 million, or 15.7%, primarily due to a $40.8 million increase in patient service revenue and a $0.5 million increase in other revenue.

Patient service revenue, net

The $40.8 million increase in revenue is primarily attributable to organic growth seen between periods due to an increase of patient encounters of 6.6% driving $37.0 million of the revenue increase. An additional $3.7 million increase in patient services revenue was due to the impact of one acquisition and five affiliate agreements in 2022 which are fully reflected in the three months ended March 31, 2023.

Other revenue

Other revenue increased $0.5 million primarily due to an increase in professional services agreements whereby the Company's physicians provide services to various hospital systems.

Operating Expenses

(dollars in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2023	2022	$	%
Cost of revenue	$ 278,534	$ 248,457	$30,077	12.1%
General and administrative expenses	25,688	20,816	4,872	23.4%
Total costs and expenses	$ 304,222	$ 269,273	$34,949	13.0%

Operating expenses increased $34.9 million, or 13.0%, due to a $30.1 million increase in cost of revenue and a $4.9 million increase in general and administrative expenses.

Cost of revenue

Cost of revenue increased $30.1 million which was primarily driven by an increase of $32.1 million of drug and medical supply costs offset by a $2.0 million decrease in clinical compensation and benefits. The volume of patient encounters at our practices increased cost of revenue by $13.6 million, and the cost per encounter drove a $15.2 million increase. The increased cost of patient encounter was driven by a combination of higher drug and supply costs as well as the drug and service mix patients required. The remaining $3.0 million increase in cost of revenue relates to drug and supply costs from one acquisition and five affiliate agreements in 2022 which are fully reflected in the three months ended March 31, 2023.

General and administrative expense

The $4.8 million increase in general and administrative expenses was primarily driven by a $2.1 million increase in consulting fees due to the use of third-party consultants for the revenue cycle function as well as fees incurred related to the Business Combination and associated filings. Accounting and consulting fees increased $1.5 million from the comparable prior period due to financial statement audit and review requirements and other professional services incurred as a result of the filings and related interim financial statements included therein. The remaining increase period over period was driven by an increase in depreciation and amortization of $0.6 million and an increase of office supplies and office repairs and maintenance of $0.4 million.

Other Income (Expense)

(dollars in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2023	2022	$	%
Interest expense	$ (1,417)	$ (417)	$(1,000)	239.8%

Other income, net	466	170	296	*
Total other expense	$ (894)	$ (242)	$ (652)	*

* — % not meaningful

Interest expense

The increase in interest expense was due to an increase in interest rates resulting from the eight increases in the federal funds rate from the first quarter of 2022 through the first quarter of 2023.

Other income, net

The increase in other income, net is attributable to an increase in various sources of nonoperating income.

Income taxes

(dollars in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2023	2022	$	%
Income tax expense	$—	$—	$—	*

The Company's effective income tax rate was 0.0% and 0.0% for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The effective income tax rate for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022 differed from the federal statutory rate primarily due to certain legal entities in the Company's structure being treated as partnerships for income tax purposes and, therefore, not being subject to income tax. All corporate entities within the Company's structure continue to maintain a full valuation allowance against their net deferred tax assets.

Comparison of the Years Ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 Revenue

(dollars in thousands)	Year ended December 31,		Change

	2022	2021	$	%
Other revenue	11,738	5,505	$ 6,233	113.2%
Total revenue	$1,149,670	$943,747	$205,923	21.8%

Revenue increased by $205.9 million, or 21.8%, primarily due to a $200.0 million increase in patient service revenue and a $6.2 million increase in other revenue.

Patient service revenue, net

The $200.0 million increase in patient services revenue was primarily due to the impact of five acquisitions and six affiliate agreements, including five in 2021 which are fully reflected in the year ended December 31, 2022, and accounted for $144.0 million of the increase in revenues between the periods.

Organic growth, excluding the acquired practices, drove the remaining increase in revenue. Patient encounters at our practices increased revenue by $10.0 million, and $50.5 million of our increased revenue was attributed to the drug and service mix that patients required based on their clinical diagnoses and treatment plans.

Other revenue

Other revenue increased $6.2 million primarily due to a clinical trial agreement entered into during 2022 and an increase in professional services agreements whereby the Company's physicians provide services to various hospital systems.

	2022	2021	$	%
Cost of revenue	$1,054,217	$865,788	$188,429	21.8%
General and administrative expenses	89,887	77,048	12,839	16.7%
Total costs and expenses	$1,144,104	$942,836	$201,268	21.3%

Operating expenses increased $201.3 million, or 21.3%, due to a $188.4 million increase in cost of revenue and a $12.8 million increase in general and administrative expenses.

Cost of revenue

Cost of revenue increased $188.4 million which was primarily driven by an increase of $113.4 million of drug and medical supply costs, $3.4 million of occupancy costs, and $17.3 million in clinical compensation and benefits related to the acquisition of five practices and six new affiliate agreements, including five in 2021 which are fully reflected in the year-ended December 31, 2022.

Organic growth, excluding the practices above, drove the remaining increase of drug and medical supply costs within cost of revenue. The volume of patient encounters at our practices increased cost of revenue by $7.7 million, and the cost per encounter drove a $47.1 million increase. The cost of patient encounter was driven by a combination of higher drug and supply costs as well as the drug and service mix patients required.

General and administrative expense

The increase in general and administrative expenses were primarily driven by a $7.0 million increase in corporate compensation due to the termination of the Company's third party back office provider in 2021 which resulted in ramping up hiring of corporate personnel as well as increases due to the inflationary effects of tight labor markets nationally. Further, there was a $4.7 million increase in IT costs, $4.7 million increase in consulting & accounting fees, and a $1.5 million increase in postage costs. These increases were offset by a decrease of approximately $4.7 million in central service fees as well as a $1.5 million decrease in value-based care costs related to the federal oncology care model which ended in December of 2021.

Interest expense

The increase in interest expense was due to an increase in interest rates resulting from the seven increases in the federal funds rate during 2022.

Other income, net

The decrease of other income, net is primarily attributable to a $0.4 million decrease in sublease rental income.

The Company's effective income tax rate was 0.0% and 129.33% for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively. The provision for income taxes was $0 and $460 for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively. The change in the provision for income taxes was primarily due to a full valuation allowance on all corporate entities recorded against the Company's deferred tax assets during 2022.

Total revenue	$943,747	$724,743	$219,004	30.2%

Revenue increased by $219.0 million, or 30.2%, primarily due to a $223.6 million increase in patient service revenue and a $2.3 million increase in other revenue, offset by a $6.8 million decrease in HHS grant income.

Patient service revenue, net

The $223.6 million increase in patient services revenue was primarily due to the impact of 10 acquisitions and one affiliate agreement, including six in 2020 which are fully reflected in the year ended December 31, 2021 and accounted for $199.1 million of the increase in revenues between the periods. Organic growth, excluding the acquired practices, drove the remaining increase in revenue. Increased revenue of approximately $24.9 million was primarily attributable to an increase in patient encounters of 5.8%.

HHS grant income

The decrease in HHS grant income was due to the Department of Health and Human Services providing a one-time grant of $6.8 million in 2020 to support small businesses during the COVID-19 pandemic which is not required to be repaid, but no similar grant was provided in 2021.

Other revenue

Other revenue increased $2.3 million primarily due to an increase in professional services agreements whereby the Company's physicians provide services to various hospital systems.

Operating Expenses

Total costs and expenses	$ 942,836	$ 702,671	$ 240,165	34.2%

Operating expenses increased $240.2 million, or 34.2%, due to a $207.2 million increase in cost of revenue and a $33.0 million increase in general and administrative expenses.

Cost of revenue

Cost of revenue increased $207.2 million which was primarily driven by an increase of $153.2 million of drug and medical supply costs, $4.6 million of occupancy costs, and $24.9 million in clinical compensation and benefits related to the acquisition of 10 practices and one new affiliate agreement, including six in 2020 which are fully reflected in the year-ended December 31, 2021.

Organic growth, excluding the practices above, drove the remaining increase of drug and medical supply costs within cost of revenue. Patient encounters rose 5.8% at our practices and were the primary driver of the increased cost of revenue, resulting in an increase in costs of approximately $27.3 million. This increase was partially offset by a combination of lower drug and supply costs due to the service mix that patients required, resulting in an approximately $9.7 million reduction in costs when compared to the prior period. Further, an $8.2 million increase in organic practice costs was attributable to the inflationary effects of tight labor markets nationally.

General and administrative expense

The increase in general and administrative expense was primarily driven by the Company's transition from a third party back office provider in 2021. This led to an increase of $25.6 million in costs due to the hiring of administrative and corporate personnel as well as a $10.6 million increase in other related transition costs. Additionally, there was a $3.6 million increase in compensation and benefits attributable to the inflationary effects of tight labor markets nationally, $2.7 million increase in rent and depreciation and amortization expense, $1.4 million in expenses associated with the Value Based Care program, as well as approximately $3.0 million increase of other G&A costs. This was partially offset by a decrease of $13.9 million in central service fees paid when the Company outsourced its back-office functions to a third-party.

Interest expense

The increase in interest expense was due to an increase of $27.2 million in long-term borrowings offset by a decrease in interest rate, as a result of refinancing our credit agreement in the second quarter of 2021.

Other income, net

The increase of other income is primarily attributable to a $0.4 million increase in sublease rental income.

Income tax expense (benefit)	$ 460	$ (783)	$1,243	(158.7)%

The Company's effective income tax rate was 129.33% and (3.71%) for the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020, respectively. The increase in income tax expense was primarily due to a significant decrease in pre-tax income from 2020 to 2021 attributable to the Company's legal entities treated as partnerships for income tax purposes. As partnerships, these legal entities are not subject to income tax, which significantly impacts state taxes and nontaxable passthrough LLC income. Additionally, the Company established a full valuation allowance against its net deferred taxes at one of its corporate entities during 2021.

 Costs incurred related to Hurricane Ian.

* Personnel costs associated with rationalization of our central services cost structure.

Adjusted EBITDA was $18.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2022 as compared to $9.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2021. The increase in Adjusted EBITDA was primarily due to an increase in net income of approximately $2.7 million. Additionally, the Company incurred certain non-recurring expenses in the most recent period related to Hurricane Ian of approximately $0.5 million, operational transformation costs of $1.7 million, and personnel costs associated with the rationalization of our central services cost structure of $3.3 million, as well as $0.6 million of additional depreciation and amortization. This was partially offset by the non-recurrence of costs associated with our prior year insourcing efforts. As the number of oncology practices we have acquired has grown, and continues to grow, we have focused our resources in recent periods on building a sustainable, scalable, operating platform. This has included adding headcount and processes that we believe will allow us to continue to add additional physician practices without requiring this level of costs. The results of these efforts have led to compressed operating margins and reduced Adjusted EBITDA in the current period; however, we believe this positions us for profitable growth as we continue to expand our clinical footprint through both acquisitions and organic growth.

Adjusted EBITDA was $9.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2021 as compared to $25.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2020. The decrease in Adjusted EBITDA was primarily due to a reduction in net income of approximately $22.1 million. The reduction in net income resulted from, in large part, due to the Department of Health and Human Services providing a one-time grant of $6.8 million in 2020 to support small businesses during the COVID-19 pandemic which is not required to be repaid, but no similar grant was provided in 2021. Liquidity and Capital ResourcesGeneral

To date, the Company has financed its operations principally through the issuance of membership units and long-term debt, and to a lesser extent, cash flows from operations. As of March 31, 2023, the Company had $23.8 million of cash and cash equivalents, $9.9 million of short-term marketable securities, $81.3 million in outstanding long-term indebtedness, and $1.0 million of availability under its PNC Line of Credit.

The Company may incur operating losses and generate negative cash flows from operations for the foreseeable future due to the investments management intends to continue making in expanding operations and sales and marketing and due to additional general and administrative expenses management expects to incur in connection with operating as a public company. As a result, the Company may require additional capital resources to execute strategic initiatives to grow the business.

Management believes that the cash on hand and cash from the Business Combination will be sufficient to fund the Company's operating and capital needs for at least the next 12 months. The Company's actual results may vary due to, and its future capital requirements will depend on, many factors, including our organic growth rate and the timing and extent of acquisitions of new clinics and expansion into new markets. The Company may in the future enter into arrangements to acquire or invest in complementary businesses. The Company could use its available capital resources sooner than management currently expects. The Company may be required to seek additional equity or debt financing.

Significant Financing Transactions2020 Sale of Class A-1 Equity

In March of 2020, the Company sold 730 Class A-1 Units for gross proceeds of $30.0 million. Offering related costs of approximately $1.5 million were incurred, resulting in net proceeds to AON of approximately $28.5 million, which are recorded as a capital contribution in the Consolidated Statements of Members' Equity. The proceeds from the investment were used primarily for capital expenditures and to fund additional acquisitions of physician practices.

2020 Debt Financing Activity

During 2020, the Company held various term loans with Truist Bank which were primarily used to finance acquisitions of various physician practices since the Company's inception. The term loans, all of which had the same terms and provisions, were seven-year loans which required interest only payments for the first two years of the loan term. The base interest rate is the one-month LIBOR rate plus an applicable margin of 1.45% (1.60% at December 31, 2020). The Company made approximately $0.6 million in interest payments during 2020 on this loan. There was approximately $26.5 million outstanding as of December 31, 2020 related to these loans.

The Company also modified its existing revolving credit arrangement with Truist Bank during 2020. The original revolving line of credit was modified to extend the maturity date from April 2020 to September 2021, reduce the credit limit from $27.0 million to $10.0 million, and increase the interest rate applicable to all amounts outstanding under the revolver from one-month LIBOR plus 1.3% to one-month LIBOR plus 3.6% or 4.35%. The Company had $10.0 million outstanding related to the revolving line of credit with Truist Bank as of December 31, 2020.

2021 Debt Financing Activity

On April 30, 2021 the Company entered into the PNC Loan Facility ("Facility") which was collateralized by the Company's assets and outstanding patient accounts receivable. The Facility is guaranteed on a limited basis by the Company and shareholder of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. The Facility is interest-only with total principal due upon maturity on April 30, 2024. Interest accrues at one-month LIBOR or an alternate base rate plus 1.45%. The Company received $65.0 million in proceeds (less related fees) under the Facility. The Company utilized $34.6 million of the proceeds to pay off the Truist Term Loans and Truist Revolver. The remaining funds were made available for working capital and acquisitions of additional physician practices. The Company paid approximately $1.4 million in interest payments in 2021.

On April 30, 2021, the Company also entered into a $5.0 million revolving line of credit agreement ("PNC Line of Credit"). The PNC Line of Credit has an expiration date of April 30, 2024 and bears interest at a rate per annum equal to the sum of the daily LIBOR rate plus 1.65% or an alternate base rate plus .65% and is due on the first day of each month beginning June 1, 2021. Any outstanding principal and accrued interest will be due on the expiration date. Beginning July 1, 2021, quarterly bank fees equal to 1.65% per day per annum will be due in arrears and will continue on the first day of each quarter thereafter. All debt related to the PNC Line of Credit is collateralized by the Company's assets. From the date the PNC Line of Credit was executed through December 31, 2021, no draws had been made.

On July 29, 2021, the Company amended the PNC Loan Facility increasing the Facility Limit from $65.0 million to $75.0 million.

2022 Debt Financing Activity

In 2022, the Company amended the PNC Facility and Line of Credit agreements. The primary changes included an increase of the Facility limit from $75.0 million to $125.0 million, a decrease of the PNC Line of Credit amount from $5.0 million to $1.0 million, interest charges to be calculated based on the Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index plus 1.65% and certain financial covenants. As part of the amendments, the Company drew an additional $16.3 million in proceeds under the Facility.

The total amount outstanding under the PNC Facility as of March 31, 2023 was $81.3 million, at an interest rate of 6.36%. No amounts were drawn down on the PNC Line of Credit as of December 31, 2022.

2023 Sale of Class C Equity

On April 27, 2023, AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor entered into a Unit Purchase Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on June 7, 2023 (as amended, the "Unit Purchase Agreement"), which provides for an investment of at least $65.0 million with an option to increase the investment to $75.0 million in connection with the issuance of AON Class C Convertible Preferred Units ("AON Class C units") to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

Pursuant to the Unit Purchase Agreement, on June 7, 2023, the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 AON Class C units at an aggregate purchase price of $65.0 million (the "Series A Investment"). Under the Unit Purchase Agreement, the AON Class C Preferred Investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the closing of the Business Combination (the "Closing"), at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. In connection with the Series A Investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement, to among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units and issue such units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

Cash Flows

Historical information regarding sources of cash and capital expenditures in recent periods and analysis of those sources and uses is provided below.

Cash flows for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022 were as follows:

(dollars in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31,		Change
	2023	2022	$	%
Net cash used in operations	$ (329)	$ (9,374)	$ 9,054	(96.4)%
Net cash used in investing activities	(2,643)	(5,223)	(2,580)	(49.4)%
Net cash (used in) provided by financing activities	(105)	15,801	(15,906)	(100.7)%

Cash flows from operating activities

Net cash used in operating activities was ($0.3) million during the three months ended March 31, 2023 compared to ($9.4) million for the comparable period for 2022. The $9.1 million period over period improvement was primarily attributable to:

- The improvements in period over period cash flows from operations is primarily a result of the cash flow impacts of a lower net loss, including the effects of non-cash reconciling items, which was a $5.8 million improvement for the three months ended March 31, 2023 when compared to the three months ended March 31, 2022.
- The impacts from changes in the Medicare advance payments liability, which had no impact on cash flows in the quarter ended March 31, 2023, but had a $3.0 negative impact in the quarter ended March 31, 2022.
- The remaining improvement in cash flows period over period results from a $0.2 million improvement in cash provided as a result of net changes in other working capital components.

Cash flows from investing activities

Net cash used in investing activities was $2.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2023 compared to $5.2 million for the comparable period for 2022. The decrease in cash used period over period was primarily attributable to the impact of marketable securities, as follows:

- Purchases of marketable securities for the three months ended March 31, 2023 of $1.4 million were offset by sales of marketable securities of $1.4 million.

- Purchases of marketable securities for the three months ended March 31, 2022 were $4.6 million. There were no sales during this period.

The decrease in cash used attributable to marketable securities was offset by a $2.0 million increase in purchases of property and equipment during the three months ended March 31, 2023 compared to 2022.

Cash flows from financing activities

Net cash used in financing activities was $0.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2023 compared to net cash provided of $15.8 million for the comparable period for 2022. The period over period decrease in cash flows from financing activities was primarily attributable to borrowings on long-term debt of $16.3 in the prior period with no borrowings during the three months ended March 31, 2023. There were no debt repayments during the period ended March 31, 2023.

Cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2022 and December 31, 2021 were as follows:

(dollars in thousands)	Year ended December 31,		Change
	2022	2021	$	%
Net cash used in operations	$ (6,784)	$ (26,338)	$ 19,554	(74.2)%
Net cash used in investing activities	(13,991)	(10,694)	(3,297)	30.8%
Net cash provided by financing activities	15,347	26,544	(11,197)	42.2%

Net cash used in operating activities was $6.8 million during the year ended December 31, 2022 compared to $26.3 million for the comparable period for 2021. The $19.6 million period over period improvement was primarily attributable to:

- The impacts from the reduction in the Medicare advance payments liability, which was reduced from $3.7 million as of December 31, 2021 to $0.0 as of December 31, 2022, resulting in a $3.7 million use of cash for the twelve-months ended December 31, 2022. This compared to the reduction in the same liability of $13.5 million from December 31, 2020 to December 31, 2021, which resulted in a $13.5 million use of cash in the twelve months ended December 31, 2021. The difference in this liability reduction is a net increase in operating cash flows of approximately $9.8 million when comparing the periods.
- The improvements in period over period cash flows from operations also include an increase in cash generated from operating activities as a result of the cash flow impacts of net income, after giving effect to non-cash reconciling items, of $11.8 million for the twelve months ended December 31, 2022 when compared to December 31, 2021. This improvement was primarily attributable to a $10.4 million non-cash adjustment due to the amortization of right-of-use assets added as part of the adoption of Accounting Standards Codification 842 — Leases as well as a $2.7 million increase in net income.
- The above is partially offset by approximately $1.9 million increase in use of cash related to the net impact of working capital changes between the periods.

Cash flows from investing activities

Net cash used in investing activities was $14.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2022 compared to $10.7 million for the comparable period for 2021. The increase in cash used period over period was primarily attributable to purchases of marketable securities of $12.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2022, offset by proceeds from sales of marketable securities of $2.7 million. There were no purchases or sales of marketable securities during the comparable period.

The increase in cash used above was partially offset by the following:

- Purchases of property and equipment was $7.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2022, lower than $8.3 million for the comparable period.

- Acquisition of physician practices decreased approximately $3.2 million period over period.
- An increase of $1.4 million in proceeds related to the disposal of property and equipment period over period.

Cash flows from financing activities

Net cash provided by financing activities was $15.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2022 compared to $26.5 million for the comparable period for 2021. The period over period decrease in cash flows from financing activities was primarily attributable to:

- Borrowing on long-term debt was $16.3 million for the twelve months ended December 31, 2022 compared to $65.0 million in the comparative period. The amounts in 2021 were related to the PNC Loan Facility, and the amounts in 2022 are related to $16.3 million which was borrowed when the Company entered into an amendment to the PNC Loan Facility which increased the Facility limit to $125 million.
- The period over period reduction in cash provided was offset by the repayment of $37.1 million of long-term debt (from the prior Truist Loan and Revolver, which was extinguished in 2021 with the issuance of our PNC Loan Facility) during the twelve months ended December 31, 2021. There was no debt repayment in the twelve months ended December 31, 2022.

Off Balance Sheet Arrangements

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, AON does not have any off-balance sheet arrangements that have or are reasonably likely to have a current or future effect on our financial condition, changes in financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operations, liquidity, capital expenditures or capital resources that are material to investors. The term "off-balance sheet arrangement" generally means any transaction, agreement or other contractual arrangement to which an entity unconsolidated with AON is a party, under which it has any obligation arising under a guarantee contract, derivative instrument or variable interest or a retained or contingent interest in assets transferred to such entity or similar arrangement that serves as credit, liquidity or market risk support for such assets.

AON does not engage in off-balance sheet financing arrangements.

Material Cash Requirements

Based on the Company's borrowings under the long-term debt arrangement as of March 31, 2023, the Company expects future cash outflows related to interest expense (based on Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index rate of 6.36% as of March 31, 2023) of $3.9 million for the remainder of 2023 and $1.7 million in 2024.

The Company also expects a cash outflow of $81.3 million related to the repayment of principal when the PNC Loan Facility matures in April of 2024.

The Company expects the following cash flows related to operating leases with third parties: $5.9 million in 2023, $8.4 million in 2024, $7.6 million in 2025, $7.3 million in 2026, $6.6 million in 2027, and $14.0 million thereafter.

The Company expects the following cash flows related to operating leases with related parties: $1.3 million in 2023, $1.7 million in 2024, $1.4 million in 2025, $1.4 million in 2026, $1.2 million in 2027, and $1.3 million thereafter.

Cash outflows related to certain vendor contracts with committed expenditures are expected to total approximately $4.1 million. The timing of the expenditures is as follows: $2.6 million in 2023, and $1.5 million in 2024.

The Company does not have any significant supply or other arrangements which result in material cash requirements other than as described above.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with GAAP. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting periods. Significant estimates and assumptions are involved in the calculation of the Company's allowance for contractual adjustments and allowances for uncollectible on accounts receivable, liabilities for provider compensation, and accrued insurance claim reserves. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Variable Interest Entities

AOMC is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company and neither AOMC nor the Company has ownership interest in AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. Both AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are fully owned by physicians. The Company operates its physician practices through the MSAs and other contractual agreements between AOMC, AON Partners, and Partners of Maryland. The responsibilities of AOMC include, but are not limited to negotiating provider and payor contracts, employment and compensation decisions, billing and collections, furnishing all supplies and equipment necessary for the respective practice's operations as well as, necessary real estate, contracting on behalf of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland, entering into leases, holding a power of attorney to perform the above activities, preparing, maintaining and administering all accounting records (including financial reporting), expense payment, and maintenance of all information systems/software. The Company is paid a management fee to compensate AOMC for the services provided. AON Central Services is 80% physician owned and 20% owned by AON LLC. AOMC entered into an agreement with AON Central Services, effective January 1, 2023, for AOMC to provide qualified non-clinical and non-medical employees to AOMC to support the operation of the physician practices. AOMC pays a monthly management fee to AON Central Services equal to the aggregate cost of compensation, benefits and all other costs related to these employees.

Based on various quantitative and qualitative factors, including assessment of certain services performed and relationships held above, management has determined that AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services are all variable interest entities and AOMC is the primary beneficiary who holds the decision-making rights over the activities that most significantly impact AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services' economic performance through the MSAs and other contractual agreements. Accordingly, the results of AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services have been consolidated with the Company for all periods presented. During the first quarter of 2023, Meaningful Insights Biotech Analytics, LLC ("MIBA") was established which is also considered a VIE; however, as of March 31, 2023, it had no activity.

Segment Reporting

Operating segments are identified as components of an enterprise about which separate discrete financial information is available for evaluation by the chief operating decision-maker (the "CODM"). The Company's CODM is its chief executive officer who reviews financial information together with certain operating metrics principally to make decisions about how to allocate resources and to measure the Company's performance. The Company has one operating segment and one reportable segment that are structured around the organizational management of oncology practice operations. All revenues and assets are in the United States.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized under Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("Topic 606"). The Company determines the transaction price based upon standard charges for goods and services with anticipated consideration due from patients, third-party payors (including health insurers and government agencies) and others. The Company's revenue is primarily derived from patient service revenues, which encompass oncology services provided during patient visits and shipments of pharmacy prescriptions. Performance obligations for the Company's services provided to patients and most procedures, are satisfied over the time of visit which is the same day services are performed. Performance obligations relating to pharmacy revenue are considered fully satisfied at a point in time upon the customer receiving delivery of the prescription. Accordingly, the Company does not anticipate a significant amount of revenue from performance obligations satisfied (or partially satisfied) in previous periods.

As services are performed and prescriptions are shipped, timely billing occurs for services rendered and prescriptions shipped less discounts provided to uninsured patients and contractual adjustments to third-party payors based upon prospectively determined rates and discounted charges. Payment is requested at the time of service for self-paying patients and for patients covered by third-party payors that are responsible for paying deductibles and coinsurance.

The Company monitors revenue and receivables to prepare estimated contractual allowances for the anticipated differences between billed and reimbursed amounts. Payments from third-party payors and Government programs including Medicare and Medicaid may be subject to audit and other retrospective adjustments. Such amounts are considered on an estimated basis when net patient revenue is recorded and are adjusted as final adjustments are determined.

The Company has a system and estimation process for recording Medicare net patient service revenue and estimated recoupments as it relates to value-based care ("VBC") revenue included in patient service revenue on the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss). The Company's VBC revenue is primarily generated through its participation in the CMS Oncology Care Model ("OCM") which is an episode-based payment model to promote high-quality cancer care. Participants enter six-month episode periods, and the Company bills a monthly fee during the six-month period based on a fixed rate per participant per month and the total number of participants. Certain quality and compliance metrics are tracked as part of the program and submitted to CMS at the end of the episode period which may result in recoupment of funds. The Company estimates the recoupment amount by developing a recoupment percentage for each period based on historical known recoupment from CMS and applies the recoupment percentage against total fees for the period. Based on the estimate, the Company accrues a liability representing the expected final recoupments based on historical settlement trends.

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable from patients are carried at the original charge for the services provided, and an adjustment is made to the receivable in a contra account based on the historical collection rate for the provider and payor combination. This adjustment takes into consideration any allowance for doubtful accounts. Management determines the allowance for uncollectible accounts based on historical experience.

Business Combinations

The Company evaluates acquired practices in accordance with ASU 2017-01, Business Combinations (Topic 805) — Clarifying the Definition of a Business. This standard clarifies the definition of a business with the objective of adding guidance to assist entities with evaluating whether transactions should be accounted for as acquisitions or disposals of assets or businesses. Because substantially all of the value of each acquired practice did not relate to a similar group of assets and as each acquired practice contained both inputs and processes necessary to provide economic benefits to the Company, it was determined that each acquisition represents a business combination. Therefore, the transactions have been accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting, which requires, with limited exceptions, that assets acquired, and liabilities assumed be recognized at their estimated fair values as of the acquisition date. Any excess of the consideration transferred over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired is recorded as goodwill. Transaction costs related to business combinations are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

Leases

The Company's lease portfolio primarily consists of office and equipment leases for its practice facilities. The Company evaluates whether a contract is or contains a lease at contract inception. A lease exists when a contract conveys to the customer the right to control the use of identified property or equipment for a period of time in exchange for consideration. The definition of a lease embodies two conditions: 1) there is an identified asset in the contract that is land or a depreciable asset (i.e., property, plant, and equipment); and 2) the customer has the right to control the use of the identified asset. ASC 842 requires a lessee to discount its unpaid lease payments using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if that rate cannot be readily determined, its incremental borrowing rate. As the Company's operating leases do not generally provide an implicit rate, the incremental borrowing rate is used based on the information available at commencement date in determining the present value of lease payments. The incremental borrowing rate for a lease is the rate of interest the Company would have to pay on a collateralized basis to borrow an amount equal to the lease payments under similar terms. The lease term for all of the Company's operating leases include the noncancellable period of the lease plus any additional periods covered by either a lessee option to extend (or not to terminate) the lease that the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise, or an option to extend (or not to terminate) the lease controlled by the lessor. Lease payments included in the measurement of the operating lease right-of-use ("ROU") assets and lease liabilities are comprised of fixed payments (including in-substance fixed payments), variable payments that depend on an index or rate, and the exercise price of a lessee option to purchase the underlying asset if the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise.

The operating lease ROU assets are initially measured at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for lease payments made at or before the lease commencement date, plus any initial direct costs incurred less any lease incentives received. The operating lease ROU assets are subsequently measured throughout the lease term at the carrying amount of the lease liability, plus initial direct costs, plus (minus) any prepaid (accrued) lease payments, less the unamortized balance of lease incentives received. Lease expense for lease payments is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The operating lease liabilities are initially measured at the present value of the unpaid lease payments at the lease commencement date.

Professional Liability

The Company maintains an insurance policy for exposure to professional malpractice insurance risk beyond selected retention levels. Reserves are established for estimates of the loss that will ultimately be incurred on claims that have been reported but not paid and claims that have been incurred but not reported. These reserves are established based on consultation with a third-party actuary. The actuarial valuations consider a number of factors, including historical claims payment patterns, changes in case reserves and the assumed rate of increase in healthcare costs. Management believes the use of actuarial methods to account for these reserves provides a consistent and effective way to measure these subjective accruals. However, due to the sensitive nature of this estimation technique, recorded reserves could differ from ultimate costs related to these claims due to changes in claims reporting, claims payment and settlement practices and differences in assumed future cost increases. Accrued unpaid claims and expenses that are expected to be paid within the next twelve months are classified as current liabilities and included in accrued other. All other accrued unpaid claims and expenses are classified as long-term liabilities and included in other long-term liabilities. Insurance recoveries associated with the unpaid claims are classified as long-term assets included in other assets.

Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

Market risk represents the risk of loss that may impact our financial position due to adverse changes in financial market prices and rates. Our market risk exposure is primarily a result of exposure due to potential changes in inflation or interest rates. We do not hold financial instruments for trading purposes.

Interest Rate Risk

Certain of AON's outstanding indebtedness bears interest at a floating rate. As a result, AON may be exposed to fluctuations in interest rates to the extent of its borrowings under these arrangements. AON does not currently engage in any hedging or derivative instruments to attempt to offset this risk. Based on the total amount of variable debt outstanding as of March 31, 2023, if the Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index increased by 1.0% due to normal market conditions, AON's interest expense will increase by approximately $0.8 million per annum.

AON had $81.3 million of borrowings under loans with variable rates as of March 31, 2023.

Inflation Risk

The healthcare industry is very labor intensive and salaries and benefits are subject to inflationary pressures, as are drug and medical supplies costs, medical equipment and other costs. The nationwide shortage of nurses and other clinical staff and support personnel has been a significant operating issue facing us and other healthcare providers. In particular, like others in the healthcare industry, we have experienced a shortage of nurses and other clinical staff and support personnel in certain geographic areas, which was largely driven by the COVID-19 pandemic. Nationally, the increase demand for healthcare workers has in some regions, required us to offer one-time retention bonuses, pay premium wages above standard compensation for essential workers, and even utilize higher cost temporary labor. This staffing shortage may require us to further enhance wages and benefits to recruit and retain nurses and other clinical staff and support personnel or require us to hire expensive temporary personnel. We have also experienced cost increases related to the procurement of medical supplies and equipment as well as construction of new facilities and additional capacity added to existing facilities. Our ability to pass on increased costs associated with providing healthcare to Medicare and Medicaid patients is limited due to various federal, state and local laws which have been enacted that, in certain cases, limit our ability to increase prices.

We minimize the impact of inflation on our labor, drug, and supply costs primarily through maintaining strong relationship with our suppliers and GPO and renegotiated contracts with our payors. In addition, AOP has a Pharmacy and Therapeutics Committee ("P&T Committee") that meets biweekly to evaluate and modify the preferred drug formulary. The P&T Committee considers the following in its formulary recommendations: 1) evidence-based research demonstrating favorable clinical outcomes of such treatment; 2) potential adverse events or side effects of such treatment; and 3) cost of such treatment to the applicable stakeholder (patient and payor).

AON EXECUTIVE AND DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

Unless the context otherwise requires, all references in this section to the “Company,” “we,” “us,” or “our” refer to the business of AON and its subsidiaries prior to the consummation of the Business Combination and to New AON and its subsidiaries after the Business Combination. This discussion may contain forward-looking statements that are based on AON’s current plans, considerations, expectations and determinations regarding future compensation programs. Actual compensation programs that it adopts following the completion of the Business Combination may differ materially from the currently planned programs summarized in this discussion. All unit counts in this section are shown on a pre-Business Combination basis.

As an emerging growth company under the JOBS Act, we have opted to comply with the executive compensation disclosure rules applicable to “smaller reporting companies” as such term is defined in the rules promulgated under the Securities Act, which permit us to limit reporting of executive compensation to our principal executive officer and our two other most highly compensated executive officers.

Our executive compensation program is designed to attract, motivate and retain high quality leadership and incentivize our executive officers to achieve performance goals over the short-and long-term, which also aligns the interests of our executive officers with those of our stockholders.

Our named executive officers (or “NEOs”) for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2022, which consist of our principal executive officer and our two other most highly compensated executive officers, and one additional individual for whom would have been one of our two other most highly compensated executive officer but for the fact that the individual was not serving as an executive officer at the end of the last completed fiscal year, were:

- Todd Schonherz, Chief Executive Officer;
- Stephen “Fred” Divers, M.D.;
- David Gould, Chief Financial Officer and
- Bradley Prechtl, our former President and Chief Development Officer.

(1) For fiscal year 2022, other compensation for Mr. Schonherz includes $16,800 for an automobile allowance.

(2) For fiscal year 2021, other compensation for Mr. Schonherz includes $14,769 for an automobile allowance.

(3) Reported amount consists of performance payment paid to Dr. Divers in connection with his performance as a practicing physician. Dr. Divers was appointed to Chief Medical Officer on April 1 2022.

(4) As of October 31, 2022, Mr. Prechtl is no longer an executive officer of AON.

- (5) For fiscal year 2022, other compensation for Mr. Prechtl includes $44,185 for an automobile allowance and severance benefits totaling $166,183, consisting of $118,982 in cash payment and $47,201 in COBRA benefits as further disclosed under the section titled “Potential Payments Upon Termination or Change in Control” below.
- (6) For fiscal year 2021, other compensation for Mr. Prechtl includes $32,600 for an automobile allowance.

Narrative Disclosure to Summary Compensation Table

The following describes the material elements of our compensation program for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2022 as applicable to our named executive officers and reflected in the Summary Compensation Table above.

Base Salary

Base salaries for our executive officers were established primarily based on individual negotiations with the executive officers when they joined us. In determining compensation for our executive officers, we considered salaries provided to executive officers of similarly situated companies in the healthcare industry, each executive officer’s anticipated role criticality relative to others at the Company and our determination of the essential need to attract and retain these executive officers.

Employee Benefits and Perquisites

We provide health, dental, vision, life and disability insurance benefits to our named executive officers, on the same terms and conditions as provided to our other employees. We provide an automobile allowance to select executive officers as well as small incidental reimbursements for certain personal expenses such as travel costs and mobile devices.

Retirement Benefits

401(k) Plan. We maintain a 401(k) plan that provides eligible U.S. employees with an opportunity to save for retirement on a tax advantaged basis. Eligible employees are able to defer eligible compensation up to certain Code limits, which are updated annually. Contributions are allocated to each participant’s individual account and are then invested in selected investment alternatives according to the participants’ directions. Employees are immediately and fully vested in their own contributions. The Company may elect to make matching or other contributions into participant’s individual accounts, but made no such contributions during our 2022 fiscal year. The 401(k) plan is intended to be qualified under Section 401(a) of the Code, with the related trust intended to be tax exempt under Section 501(a) of the Code. As a tax-qualified retirement plan, contributions to the 401(k) plan are deductible by us when made, and contributions and earnings on those amounts are not taxable to the employees until withdrawn or distributed from the 401(k) plan.

Employment Agreements

On April 1, 2021, we entered into an employment agreement with Mr. Schonherz (the “Schonherz Employment Agreement”), pursuant to which he agreed to serve as our Chief Executive Officer. The Schonherz Employment Agreement has an initial term through March 31, 2026 and automatically renews for one-year periods thereafter, unless terminated in advance by either party in accordance with the terms of the agreement. Pursuant to the Schonherz Employment Agreement, Mr. Schonherz is entitled to receive an annual base salary of $675,000 per year (the “Base Salary”). Mr. Schonherz’s Base Salary is increased on an annual basis in the amount of three percent of the previous calendar year’s Base Salary on January 1 of each year during the term and any renewal term under the Schonherz Employment Agreement.

The Schonherz Employment Agreement also provides that Mr. Schonherz is eligible for an annual cash bonus based upon achievement of annual performance goals for Mr. Schonherz and/or the Company determined by the Board of Managers each year. Mr. Schonherz’s annual fully-earned bonus opportunity is equal to a minimum of $275,000 for 2021 and will be determined by the Board of Managers for subsequent years.

We do not have an employment agreement with Dr. Divers in connection with employment as Chief Medical Officer.

On July 28, 2020, we entered into an offer letter with David Gould, pursuant to which he agreed to serve as our Chief Financial Officer with a start date of September 17, 2020 (the "Gould Offer Letter"). Under the Gould Offer Letter, Mr. Gould is eligible for a base salary of $300,000. The Gould Offer Letter also provides that Mr. Gould is eligible for an annual cash bonus based upon achievement of annual performance goals for Mr. Gould and/or the Company of up to 20% of Mr. Gould's base salary, with a stretch opportunity up to 25% of Mr. Gould's base salary.

On April 1, 2021, we entered into an employment agreement with Mr. Prechtl (the "Prechtl Employment Agreement"), pursuant to which he agreed to serve as our President and Chief Development Officer, and which remained in effect through October 31, 2022, the date of his termination of employment. Pursuant to the Prechtl Employment Agreement, Mr. Prechtl was entitled to receive an annual base salary of $650,000. As of October 31, 2022, Mr. Prechtl is no longer an executive officer of AON.

Potential Payments Upon Termination or Change in Control

Todd Schonherz

Under the terms of his employment agreement, if Mr. Schonherz's employment is terminated by AON without cause or by Mr. Schonherz for good reason (as such terms are defined in the Schonherz Employment Agreement), then Mr. Schonherz will become eligible to receive the following benefits for a period of twelve (12) months after the effective date of his termination or until he obtains and commences other employment, whichever occurs first:

- monthly payments equal to (a) his monthly base salary in effect immediately prior to termination, plus (b) an amount equal to one-twelfth of his performance bonus which was paid or is to be paid to him under the Schonherz Employment Agreement for prior calendar year; and
- monthly insurance stipend payments equal to aggregate insurance premiums paid by AON to provide health, dental, vision, and disability insurance benefits for him of the effective date of termination, calculated as a monthly amount.

Stephen "Fred" Divers

No payments are due to Dr. Divers upon a termination or change in control.

David Gould

Under the terms of his employment letter, upon a termination without cause, Mr. Gould is entitled to 12 months of base salary.

Brad Prechtl

Mr. Prechtl resigned from his employment with AON effective October 31, 2022. Pursuant to the terms of his resignation, Mr. Prechtl received his base salary paid through December 30, 2022 and an amount equal to 12 months of COBRA family medical and dental premiums determined based on open enrollment. The total value paid to Mr. Prechtl was $166,183, consisting of $118,982 in cash payment and $47,201 in COBRA benefits.

Outstanding Equity Awards at Fiscal Year-End

There were no outstanding equity awards held by our NEOs as of December 31, 2022.

Equity Plans

We did not have equity plans in effect during the year ended December 31, 2022.

Non-Employee Director Compensation

During the year ended December 31, 2022, we did not have a formal non-employee director compensation program. The following table provides total compensation paid or awarded in 2022 to our non-employee directors who served on the AON Board of Managers during 2022 based on our informal compensation program. Compensation to our directors consisted of a $1,500 hourly rate to our board chair for all board meetings attended, with $1,000 hourly rate for all other directors for their attendance at board meetings. Additionally, all directors were compensated at a rate of $375 per hour for all advisory and committee hours contributed throughout the year. Further, we reimburse non-employee members of our Board of Managers for reasonable costs and expenses incurred in attending board meetings.

(2) Such individuals did not serve as directors on the Board of Managers of AON during 2022, but served on certain ad hoc committees of the AON Board of Managers. Compensation disclosed herein with respect to such individuals reflects compensation in connection with such service. Ms. Wright-Browne was appointed to the Board of Managers in January 2023.

SECURITY OWNERSHIP OF CERTAIN BENEFICIAL OWNERS AND MANAGEMENT

The table below sets forth information regarding (i) the beneficial ownership of DTOC common stock as of the record date and (ii) the expected beneficial ownership of New AON common stock immediately following consummation of the Business Combination assuming no redemption and assuming 100% redemption for:

- each person known who is, or is expected to be upon consummation of the Business Combination, the beneficial owner of more than 5% of the outstanding shares of New AON common stock;
- each member of the DTOC Board and each of DTOC's named executive officers;
- each person who will become a member of the New AON Board or a named executive officer of New AON upon the consummation of the Business Combination; and
- all of the members of the DTOC Board and the executive officers of DTOC as a group, and all members of the New AON Board and the executive officers of New AON following consummation of the Business Combination as a group.

Beneficial ownership is determined according to the rules of the SEC, which generally provide that a person has beneficial ownership of a security if he, she or it possesses sole or shared voting or investment power over that security. Under those rules, beneficial ownership includes securities that the individual or entity has the right to acquire, such as through the exercise of warrants or stock options or the vesting of restricted stock units, within 60 days of the record date. Shares subject to warrants or options that are currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days of the record date or subject to restricted stock units that vest within 60 days of the record date are considered outstanding and beneficially owned by the person holding such warrants, options or restricted stock units for the purpose of computing the percentage ownership of that person but are not treated as outstanding for the purpose of computing the percentage ownership of any other person. Shares issuable pursuant to restricted stock units or underlying options of New AON listed in the table below are represented in shares of New AON common stock, after giving effect to the Business Combination.

- (1) Unless otherwise noted, the business address of each of the directors and officers prior to the Business Combination is 10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126, Los Angeles, CA 90067. After the consummation of the Business Combination, the business address of each of the directors and officers will be 14543 Global Parkway, Suite 110, Fort Myers, FL 33913.
- (2) Prior to the Business Combination, the percentage of beneficial ownership of DTOC on the record date is calculated based on (i) 10,109,569 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and (ii) 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock, in each case, outstanding as of such date.
- (3) The expected beneficial ownership of New AON immediately upon consummation of the Business Combination, assuming no holders of public shares exercise their redemption rights in connection therewith and the Closing occurs, is based on 38,240,502 shares of New AON common stock outstanding as of such date, and consists of (i) 7,191,444 shares of DTOC Class A common stock that will convert into a like number of shares of New AON common stock, (ii) 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock that will convert into a like number of shares of New AON common stock and (iii) 30,974,058 shares of New AON common stock that may be issued to the New AON Holders in connection with the Business Combination.
- (4) The expected beneficial ownership of New AON immediately upon consummation of the Business Combination, assuming the holders of all 1,847,069 public shares exercise their redemption rights in connection therewith and the Closing occurs, is based on 36,393,433 shares New AON common stock outstanding as of such date, and consists of (i) 5,344,375 shares of DTOC Class A common stock that will convert into a like number of shares of New AON common stock, (ii) 75,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock that will convert into a like number of shares of New AON common stock and (iii) 30,974,058 shares of New AON common stock that may be issued to the New AON Holders in connection with the Business Combination.

- (5) The shares reported above are held in the name of the Sponsor. With respect to shares beneficially owned prior to the Business Combination, the amount disclosed excludes 6,133,333 shares issuable upon exercise of private warrants because such warrants are not exercisable prior to the Closing. With respect to shares beneficially owned following to the Business Combination, the amount disclosed includes 6,133,333 shares issuable upon exercise of private warrants, but excludes 2,918,125 shares that are subject to earnout. The Sponsor is managed by Kevin Nazemi, and Mr. Nazemi has sole voting and dispositive power with respect to the shares held of record by the Sponsor and thus is the beneficial owner of the shares owned by the Sponsor. The business address of the Sponsor is 10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126 Los Angeles, CA 90067.
- (6) Interests shown consist solely of shares of Class B common stock. Such shares will automatically convert into Class A common stock at the time of our initial business combination on a one-for-one basis.
- (7) The shares reported as beneficially owned consist of 6,643,019 shares issuable to AEA Growth Equity Fund LP and AEA Growth Equity Fund (Parallel) LP (collectively, the "AEA Growth Funds") upon conversion of the Series A Preferred Stock at an initial conversion price of $10.00 per share. The general partner of each of the AEA Growth Funds is AEA Growth Equity Partners LP. The general partner of AEA Growth Equity Partners LP is AEA Growth Equity GP LLC. The sole member of AEA Growth Equity GP LLC is AEA Management UGP LLC. Brian Hoesterey is a managing member of AEA Management UGP LLC. As a result, Mr. Hoesterey may be deemed to share voting and dispositive power with respect to the shares held of record by the AEA Growth Funds. Mr. Hoesterey expressly disclaims beneficial ownership of the shares held by the AEA Growth Funds. Mr. Sarin and Mr. Stith, each expected to be a member of the New AON board of directors, are partners of AEA Growth but do not hold voting or dispositive power over the shares held by the AEA Growth Funds. The address for the AEA Growth Funds is 520 Madison Avenue, 40th Floor, New York, New York 10022.
- (8) Excludes Bradley Precht, AON's former President and Chief Development Officer.

After the consummation of the Business Combination, the Sponsor and its affiliates are also expected to own warrants to purchase an additional 6,113,333 shares of New AON Class A common stock. The warrants will not be exercisable until 30 days following the consummation of the Business Combination. Assuming the exercise of all of the Sponsor's warrants (and none of the public warrants), the Sponsor and its affiliates would be deemed to own 11,532,708 shares of New AON common stock, which constitutes 26.0% of the New AON common stock outstanding assuming no redemptions, or 27.1% of the New AON common stock outstanding assuming 100% redemption, in each case on a fully diluted basis.

Executive Officers and Directors After the Business Combination

For biographical information concerning current executive officers and directors of the Company, see "Management of AON." For biographical information concerning Bradley Fluegel, see "Management of DTOC."

Mr. Ravi Sarin is Co-Head and Founding Partner of AEA Growth since 2021. Mr. Sarin is also the Founder and Managing Partner of ROCA Partners, a growth equity investment firm focused on tech-enabled services, software and healthcare services companies, which he founded in 2015. Previously, he was a Principal in the Private Equity Group at Ares Management from 2009 to 2015. At Ares, Mr. Sarin helped lead investments in healthcare services among a few other sectors. Prior to Ares, Mr. Sarin was a private equity investor at Bain Capital and a consultant at Bain & Company. Mr. Sarin currently serves on the boards of directors of several companies including AS Software, Bespoke Partners, Cenegenics and Commonwealth Pain & Spine and previously served on the board of directors of a number of companies including Floor & Decor, Jacuzzi Brands, Ob Hospitalist Group, Oceans Healthcare, Riviera Partners, True Blue Car Wash and Unified Women's Healthcare. Mr. Sarin received a B.S. in Electrical Engineering and a M.S. in Management Science & Engineering from Stanford University and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School. Mr. Sarin was selected to serve on our board of directors due to his experience working with and serving as a director of a number of healthcare services companies.

Corporate Governance Guidelines and Code of Business Conduct

The New AON Board will adopt Corporate Governance Guidelines that address items such as the qualifications and responsibilities of its directors and director candidates and corporate governance policies and standards applicable and closely aligns the New AON Board's interests with those of its stockholders. In addition, the New AON Board will adopt a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics that applies to all of its employees, officers and directors, including its Chief Executive Officer and other executive and senior financial officers. The full text of New AON's Corporate Governance Guidelines and its Code of Business Conduct and Ethics will be posted on the Corporate Governance portion of New AON's website. New AON will post amendments to its Code of Business Conduct and Ethics or waivers of its Code of Business Conduct and Ethics for directors and officers on the same website.

Board Composition

New AON's business and affairs will be managed under the direction of its board of directors. Following the adoption of the Proposed Charter in connection with the Business Combination, the New AON Board will be divided into three classes, designated as Class I, Class II and Class III. The directors first elected to Class I will hold office for a term expiring at the first annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination, which shall include one director elected by the holders of a majority of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock; the directors first elected to Class II will hold office for a term expiring at the second annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination; and the directors first elected to Class III will hold office for a term expiring at the third annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination. At each succeeding annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON, the successors to the class of directors whose term expires at that meeting will be elected by plurality vote of all votes cast at such meeting to hold office for a term expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders held in the third year following the year of their election.

Director Independence

In connection with the Business Combination, New AON common stock will be listed on Nasdaq, or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties. Under the rules of Nasdaq, independent directors must comprise a majority of a listed company's board of directors. In addition, the rules of Nasdaq require that, subject to specified exceptions, each member of a listed company's audit, compensation and nominating and corporate governance committees be independent. We expect we will have a majority of independent directors on our board. Under the rules of Nasdaq, a director will only qualify as an "independent director" if that company's board of directors affirmatively determines that such person does not have a material relationship with the listed company. Audit committee members must also satisfy the additional independence criteria set forth in Rule 10A-3 under the Exchange Act and the rules of Nasdaq. Compensation committee members must also satisfy the additional independence criteria set forth in Rule 10C-1 under the Exchange Act and the rules of Nasdaq.

In order to be considered independent for purposes of Rule 10A-3 under the Exchange Act and under the rules of Nasdaq, a member of an audit committee of a listed company may not, other than in his or her capacity as a member of the committee, the board of directors, or any other board committee: (1) accept, directly or indirectly, any consulting, advisory, or other compensatory fee from the listed company or any of its subsidiaries; or (2) be an affiliated person of the listed company or any of its subsidiaries.

To be considered independent for purposes of Rule 10C-1 under the Exchange Act and under the rules of Nasdaq, the board of directors must affirmatively determine that a member of the compensation committee is independent, including a consideration of all factors specifically relevant to determining whether the director has a relationship to the company which is material to that director's ability to be independent from management in connection with the duties of a compensation committee member, including, but not limited to: (i) the source of compensation of such director, including any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee paid by the company to such director; and (ii) whether such director is affiliated with the company, a subsidiary of the company or an affiliate of a subsidiary of the company.

Committees of the New AON Board of Directors

The New AON Board will have an audit committee, compensation committee and nominating and corporate governance committee. The composition and responsibilities of each of the committees of the New AON Board is described below. Members will serve on these committees until their resignation or until as otherwise determined by the New AON Board. The New AON Board may from time to time establish other committees. New AON's Chief Executive Officer and other executive officers will regularly report to the non-executive directors and each standing committee to ensure effective and efficient oversight of its activities and to assist in proper risk management and the ongoing evaluation of management controls.

Audit Committee

Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Shalin R. Shah will serve as members of our Audit Committee. Under the Nasdaq listing standards and applicable SEC rules, all the directors on the Audit Committee must be independent; our board of directors has determined that each of Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Shalin R. Shah are independent under the Nasdaq listing standards and applicable SEC rules. Bradley Fluegel will serve as the Chairman of the Audit Committee. Each member of the Audit Committee is financially literate and our board of directors has determined that Bradley Fluegel qualifies as an "audit committee financial expert" as defined in applicable SEC rules. The Audit Committee will be responsible for, among other things:

- overseeing and monitoring the quality and integrity of financial statements and the performance of our internal audit function;
- selecting a qualified firm to serve as the independent registered public accounting firm to audit New AON's financial statements;
- helping to ensure the independence and evaluating and overseeing the performance of the independent registered public accounting firm;
- discussing the scope and results of the audit with the independent registered public accounting firm and reviewing, with management and the independent registered public accounting firm, New AON's interim and year-end financial statements;
- developing procedures for employees to submit concerns anonymously about questionable accounting or audit matters;
- reviewing and overseeing New AON's policies on risk assessment and risk management, including enterprise risk management;
- reviewing the adequacy and effectiveness of accounting principles, accounting policies, internal financial and accounting control policies and procedures and New AON's disclosure controls and procedures and ensuring compliance with legal and regulatory requirements; and
- approving or, as required, pre-approving, all audit and all permissible non-audit services, other than de minimis non-audit services, to be performed by the independent registered public accounting firm.

The New AON Board will adopt a written charter for the Audit Committee which will be available on New AON's website upon the completion of the Business Combination.

Compensation Committee

James Stith, Shalin R. Shah and Vipul Patel will serve as members of our Compensation Committee. Under the Nasdaq listing standards, we are required to have a Compensation Committee composed entirely of independent directors; our Board of Directors has determined that each of James Stith, Vipul Patel and Shalin R. Shah are independent. Shalin R. Shah will serve as Chairman of the Compensation Committee. New AON's Compensation Committee will be responsible for, among other things:

- reviewing, approving and determining the compensation of New AON's executive officers;
- reviewing, approving and determining compensation and benefits, including equity awards, to directors for service on the New AON Board or any committee thereof;
- administering New AON's equity compensation plans;
- reviewing, approving and, in certain situations, making recommendations to the New AON Board regarding incentive compensation and equity compensation plans; and
- establishing and reviewing general policies relating to compensation and benefits of New AON's employees.

The New AON Board will adopt a written charter for the Compensation Committee, which will be available on New AON's website upon the completion of the Business Combination.

Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee

Ravi Sarin, Bradley Fluegel and Vance M. Wright-Browne will serve as members of our Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. Under the Nasdaq listing standards, we are required to have a nominating and corporate governance committee composed entirely of independent directors; our Board of Directors has determined that each of Ravi Sarin, Bradley Fluegel and Vance M. Wright-Browne are independent. Ravi Sarin will serve as Chairman of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is responsible for, among other things:

- identifying, evaluating and selecting, or making recommendations to the New AON Board regarding, nominees for election to the New AON Board and its committees consistent with criteria approved by the New AON Board;
- evaluating the performance of the New AON Board, individual directors and management of New AON;
- considering, and making recommendations to the New AON Board regarding the composition of the New AON Board and its committees;
- reviewing developments in corporate governance practices;
- evaluating the adequacy of the corporate governance practices and reporting;
- reviewing related party transactions; and
- developing, and making recommendations to the New AON Board regarding, corporate governance guidelines and matters.

The New AON Board will adopt a written charter for the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, which will be available on New AON's website upon the completion of the Business Combination.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

None of the New AON officers currently serves, and in the past year has not served, (i) as a member of the compensation committee or the board of directors of another entity, one of whose officers served on Company's compensation committee, or (ii) as a member of the compensation committee of another entity, one of whose officers served on the Company Board.

Related Party Policy

New AON will adopt a formal written policy that will be effective upon the Business Combination that sets forth the following policies and procedures for the review and approval or ratification of related party transactions. A "Related Party Transaction" is a transaction, arrangement or relationship in which New AON or any of its subsidiaries was, is or will be a participant, the amount of which involved exceeds $120,000, and in which any related party had, has or will have a direct or indirect material interest. A "Related Party" means:

- any person who is, or at any time during the applicable period was, one of New AON's officers or one of New AON's directors;
- any person who is known by New AON to be the beneficial owner of more than five percent (5%) of its voting stock;
- any immediate family member of any of the foregoing persons, which means any child, stepchild, parent, stepparent, spouse, sibling, mother-in-law, father-in-law, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, sister-in-law or brother-in-law of a director, officer or a beneficial owner of more than five percent (5%) of its voting stock, and any person (other than a tenant or employee) sharing the household of such director, officer or beneficial owner of more than five percent (5%) of its voting stock; and
- any firm, corporation or other entity in which any of the foregoing persons is a partner or principal or in a similar position or in which such person has a ten percent (10%) or greater beneficial ownership interest.

New AON will enact policies and procedures designed to minimize potential conflicts of interest arising from any dealings it may have with its affiliates and to provide appropriate procedures for the disclosure of any real or potential conflicts of interest that may exist from time to time. Specifically, pursuant to its charter, the Audit Committee will have the responsibility to review related party transactions.

Role of the New AON Board in Risk Oversight

The New AON Board will have extensive involvement in the oversight of risk management related to New AON and its business as a whole, including its strategy, business performance, capital structure, management selection, compensation programs, shareholder engagement, corporate reputation, ESG matters, and ethical business practices. The New AON Board will discharge various aspects of its oversight responsibilities through its standing committees, which in turn will report to it regularly regarding their activities. The audit committee will represent the New AON Board by periodically reviewing our accounting, reporting and financial practices, including the integrity of New AON's financial statements and the surveillance of administrative and financial controls, as well as enterprise risk management, cyber risk and review of related party transactions.

Through its regular meetings with management, including the finance, legal, internal audit and information technology functions, the audit committee will review and discuss all significant areas of our business and summarize for the New AON Board all areas of risk and the appropriate mitigating factors. The governance committee will provide oversight over compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, ethics and whistleblower matters. The compensation committee will review the company's incentive compensation arrangements to determine whether they encourage excessive risk-taking and discuss with management the relationship between risk management policies and practices and compensation. The M&A committee will assist the New AON Board in the discharge of its responsibilities relating to the evaluation of potential acquisitions. In addition, the New AON Board will receive periodic detailed operating performance reviews from management.

THE BUSINESS COMBINATION AND THE BUSINESS COMBINATION AGREEMENT

This section describes the material terms of the Business Combination Agreement. The description in this section and elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the Business Combination Agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this proxy statement/prospectus. This summary does not purport to be complete and may not contain all of the information about the Business Combination Agreement that is important to you. You are encouraged to read the Business Combination Agreement carefully and in its entirety. This section is not intended to provide you with any factual information about DTOC or AON. Such information can be found elsewhere in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Structure of the Business Combination

As a result of the Business Combination, the combined companies will be organized in an umbrella partnership C corporation structure, sometimes referred to as an “Up-C” structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined companies will continue to be held by AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the Business Combination will be implemented as follows:

- DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
- on the Closing, AON will adopt the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement to reclassify:
 - existing AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of New AON Class A common stock in an amount equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class B units into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio;
 - existing AON Class C units into the number of AON Series A preferred units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio;
- upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “Practice Profit Pool Shares”). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.00;
- on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, New AON will adopt the Proposed Charter to provide for the (a) conversion of all existing shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of New AON Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) designation of a new series of New AON preferred stock as Series A convertible preferred stock (the “New AON Series A Preferred Stock”) with such rights and preferences as provided for in the certificate of designation of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock (the “New AON Series A Certificate of Designation”) and authorization of such number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio; and
- on the Closing and following the adoption of the Proposed Charter and filing of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, (a) AON will issue AON common units to New AON in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of New AON Class B common stock (and Class B Prefunded Warrants if any holders of AON common units make an election to receive Class B Prefunded Warrants in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock), (b) New AON will be admitted as a member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of New AON Class B common stock or Class B Prefunded Warrants, as applicable, to AON equityholders, (d) New AON will reserve a specified number of additional shares of New AON Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, (e) Merger Sub will merge with and into the AON Class C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), (f) promptly after the First Step, the AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON whereby the separate existence of the AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold all the AON Series A preferred units and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units together with an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants) for shares of New AON Class A common stock.

The following diagram illustrates a simplified version of the organizational structure of the combined companies immediately following the completion of the Business Combination. This chart is provided for illustrative purposes only and does not represent all legal entities of AON and its affiliates.

Following the completion of the Business Combination, as described above, our organizational structure will be what is commonly referred to as an umbrella partnership corporation (or UP-C) structure. This Up-C structure, which is often used by entities classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, such as AON, undertaking an initial public offering, an initial business combination with a SPAC or other going-public transactions, allows the existing equityholders of AON to retain their equity ownership in AON LLC, an entity that is classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in the form of AON common units. By contract, investors of DTOC, who, prior to the Business Combination, held DTOC Class A common stock or Class B common stock, will hold their equity ownership in New AON, which is a domestic corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. We believe that existing equityholders of AON will generally find it advantageous to continue to hold their equity interests in an entity that is not taxable as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes. We do not believe that the Up-C structure will give rise to any significant business or strategic detriment to New AON following the consummation of the Business Combination.

Closing and Effective Time of the Business Combination

The Closing will take place (a) electronically by the mutual exchange of electronic signatures commencing as promptly as practicable (and in any event no later than 9:00 a.m. Eastern Time on the third business day) following the satisfaction or (to the extent permitted by applicable law) waiver of the closing conditions set forth in the Business Combination Agreement (other than those conditions that by their terms or nature are to be satisfied at the Closing; provided, that such conditions are satisfied or (to the extent permitted by applicable law) waived in writing) or (b) at such other place, time or date as DTOC and AON may mutually agree in writing. See “— Conditions to the Business Combination” for a more complete description of the conditions that must be satisfied prior to the Closing.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the parties expect the Business Combination will be completed in the second half of 2023.

Covenants and Agreements

Conduct of Businesses Prior to the Completion of the Business Combination

From the date of the Business Combination Agreement until the earlier of the Closing and the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms, AON will, and will cause its subsidiaries to, except as required or contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, as consented to in writing by DTOC (which consent will not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable law (including measures taken in response to COVID-19), use its commercially reasonable efforts to:

- conduct and operate its business in the ordinary course of business in all material respects;
- timely pay all material taxes due and payable by it (except to the extent being diligently contested in good faith by appropriate actions and for which adequate reserves are established); and
- maintain the existing relations and goodwill of AON's subsidiaries with customers, suppliers, joint venture partners, distributors and creditors of AON's subsidiaries in all material respects.

In addition, except as required or contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, as consented to by DTOC in writing (which consent will generally not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable law (including measures taken in response to COVID-19), AON will not, and will cause its subsidiaries not to:

- change or amend its organizational documents;
- make, declare, set aside, establish a record date for or pay any dividend or distribution, other than any dividends or distributions from any wholly-owned subsidiary of AON, either to AON or any other wholly-owned subsidiaries of AON;
- enter into, modify, amend, waive any right under, or terminate, any material contract or any lease to which AON or any of its subsidiaries is a party or by which it is bound, but in each case excluding (i) entries, modifications, amendments, waivers, terminations or non-renewals of contracts in the ordinary course of business, (ii) non-renewals or expirations of contracts in accordance with their terms and (iii) terminations of any related party arrangements;
- issue, deliver, sell, transfer, pledge or dispose of, or place any lien (other than a permitted lien) on, any equity securities of AON or any of its subsidiaries or (ii) issue or grant any options, warrants or other rights to purchase or obtain any equity securities of AON or any of its subsidiaries, except in the ordinary course pursuant to any existing AON benefit plan;
- sell, assign, transfer, convey, lease, exclusively license, abandon, allow to lapse or expire, subject to or grant any lien (other than permitted liens) on, or otherwise dispose of, any material assets, rights or properties (including material owned intellectual property) of AON and its subsidiaries, other than (i) the expiration of owned intellectual property in accordance with the applicable statutory term or abandonment of owned intellectual property registrations or applications in the ordinary course of business, (ii) non-exclusive licenses of owned intellectual property granted in the ordinary course consistent with past practices, (iii) the sale or provision of AON products to customers in the ordinary course of business, or the sale, permission to lapse, abandonment, or other disposition of tangible assets or equipment deemed by AON in its reasonable business judgment to be obsolete or not worth the costs of maintaining or registering the item, or (iv) transactions among the subsidiaries of AON;

- disclose to any person any trade secrets or any source code constituting owned intellectual property (in each case, other than to DTOC or its representatives, or pursuant to a written confidentiality agreement entered into in the ordinary course of business, or in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement);
- cancel or compromise any claim or indebtedness owed to AON or any of its subsidiaries, (ii) settle any pending or threatened action, (A) if such settlement would require payment by AON in an amount greater than $500,000, (B) to the extent such settlement includes an agreement to accept or concede injunctive relief restricting AON in a manner materially adverse to AON, (C) to the extent such settlement involves a governmental authority or alleged criminal wrongdoing, or (D) to the extent such settlement relates to any transaction litigation, or (iii) agree to modify in any respect materially adverse to AON and its subsidiaries any confidentiality or similar contract to which AON or any of its subsidiaries is a party;
- except as otherwise required by the terms of existing AON benefit plans and as in effect on the date of the Business Combination Agreement, (i) grant any material increase in compensation, benefits or severance to any current or former AON service provider of AON and its subsidiaries, except in connection with a promotion based on job performance or workplace requirements for an employee with annual base compensation equal to or less than $200,000 in the ordinary course of business and consistent with past practice; (ii) make any grant or promise of any severance, retention or termination payment or arrangement to any current or former AON service provider, except for any severance or termination payments in connection with the termination of any key employee in the ordinary course of business not to exceed $75,000; (iii) make any change in the key management structure of AON and/or applicable AON subsidiary, including the hiring of any individuals who would be, upon such hire, key employees, or the termination (other than for "cause" or due to death or disability) of key employees; (iv) take any action to accelerate any payments or benefits, or the funding of any payments or benefits, payable or to become payable to any current or former AON service provider; (v) establish, adopt, enter into, amend or terminate in any material respect any material AON benefit plan or any collective bargaining or similar agreement, or any plan, agreement, program, policy, trust, fund, contract or other arrangement that would be a AON benefit plan if it were in existence as of the date of the Business Combination Agreement, other than in the ordinary course of business (and other than an employment offer letter providing for at-will employment with respect to a new employee that does not contain severance and/or a transaction or retention payment) with respect to new employees with an annual compensation not exceeding $200,000; or (vi) hire (or make an offer to hire), engage, terminate (without cause), furlough, or temporarily layoff any AON service provider with annual base compensation in excess of $200,000;
- implement or announce any employee layoffs, furloughs, reductions in force, or similar actions that could require advance notice under the WARN Act;
- negotiate, modify, extend, or enter into any collective bargaining agreement or (ii) recognize or certify any labor union, labor organization, works council, or group of employees as the bargaining representative for any employee of AON or any of its subsidiaries;
- waive or release any noncompetition, nonsolicitation, nondisclosure, noninterference, non-disparagement, or other restrictive covenant obligation of any individual;
- directly or indirectly acquire by merging or consolidating with, or by purchasing a substantial portion of the assets of, or by purchasing all of or a substantial equity interest in, or by any other manner, any business or any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture, association or other entity or person or division thereof in each case, that would be material to AON and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, and other than in the ordinary course of business;

- make any loans or advance any money or other property to any person, except for (A) advances in the ordinary course of business to employees, officers or independent contractors of AON or any of its subsidiaries, (B) prepayments and deposits paid to suppliers of AON or any of its subsidiaries in the ordinary course of business, (C) trade credit extended to customers of AON or any of its subsidiaries in the ordinary course of business, and (D) loans or advances among AON and a wholly-owned subsidiary or between wholly-owned subsidiaries of AON;
- redeem, purchase, repurchase or otherwise acquire, or offer to redeem, purchase, repurchase or acquire, any equity securities of AON or any of its subsidiaries, except for (i) the acquisition by AON or any of its subsidiaries of any equity securities of AON or any of its subsidiaries in connection with the forfeiture or cancellation of such interests, (ii) transactions between AON and a wholly-owned subsidiary or between wholly-owned subsidiaries of AON and (iii) repurchases of unvested shares in connection with the termination of the employment or service relationship with any employee, director, or consultant pursuant to stock option or purchase agreements in effect on the date of the Business Combination Agreement;
- adjust, split, combine, subdivide, recapitalize, reclassify or otherwise effect any change in respect of any equity securities of AON or any of its subsidiaries, except for any such transaction by a wholly-owned subsidiary of AON that remains a wholly-owned subsidiary of AON after consummation of such transaction;
- make any material change in accounting principles or methods of accounting, other than as may be required by GAAP;
- adopt or enter into a plan of complete or partial liquidation, dissolution, merger, consolidation, restructuring, recapitalization or other reorganization of AON or any of its subsidiaries (other than the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement);
- make, change or revoke any material tax election, change or revoke any accounting method, settle or compromise any tax liability or any action, audit or other similar proceeding related to taxes, enter into any closing agreement, surrender any right to claim a refund of taxes, enter into any tax sharing or similar agreement, file any amended material tax return, or consent to any extension or waiver of the limitations period applicable to any tax claim or assessment;
- incur, create or assume any indebtedness, (ii) modify the terms of any indebtedness, other than specified indebtedness described on AON's disclosure schedules or (iii) assume, guarantee or endorse, or otherwise become responsible for, the obligations of any person for indebtedness, in each case, other than any (A) indebtedness incurred in the ordinary course of business, the proceeds of which are used solely with respect to operational aspects of AON and its subsidiaries, (B) indebtedness incurred between AON and any of its wholly-owned subsidiaries or between any of such wholly-owned subsidiaries, or (C) guarantees of indebtedness of a wholly-owned subsidiary of AON otherwise incurred in compliance with the Business Combination Agreement;
- fail to maintain in full force and effect material insurance policies covering AON and its subsidiaries and their respective properties, assets and businesses in a form and amount consistent with past practices in a manner detrimental to AON and its subsidiaries;
- enter into any contract or amend in any material respect any existing contract with any AON equityholders or any affiliate of any AON equityholder (excluding any ordinary course payments of compensation, provision of benefits or reimbursement of expenses in respect of the AON equityholders who are officers, directors, employees or other service providers of any AON subsidiaries in their capacity as an officer, director, employee or other service provider); or
- enter into any contract, or otherwise become obligated, to do any action prohibited by any of the restrictions described above.

From the date of the Business Combination Agreement until the earlier of the Closing and the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms, except as set forth on DTOC's disclosure schedules, as contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (including any changes relating to the capitalization of DTOC as may reasonably be required to effect and consummate the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement), as consented to by DTOC in writing (which consent will not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable law (including measures taken in response to COVID-19), DTOC will not:

- change, modify or amend the trust agreement, the sponsor support agreement, the DTOC organizational documents;
- declare, set aside or pay any dividends on, or make any other distribution in respect of any outstanding equity securities of DTOC, (B) split, combine or reclassify any equity securities of DTOC, or (C) other than in connection with the DTOC stockholder redemption or as otherwise required by DTOC organizational documents in order to consummate the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire, or offer to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire, any equity securities of DTOC;
- make, change or revoke any material tax election, change or revoke any accounting method with respect to taxes, settle or compromise any tax liability or any action, audit or other similar proceeding related to taxes, enter into any closing agreement, surrender any right to claim a refund of taxes, enter into any tax sharing or similar agreement, file any amended material tax return, or consent to any extension or waiver of the limitations period applicable to any tax claim or assessment;
- enter into, renew or amend in any material respect, any transaction or contract with an affiliate of DTOC (including (A) the Sponsor and (B) any person in which the Sponsor has a direct or indirect legal, contractual or beneficial ownership interest of 5% or greater);
- waive, release, compromise, settle or satisfy any pending or threatened material claim (which will include, but not be limited to, any pending or threatened action) or compromise or settle any liability, in each case other than compromises or settlements in an aggregate amount not greater than $250,000;
- incur or assume any indebtedness or guarantee any indebtedness of another person, issue or sell any debt securities or warrants or other rights to acquire any debt securities of another person;
- (A) offer, issue, deliver, grant or sell, or authorize or propose to offer, issue, deliver, grant or sell, any Equity Securities other than (x) issuance of DTOC common stock in connection with the exercise of any DTOC Warrants outstanding on the date of the Business Combination Agreement or (y) the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, or (B) amend, modify or waive any of the terms or rights set forth in, any DTOC warrant or the applicable warrant agreement, including any amendment, modification or reduction of the warrant price set forth therein;
- make any material change in accounting principles or methods of accounting, other than as may be required by GAAP; or
- enter into any agreement, or otherwise become obligated, to do any action prohibited under the restrictions described above.

Proxy Solicitation

DTOC has agreed to, promptly following the SEC's completion of its review of this proxy statement/prospectus (the "SEC Clearance Date"), (a) take all action necessary under applicable law and the DTOC organizational documents to set a record date for, call, give notice of, convene and hold the Special Meeting to seek approval of the Proposals, which Special Meeting will be held no later than thirty business days following the SEC Clearance Date; and (b) submit the Proposals to, and solicit proxies in favor of such Proposals from, such holders at the Special Meeting. DTOC has agreed to, through the DTOC Board, by unanimous approval, recommend to its stockholders that they approve the Proposals (the "DTOC Board Recommendation") and has agreed to include the DTOC Board Recommendation in this proxy statement/prospectus.

Extension Proposal

On February 9, 2023, DTOC filed a definitive proxy statement with the SEC soliciting the approval of its stockholders for, among other things, Extension Amendment Proposal to extend the date by which DTOC has to consummate a business combination from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and to give the Sponsor the option to further extend beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional one (1) month each time to September 30, 2023 (as extended, the "Extension Date"). On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

At the March Special Meeting, DTOC's stockholders approved the Extension Amendment Proposal. In connection with the votes to approve the proposals at the Special Meeting, the holders of 31,502,931 shares of common stock of DTOC properly exercised their right to redeem their shares for cash at a redemption price of approximately $10.19 per share, for an aggregate redemption amount of approximately $321.2 million, leaving approximately $18.8 million in the Trust Account, not including the $150,000 deposited into the Trust Account by the Sponsor in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

If, following the approval of the Extension Amendment Proposal, DTOC and AON determine in good faith that it is probable that the Business Combination will not be consummated on or before the Extension Date, DTOC and AON will cooperate in good faith to request and effectuate further amendments to the DTOC organizational documents to provide for additional extensions of the deadline applicable to the consummation of a business combination.

Change in Recommendation

The DTOC Board may fail to make, amend, change, withdraw, modify, withhold or qualify the DTOC Board Recommendation (any such action, a "Change in Recommendation") at any time prior to, but not after, obtaining approval of the Proposals and if and only if:

- such Change In Recommendation is made solely in response to a material change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts material to DTOC (i) that was not known or reasonably foreseeable to specified members of DTOC management or any member of the DTOC Board as of the date of the Business Combination Agreement and that becomes known to the such individuals after the date of the Business Combination Agreement and prior to the receipt of the DTOC Stockholder Approval and (ii) that does not relate to an alternative business combination transaction (subject to limited exceptions) (any such change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts, a "DTOC Intervening Event");
- the DTOC Board has determined in good faith, after consultation with its outside legal counsel, that, in response to such DTOC Intervening Event, a failure to make a Change in Recommendation would result in a breach of its fiduciary duties under applicable Law;
- prior to making such Change in Recommendation:
 - DTOC delivers to AON a written notice advising AON that the DTOC Board proposes to take such action and containing the material facts underlying the DTOC Board's determination that an DTOC Intervening Event has occurred;
 - until 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on the third business day immediately following the day on which DTOC delivered such notice, DTOC and its representatives will have negotiated in good faith with AON and its representatives regarding any revisions or adjustments proposed by AON during the three-business day period to the terms and conditions of the Business Combination Agreement as would enable DTOC to proceed with its recommendation of the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement and not make such Change in Recommendation;
 - if AON requested negotiations, DTOC may make a Change in Recommendation only if the DTOC Board, after considering in good faith any revisions or adjustments to the terms and conditions of the Business Combination Agreement that AON will have, prior to the expiration of the three-business day period, offered in writing in a manner that would form a binding contract if accepted by DTOC, reaffirms in good faith (after consultation with its outside legal counsel) that the failure to make an Change in Recommendation would result in a breach of its fiduciary duties under applicable law.

Exclusivity

DTOC has agreed that immediately following the execution of the Business Combination Agreement it will, and will use its best efforts to cause its representatives to, cease any solicitations, discussions or negotiations with any person (other than the parties thereto and their respective representatives) conducted up to such time in connection with a business combination or any inquiry or request for information that could reasonably be expected to lead to, or result in, a business combination.

Directors' and Officers' Indemnification

From and after the Closing, New AON will, and will cause AON to, indemnify and hold harmless each present and former director/manager and officer of DTOC, AON and AON's subsidiaries, or any individual who, at any time prior to the Closing, is or was serving at the request of DTOC, AON and AON's subsidiaries as a director/manager or officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, against any costs or expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees), judgments, fines, losses, claims, damages or liabilities incurred in connection with any action, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative, arising out of or pertaining to matters existing or occurring at or prior to the Closing, whether asserted or claimed prior to, at or after the Closing and relating to the fact that such person was a director/manager or officer of DTOC, AON, or any of AON's subsidiaries, to the fullest extent that DTOC, AON or any of AON's subsidiaries would have been permitted under applicable law and their respective certificate of incorporation, bylaws or other organizational documents in effect on the date of the Business Combination Agreement to indemnify such person in its capacity as a director/manager or officer.

New AON will, and will cause AON and AON's subsidiaries to, maintain for a period of not less than six years from the Closing provisions in its respective certificate of incorporation, bylaws and other organizational documents concerning the indemnification and exoneration (including provisions relating to expense advancement) of officers and directors/managers that are no less favorable to those persons than the provisions of such certificates of incorporation, bylaws and other organizational documents as of the date of the Business Combination Agreement and not amend, repeal or otherwise modify such provisions in any respect that would adversely affect the rights of those persons thereunder, in each case, except as required by law.

DTOC will purchase, at or prior to the Closing, and New AON will or will cause one or more of its subsidiaries to maintain in effect for a period of six years from the Closing, directors' and officers' liability insurance covering those persons who are currently covered by DTOC or AON or any of AON's subsidiaries' directors' and officers' liability insurance policies on terms not less favorable than the terms of such current insurance coverage, except that in no event will New AON or its subsidiaries be required to pay an aggregate premium for such insurance in excess of 300% of the annual premium payable in the aggregate by DTOC, AON, and AON's subsidiaries for such insurance policies for the year ended December 31, 2021. DTOC may cause coverage to be extended under the current directors' and officers' liability insurance by obtaining a six-year "tail" policy containing terms not materially less favorable than the terms of such current insurance coverage with respect to claims existing or occurring at or prior to the Closing. If any claim is asserted or made within such six-year period, any insurance required to be maintained by New AON under the Business Combination Agreement will be continued in respect of such claim until the final disposition thereof.

Efforts to Consummate

Each of the parties will use their respective reasonable best efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all actions and to do, or cause to be done, all things reasonably necessary or advisable to consummate and make effective as promptly as reasonably practicable the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (including the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in the Business Combination Agreement). Each of the parties will use reasonable best efforts to obtain, file with or deliver to, as applicable, any consents of any governmental authorities or other persons necessary to consummate the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement and the other Transaction Documents. Each of the parties will make all required filings pursuant to the HSR Act with respect to the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement promptly (and in any event within 10 business days) following the date of the Business Combination Agreement and respond as promptly as reasonably practicable to any requests by any governmental authority for additional information and documentary material that may be requested pursuant to the HSR Act. DTOC will promptly inform AON of any communication between DTOC, on the one hand, and any governmental authority, on the other hand, and AON will promptly inform DTOC of any communication between either AON, on the one hand, and any governmental authority, on the other hand, in either case, regarding any of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement and the other Transaction Documents.

Nothing in the Business Combination Agreement will be deemed to obligate any party or any of its affiliates to agree to (i) sell, license or otherwise dispose of, or hold separate and agree to sell, license or otherwise dispose of, any entities or assets of AON or any of their respective subsidiaries or any entity or asset of such party or any of its affiliates or any other person or (ii) terminate, amend or assign any existing relationships and contractual rights or obligations. From the date of the Business Combination Agreement until the earlier of the Closing and the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms, DTOC, on the one hand, and AON, on the other hand, will give counsel for AON (in the case of DTOC) or DTOC (in the case of AON), a reasonable opportunity to review in advance, and consider in good faith the views of the other in connection with, any proposed written communication to any governmental authority relating to the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement and the other Transaction Documents. Each of the parties agrees not to participate in any substantive meeting or discussion, either in person or by telephone, with any governmental authority in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement unless it consults with, in the case of DTOC and AON, in advance and, to the extent not prohibited by such governmental authority, gives, in the case of DTOC and AON, or, in the case of either AON or DTOC, the opportunity to attend and participate in such meeting or discussion.

AON will pay all filing fees in connection with the HSR Act when due and such fees will be deemed 50% AON transaction expenses and 50% DTOC transaction expenses.

Post-Closing Governance and Management

New AON will take all such action within its power as may be necessary or appropriate such that immediately following the Closing:

- the New AON Board as of the Closing will initially include (i) two director nominees to be designated by the Sponsor pursuant to written notice to be delivered to AON as soon as reasonably practicable following the date of the Business Combination Agreement, who will be reasonably acceptable to AON and (ii) any number of additional director nominees to be designated by AON pursuant to written notice to New AON following the date of the Business Combination Agreement, who will be selected after reasonable consultation with the Sponsor;
- the chief executive officer of the New AON immediately following Closing;
- the chief medical officer of New AON immediately following Closing;
- one director nominee to be designated by AEA Growth pursuant to a written notice to be delivered to the AON as soon as reasonably practicable following the date hereof;

three other director nominees nominated by AON.

Incentive Equity Plan and Practice Profit Pool Shares

Prior to the Closing, DTOC will adopt, subject to approval of the stockholders of DTOC, an incentive equity plan in substantially the form attached to the Business Combination Agreement to be effective as of the Closing or as otherwise set forth in the applicable plan document. Within two business days following the expiration of the sixty day period following the date New AON has filed current Form 10 information with the SEC reflecting its status as an entity that is not a shell company, New AON will file an effective registration statement on Form S-1 (or other applicable form) with respect to the New AON common stock issuable under the incentive equity plan, and New AON will use commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the effectiveness of such registration statement(s) (and maintain the current status of the prospectus or prospectuses contained therein) for so long as awards granted pursuant to the incentive equity plan remain outstanding.

Upon the Closing, AON plans to convert on such terms and in such manner as determined by the AON Board of Managers, profit pool units of certain of AON's subsidiaries into an equal number of (i) AON common units and (ii) shares of New AON Class B common stock, which together are exchangeable into shares of New AON Class A common stock (the "Practice Profit Pool Shares"). The number of Practice Profit Pool Shares issuable will be determined prior to Closing and will be equal to 5% of the $350 million AON enterprise value (minus the Company Closing Indebtedness and plus the Company Closing Cash (as such terms are defined in the Business Combination Agreement)) divided by $10.

Employee Matters

For a period of twelve months following the Closing, New AON will cause AON to provide each employee of AON as of immediately prior to the Closing, during his or her continued employment, with (i) annual base salary or hourly wage rate and incentive compensation opportunities (excluding any equity or equity-based incentive compensation) that are no less than the annual base salary, hourly wage rate and incentive compensation opportunities (excluding any equity or equity-based incentive compensation), respectively, provided to such continuing employee immediately prior to the Closing, and (ii) employee benefits that are not less favorable in the aggregate to such continuing employee than those provided to such continuing employee immediately prior to the Closing under AON benefit plans listed on AON disclosure schedules.

From and after the Closing, New AON will cause AON to give or cause to be given to each continuing employee credit for purposes of eligibility to participate, vesting of employer 401(k) plan contributions, level of severance and vacation/paid time off, but not for benefit accrual purposes under any defined benefit pension plan, under each employee benefit plan, program or arrangement established or maintained by New AON under which continuing employees are eligible to participate on or after the Closing (a "New Plan") to the same extent and for the same purpose as such service with AON or any predecessor thereof was credited on or prior to the Closing under the comparable AON benefit Plan. No credit is required to be provided to the extent that it would result in any duplication of benefits for the same period of service.

With respect to each New Plan that is a group welfare benefit plan in which any continuing employee or spouse or dependent thereof may be eligible to participate on or after the Closing, New AON will use commercially reasonable efforts to (i) waive, or cause its affiliates or insurance carrier to waive, all limitations as to preexisting conditions, actively-at-work requirements, exclusions and waiting periods, if any, with respect to participation and coverage requirements applicable to each continuing employee or spouse or dependent thereof, and any other similar restrictions that would prevent immediate or full participation by such continuing employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof, under such New Plan, to the same extent satisfied or waived under a comparable AON benefit plan in which such continuing employee participated, and (ii) provide or cause its affiliates to provide credit to each continuing employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof with respect to the New Plan year in which the Closing occurs for any co-payments, deductibles, out-of-pocket expenses and for any lifetime maximums paid by such continuing employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof under the comparable AON benefit plan during the plan year of AON benefit plan up to and including the Closing to the same extent and for the same purpose as credited under such comparable AON benefit plan as if such amounts had been paid under such New Plan.

Other Covenants and Agreements

The Business Combination Agreement contains other covenants and agreements, including the following covenants and agreements:

- the parties will reasonably cooperate so as to cause the aggregate transaction expenses of DTOC and AON not to exceed $32,000,000;
- each party will afford to the other party and its representatives reasonable access during normal business hours and upon reasonable advanced notice to its and its subsidiaries' properties, books, records and personnel during the pendency of the Business Combination to obtain all information

- concerning its business, properties, results of operations and personnel for purposes of the Business Combination Agreement, as such party may reasonably request;
- at the Closing, AON will deliver to DTOC a duly completed and executed certificate, dated as of the Closing, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to DTOC and conforming to the requirements of Treasury Regulations Section 1.1445-11T(d)(2)(i) (or DTOC may, at its sole discretion, waive the requirement to deliver such certificate, in which case DTOC will be entitled to withhold from the merger consideration the amount required to be withheld under Section 1445 of the Code as reasonably determined by DTOC);
 - AON has agreed that, while it is in possession of material nonpublic information, it will not and it will cause its subsidiaries and direct its directors, officers and its and their respective affiliates not to purchase or sell any securities of DTOC (other than engaging in the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement), communicate such information to any third party, take any other action with respect to DTOC in violation of such laws, or cause or encourage any third party to do any of the foregoing;
 - prior to the Closing, DTOC will take all commercially reasonable steps as may be required (to the extent permitted under applicable law) to cause any acquisition or disposition of the DTOC Class A common stock that occurs or is deemed to occur by reason of or pursuant to the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement by each individual who is or will be subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act with respect to DTOC to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act;
 - from the date of the Business Combination Agreement through the Closing, DTOC will keep current and timely file all reports required to be filed or furnished with the SEC and otherwise comply in all material respects with its reporting obligations under applicable laws;
 - from the date of the Business Combination Agreement through the Closing, DTOC will use its reasonable best efforts to ensure that DTOC remains listed as a public company on Nasdaq, and will cause DTOC common stock to be issued in the Business Combination to be approved for listing on Nasdaq or another reputable national securities exchange, subject to official notice of issuance, prior to the Closing, and AON will reasonably cooperate with DTOC with respect to such listing;
 - from the date of the Business Combination Agreement until the earlier of the Closing and the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms, DTOC, on the one hand, and AON, on the other hand, will each notify the other in writing promptly after learning of any stockholder demands or other stockholder proceedings (including derivative claims) relating to the Business Combination Agreement, any other Transaction Documents or any matters relating thereto commenced against, in the case of DTOC or any of its representatives (in their capacity as a representative of DTOC) or, in the case of AON, or any respective representatives of AON (in their capacity as a representative of AON);
 - DTOC and AON are each required to (i) keep the other reasonably informed regarding any transaction litigation, (ii) give the other the opportunity to, at its own cost and expense, participate in the defense, settlement and compromise of any such transaction litigation and reasonably cooperate with the other in connection with the defense, settlement and compromise of any such transaction litigation (subject to a customary joint defense agreement), (iii) consider in good faith the other's advice with respect to any such transaction litigation, and (iv) reasonably cooperate with each other;
 - neither party may settle or compromise any transaction litigation without the prior written consent of the other party (not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed);
 - each of the parties will (and will cause their respective affiliates to) cooperate fully, as and to the extent reasonably requested by another party, in connection with the filing of relevant tax returns, any claim for a refund of any tax, and any audit or tax proceeding;
 - DTOC will bear and pay all transfer, stamp, documentary, sales, use, registration, value-added and other similar taxes (including all applicable real estate transfer taxes) incurred in connection with the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement;

- the parties will use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain any certificate or other document from any governmental authority or any other person as may be necessary to mitigate, reduce or eliminate any transfer tax that could be imposed in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement;
- the parties have agreed to comply with certain confidentiality and publicity relating to the Business Combination Agreement and the Business Combination; and
- following the Closing, each party will, on the request of any other party, execute such further documents, and perform such further acts, as may be reasonably necessary or appropriate to give full effect to the allocation of rights, benefits, obligations and liabilities contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement and the Business Combination.

Representations and Warranties

Representations and Warranties of AON

The Business Combination Agreement contains representations and warranties made by AON to DTOC relating to a number of matters, including the following:

- corporate organization;
- subsidiaries;
- due authorization;
- absence of conflicts;
- governmental authorities and consents;
- current capitalization;
- capitalization of subsidiaries;
- financial statements;
- undisclosed liabilities;
- litigation and proceedings;
- compliance with laws;
- contracts and absence of defaults;
- AON benefit plans;
- labor matters;
- taxes;
- insurance;
- permits;
- equipment and other tangible property;
- real property;
- intellectual property and privacy and security;
- environmental matters;
- absence of changes;
- brokers' fees;
- related party transactions;
- anti-corruption;

- healthcare regulatory matters;
- proxy statement; and
- equityholder matters.

Certain of these representations and warranties are qualified as to “materiality” or “AON Material Adverse Effect.”

For purposes of the Business Combination Agreement, a “AON Material Adverse Effect” means any change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts that, individually or in the aggregate, with any other change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts that, individually or in the aggregate, has had or would reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect on the business, assets, liabilities, operations, results of operations or financial condition of AON and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole. In no event, will any of the following be taken into account in determining whether an AON Material Adverse Effect has occurred or would reasonably be expected to occur:

- any change in applicable laws (including measures taken in response to COVID-19) or GAAP or any official interpretation thereof;
- any change in interest rates or economic, political, business, financial, commodity, currency or market conditions generally, or any changes generally affecting the economy, markets or industry in which AON and its subsidiaries operate;
- events caused by the announcement of the Business Combination Agreement, including the impact of such announcement on relationships, contractual or otherwise, with, or actual or potential loss or impairment of, customers, suppliers, landlords, distributors, partners or employees, or on revenue, profitability and cash flows (provided that this clause (c) will not apply to any representation or warranty if the purpose of such representation or warranty is to address the consequences resulting from the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement);
- any earthquake, hurricane, tsunami, tornado, flood, mudslide, wild fire or other natural disaster, act of nature or other force majeure event or any epidemic, disease, outbreak or pandemic (including COVID-19);
- any national or international political or social conditions in any country, including the engagement by the United States or such other countries in hostilities or the escalation thereof, whether or not pursuant to the declaration of a national emergency or war, or the occurrence or the escalation of any military or terrorist attack upon the United States or such other country, or any territories, possessions, or diplomatic or consular offices of the United States or such other countries or upon any United States or such other country military installation, equipment or personnel; or
- any failure of AON to meet any projections, forecasts or budgets (provided that this clause (f) will not prevent or otherwise affect a determination that any change or effect underlying such failure to meet projections or forecasts has resulted in, or contributed to, or would reasonably be expected to result in or contribute to, an AON Material Adverse Effect (to the extent such change or effect is not otherwise excluded from this definition of AON Material Adverse Effect)).

In the case of clauses (a), (b), (d) and (e), such changes may be taken into account to the extent (but only to the extent) that such changes have had a disproportionate impact on AON and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole, as compared to other industry participants in the industries or markets in which AON and its subsidiaries operate.

Representations and Warranties of DTOC

The Business Combination Agreement also contains representations and warranties made by DTOC to AON relating to a number of matters, including the following:

- corporate organization;
- due authorization;

- no conflict;
- litigation and proceedings and compliance with laws;
- governmental authorities and consents;
- trust account;
- brokers' fees;
- SEC reports;
- financial statements;
- Sarbanes-Oxley Act;
- undisclosed liabilities;
- business activities;
- undisclosed liabilities;
- taxes;
- capitalization;
- Nasdaq stock market listing;
- related party transactions;
- proxy statement;
- absence of changes;
- indebtedness; and
- the Sponsor Support Agreement.

Certain of these representations and warranties are qualified as to "materiality" or "DTC Material Adverse Effect."

For purposes of the Business Combination Agreement, a "DTC Material Adverse Effect" means any change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts that, individually or in the aggregate, with any other change, event, circumstance, occurrence, effect, development or state of facts has had or would reasonably be expected to prevent or materially delay or materially impact the ability of DTC and the Sponsor to consummate the Business Combination. The amount of DTC stockholder redemptions or the failure to obtain the DTC stockholder approval will not be deemed to be a DTC Material Adverse Effect.

The representations and warranties of the parties in the Business Combination Agreement will not survive the Closing and, as described below under "Termination," if the Business Combination Agreement is terminated, there will be no liability under the representations and warranties of the parties, or otherwise under the Business Combination Agreement, other than liability of any party for fraud or willful breach of the Business Combination Agreement by such party occurring prior to such termination.

Conditions to the Business Combination

Conditions to Each Party's Obligations

The obligation of each of AON and DTC to complete the Business Combination is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of the following conditions:

- the expiration or termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act;
- the approval of the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions by the DTC stockholders;
- the continued validity and effectiveness of the written consent of the AON equityholders approving the Business Combination and related agreements and transactions;

- the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the other party contained in the Business Combination Agreement (generally subject to certain materiality and “Material Adverse Effect” qualifiers);
- the performance in all material respects by the other party of its covenants and other agreements under the Business Combination Agreement as of or prior to the Closing;
- the receipt of certain required regulatory consents or approvals with respect to the Business Combination; and
- the listing of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties.

Conditions to Obligations of DTOC

The obligation of DTOC to complete the Business Combination is also conditioned on the absence of any continuing, uncured AON Material Adverse Effect since the date of the Business Combination Agreement.

Conditions to Obligations of AON

The obligation of AON to complete the Business Combination is also subject to the New AON Board and officers being constituted in accordance with the Business Combination Agreement.

Termination Rights

The Business Combination Agreement contains the following termination rights:

- the right of the parties to terminate the Business Combination Agreement by mutual agreement;
- the right of AON to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if the AON Board authorizes AON to enter into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction;
- the right of DTOC to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if AON enters into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction without concurrently terminating the Business Combination Agreement;
- the right of either party to terminate the Business Combination Agreement if:
 - the DTOC stockholders fail to approve the Business Combination;
 - a law comes into effect or a governmental order is issued permanently restraining, enjoining, making illegal or otherwise prohibiting the consummation of the Business Combination;
 - the other party breaches its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in the Business Combination Agreement in a way that would entitle the party seeking to terminate the Business Combination Agreement to not consummate the Business Combination, subject to the right of the breaching party to cure the breach; or
 - the Business Combination is not consummated on or before June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), if the DTOC stockholders have not approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation; or
 - the Business Combination is not consummated on or before October 5, 2023, in the event that the DTOC stockholders have approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation to October 5, 2023 or later (subject to a 60-day extension to the extent there is any delay to the applicable waiting or review periods by any governmental authority or Nasdaq that would, or would reasonably be expected to, have the effect of delaying, impeding, hindering or preventing the review or approval of the Business Combination).

Termination Fee

The Business Combination Agreement provides that, in the event the Business Combination Agreement is terminated in connection with AON's entry into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction, AON will pay to the Sponsor a termination fee of $18,000,000 no later than the earlier of (a) the date that is six months following the termination and (b) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.

Expense Reimbursement

DTOC must reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions in the following circumstances:

- the DTOC stockholders fail to approve the Business Combination;
- the Business Combination is not consummated on or before June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) and the DTOC stockholders have not approved a proposal to extend the deadline by which DTOC is required to consummate the Business Combination under its certificate of incorporation beyond June 30, 2023;
- DTOC breaches its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in the Business Combination Agreement in a way that would entitle AON to not consummate the Business Combination, subject to the right of DTOC to cure the breach; or
- the Business Combination is not consummated on or before October 5, 2023 and the shares of DTOC Class A common stock are not listed on Nasdaq or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties.

Amendments

The Business Combination Agreement may be amended in writing by the parties at any time.

Specific Performance

The parties to the Business Combination Agreement agreed that they will be entitled an injunction, specific performance and other equitable relief to prevent breaches of the Business Combination Agreement and to enforce specifically the terms and provisions thereof prior to termination of the Business Combination Agreement.

Fees and Expenses

Except as otherwise provided in the Business Combination Agreement, each party will bear its own expenses incurred in connection with the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement whether or not such transactions will be consummated, including all fees of its legal counsel, financial advisers and accountants. If the Closing occurs, DTOC and AON will bear and pay at or promptly after Closing all DTOC transaction expenses and all AON transaction expenses.

Background of the Business Combination

DTOC is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware on November 17, 2020 for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses. The terms of the Business Combination Agreement are the result of extensive arms-length negotiations between representatives of DTOC and AON. The following is a brief description of the background of these negotiations and summary of the key meetings and events that led to the signing of the Business Combination Agreement. The following chronology does not purport to catalogue every conversation among the parties to the Business Combination Agreement or their representatives.

On March 12, 2021, DTOC consummated its initial public offering (the “Initial Public Offering”) of 33,350,000 units (“Units” and, with respect to the Class A common stock included in the Units offered, the “Public Shares”), at $10.00 per Unit, which included 3,350,000 Units as a result of the underwriter’s partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional units as the initial public offering price to cover over-allotments, generating gross proceeds of $333.5 million, and incurring offering costs of approximately $18.9 million, inclusive of approximately $11.7 million in deferred underwriting commissions, which was gratuitously waived on June 6, 2023 by the underwriter to DTOC’s IPO. Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, DTOC consummated the private placement (“Private Placement”) of 6,113,333 warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant to the Sponsor, generating gross proceeds of approximately $9.2 million. Upon the closing of the Initial Public Offering and the Private Placement on March 12, 2021, $333.5 million ($10.00 per Unit) of the net proceeds of the sale of the Units in the Initial Public Offering and the Private Placement were placed into the Trust Account, and the remaining proceeds (approximately $9.2 million), net of underwriting discounts and commissions and other costs and expenses, became available to be used as working capital to provide for business, legal and accounting due diligence on prospective business combinations and continuing general and administrative expenses.

Except for the withdrawal of interest to pay taxes (or dissolution expenses if a business combination is not consummated), none of the funds held in the Trust Account will be released until the earlier of (1) DTOC’s completion of an initial business combination; (2) the redemption of any Public Shares properly submitted in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the Existing Charter (A) to modify the substance or timing of DTOC’s obligation to allow redemption in connection with DTOC’s initial business combination or to redeem 100% of our public shares if DTOC does not complete its initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised) or (B) with respect to any other provision relating to stockholders’ rights or pre-initial business combination activity; and (3) the redemption of the Public Shares if DTOC has not completed an initial business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), subject to applicable law. The proceeds deposited in the Trust Account could become subject to the claims of DTOC’s creditors, if any, which could have priority over the claims of our public stockholders. The trust proceeds are invested in U.S. government treasury bills with a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations.

Prior to the consummation of the Initial Public Offering, neither DTOC, nor anyone on its behalf, engaged in any substantive discussions, directly or indirectly, with any potential business combination target with respect to an initial business combination with DTOC.

After the Initial Public Offering, the DTOC Board and management team commenced an active search for prospective businesses and/or assets to acquire in its initial business combination. In its search, DTOC primarily focused its efforts on high growth companies that had leveraged technology to make a significant improvement to the healthcare industry and had achieved or were expected to achieve leadership in their target markets. These target opportunities included companies supporting or enabling healthcare providers, healthcare facilities, practice management, billings and collections, health insurance, managed care, drug development, pharmaceuticals including digital therapeutics, healthcare financing solutions, and pharmacies. See “— Recommendation of the DTOC Board and Reasons for the Business Combination” for additional details regarding the criteria and guidelines considered by the DTOC Board in its evaluation of potential business combination opportunities.

DTOC employed various strategies in its efforts to identify an appropriate target company, including, but not limited to, engaging investment banks involved in the business of advising companies in connection with strategic and financing transactions, reaching out to private equity and venture capital firms potentially considering exiting investments in their portfolio companies, contacting business leaders within the DTOC executive network, and conducting research on companies and entrepreneurs in the healthcare space based on publicly available information. Representatives of DTOC were also contacted by numerous individuals and entities who presented ideas for business combination opportunities, including financial advisors and companies in the healthcare and technology sectors.

Following the IPO, members of DTOC’s management team (including Kevin Nazemi, Chief Executive Officer of DTOC and chairman of the DTOC Board, and Kyle Francis, Chief Financial Officer of DTOC) and certain of DTOC's advisors held weekly meetings via teleconference in order to discuss matters relating to DTOC's initial business combination. Additionally, periodic meetings were also held with members of DTOC's management team, certain of DTOC's advisors and members of the DTOC Board to provide updates regarding the status of the evaluation of, and outreach to, potential business combination targets. As part of this process, representatives of DTOC considered over 100 potential acquisition targets, entered into non-disclosure agreements with and conducted due diligence on over 40 companies, and submitted non-binding letters of intent with nine potential target companies other than AON.

Upon further discussions and consideration of suitability of each of these potential targets along with consideration of their willingness to transact with DTOC, DTOC executed letters of intent with two potential targets, including AON and a target that would be a combination of two healthcare software companies ("Company A" and "Company B", respectively). With respect to other prospective targets for which DTOC did not execute a letter of intent, the process with each ultimately was terminated or abandoned as follows:

- Four of the companies — consisting of a pharmacy services company, financial services company, healthcare diagnostics services company and a testing and vaccination services company — determined to pursue a business combination with another SPAC;
- Two of the companies — consisting of a home healthcare services company and a value-based care provider company — chose not to go public (via a SPAC or another process); and
- With respect to two of the companies — consisting of a laboratory testing services company and a specialty provider company — DTOC determined not to move forward with a transaction in light of disagreements over valuation and/or the target company not meeting DTOC's diligence standards.

In April and May 2021, representatives of DTOC, including Mr. Nazemi, initiated discussions with Company A and Company B as two separate prospective targets. Following preliminary diligence, DTOC determined that, while neither company had sufficient size or scale to present an attractive business combination opportunity for DTOC on a standalone basis, a combination of Company A and Company B could be a compelling acquisition target. From June 2021 through November 2021, representatives of Paul Hastings LLP ("Paul Hastings"), legal counsel to DTOC, and other representatives of DTOC, engaged in substantial due diligence of Company A and Company B and participated in extensive negotiations with representatives of each such company regarding the terms of a potential transaction, including exchanging multiple drafts of definitive transaction documents. In late November 2021, discussions with Company A and Company B terminated following the failure of the parties to reach a binding agreement on the material terms of a transaction, including with respect to the timing and structure of financing a transaction.

Between November 2021 and April 2022, DTOC's management team and representatives of DTOC continued to identify and conduct diligence on potential targets.

On March 25, 2022, DTOC entered into an advisory agreement with LifeSci Capital LLC ("LifeSci"), pursuant to which LifeSci would provide certain investment banking, financial advisory, and placement agent services in connection with DTOC's initial business combination. Under the advisory agreement with LifeSci, in the event that DTOC approves a transaction with a target identified by LifeSci, LifeSci is entitled to an advisory fee equal to a percentage of the total consideration in such transaction.

On April 1, 2022, DTOC entered into an advisory agreement with Dinan & Company, L.L.C. ("Dinan"), pursuant to which Dinan would assist DTOC in identifying potential acquisition targets in the healthcare services industry. Under the agreement with Dinan, in the event that DTOC acquires a target identified by Dinan, Dinan is entitled to a success fee equal to 1% of the total enterprise value, subject to certain caps and limitations. Under the BCA, the enterprise value of AON is $350 million and as such, following the consummation of the Business Combination, Dinan would be entitled to a fee of $3.5 million.

On April 18, 2022, Dinan introduced AON to DTOC.

Following the introduction by Dinan, DTOC and AON conducted a call in which members of the DTOC management team introduced themselves and described their experiences in the healthcare industry, including in connection with introducing technology solutions to support the growth of various healthcare companies as well as working with payors and pharmaceutical companies.

On April 29, 2022, DTOC and AON entered into a non-disclosure agreement. Subsequently, and through October 2022, AON provided DTOC and its advisors with access to various business, financial and legal due diligence materials. DTOC and its advisors also submitted due diligence requests to Company representatives and participated in multiple management presentations and diligence sessions hosted by AON.

On May 26, 2022, Mr. Nazemi, Mr. Fluegel, and other DTOC representatives, met with Mr. Schonherz, AON's CEO, Mr. Gould, AON's CFO, Ms. Mallon, AON's senior corporate counsel, and other members of AON's management team to present an initial draft non-binding term sheet (the "Term Sheet") that set forth other key terms and conditions of a proposed business combination transaction between the parties, including among other things, a pre-money enterprise value of $300 million for AON, an obligation on the part of DTOC to have at least $50 million in cash on hand at the closing of the business combination (after giving effect to the redemption of any Public Shares); a post-closing combined company board of directors consisting of one or two directors designated by DTOC prior to the closing; and a commitment by DTOC that advisor fees (excluding deferred underwriter fees and any fees paid by AON or DTOC to raise PIPE financing) not exceed $10 million.

This valuation was informed by, among other things, prior experience of certain of DTOC's advisors in evaluating a possible acquisition of a similar physician practice management business, comparable valuations of publicly traded peer companies in the healthcare services industry, the physician management market, and information provided by AON as part of the due diligence process, including AON's historical financial performance and industry growth trends. The DTOC Board reviewed certain trading data for several selected public companies in various healthcare and related industries, including but not limited to, high-growth providers, pure-play oncology, physician groups, ambulatory infusion, and medical supply distributors. In selecting comparable public companies, DTOC's management looked at various analogous criteria, including (i) differentiated service offerings within the healthcare industry, (ii) growth and margin profile, (iii) scale, and (iv) industry dynamics.

On May 30, 2022, DTOC sent a revised draft Term Sheet to AON that increased the pre-money enterprise value of AON to $350 million on a cash-free and debt-free basis based on DTOC's further review of AON's financial information, recent profitability and capitalization structure.

Between May and June 2022, Mr. Fluegel, Mr. Moffatt, and other representatives of DTOC conducted several calls with various members of the AON management team to discuss experience and expertise of DTOC's management team, the process and timeline for effecting a business combination transaction, a proposed PIPE financing to take place concurrently with the business combination and various business, financial and legal diligence matters.

On June 6, 2022, at the request of AON, representatives of DTOC sent a revised draft term sheet to AON that contemplated payment in cash at closing of the preferred return accrued and owed to AON's Class A and Class A-1 Unitholders under AON's operating agreement.

On June 28, 2022, Mr. Nazemi and Mr. Fluegel and other representatives of DTOC presented the terms of the proposed business combination to the AON Board. Thereafter, representatives of DTOC and AON further discussed the terms and conditions of a potential transaction. In the course of these discussions, representatives of AON notified DTOC that AON was considering a possible business combination with a third party and that AON would not be prepared to enter a definitive agreement with DTOC unless such agreement provided AON with the flexibility to terminate such agreement and enter into an alternative transaction with a third party in certain circumstances.

On July 10, 2022, DTOC delivered to AON a further revised draft term sheet that imposed a $22 million cap on the total amount of transaction expenses that may be incurred by DTOC and AON in connection with the business combination and included an obligation on the part of DTOC to reimburse AON for the reasonable and documented out-of-pocket fees and expenses incurred by AON in certain circumstances. The cap on transaction expenses was informed by the parties estimates of legal and advisory costs incurred to-date, the projected costs for updating AON's financials to be in line with PCAOB standards and fees expected to be incurred in connection with the PIPE financing.

On July 25, 2022, the DTOC Board met to review and discuss the proposed business combination with AON and proposed transaction terms.

On July 31, 2022, Paul Hastings circulated to AON an initial draft of the Business Combination Agreement reflecting the terms proposed by DTOC in the revised draft of the term sheet and a “double dummy” transaction structure whereby DTOC and AON would combine as a newly formed holding company that would become the publicly traded entity post-closing. In addition, in light of AON's expressed unwillingness to enter into a definitive agreement that would prevent AON from considering alternative transactions during the pendency of a business combination, the draft Business Combination Agreement included no exclusivity obligation on the part of AON and contemplated that AON could terminate the Business Combination Agreement to enter into an alternative transaction with another party, so long as the alternative transaction ascribed an equity value to AON of at least $350 million. The draft Business Combination Agreement also provided for an obligation by AON to pay a termination fee equal to and to reimburse DTOC, for all of its documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with a transaction in the event AON terminated the Business Combination Agreement to enter into a qualifying alternative transaction, or in the event AON consummated a qualifying alternative transaction within 18 months following the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in certain circumstances. The parties continued to negotiate the magnitude of termination fee based on market percentages in recent public company deals and AON's ability to pursue a third party sale during the interim period before closing.

On August 1, 2022, DTOC retained Kroll, Inc. to conduct accounting diligence of the Company.

On August 12, 2022, the DTOC Board held a meeting with representatives of management and the Sponsor to discuss the potential business combination with AON. The representatives of management and the Sponsor addressed questions and comments from the DTOC Board and provided an update on the status of negotiations that had taken place to date between DTOC and AON.

On August 13, 2022, the AON Board convened a meeting at which members of DTOC management described their background and relevant experiences in the healthcare industry and the potential benefits of a business combination between DTOC and AON.

Representatives and advisors for DTOC and AON participated in extensive negotiations and discussions through August 2022 with respect to the terms of a business combination between the parties, including exchanging multiple drafts of the term sheet and Business Combination Agreement to take into account structuring and timing considerations, required consents, and market conditions impacting DTOC's ability to raise capital prior to the Closing. By September 2, 2022, DTOC and AON reached an agreement on the key terms of a transaction, which encompassed terms previously proposed by DTOC in its initial drafts of the term sheet from July 2022, including a pre-money enterprise valuation of $350 million for AON (excluding payment of the preferred return to AON's Class A and Class A-1 Unitholders), a post-closing combined company board of directors including one or two directors designated by DTOC prior to the closing, a commitment by DTOC to provide that advisor fees (excluding deferred underwriter fees and any fees paid by AON or DTOC to raise PIPE financing) not exceed $10 million, and a double dummy structure. The parties also agreed to certain additions and modifications to the transaction terms initially contemplated by the term sheet, including (1) an obligation on the part of AON to obtain the required approvals of its members in respect of the business combination prior to the execution of the Business Combination Agreement; (2) an obligation on the part of the parties to reasonably cooperate so as to cause the total amount of transaction expenses incurred by DTOC and AON to not exceed $32 million; (3) an obligation on the part of DTOC to have at least $60 million in cash on hand at the closing of the business combination; (4) the right of the parties to seek up to $100 million in PIPE financing following the execution of the Business Combination Agreement, on terms mutually agreeable to the parties; (5) the right of AON to terminate the Business Combination Agreement to enter into any alternative transaction with another party (regardless of the valuation ascribed to AON in such alternative transaction), subject to the payment of an $18 million termination fee by AON to DTOC (approximately 5.1% of the enterprise value); (6) an obligation on the part of DTOC to reimburse AON for the reasonable and documented out-of-pocket fees and expenses incurred by AON in the event the Business Combination Agreement were to be terminated in certain circumstances; (7) an obligation on the part of DTOC to seek the approval of its stockholders for an extension of the deadline for DTOC to consummate a business combination under its organizational documents in the event the parties determined in good faith it was probably that the business combination would not be consummated on or before March 12, 2023; and (8) a 45-day exclusivity period commencing on September 2, 2022 in which AON would not be permitted to engage in discussions with respect to an alternative transaction, subject to limited exceptions. On September 2, 2022, DTOC and AON entered into a Term Sheet, and representatives of Paul Hastings delivered to Woolery & Co. PLLC (“Woolery”) and Dentons US LLP (“Dentons”), legal counsels to AON, a revised draft of the Business Combination Agreement, substantially reflecting these terms.

Over the course of the subsequent weeks, DTOC and AON negotiated the remaining terms of the business combination and representatives of Paul Hastings, Woolery and Dentons exchanged further revised drafts of the Business Combination Agreement. Following additional analysis and discussions among DTOC and Company representatives regarding the structure of the business combination and the potential tax implications and risks for the parties and their security holders, the parties agreed to effect the business combination by means of an “Up-C” structure in order to allow the existing members of AON to hold their post-closing economic ownership in AON, a pass-through structure that is not taxable for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Following discussions among DTOC’s and AON’s tax counsel, the parties agreed that the “Up-C” structure was preferable given AON’s historical operations as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and that the structure would result in tax-deferral for existing equityholders of AON who will convert their interests into new common units, which likely would not have been the case under the prior “double-dummy” structure due to uncertainty around post-closing ownership percentages of the combined company.

On September 20, 2022, representatives of Paul Hastings delivered to Dentons a revised draft of the Business Combination Agreement that reflected the Up-C structure. During the same period of time, representatives of Paul Hastings and Dentons exchanged drafts of the related ancillary documents and agreements, including the Sponsor Support Agreement, the Registration Rights Agreement, the Incentive Equity Plan, the Amended and Restated Charter of DTOC and the Amended and Restated LLC Agreement of AON, and engaged in negotiations of such documents and agreements.

On September 14, 2022, the DTOC Board met to discuss the potential business combination with AON and determine next steps. Representatives of DTOC provided the DTOC Board an update on due diligence, along with an overview of the key terms of the proposed business combination. The DTOC Board directed DTOC and its representatives to proceed to negotiate the final terms of the transaction documents with AON.

By the last week of September 2022, the parties had substantially finalized the terms of the Business Combination Agreement and the related ancillary documents and agreements. On September 23, 2022, AON management hosted a conference call for its shareholders and certain network physicians where it provided an overview of the proposed transaction and discussed the strategic rationale for pursuing a business combination at this time.

On September 28, 2022, the DTOC Board convened a meeting together with representatives of management, the Sponsor and Paul Hastings. Representatives of Paul Hastings discussed with the directors their fiduciary duties under Delaware law in connection with a potential transaction and then reviewed the terms of the proposed transaction agreements. Representatives of management and the Sponsor also provided an update on the financial and business performance of AON. The DTOC Board deliberated on these matters and (i) determined that the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement were fair to and in the best interests of DTOC’s stockholders, (ii) approved the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, (iii) resolved to recommend to the stockholders of DTOC the approval of each of the Transaction Proposals, and (iv) determined that the fair market value of AON was equal to at least 80% of the amount held in the trust account (excluding any deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on interest earned on the trust account) as of the date of the Business Combination Agreement.

On October 3, 2022, after reviewing the terms of the proposed transaction agreements and deliberating on various matters, the AON Board, among other things, (i) authorized and approved the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, and (ii) determined that it was advisable and in the best interests of AON and its members to enter into any and all agreements relating to or arising out of the Business Combination Agreement or the transactions contemplated thereby.

On October 4, 2022, AON confirmed to DTOC receipt of written consents executed by a sufficient number of AON members necessary to approve the Business Combination Agreement, the Amended and Restated LLC Agreement and the other transactions contemplated by the Business Combination.

On October 5, 2022, DTOC and AON entered into the Business Combination Agreement and the Sponsor Support Agreement and settled the final forms of the ancillary agreements to be entered into on Closing.

On October 6, 2022, AON's Chief Executive Officer, Todd Schonherz sent an open letter to its members and certain network physicians providing an update on the proposed transaction and responding to several frequently asked questions received from members over the course of the proceeding week. Later on October 6, 2022, DTOC and AON issued a joint press release publicly announcing the parties' entry into the business combination.

On January 6, 2023, DTOC and AON amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to contemplate AON's Board of Managers following the Business Combination consists of (a) two managers designated by holders representing more than 50% of the AON common units and (b) three managers designated by New AON. In addition, the amended and restated Business Combination Agreement provides that AON Unitholders may elect to receive, in lieu of any number of shares of New AON Class B common stock to which the holder would otherwise be entitled, warrants to acquire such number of shares of New AON Class B common stock ("Class B Prefunded Warrant"), by submitting an election in accordance with the procedures set forth in amended and restated Business Combination Agreement. In connection with entering into the amended and restated Business Combination Agreement, AON and DTOC also revised the form of Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement. The revised form of Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement includes, among other revisions, certain additions and modifications in order to reflect the changes in the AON Board of Managers following the completion of the Business Combination (as described above). On January 6, 2023, DTOC, AON and the Sponsor amended and restated the Sponsor Support Agreement to amend certain vesting conditions on the Sponsor Earnout Shares. On February 9, 2023, DTOC filed a definitive proxy statement with the SEC soliciting the approval of its stockholders for, among other things, a proposal (the "Extension Amendment Proposal") to extend the date by which DTOC has to consummate a business combination (the "Combination Period") from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and to give the Sponsor the option to further extend the Combination Period beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional one (1) month each time to September 30, 2023 (collectively, the "Extension Options"). On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

At the March Special Meeting, DTOC's stockholders approved the Extension Amendment Proposal (the "Extension Amendment"). In connection with the approval of Extension Amendment Proposal, the Sponsor and DTOC's Chief Financial Officer converted all of their respective Founder Shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following conversion, such shares will vote together with the Public Shares on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of the IPO, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon. In connection with the votes to approve the proposals at the March Special Meeting, the holders of 31,502,931 shares of common stock of DTOC properly exercised their right to redeem their shares for cash at a redemption price of approximately $10.19 per share, for an aggregate redemption amount of approximately $321.2 million, leaving approximately $18.8 million in the Trust Account, not including the $150,000 deposited into the Trust Account by the Sponsor in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

On April 27, 2023, DTOC and AON further amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to provide that DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit held by such employee for a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio.

On April 27, 2023, AON and GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the “AON Class C Preferred Investor”) entered into a Unit Purchase Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on June 7, 2023 (as amended, the “Unit Purchase Agreement”), which provides for an investment of at least $65.0 million with an option to increase the investment to $75.0 million in connection with the issuance of AON Class C Units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

On June 7, 2023, AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor closed the investment contemplated under the Unit Purchase Agreement (the “Series A Investment”), pursuant to which the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 Class C units at an aggregate purchase price of $65 million. Under the Unit Purchase Agreement, the AON Class C Preferred Investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the Closing of the Business Combination, at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. In connection with the Series A Investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement to, among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units and issue such units to the AON Class C Preferred Investor. In connection with such closing, on June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC also amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the First Step, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor (“AEA Growth”) in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60 million. As a result of these mergers, New AON will hold 100% of the AON Series A preferred units. As a result of the Series A Investment, there will no longer be any additional equity or equity-linked financings, including pursuant to a PIPE, in connection with the Business Combination. In addition, AON used a portion of the proceeds from the Series A Investment to pay the preferred returns on the AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units. New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible into shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Certificate of Designations of Series A Preferred Stock of New AON (the “New AON Series A Certificate of Designations”) to be adopted by the New AON Board immediately prior to the Closing.

At a special meeting held on September 28, 2022, the DTOC Board unanimously (i) determined that the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement are fair to and in the best interests of DTOC’s stockholders, (ii) approved the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement, (iii) resolved to recommend to the stockholders of DTOC the approval of each of the Transaction Proposals, and (iv) determined that the fair market value of AON is equal to at least 80% of the amount held in the Trust Account (excluding any deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on interest earned on the Trust Account) as of the date of the Business Combination Agreement. In evaluating the Business Combination and making these determinations and this recommendation, the DTOC Board consulted with DTOC’s management and advisors and considered a number of factors. This explanation of the DTOC Board’s reasons for the Business Combination and all other information presented in this section is forward-looking in nature and, therefore, should be read in light of the factors discussed under “Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements.”

The DTOC Board and management considered the general criteria and guidelines that DTOC believed would be important in evaluating prospective target businesses as described in the prospectus for the Initial Public Offering. The DTOC Board also considered that they could enter into a business combination with a target business that did not meet those criteria and guidelines. In the prospectus for the Initial Public Offering, DTOC stated that it intended to focus its investment efforts on the healthcare industry and to seek to acquire or one or more businesses that possessed the following characteristics:

- Technology-first Business Model. The target business has a strong technology foundation that will enable continued scaling as technology is leveraged to serve customers in a manner that is superior to the status quo.
- Compelling Customer Value Proposition. The target business has a customer-centric focus reflected in a strong NPS and customer loyalty, which creates a sustainable competitive advantage.

- Strong Competitive Position. The target business uses scale, brand, and technology to differentiate its offering vis-à-vis competitors.
- Favorable Industry Tailwinds. The target business is supported by long-term consumer — and industry-specific tailwinds and focused on sectors with resilient or growing demand characteristics.
- Attractive and Repeatable Unit Economics. The target business has unit economics that are attractive and can be scaled without a material decline in return on growth investments.
- Entrepreneurial Management Team. The management team of the target business is entrepreneurial, data-driven, and committed to the long-term growth of the business.

In considering the Business Combination, the DTOC Board determined that the Business Combination was an attractive business opportunity that generally met these criteria and guidelines taken as a whole, although not weighted or in any order of significance.

In addition to the above, the DTOC Board considered a wide variety of additional factors in connection with its evaluation of the Business Combination. In light of the complexity of those factors, the DTOC Board as a whole did not consider it practicable to, nor did it attempt to, quantify or otherwise assign relative weights to the specific factors it took into account in reaching its decision. Individual directors may have given different weight to different factors.

- AON and the Business Combination. The DTOC Board considered the following factors related to AON and the Business Combination:
 - AON's Scaled Oncology Network with Strong Historical Growth Track Record . AON has grown significantly since it commenced operations in late 2018. Since 2019, AON has generated compounded annual revenue growth of more than 53% through December 31, 2022 and operates profitably. As of December 31, 2022, AON's platform includes 106 physicians and 30 practices across 77 locations in 17 states.
 - AON's "Patient First" Approach and Comprehensive Offering Ensures High Quality and Efficient Patient Service. In the view of the DTOC Board, AON's platform provides oncology practices with comprehensive support, access to revenue-diversifying adjacent services, and practice management expertise that empower physicians to provide better cancer care to patients and to do so more efficiently. Among other things, AON helps physicians focus on patient care by providing access to care-enhancing patient services (such as a centralized specialty pharmacy, diagnostics, pathology, as well as a fully integrated technology platform anchored by an oncology-specific electronic medical record system), a care management team and a variety of financial assistance programs.
 - AON's Opportunities for Future Growth. The DTOC Board believes that AON is well-positioned to continue its growth due to, among other factors:
 - a segmented and growing oncology industry with oncology medicine spend forecasted to grow at a 12% long-term CAGR, according to BCC Research (available at <https://www.bccresearch.com/market-research/pharmaceuticals/oncology-pharmaceuticalsmarket.html>);
 - the ability to support the growth of AON's physician partners through scaling ancillary services, such as clinical trials and dispensing of over 96% of oral oncolytics through AON's specialty pharmacy, and introducing new service offerings;
 - expanding AON's existing service offering to address the broader oncology market; and
 - growing the number of physician partners within AON's network through both organic growth at existing practices as well as adding new practices.
- The DTOC Board also considered the following factors relating to AON's outlook, financial planning and capitalization
 - AON's growth at 70% CAGR between 2019 and 2021 and positive EBITDA in the second quarter of 2022, suggesting future earnings growth from operating leverage;

- AON's ability to accelerate inorganic growth with additional capital through a more aggressive approach to M&A; and
- Moderate amount of net leverage in existing capitalization structure, presenting a lower risk profile for future common equityholders.
- Entrepreneurial and Experienced Management Team and Board . AON's executive leadership team, which will continue to serve in their current roles following the Closing, brings deep sector experience and expertise in oncology. Todd Schonherz, AON's Chief Executive Officer, previously served for ten years as COO of Florida Cancer Specialists and Research Institute, a leader in medical oncology and hematology, and prior to that role, worked for twelve years with US Oncology as Senior Vice President and Chief Information Officer and David Gould, AON's CFO, previously worked for five years at Apollo MD, a physician and APC operated multispecialty practice partnering with top hospitals, teaching facilities and health systems across the country. For additional information regarding AON's executive officers, see the section entitled "Management of AON Following the Business Combination Executive Officers."
- Alternative Transactions. The DTOC Board determined, after a thorough review of other business combination opportunities reasonably available to DTOC, that the proposed Business Combination represents the best potential business combination for DTOC based upon its evaluation and assessment of numerous other potential acquisition targets (including over 100 potential targets, of which DTOC submitted non-binding letters of interest to ten potential targets). For additional information regarding DTOC's evaluation of alternative business combination opportunities, see the section entitled "Background of the Business Combination."
- Continued Ownership by Existing AON Investors. The DTOC Board considered that the AON equityholders would continue to retain their economic interest in AON following the Closing. The DTOC Board considered this as a sign of confidence by AON equityholders in AON following the Business Combination and the benefits expected to be realized as a result of the Business Combination.
- DTOC Board Representation. The DTOC Board also considered that following the Closing, DTOC will have the ability to appoint up to two members to the combined company board, and therefore will continue to have the ability to support AON's management team and provide strategic guidance on a go-forward basis.

Further, most of the proceeds to be delivered to the combined company in connection with the Business Combination (including the remaining proceeds from DTOC's trust account after giving effect to any redemptions of Public Shares), are expected to remain on the balance sheet of the combined company after Closing in order to fund AON's existing operations and support new and existing growth initiatives. More than a majority of the AON equityholders have also approved the entry by AON into the Business Combination Agreement.

Financial Analysis

In addition to the factors described above, the DTOC Board also reviewed financial analyses about AON prepared by representatives of DTOC before approving the Business Combination. Given the experience of members of the DTOC Board and management, the DTOC Board did not conclude it was necessary to obtain a third-party valuation, and did not receive any valuation report or opinion from a third-party in connection with the Business Combination.

Instead, the DTOC Board relied on, among other things, DTOC's management team's due diligence on AON's business operations and the collective experience of DTOC's management team in public markets transactions in constructing and evaluating financial models and conducting valuations of businesses. In particular, DTOC's management team conducted a due diligence review of AON that included an analysis of AON's existing business model, historical financial results, and details of the valuation of a growth equity raise in 2020 from AON's existing investor base. DTOC's management team conducted selected public company analysis (as described below). Based on those analyses and given the growth prospects of AON and other compelling aspects of the Business Combination, the DTOC Board and management team determined that the proposed $350 million enterprise value of AON reasonably reflected its fair market value. Based on such valuation analysis, the DTOC Board believed that the consideration being paid in the Business Combination, which is derived from an enterprise valuation of $350 million, is fair and reasonable to DTOC and its stockholders.

Selected Public Company Analysis

DTOC reviewed certain trading data for several selected public companies in various healthcare and related industries.

In selecting the most analogous public companies, DTOC's management team noted that AON's business model is analogous to the selected comparable companies in a number of aspects, including: (i) differentiated service offerings within the healthcare industry, (ii) growth and margin profile, (iii) scale, and (iv) industry dynamics. DTOC reviewed the following groups of companies in performing its valuation analysis.

DTOC reviewed the following groups of companies in performing its valuation analysis:

- High-growth Healthcare Companies: this group of companies was chosen given the similarity to AON's business model and growth profile
- Oncology Companies: this group of companies was chosen given the similarity to AON's business model
- Physician Groups: this group of companies was chosen given the similarity to AON's business model
- Ambulatory Infusion Companies: this group of companies was chosen given the similarity to AON's business model
- Medical Supply Distributors: this group of companies was chosen given the similar exposure to AON's industry growth drivers

DTOC identified the following comparable companies in connection with its evaluation of a potential business combination with AON within each of the selected groups of comparable companies:

High-growth Healthcare Companies

- Cano Health
- Privia Health
- LifeStance Health
- Apollo Medical
- CareMax

Oncology Companies

- The Oncology Institute

Physician Groups

- Surgery Partners
- Pediatrix Medical Group

Ambulatory Infusion Companies

- Option Care

Medical Supply Distributors

- McKesson
- AmerisourceBergen
- Cardinal Health

The enterprise value and EBITDA metrics for the selected companies presented to the Board are summarized in the table below:

(US$ in millions)

Company	Enterprise Value	2022E EBITDA	Enterprise Value / 2022E EBITDA	2022E EBITDA Margin
High-growth Healthcare Companies
Cano Health	$ 3,637	$ 214	17.0x	7.5%
Privia Health	$ 4,337	$ 55	78.3x	2.5%
Lifescance Health	$ 3,136	$ 65	48.5x	7.4%
Apollo Medical	$ 2,900	$ 155	18.8x	14.6%
Caremax	$ 1,105	$ 43	25.6x	7.2%
Median			25.6x	7.4%
Oncology Companies
The Oncology Institute	$ 627	$ (23)	N/M	(7.8)%
Physician Groups
Surgery Partners	$ 6,378	$ 379	16.8x	14.9%
Pediatrix Medical Group	$ 2,479	$ 264	9.4x	13.3%
Median			13.1x	14.1%
Ambulatory Infusion Companies
Option Care	$ 7,127	$ 337	21.1x	8.6%
Medical Supply Distributors
McKesson	$ 57,049	$5,092	11.2x	1.9%
AmerisourceBergen	$ 33,998	$3,611	9.4x	1.5%
Cardinal Health	$ 20,618	$2,484	8.3x	1.4%
Median			9.6x	1.5%

Note: figures as of August 10, 2022.

Given AON's growth profile, service offerings, and margin profile, DTOC focused on the trading multiples of the High-growth Healthcare Companies and Physician Groups, which traded at approximately 26x median TEV/ 2022E EBITDA and approximately 13x median TEV/ 2022E EBITDA, respectively, as of August 10, 2022. DTOC did not focus on the trading multiples of the Oncology Companies group (due to the negative EBITDA margin profile), the Ambulatory Infusion Companies Group (due to differences with AON's business model), and the Medical Supply Distributors group (due to differences with AON's business model). DTOC used multiple EBITDA metrics to triangulate its valuation analysis, including (i) Q2 2022 Run Rate Adjusted EBITDA of $38 million and (ii) H1 2022 Run Rate Adjusted EBITDA of $15 million. Based on the trading company multiples range of approximately 13x to 26x median TEV/ 2022E EBITDA and DTOC's analysis of multiple measures of Adjusted EBITDA, DTOC arrived at a valuation of $350 million which represents multiples of TEV / 2022E EBITDA and the range of (i) 9.2x Q2 2022 Run Rate Adjusted EBITDA and (ii) 23.3x H1 2022 Run Rate Adjusted EBITDA. DTOC believes that Q2 2022 Run Rate Adjusted EBITDA was the most appropriate measurement for profitability given that Q1 2022 included significant investment into the AON's corporate overhead in anticipation of future growth. The implied multiple of 9.2x represents a discount of 65% relative to high-growth healthcare companies and 29% relative to physician groups. The discount rate was supported by (i) the fact that AON is a smaller scale company with a shorter track record relative to the public companies analyzed; (ii) AON's recent profitability was suppressed due to significant investments in corporate overhead; (iii) the fact that such discount provides attractive opportunity for investors relative to existing peers; (iv) precedent discounts in SPAC business combinations; and (v) execution risks of M&A.

- Results of Due Diligence. The DTOC Board considered the broad scope of the financial, commercial, regulatory and legal due diligence investigation conducted by DTOC's management and outside advisors and evaluated the results thereof and information available to it related to AON, including:
 - extensive meetings and calls with the management teams of AON regarding its business operations, technological capabilities and the proposed transaction;
 - research on the healthcare and technology industry, including historical and projected growth trends, pricing, competitive landscape, and customer perceptions, among other topics; and
 - review of materials related to AON and its businesses made available by AON, including financial statements, corporate documents, material contracts, benefit plans, employee compensation and labor matters, intellectual property matters, information technology, privacy and personal data, litigation information, and other regulatory and compliance matters and other legal and business diligence. For more information, please see the section entitled "Background of the Business Combination."
- Terms of the Business Combination Agreement. The DTOC Board reviewed and considered the terms of the Business Combination Agreement and the related agreements including the parties' conditions to their respective obligations to complete the transactions contemplated therein and their ability to terminate such agreements under the circumstances described therein. Of note, the DTOC Board considered that, in the event the Business Combination Agreement is terminated in connection with AON's entry into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction, AON would be required to pay to the Sponsor a termination fee of $18 million no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is six months following the termination of the Business Combination Agreement and (ii) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated. See "— Conditions to the Business Combination" and "— Termination Rights" for detailed descriptions of the terms and conditions of these agreements. The DTOC Board also considered the financial and other terms of the Business Combination Agreement and the fact that such terms and conditions are reasonable and were the product of arm's-length negotiations between DTOC and AON.

The DTOC Board also identified and considered the following factors and risks weighing negatively against pursuing the Business Combination, although not weighted or in any order of significance:

- Potential Inability to Complete the Business Combination. The DTOC Board considered the possibility that the Business Combination may not be completed and the potential adverse consequences to DTOC if the Business Combination is not completed, in particular the expenditure of time and resources in pursuit of the Business Combination and the loss of the opportunity to participate in the transaction. It considered the uncertainty related to the Closing, including due to closing conditions primarily outside of the control of the parties to the transaction (such as the need for stockholder approval). The Business Combination Agreement and the Sponsor Support Agreement each also include exclusivity provisions that prohibit DTOC, the Sponsor and certain of their respective affiliates from soliciting other business combination proposals on behalf of DTOC, which restricts DTOC's ability to consider other potential business combinations until the earlier of the termination of the Business Combination Agreement or the consummation of the Business Combination.

In addition, the DTOC Board considered the risk that the current public stockholders of DTOC would redeem their Public Shares for cash in connection with consummation of the Business Combination, thereby reducing the amount of cash that will be released from the Trust Account to AON following the consummation of the Business Combination. As of October 5, 2022, without giving effect to any future redemptions that may occur, the Trust Account had approximately $333.5 million in cash, invested in U.S. government securities. Further, the DTOC Board considered the risk that current public stockholders would exercise their redemption rights is mitigated because AON will be acquired at an attractive aggregate purchase price.

- AON's Business Risks. The DTOC Board considered that DTOC stockholders that retain their Public Shares will be subject to the execution risks and other risks associated with AON's business, which are different from the risks related to holding public shares of DTOC prior to the Closing. There are various risks associated with successful implementation of AON's long-term business plan and strategy and AON recognizing the anticipated benefits of the Business Combination on the timeline expected or at all, which could be affected by, among other things, competition, the ability of the combined companies to grow and manage growth profitably, maintain relationships with customers and suppliers and retain its management and key employees. The DTOC Board considered that the failure of any of these activities to be completed successfully may decrease the actual benefits of the Business Combination and that DTOC stockholders may not fully realize these benefits to the extent that they expected to retain the public shares following the completion of the Business Combination. For additional description of these risks, please see the section entitled "Risk Factors."

- Post-Business Combination Corporate Governance. The DTOC Board considered the corporate governance provisions of the Business Combination Agreement and the proposed organizational documents of the combined companies and the effect of those provisions on the governance of the combined companies following the Closing.
- Given that the AON equityholders will collectively own a majority voting interest in DTOC upon completion of the Business Combination, the AON equityholders may be able to elect future directors and make other decisions without the consent or approval of any of DTOC's current stockholders, directors or management team. See "Proposal No. 3 — The Charter Amendment Proposal" for detailed discussions of the terms and conditions of the proposed organizational documents of the combined companies.
- Limitations of Review. The DTOC Board considered that it was not obtaining an opinion from any independent investment banking or accounting firm that the price DTOC is paying to acquire AON is fair to AON or its members from a financial point of view. In addition, the DTOC senior management and DTOC's outside counsel reviewed only certain materials in connection with their due diligence review of AON. Accordingly, the DTOC Board considered that DTOC may not have properly valued such business.
- No Survival of Remedies for Breach of Representations, Warranties or Covenants of AON. The DTOC Board considered that the terms of the Business Combination Agreement provide that DTOC will not have any surviving remedies against AON or its equityholders after the Closing to recover for losses as a result of any inaccuracies or breaches of AON representations, warranties or covenants set forth in the Business Combination Agreement. As a result, DTOC stockholders could be adversely affected by, among other things, a decrease in the financial performance or worsening of financial condition of AON prior to the Closing, whether determined before or after the Closing, without any ability to reduce the number of shares to be issued in the Business Combination or recover for the amount of any damages. The DTOC Board determined that this structure was appropriate and customary in light of the DTOC that several similar transactions include similar terms and the AON equityholders will continue to retain majority economic and voting interests in the combined companies following the Closing.
- Litigation. The DTOC Board considered the possibility of litigation challenging the Business Combination or that an adverse judgment granting permanent injunctive relief could enjoin consummation of the Business Combination.
- Fees and Expenses. The DTOC Board considered the fees and expenses associated with completing the Business Combination. The DTOC Board also considered fees and expenses that could be payable in the event the Business Combination is not consummated, including the obligation of DTOC to reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions in the event the Business Combination Agreement is terminated in specified circumstances. See "— Termination Rights — Expense Reimbursement" above for additional detail.
- Diversion of Management. The DTOC Board considered the potential for diversion of AON management and employee attention during the period prior to the completion of the Business Combination, and the potential negative effects on AON's businesses.

In addition to considering the factors described above, the DTOC Board also considered that:

- Interests of DTOC's Directors and Executive Officers . DTOC's directors and executive officers may have interests in the Business Combination, as individuals, that are in addition to, and may be different from, the interests of DTOC's stockholders, including the fact that a significant portion of the equity interests in DTOC held directly or indirectly by DTOC's directors and executive officers will only have value if a business combination is completed, all as further described in the section entitled "Business Combination Proposal Interests of DTOC's Directors and Executive Officers in the Business Combination." However, DTOC's Board concluded that the potentially disparate interests would be mitigated because these interests were disclosed in the prospectus for DTOC's initial public offering and are included in this proxy statement/prospectus and the value of the equity interests in DTOC held by DTOC's directors and executive officers may fluctuate based on the future performance of AON following the Closing. See "— Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination" for further information about the interests of the DTOC directors in the Business Combination.

Based on its review of the foregoing considerations, the DTOC Board concluded that the potentially negative factors associated with the Business Combination were outweighed by the potential benefits that it expects DTOC stockholders will receive as a result of the Business Combination. The DTOC Board acknowledged that there can be no assurance about future results, including results considered or expected as disclosed in the foregoing reasons.

The DTOC Board did not obtain a third-party valuation or fairness opinion in connection with its determination to approve the Business Combination. The officers and directors of DTOC have substantial experience in evaluating the operating and financial merits of companies from a wide range of industries, and concluded that their experience and background enabled them to make the necessary analyses and determinations regarding the Business Combination. In analyzing the Business Combination, the DTOC Board and management conducted due diligence on AON and researched the industry in which AON operates and concluded that the Business Combination was in the best interest of DTOC's stockholders. In reaching this conclusion, the DTOC Board considered a number of factors and a broad range of information, including publicly available information and information provided by AON and the factors outlined above. The DTOC Board believes that it was qualified to conclude that the Business Combination was fair from a financial perspective to its stockholders. Accordingly, investors will be relying on the judgment of the DTOC Board, as described above, in valuing AON's business and assuming the risk that the DTOC Board may not have properly valued such business.

The preceding discussion of the information and factors considered by the DTOC Board is not intended to be exhaustive but includes the material factors considered by the DTOC Board. In view of the complexity and wide variety of factors considered by the DTOC Board in connection with its evaluation of the Business Combination, the DTOC Board did not consider it practical to, nor did it attempt to, quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weights to the different factors that it considered in reaching its decision. In addition, in considering the factors described above, individual directors may have given different weight to different factors. The DTOC Board considered this information as a whole and ultimately considered the information and factors to be favorable to, and in support of, its determinations and recommendations.

This explanation of reasons for the DTOC Board's approval of the Business Combination, and all other information presented in this section, is forward-looking in nature and therefore subject to a number of risks and uncertainties and should be read in light of the factors discussed under the sections entitled "Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" and "Risk Factors."

Satisfaction of 80% Test

The Nasdaq listing rules require that DTOC's Business Combination must be with one or more operating businesses or assets with a fair market value equal to at least 80% of the net assets held in the trust account (excluding deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on the interest earned on the trust account). DTOC's board of directors determined that this test was met in connection with the proposed Business Combination. For more information about the valuation of AON implied by the terms of the Business Combination, please see "— Background of the Business Combination."

Interests of DTOC Directors and Officers and Others in the Business Combination

In considering the recommendation of the DTOC Board to vote in favor of approval of the Business Combination Proposal, the Listing Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal and the other Proposals, DTOC stockholders should keep in mind that certain members of the board of directors and executive officers of DTOC and the Sponsor have interests in such proposals that may be different from, or in addition to, those of DTOC stockholders generally. In particular:

- If the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not consummated by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised), DTOC will cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, redeeming 100% of the outstanding public shares for cash and, subject to the approval of its remaining stockholders and the DTOC Board, dissolving and liquidating. In such event, the 8,112,500 Founder Shares held by the Sponsor, which were acquired for a purchase price of approximately $0.003 per share prior to the IPO, would be worthless because the holders are not entitled to participate in any redemption or distribution with respect to such shares. Such shares had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] based upon the closing price of $[—] per share on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date.
- The Sponsor, which is affiliated with Kevin Nazemi, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of DTOC, purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 private warrants from DTOC for an aggregate purchase price of approximately $9.2 million (or $1.50 per warrant). These purchases took place on a private placement basis simultaneously with the consummation of the Initial Public Offering. All of the proceeds DTOC received from these purchases were placed in the trust account. Such warrants had an aggregate market value of approximately $[—] million based upon the closing price of $[—] per warrant on Nasdaq on [—], the DTOC record date. The private warrants will become worthless if DTOC does not consummate a business combination by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised).
- In certain circumstances in which the Business Combination Agreement is terminated (as further described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Related Agreements”), the Sponsor may be required to reimburse AON for all reasonable, documented, out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses incurred by AON and its affiliates in connection with the Business Combination and related transactions.
- If the Business Combination Agreement is terminated due to AON's entry into an alternative transaction, AON is required to pay the Sponsor a termination fee of $18 million no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is 6 months following the termination and (ii) the date on which the alternative transaction is consummated.
- As further described above in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled “Extension Proposal”, the Sponsor provide DTOC a loan in an amount of $150,000 to fund a deposit to the trust account for purposes of obtaining approval of the Extension Proposal.
- The Sponsor and DTOC's officers, directors and their affiliates are entitled to reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by them in connection with certain activities on DTOC's behalf, such as identifying and investigating possible business targets and business combinations. However, if DTOC fails to consummate a business combination within the required period, they will not have any claim against the trust account for reimbursement. Accordingly, DTOC may not be able to reimburse these expenses if the Business Combination with AON or another business combination is not completed by June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all Extension Options are exercised). As of date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the total amount of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by DTOC's officers and directors is less than $1,500.
- The Business Combination Agreement provides for the continued indemnification of DTOC's current directors and officers and the continuation of directors and officers liability insurance covering DTOC's current directors and officers.
- The Sponsor and DTOC's officers and directors (or their affiliates) may make loans from time to time to DTOC to fund certain capital requirements. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, $200,000 in the form of two promissory notes in favor of the Sponsor are outstanding, and further loans may be made after the date of this proxy statement/prospectus. If the Business Combination is not consummated, the loans will not be repaid and will be forgiven except to the extent there are funds available to DTOC outside of the trust account.

- Subject to limited exceptions, the Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi will not be permitted to transfer their shares of New AON common stock for 12 months following the Closing.
- Following the Closing and for five years thereafter, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing to certain vesting and forfeiture provisions.
- Pursuant to the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, certain parties, including the Sponsor and directors and officers of DTOC, will have registration rights, such as demand and piggy-back rights with respect to the shares of New AON common stock (subject to cooperation, cut-back provisions and suspension periods).
- Todd Schonherz, Stephen "Fred" Divers, Shalin R. Shah, Vipul Patel, Vance M. Wright-Browne, Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Ravi Sarin are each expected to become members of the New AON Board upon consummation of the Business Combination. As such, in the future, each of the aforementioned may receive cash fees, stock options, stock awards or other remuneration that the New AON Board determines to pay them and any applicable compensation as described under the section titled "Management of New AON After the Business Combination".
- The Sponsor and Mr. Nazemi have each waived the anti-dilution adjustments set forth in DTOC's organizational documents, or any other anti-dilution or similar adjustment rights to which they may otherwise be entitled related to or arising from the Business Combination.
- The Sponsor and the Insiders agreed at the time of DTOC's IPO not to redeem any DTOC securities held by them in connection with a stockholder vote to approve the Business Combination and are obligated to vote in favor of the Business Combination. Neither the Sponsor nor the Insiders received any compensation for agreeing to not seek redemption or vote in favor of the Business Combination.
- Our Sponsor has made an investment for the Founder Shares at an average price per share of approximately $0.003 prior to the consummation of the IPO. As a result, even if the trading price of the New AON Class A common stock significantly declines, the value of the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor will be significantly greater than the amount the Sponsor paid to purchase such shares. Given the differential in the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the Founder Shares and the purchase price that the Sponsor paid for the private placement warrants as compared to the price of the public shares and public warrants and the substantial number of New AON Class A common stock that the holders of the Founder Shares will receive upon conversion of the Founder Shares and the private placement warrants, the Sponsor and other Initial Stockholders can earn a positive return on their investment, even if other DTOC stockholders have a negative return on their investment in New AON.
- DTOC's Existing Charter includes a limited waiver of the corporate opportunity doctrine, and any other analogous doctrine, that would otherwise apply to directors and officers of DTOC unless a corporate opportunity is offered to a director or officer solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of DTOC and such opportunity is one DTOC is legally and contractually permitted to undertake and would otherwise be reasonable for DTOC to pursue. The potential conflict of interest relating to the limited waiver of the corporate opportunities doctrine in DTOC's Existing Charter did not impact DTOC's search for an acquisition target and DTOC was not prevented from reviewing any opportunities as a result of such waiver.

Subject to Rule 14e-5 of the Exchange Act, at any time prior to the special meeting, during a period when they are not then aware of any material nonpublic information regarding DTOC or its securities, the Sponsor, DTOC's officers and directors, AON or AON stockholders and/or their respective affiliates may purchase shares from institutional and other investors who vote, or indicate an intention to vote, against the business combination proposal, or execute agreements to purchase shares from such investors in the future, or they may enter into transactions with such investors and others to provide them with incentives to acquire shares of DTOC common stock or vote their shares in favor of the business combination proposal.

In such transactions, the purchase price for the DTOC Class A common stock will not exceed the redemption price. In addition, the persons described above will waive redemption rights, if any, with respect to the DTOC Class A common stock they acquire in such transactions, and any such DTOC Class A common stock would not be voted in connection with the business combination proposal. The purpose of such share purchases and other transactions would be to increase the likelihood of satisfaction of the requirements that the holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote at the special meeting to approve the business combination proposal vote in its favor and that DTOC has in excess of the required dollar amount to consummate the Business Combination under the Business Combination Agreement, where it appears that such requirements would otherwise not be met. While the exact nature of any such incentives has not been determined as of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, they might include, without limitation, arrangements to protect such investors or holders against potential loss in value of their shares, including the granting of put options and the transfer to such investors or holders of shares or warrants owned by the DTOC Initial Stockholders for nominal value.

Entering into any such arrangements may have a depressive effect on DTOC common stock. For example, as a result of these arrangements, an investor or holder may have the ability to effectively purchase shares at a price lower than market and may therefore be more likely to sell the shares he, she or it owns, either prior to or immediately after the special meeting.

If such transactions are effected, the consequence could be to cause the Business Combination to be approved in circumstances where such approval could not otherwise be obtained. Purchases of shares by the persons described above would allow them to exert more influence over the approval of the business combination proposal and the other proposals to be presented at the special meeting and would likely increase the chances that such proposals would be approved. Moreover, any such purchases may make it more likely that DTOC will have in excess of the required amount of cash available to consummate the Business Combination as described above.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, no agreements dealing with the above have been entered into. DTOC will file a Current Report on Form 8-K prior to the special meeting to disclose any arrangements entered into or significant purchases made by any of the aforementioned persons. Any such report will include (i) the amount of DTOC Class A common stock purchased and the purchase price; (ii) the purpose of such purchases; (iii) the impact of such purchases on the likelihood that the Business Combination will be approved; (iv) the identities or characteristics of security holders who sold shares if not purchased in the open market, or the nature of the sellers; and (v) the number of shares DTOC Class A common stock for which DTOC has received redemption requests.

REGULATORY APPROVALS REQUIRED FOR THE BUSINESS COMBINATION

Under the HSR Act and the rules that have been promulgated thereunder by the FTC, certain transactions may not be consummated unless information has been furnished to the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice ("Antitrust Division") and the FTC and certain waiting period requirements have been satisfied. The Business Combination is subject to these requirements and may not be completed until the expiration of a 30-day waiting period following filings by DTOC and AON of the required Notification and Report Forms with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. On October 21, 2022, DTOC and AON filed the required forms under the HSR Act with respect to the Business Combination with the Antitrust Division and the FTC. The waiting period expired at 11:59 p.m. Eastern Time on November 21, 2022.

At any time before or after consummation of the Business Combination, notwithstanding termination of the respective waiting periods under the HSR Act, the Department of Justice or the FTC, or any state or foreign governmental authority could take such action under applicable antitrust laws as such authority deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin the consummation of the Business Combination, conditionally approving the Business Combination upon divestiture of assets, subjecting the completion of the Business Combination to regulatory conditions or seeking other remedies. Private parties may also seek to take legal action under the antitrust laws under certain circumstances. DTOC cannot assure you that the Antitrust Division, the FTC, any state attorney general or any other government authority will not attempt to challenge the Business Combination on antitrust grounds, and, if such a challenge is made, DTOC cannot assure you as to its result.

Neither DTOC nor AON is aware of any material regulatory approvals or actions required by regulatory authorities for completion of the Business Combination other than the expiration or early termination of the waiting period under the HSR Act. It is presently contemplated that if any such additional regulatory approvals or actions is required, such approvals or actions will be sought. There can be no assurance, however, that any approvals or actions, including any such additional approvals or actions, will be obtained.

ACCOUNTING TREATMENT

We expect the Business Combination to be accounted for as a reverse recapitalization in accordance with GAAP. Under the guidance in ASC 805, DTOC is expected to be treated as the “acquired” company for financial reporting purposes. This determination was primarily based on AON’s directors will represent a majority of the board seats for New AON’s board of directors, AON senior management comprising substantially all of the senior management of the post-combination company, the relative size of AON compared to DTOC, and AON’s operations comprising the ongoing operations of the post-combination company. Accordingly, the Business Combination is expected to be reflected as the equivalent of DTOC issuing stock for the net assets of AON, accompanied by a recapitalization whereby no goodwill or other intangible assets are recorded. Operations prior to the Business Combination will be those of AON.

RELATED AGREEMENTS

This section describes certain additional agreements entered into or to be entered into pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement, but does not purport to describe all of the terms thereof. The following summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of each of the agreements. Each of the Sponsor Support Agreement, the proposed form of Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement and the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement are attached hereto as Annex B, Annex C, and Annex D respectively. You are urged to read such agreements in their entirety prior to voting on the Proposals presented at the Special Meeting.

Sponsor Support Agreement

Contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, DTOC and AON entered into the Sponsor Support Agreement with the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders pursuant to which the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to (a) vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the Business Combination, (b) not to transfer any shares of DTOC Class A common stock held by it until the twelve month anniversary of the Closing (the "Sponsor Lock-Up Period"). (c) waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protections with respect to any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination, and (d) not to redeem, or submit a request to redeem, any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder.

In addition, under the Sponsor Support Agreement, the Sponsor has agreed to subject 35% of the shares of New AON common stock held by it as of the Closing (the "Sponsor Earnout Shares") to the following vesting and forfeiture provisions for the five-year period following the Closing.

- the Sponsor Earnout Shares will vest when the volume-weighted average price of the New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $13.50 per share for any 20 trading days within any 30 trading day period beginning after the Closing and ending 5 years following the Closing;
- the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be released immediately upon the consummation of a change of control transaction within the 5-year period following the Closing; and
- if the Sponsor Earnout Shares are not released pursuant to the foregoing provisions on or before the date that is 5 years after the Closing, then the Sponsor Earnout Shares will be forfeited immediately following such date.

The Sponsor Support Agreement will terminate in its entirety, and be of no further force or effect, upon the earliest to occur of (i) the expiration of the Sponsor Lock-Up Period, (ii) the termination of the Business Combination Agreement in accordance with its terms and (iii) the written agreement of DTOC, the Sponsor and AON.

Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement

In connection with the Closing, New AON, the Sponsor and certain key stockholders of New AON will enter into the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement pursuant to which, among other things, New AON will agree to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act, certain shares of New AON Class A common stock and other equity securities of New AON that are held by the parties thereto from time to time.

New AON is required to submit to or file with the SEC within thirty calendar days following the Closing, and to use commercially reasonable efforts to cause to be declared effective as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, a shelf registration statement on Form S-1 covering the resale of all the initial registrable securities (determined as of two business days prior to such submission or filing) on a delayed or continuous basis. In addition, New AON is required to submit to or file with the SEC within ninety calendar days following the Closing, and to use commercially reasonable efforts to cause to be declared effective as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, a registration statement on an appropriate form covering the issuance and resale of additional registrable securities on a delayed or continuous basis.

Following the expiration of the Sponsor Lock-Up Period and the AON Lock-Up Period (as defined below), as applicable, at any time and from time to time when an effective shelf registration statement is on file with the SEC, any holder of registrable securities or the Sponsor may make demand requests for underwritten shelf takedowns with a minimum total offering price that must be reasonably expected to exceed, in the aggregate, $25 million. Notwithstanding the foregoing, demand requests for underwritten shelf takedowns made by AEA Growth or its affiliates are not subject to the $25 million threshold. Each of (i) the Sponsor, (ii) AEA Growth or its affiliates and (iii) the holders other than AEA Growth, collectively, on the other hand, may not demand more than (i) two such underwritten shelf takedowns within any twelve-month period or (ii) five underwritten shelf takedowns in the aggregate, in each case subject to certain limitations set forth in the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement also provides customary “piggyback” registration rights. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement provides that New AON will pay certain expenses relating to such registrations and indemnify the stockholders against certain liabilities.

The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement amends and restates the registration and stockholder rights agreement that was entered into by DTOC, the Sponsor and the other parties thereto in connection with DTOC’s IPO. The Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement will terminate on the earlier of (i) the tenth anniversary of the date of the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement and (ii) with respect to the Sponsor or any holder of registrable securities party thereto, the date that such person no longer holds any registrable securities.

Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement

Following the closing of the Business Combination, New AON will operate its business through AON. At the Closing, New AON and the AON equityholders will enter into the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement. The operations of AON, and the rights and obligations of the AON equityholders, will be set forth in the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement.

Management of AON

Under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, AON will be managed by a board of managers consisting of (a) two managers designated by holders of common units representing more than 50% of the total common units entitled to vote (“Non-PubCo Managers”) and (b) three managers designated by New AON (the “PubCo Managers”). Except as otherwise specifically required under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, the AON board of managers will manage and control all business activities and operations of AON and control the day-to-day management of the business of AON and its subsidiaries. New AON, without the consent holders of common units, shall be entitled to increase or decrease (i) the size of the board of managers and/or (ii) the number of PubCo Managers and Non-PubCo Managers on the board of managers; provided, that the consent of the holders of a majority of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock shall be required before New AON increases or decreases the number of PubCo Managers and/or Non-PubCo Managers in a manner that would result in the PubCo Managers ceasing to represent a majority of the board of managers of AON.

AON Exchange Rights

Following the earlier of (a) the date that is the six month anniversary of the Closing and (b) the date after the Closing on which New AON consummates a change of control transaction that results in all of New AON’s stockholders having the right to exchange their Class A common stock for cash securities or other property (the period commencing on the Closing and expiring on such date, the “AON Lock-Up Period”), AON equityholders (other than New AON) will have the right to require AON to redeem all or a portion of their common units, together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (or the partial or full cancellation of a Class B Prefunded Warrant, as applicable), for (i) an equal number of shares of New AON Class A common stock, provided however that, a holder of common units may not exchange their common units for New AON Class A common stock that would result in such holder owning more than 4.99% of the outstanding New AON Class A common stock immediately after such redemption (the “Beneficial Ownership Limitation”) and no more than 4.99% of the voting power of New AON when combined with any securities of New AON or any securities convertible into New AON; provided however, that upon notice to the New AON, the holder may increase or decrease the Beneficial Ownership Limitation, provided that any increase or decrease in the Beneficial Ownership

Limitation will not be effective until 61 days following notice of such change from the holder to New AON or (ii) at New AON's election and solely in connection with New AON's completion of a substantially concurrent public offering or private sale of shares of New AON Class A common stock within ten business days of the delivery of a redemption notice to AON, a corresponding amount of cash, in each case contributed to AON by New AON. In lieu of a redemption, New AON may elect to effect a direct exchange of cash or shares of New AON Class A common stock for common units (rather than contributing the share or cash amounts, as applicable, to AON for purposes of AON redeeming the redeemed units from the redeeming equityholder). As the AON equityholders cause their common units to be redeemed or exchanged, holding other assumptions constant, New AON's membership interest in AON will correspondingly increase, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock outstanding will increase, and the number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants) will decrease.

Distributions and Allocations

Under the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, subject to the obligations of AON to make tax distributions and to reimburse New AON for its corporate and other overhead expenses, the AON board of managers will have the right to determine when distributions will be made to the AON unitholders and the amount of any such distributions. Following completion of the Business Combination, if AON authorizes a distribution, such distribution will be made consistent with the preferred return of any outstanding the AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders on a pro rata basis in accordance with their respective percentage ownership of AON common units.

The AON unitholders, including New AON, will generally incur U.S. federal, state and local income taxes on their share of any net taxable income of AON. Net income and losses of AON generally will be allocated consistent with the preferred return of any outstanding the AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders on a pro rata basis in accordance with their respective percentage ownership of common units, subject to requirements under U.S. federal income tax law that certain items of income, gain, loss, or deduction be allocated disproportionately in certain circumstances. To the extent the funds of AON are legally available for distribution, and subject to any restrictions contained in any credit agreement to which AON or its subsidiaries is bound, the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will require AON to make pro rata cash distributions to the holder(s) of the AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders, including New AON, in an amount generally intended to allow the holder(s) of the AON Series A preferred unit and to the AON unitholders to satisfy their respective income tax liabilities with respect to their allocable share of the income of AON, based on certain assumptions and conventions and increased to the extent necessary, if any, to ensure that the amount distributed to New AON is sufficient to enable New AON to pay its actual tax liabilities. In addition, the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will require AON to reimburse New AON for its corporate and other overhead expenses.

Issuance of Equity

The Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will provide that, except in certain specified circumstances, at any time New AON issues a share of New AON Class A common stock or any other equity security, the net proceeds received by New AON with respect to such issuance, if any, shall be concurrently contributed to AON, and AON shall issue to New AON one AON common unit or other economically equivalent equity interest. Conversely, if at any time, any shares of New AON Class A common stock are redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired, AON shall redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire an equal number of AON common units held by New AON, upon the same terms and for the same price, as the shares of New AON Class A common stock redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired. The Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement will also provide that each time a share of New AON Series A Preferred Stock is converted into shares of New AON Class A common stock, an equal number of AON Series A preferred units shall automatically convert (without any further action by AON or New AON) into AON common units at the same conversion ratio as applied to the conversion of New AON Series A Preferred Stock into New AON Class A common stock, such that at all times, the number of Series A preferred units held by New AON equals the number of shares New AON Series A Preferred Stock outstanding.

CERTAIN MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

The following is a discussion of certain material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the Business Combination for (i) holders of shares of DTOC common stock that hold New AON Class A common stock following the adoption of the Proposed Charter in connection with the Business Combination and (ii) holders of DTOC Class A common stock that elect to have their shares of DTOC Class A common stock redeemed for cash as described in the section titled “Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures”. This discussion applies only to DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock, as the case may be, that are held as capital assets for U.S. federal income tax purposes and only to holders of DTOC Class B common stock or holders of DTOC Class A common stock. This discussion does not address any tax treatment of other transactions occurring in connection with the Business Combination.

Based on, and subject to, the assumptions, qualifications and limitations set forth in the opinion included as Exhibit 8.1 hereto, the statements set forth in the following discussion, to the extent they constitute matters of U.S. federal income tax law or legal conclusions with respect thereto, represent the opinion of Paul Hastings LLP as to the material United States federal income tax consequences of the Business Combination to holders of DTOC Class B common stock and holders of DTOC Class A common stock. This discussion is a summary only and does not describe all of the U.S. federal income tax consequences that may be relevant to holders of DTOC Class B common stock or holders of DTOC Class A common stock in light of their particular circumstances, including but not limited to the alternative minimum tax, the Medicare tax on certain investment income and the different consequences that may apply to holders of DTOC Class B common stock or holders of DTOC Class A common stock subject to special rules that apply to certain types of investors, including but not limited to:

- our sponsor, founders, officers or directors;
- financial institutions or financial services entities;
- broker-dealers;
- governments or agencies or instrumentalities thereof;
- regulated investment companies;
- real estate investment trusts;
- former citizens or former long-term residents of the U.S.;
- insurance companies;
- dealers or traders subject to a mark-to-market method of accounting with respect to the securities;
- “controlled foreign corporations,” “passive foreign investment companies” and corporations that accumulate earnings to avoid U.S. federal income tax;
- persons holding securities as part of a “straddle,” hedge, integrated transaction or similar transaction;
- U.S. holders (as defined below) whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar;
- partnerships or other pass-through entities for U.S. federal income tax purposes and any beneficial owners of such entities; and
- tax-exempt entities.

If a partnership (or other entity or arrangement classified as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) is the beneficial owner of DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock, the U.S. federal income tax treatment of a partner in the partnership will depend on the status of the partner and the activities of the partner and the partnership. Accordingly, we urge partners in partnerships (including entities or arrangements treated as partnerships for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holding shares of DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock to consult their tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to them relating to the matters discussed below. The terms “U.S. holder” and “Non U.S. Holder” as defined below do not include entities treated as partnerships for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

This discussion is based on the Code and administrative pronouncements, judicial decisions and final, temporary and proposed Treasury regulations as of the date hereof, which are subject to change, possibly on a retroactive basis, and changes to any of which subsequent to the date of this proxy statement/prospectus may affect the tax consequences described herein. This discussion does not address any aspect of state, local or non-U.S. taxation, or any U.S. federal taxes other than income taxes (such as gift and estate taxes).

We have not sought, and will not seek, a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or the IRS, or an opinion of counsel as to any U.S. federal income tax consequence described herein. The IRS may disagree with the discussion herein, and its determination may be upheld by a court. Moreover, there can be no assurance that future legislation, regulations, administrative rulings or court decisions will not adversely affect the accuracy of the statements in this discussion. Holders of DTOC Class B common stock and holders of DTOC Class A common stock are urged to consult their tax advisors with respect to the application of U.S. federal tax laws to their particular situations as well as any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state or local or non-U.S. jurisdiction or under any applicable income tax treaty.

As used herein, the term "U.S. holder" means a beneficial owner of shares of DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock, as applicable, who or that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes:

- an individual who is a citizen or resident of the U.S.;
- a corporation (or other entity taxable as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) organized in or under the laws of the U.S., any state thereof or the District of Columbia;
- an estate the income of which is includible in gross income for U.S. federal income tax purposes regardless of its source; or
- a trust, if (i) a court within the U.S. is able to exercise primary supervision over the administration of the trust and one or more U.S. persons (as defined in the Code) have authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (ii) it has a valid election in effect under Treasury regulations to be treated as a U.S. person.

The term "Non-U.S. holder" means a beneficial owner of shares of DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock, as applicable, who or that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes:

- A non-resident alien individual;
- A foreign corporation; or
- An estate or trust that is not a U.S. holder;

Holders of DTOC Class B common stock or holders of DTOC Class A common stock who are such individuals should consult their tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of the conversion of their shares of DTOC Class B common stock or DTOC Class A common stock into shares of New AON Class A common stock or the redemption of their shares of DTOC Class A common stock, as the case may be.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations of the Adoption of the Proposed Charter for the Holders of DTOC Common Stock

Holders of DTOC common stock should not recognize any income, gain or loss under U.S. federal income tax laws as a result of the adoption of the Proposed Charter in connection with the Business Combination. Such holder should have the same basis in its New AON Class A common stock after the adoption of the Proposed Charter as that holder has in the corresponding DTOC common stock immediately prior to the adoption of the Proposed Charter and such holder's holding period in the New AON Class A common stock should include the holder's holding period in the corresponding DTOC common stock. Although the matter is not entirely clear, these consequences to the holders assume, that the adoption of the Proposed Charter does not result in an exchange by the holders of DTOC common stock for New AON Class A common stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. If contrary to this characterization, the adoption of the Proposed Charter does result in an exchange, such exchange should be treated as a recapitalization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The consequences to holders of a recapitalization could be different than those discussed above. Each holder should consult its own tax advisor regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to it of the adoption of the Proposed Charter in connection with the Business Combination.

The remainder of this discussion assumes that the adoption of the Proposed Charter will not result in an exchange for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Considerations of the Redemption to the Holders of DTOC Class A Common Stock

U.S. Holders

Tax Characterization of Redemption

In the event that a U.S. holder's shares of DTOC Class A common stock are redeemed pursuant to the redemption provisions described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures," the treatment of the transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes will depend on whether the redemption qualifies as a sale of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock under Section 302 of the Code. If the redemption qualifies as a sale of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock, the U.S. holder will be treated as described under "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Gain or Loss on Redemption Treated as Sale of Shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock" below. If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock, the U.S. holder will be treated as receiving a corporate distribution with the tax consequences described below under "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Taxation of Redemption Treated as a Distribution."

Whether a redemption qualifies for sale treatment will depend largely on the total number of shares of our stock treated as held (including in some cases indirectly) by the U.S. holder (including any stock constructively owned by the U.S. holder as a result of owning Private Placement Warrants, Public Warrants and any of our stock that a holder would directly or indirectly acquire pursuant to the Business Combination) relative to all of our shares outstanding both before and after the redemption. The redemption of a U.S. holder's shares of DTOC Class A common stock will be treated as a sale of the shares (rather than as a corporate distribution) if the redemption (i) is "substantially disproportionate" with respect to the U.S. holder, (ii) results in a "complete termination" of the U.S. holder's interest in us, or (iii) is "not essentially equivalent to a dividend" with respect to the U.S. holder. These tests are explained more fully below.

In determining whether any of the foregoing tests are satisfied, a U.S. holder takes into account not only shares of our stock actually owned by the U.S. holder, but also shares of our stock that are constructively owned by the U.S. holder. A U.S. holder may constructively own, in addition to stock owned directly, stock owned by certain related individuals and entities in which the U.S. holder has an interest or that have an interest in such U.S. holder, as well as any stock the U.S. holder has a right to acquire by exercise of an option, which should include shares of DTOC Class A common stock which could be acquired pursuant to the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants and Public Warrants. In order to meet the substantially disproportionate test, the percentage of our outstanding voting stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. holder immediately following the redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock must, among other requirements, be less than 80% of the percentage of our outstanding voting (and common) stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. holder immediately before the redemption (taking into account both redemptions by other holders of shares of DTOC Class A common stock and shares of our stock to be issued pursuant to the Business Combination), and immediately following the redemption, the U.S. holder actually and constructively must own less than 50% of our total combined voting power. There will be a complete termination of a U.S. holder's interest if either (i) all of the shares of our stock actually and constructively owned by the U.S. holder are redeemed or (ii) all of the shares of our stock actually owned by the U.S. holder are redeemed and the U.S. holder is eligible to waive, and effectively waives in accordance with specific rules, the attribution of stock owned by certain family members and the U.S. holder does not constructively own any other shares of our stock. The redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock will not be essentially equivalent to a dividend if such redemption results in a "meaningful reduction" of the U.S. holder's proportionate interest in us. Whether the redemption will result in a meaningful reduction in a U.S. holder's proportionate interest in us will depend on the particular facts and circumstances.

However, the IRS has indicated in a published ruling that even a small reduction in the proportionate interest of a small minority stockholder in a publicly held corporation who which stockholder exercises no control over corporate affairs may constitute such a “meaningful reduction.” A U.S. holder should consult with its own tax advisors as to the tax consequences of a redemption.

If none of the foregoing tests are satisfied, then the redemption will be treated as a corporate distribution and the tax effects will be as described under “Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Taxation of Redemption Treated as a Distribution” below. After the application of those rules, any remaining tax basis of the U.S. holder in the redeemed shares of DTOC Class A common stock will be added to the U.S. holder’s adjusted tax basis in its remaining stock, or, if it has none, to the U.S. holder’s adjusted tax basis in its warrants or possibly in other stock constructively owned by it.

Gain or Loss on Redemption Treated as Sale of Shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock

If the redemption qualifies as a sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock, a U.S. holder should recognize capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized and the U.S. holder’s adjusted tax basis in the shares of DTOC Class A common stock redeemed. A U.S. holder’s adjusted tax basis in its shares of DTOC Class A common stock should equal the U.S. holder’s purchase price allocated to such shares of DTOC Class A common stock, less any prior distributions paid to such U.S. holder that were treated as a return of capital for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Any such capital gain or loss recognized with respect to a redemption should be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. holder held such shares of DTOC Class A common stock for more than one year. It is unclear, however, whether the redemption rights with respect to the shares of DTOC Class A common stock described in this proxy statement/prospectus may suspend the running of the applicable holding period for this purpose. If the running of the holding period for the shares of DTOC Class A common stock is suspended, then non-corporate U.S. holders may not be able to satisfy the one-year holding period requirement for long-term capital gain treatment, in which case any such capital gain or loss recognized with respect to a redemption would be subject to short-term capital gain treatment and, in the case of non-corporate U.S. holders, would be taxed at regular ordinary income tax rates. Long-term capital gains recognized by non-corporate U.S. holders will be eligible to be taxed at reduced rates. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

Taxation of Redemption Treated as a Distribution

If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock, a U.S. holder will be treated as receiving a distribution of cash from us. Such distribution will constitute a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid from our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles. Distributions in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits will constitute a return of capital that will be applied against and reduce (but not below zero) the U.S. holder’s adjusted tax basis in its shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Any remaining excess will be treated as gain realized on the sale of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock and will be treated as described under “Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Gain or Loss on Redemption Treated as Sale of Shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock” above.

Provided that certain holding period requirements are met, dividends we pay to a U.S. holder that is a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes should qualify for the dividends received deduction. Such dividends also may be subject to the “extraordinary dividends” provisions of the Code, which could cause a reduction in the tax basis of such corporate U.S. holder’s shares and cause such U.S. holder to recognize capital gain. Provided that certain holding period requirements are met, and with certain exceptions (including, but not limited to, dividends treated as investment income for purposes of investment interest deduction limitations), dividends we pay to a non-corporate U.S. holder may constitute “qualified dividends” that will be subject to tax at preferential long-term capital gains rates. It is unclear whether the redemption rights with respect to the shares of DTOC Class A common stock described in this proxy statement/prospectus may prevent a U.S. holder from satisfying the applicable holding period requirements with respect to the dividends received deduction or the preferential tax rate on qualified dividend income, as the case may be. If the holding period requirements are not satisfied, then a corporation may not be able to qualify for the dividends received deduction and would have taxable income equal to the entire dividend amount, and non-corporate holders may be subject to tax on such dividend at regular ordinary income tax rates instead.

of the preferential rate that applies to qualified dividend income. U.S. holders should consult with their own tax advisors regarding their applicable holding period for these purposes.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Payments received by a U.S. holder as a result of the redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock may be subject, under certain circumstances, to information reporting and, unless the U.S. holder is exempt, backup withholding. Backup withholding may apply to such payments if the U.S. holder fails to provide a taxpayer identification number or certification of exempt status or has been notified by the IRS that it is subject to backup withholding (and such notification has not been withdrawn). Any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules will be allowed as a refund or a credit against a U.S. holder's U.S. federal income tax liability provided the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

Non-U.S. Holders

Tax Characterization of Redemption

The U.S. federal income tax characterization of the redemption of a Non-U.S. holder's shares of DTOC Class A common stock pursuant to the redemption provisions described in the section of this proxy statement/prospectus entitled "Special Meeting of DTOC Stockholders — Redemption Rights and Procedures," will correspond to the characterization of such a redemption of a U.S. holder's shares of DTOC Class A common stock, as described under "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Tax Characterization of Redemption" above. However, the consequences of such redemption to the Non-U.S. holder will differ from the consequences for U.S. holders, as described below. It is possible that because the applicable withholding agent may not be able to determine the proper characterization of a redemption of a Non-U.S. holder's shares of DTOC Class A common stock, the withholding agent might treat the redemption as a distribution subject to withholding tax.

Gain on Redemption Treated as Sale of Shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock

If the redemption qualifies as a sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock with respect to a Non-U.S. holder, such Non-U.S. holder will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on any gain realized upon the redemption of its shares of DTOC Class A common stock, unless:

- the gain is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business by the Non-U.S. holder within the U.S. (and, under certain income tax treaties, is attributable to a U.S. permanent establishment or fixed base maintained by the Non-U.S. holder);
- we are or have been a "U.S. real property holding corporation" for U.S. federal income tax purposes at any time during the shorter of the five-year period ending on the date of the redemption or the period that the Non-U.S. holder held the shares of DTOC Class A common stock, and, in the case where DTOC Class A common stock is regularly traded on an established securities market, the Non-U.S. holder has owned, directly or constructively, more than 5% of the DTOC Class A common stock at any time within such period. There can be no assurance that DTOC Class A common stock will be treated as regularly traded on an established securities market for this purpose; or
- such Non-U.S. holder is an individual who was present in the United States for 183 days or more in the taxable year of the disposition and certain other requirements are met, in which case any gain realized would generally be subject to a flat 30% U.S. federal income tax.

Unless an applicable treaty provides otherwise, gain described in the first bullet point above will be subject to tax at generally applicable U.S. federal income tax rates as if the Non-U.S. holder were a U.S. resident. Any gains described in the first bullet point above of a Non-U.S. holder that is a foreign corporation may also be subject to an additional "branch profits tax" at a 30% rate (or lower treaty rate).

If the second bullet point above applies to a Non-U.S. holder, gain recognized by such holder with respect to the redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock will be subject to tax at generally applicable U.S. federal income tax rates and a U.S. withholding tax could apply. However, DTOC believes that it is not, and has not been at any time since its formation, a U.S. real property holding corporation.

The remainder of this discussion assumes that the first through third bullet points above do not apply with respect to a Non-U.S. holder. Non-U.S. holders should consult their own tax advisors to determine the particular tax consequences to them of the redemption.

Taxation of Redemption Treated as a Distribution

If the redemption does not qualify as a sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock, a Non-U.S. holder will be treated as receiving a distribution of cash from us. The rules governing the determination of the extent to which such distribution will be treated as a dividend, return of capital, or gain realized on the sale of shares of DTOC Class A common stock will be the same as for U.S. holders of shares of DTOC Class A common stock, as described in "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — U.S. Holders — Taxation of Redemption Treated as a Distribution" above.

In general, any distributions the Non-U.S. holder is treated as receiving from us, to the extent paid out of our current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles), will constitute dividends for U.S. federal income tax purposes. We will be required to withhold tax from the gross amount of the dividend at a rate of 30%, unless such Non-U.S. holder is eligible for a reduced rate of withholding tax under an applicable income tax treaty and provides proper certification of its eligibility for such reduced rate (usually on an IRS Form W-8BEN or W-8BEN-E). Because we do not expect to be able to determine at the time we make a distribution whether or not the distribution will exceed our current and accumulated earnings and profits, we normally will withhold tax on the entire amount of any distribution at the 30% rate (subject to reduction by an applicable income tax treaty). However, some or all of any amounts thus withheld may be refundable to the Non-U.S. holder if it is subsequently determined that such distribution was, in fact, in excess of our current and accumulated earnings and profits.

Any distribution not constituting a dividend will be treated first as reducing (but not below zero) the Non-U.S. holder's adjusted tax basis in its shares of DTOC Class A common stock and, to the extent such distribution exceeds the Non-U.S. holder's adjusted tax basis, as gain realized from the sale or other disposition of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock, which will be treated as described under "Certain Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences — Non-U.S. Holders — Gain on Redemption Treated as Sale of Shares of DTOC Class A Common Stock" above.

Dividends paid to a Non-U.S. holder that are effectively connected with such Non-U.S. holder's conduct of a trade or business within the United States (or if a tax treaty applies are attributable to a U.S. permanent establishment or fixed base maintained by the Non-U.S. holder) will generally not be subject to U.S. withholding tax, provided such Non-U.S. holder complies with certain certification and disclosure requirements. Instead, the effectively connected dividends will be subject to regular U.S. income tax as if the Non-U.S. holder were a U.S. resident, subject to an applicable income tax treaty providing otherwise. A Non-U.S. holder that is a corporation receiving effectively connected dividends may also be subject to an additional "branch profits tax" imposed at a rate of 30% (or a lower treaty rate).

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Any distributions paid to a Non-U.S. holder (including constructive distributions pursuant to a redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock) must be reported annually to the IRS and to the Non-U.S. holder. Copies of these information returns may be made available to the tax authorities in the country in which the Non-U.S. holder resides or is established. Any distributions paid to a Non-U.S. holder (including constructive distributions pursuant to a redemption of shares of DTOC Class A common stock) will not be subject to backup withholding if the Non-U.S. holder establishes an exemption by properly certifying its non-U.S. status on an IRS Form W-8BEN or IRS Form W-8BEN-E (or other applicable or successor form).

Payments of the proceeds of the sale or other disposition by a Non-U.S. holder of shares of DTOC Class A common stock effected by or through a U.S. office of a broker will be subject to information reporting and backup withholding (at the applicable rate) unless the Non-U.S. holder establishes an exemption by properly certifying its non-U.S. status on an IRS Form W-8BEN or IRS Form W-8BEN-E (or other applicable or successor form) and certain other conditions are met. Information reporting and backup withholding should not apply to any payment of the proceeds from a sale or other disposition of shares of DTOC Class A common stock effected outside the U.S. by a non-U.S. office of a broker. However, if a broker has certain relationships within the U.S., then unless such broker has documentary evidence in its records that the Non-U.S. holder is not a U.S. person and certain other conditions are met, or the Non-U.S. holder otherwise establishes an exemption, information reporting will apply to a payment of the proceeds of the disposition of Class A common stock effected outside the U.S. by such a broker.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Rather, the U.S. federal income tax liability (if any) of persons subject to backup withholding will be reduced by the amount of tax withheld. If backup withholding results in an overpayment of taxes, a refund may be obtained, provided that the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

FATCA Withholding Taxes

FATCA imposes withholding of 30% on payments of dividends (including constructive dividends) on DTOC Class A Common Stock to "foreign financial institutions" (which is broadly defined for this purpose and in general includes investment vehicles) and certain other non-U.S. entities, unless various U.S. information reporting and due diligence requirements (relating to ownership by U.S. persons of interests in or accounts with those entities) have been satisfied by, or an exemption applies to, the payee (typically certified as to by the delivery of a properly completed IRS Form W-8BEN-E). The IRS has issued proposed regulations (on which taxpayers may rely until final regulations are issued) that should not apply these withholding requirements to gross proceeds from sales or other disposition of DTOC Class A Common Stock. Foreign financial institutions located in jurisdictions that have an intergovernmental agreement with the U.S. governing FATCA may be subject to different rules. Under certain circumstances, a Non-U.S. holder might be eligible for refunds or credits of such withholding taxes, and a Non-U.S. holder might be required to file a U.S. federal income tax return to claim such refunds or credits.

Holders of DTOC Class A common stock contemplating exercise of their redemption rights should consult their tax advisors to determine the specific tax consequences to them of such a redemption, including the effect of any U.S. federal, state or local, non-U.S. or other tax laws.

DESCRIPTION OF CERTAIN AON INDEBTEDNESSDescription of PNC Line of Credit

On April 30, 2021, American Oncology Management Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of AON, (the "Management Company") entered into a Loan Agreement (as amended by the "First Amendment" and "Second Amendment" referred to below, the "Loan Agreement") by and among the Management Company as borrower, AON, as parent guarantor, and PNC Bank, National Association, as lender ("PNC"). The Loan Agreement was subsequently amended by a First Amendment to Loan Agreement dated February 14, 2022 and a Second Amendment to Loan Agreement dated August 15, 2022.

The Loan Agreement evidences a senior, secured credit facility which provides the Management Company with access to a committed revolving credit facility in an amount up to $1 million (originally $5 million, and $10 million under the First Amendment), with a sub-limit of $2.5 million for letters of credit. Borrowings under the Loan Agreement may be used for working capital and general corporate purposes. The Loan Agreement matures on April 30, 2024. As of December 31, 2022, no amounts had been drawn on the Loan Agreement.

Interest on the revolving loans and letters of credit accrues at the Daily Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index Rate plus 165bps (or Base Rate plus 65 basis points). Applicable margin, issuance fees and other customary expenses are payable on outstanding letters of credit. As of December 31, 2022, no amount has been drawn under the letters of credit.

Affirmative covenants include delivery of quarterly financials within 45 days after quarter-end, annual audited financials within 120 days and a budget within 60 days of year-end; specific, as well as a requirement to comply with all applicable health care laws (including HIPAA). All cash management of the Borrower must be held at PNC.

Negative covenants include limits on indebtedness, and liens (with a general lien basket not to exceed $250,000), subject to certain exceptions. Mergers and asset sales are prohibited, except among the Management Company, AON and the subsidiary guarantors. Acquisitions are permitted so long as (i) no default or event of default exists or would exist and (ii) immediately after giving effect to the acquisition on a pro forma basis, the borrower is in compliance with the financial covenants including those which are set forth below. Certain additional deliveries are required for any acquisitions with a purchase price of $10 million or more. So long as there is no ongoing event of default, dividends and distributions are allowed in an aggregate amount not to exceed 50% of the aggregate net income of AON and its consolidated subsidiaries for the immediately preceding fiscal year.

Financial covenants include a leverage ratio (Total Funded Debt to EBITDA) for AON and its subsidiaries (including the Management Company) not to exceed 3.0:1.0, and a fixed charge coverage ratio, which, after giving effect to the First Amendment, of at least 1.15:1.0.

The Loan Agreement contains mostly customary events of default, though there is no grace period for late payment of interest, fees and expenses and the time periods to cure involuntary bankruptcy and judgment defaults are quite tight (30 days and 10 days, respectively). A Change of Control (as defined in the Loan Agreement, which constitutes another event of default) will occur, inter alia, if the physician-members of AON as of date of the Loan Agreement fail to own or control, directly or indirectly, 51% of the voting equity interests in AON. If an event of default occurs and is continuing, the Management Company may be required to immediately repay all amounts outstanding under the Loan Agreement and the Management Company commitments from PNC may be terminated.

The Management Company's obligations under the loan documents are guaranteed by AON and subsidiary guarantors under a guaranty agreement dated April 30, 2021 (the "Guaranty Agreement"). The Management Company, AON and subsidiaries of the Management Company also pledge all of their assets under a security agreement dated April 30, 2021 (the "Security Agreement"); they pledge all their ownership interests in their subsidiaries under a pledge agreement as well.

Description of PNC Receivables Loan Facility

On April 30, 2021, the Management Company, in its individual capacity and as servicer, entered into a Receivables Financing Agreement (the "AON PNC Loan Facility") with each of AON Receivables Maryland, LLC and AON Receivables, LLC (each a "Borrower", and collectively, the "Borrowers"), the lenders and group agents party thereto, PNC, as Administrative Agent, and PNC Capital Markets LLC, as Structuring Agent.

Under the AON PNC Loan Facility, lenders are making revolving loans to the Borrowers, which loans are secured by all assets of the Borrowers, including, inter alia, the patient accounts receivables of the Borrowers, and related security. The Borrowers are jointly and severally liable for, and each Borrower unconditionally guarantees prompt payment of, all obligations under the AON Loan Facility, which matures on April 30, 2024.

Borrowings under the AON PNC Loan Facility are limited to an amount equal to the lesser of (a) the facility limit (which is $125 million as of the 4th amendment, dated April 18, 2022) and (b) a borrowing base. As of December 31, 2022, $81.3 million was borrowed under the AON PNC Loan Facility. Interest accrues at either the Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index rate (the "BSBY Rate"), the Daily BSBY Floating Rate option or a Base Rate option. An additional 2.5% in interest is charged upon certain events of default.

Reporting requirements are typical for facilities of this type. The AON PNC Loan Facility also imposes tight limits on the incurrence of debt, including up to $5 million aggregate principal amount at any one time to finance the acquisition, construction or improvement of fixed or capital assets. The Borrowers may make cash payments on their subordinated loan and may declare and pay dividends so long as no event of default is ongoing and the Borrowers' net worth is not less than the required capital amount ($9 million).

Events of default include payment defaults under the AON PNC Loan Facility, a cross-default to the Loan Agreement, a failure to pay other debt when due that has an outstanding principal amount of at least $1 million, the occurrence of any event which materially adversely impairs the collectability of the receivables or any material portion thereof, any bankruptcy by an AON Party or any Subsidiary thereof, failure to meet reporting requirements, any breach of representations, and the failure to cure any borrowing base deficit within three business days. In addition, an event of default occurs upon a change of control, or if certain customary financial ratios exceeds certain thresholds.

During an event of default, PNC may direct the obligors to pay all amounts under any receivable direct to PNC or its designee, cut off the Borrowers' and the Servicer's access to the Collection Accounts, replace the Servicer or collect any amounts due from an Originator under the Sale and Contribution Agreements or the Performance Guarantor under the Performance Guaranty.

DESCRIPTION OF SECURITIES

References in this section to “we,” “our,” and “us” generally refer to DTOC, prior to the Business Combination, and New AON and its consolidated subsidiaries after giving effect to the Business Combination.

Capital Stock Upon Completion of the Business Combination

The following summary of the material terms of the securities of New AON, the combined company following the Business Combination, assumes the adoption of the Proposed Charter by the stockholders of DTOC at the Special Meeting. This summary is not intended to be a complete summary of the rights and preferences of such securities. The full text of the Proposed Charter is attached as Annex E to this proxy statement/prospectus. We urge you to read our Proposed Charter in its entirety for a complete description of the rights and preferences of DTOC’s securities following the Business Combination.

Authorized and Outstanding Stock

The Proposed Charter authorizes the issuance of 325,000,000 shares of capital stock, consisting of (a) 300,000,000 shares of common stock, consisting of (i) 200,000,000 shares of Class A common stock, $0.0001 par value per share and (ii) 100,000,000 shares of Class B common stock, $0.0001 par value per share and (b) 25,000,000 shares of preferred stock, par value $0.0001 per share. The outstanding shares of our common stock are, and the shares of New AON common stock issuable (or any securities that may be convertible into or exchangeable for shares of New AON Class A common stock) in connection with the Business Combination pursuant to the Business Combination Agreement and the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations will be, duly authorized, validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable.

Common Stock

New AON Class A Common Stock

Voting Power

Except as otherwise required by law or as otherwise provided in any certificate of designation for any series of preferred stock, under the Proposed Charter, each holder of New AON Class A common stock will be entitled to one vote for each share of Class A common stock held of record as of the applicable record date by such holder on all matters on which stockholders generally are entitled to vote. The holders of New AON Class A common stock and New AON Class B common stock, voting together as a single class, shall have the exclusive right to vote for the election of directors (other than with respect to the Preferred Director) and on all matters properly submitted to a vote of stockholders, unless otherwise required by Delaware law or the Proposed Charter (as it may be amended from time to time). Notwithstanding the foregoing, except as otherwise required by law or the Proposed Charter (including any preferred stock designation), holders of shares of any series of common stock shall not be entitled to vote on any amendment to the Proposed Charter (including any amendment to any preferred stock designation) that relates solely to the terms of one or more outstanding series of preferred stock or other series of common stock if the holders of such affected series of preferred stock or common stock, as applicable, are entitled exclusively, either separately or together with the holders of one or more other such series, to vote thereon.

Dividends

Subject to the rights, if any, of the holders of any outstanding shares of preferred stock, under the Proposed Charter, holders of New AON Class A common stock will be entitled to receive such dividends and other distributions, if any, as may be declared from time to time by the New AON Board in its discretion out of funds legally available therefor and shall share ratably (based on the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock held) in such dividends and distributions.

Liquidation, Dissolution and Winding Up

In the event of the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of New AON under the Proposed Charter, or any liquidation event, after payment or provision for payment of the debts and other liabilities of New AON and of the preferential and other amounts, if any, to which the holders of preferred stock having a preference over the New AON Class B common stock, the holders of shares of New AON Class B common stock shall be entitled to receive $0.0001 per share, and upon receiving such amount, such holders of shares of New AON Class B common stock, as such, shall not be entitled to receive any other assets or funds of New AON. Thereafter, the holders of all outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock shall be entitled to receive the remaining assets of New AON available for distribution ratably in proportion to the number of shares held by each such stockholder.

Preemptive or Other Rights

Under the Proposed Charter, holders of New AON Class A common stock will have no preemptive or other subscription rights and there will be no sinking fund or redemption provisions applicable to New AON Class A common stock.

New AON Class B Common Stock

Voting Power

Except as otherwise required by law or as otherwise provided in any certificate of designation for any series of preferred stock, under the Proposed Charter, the holders of New AON Class B common stock will be entitled, as applicable, to one (1) vote per share held of record as of the applicable record date by such holder on all matters on which stockholders generally or holders of Class B common stock as a separate class are entitled to vote (whether voting separately as a class or together with one or more classes of New AON's capital stock). The holders of New AON Class A common stock and New AON Class B common stock, voting together as a single class, shall have the exclusive right to vote for the election of directors and on all matters properly submitted to a vote of stockholders, unless otherwise required by Delaware law or the Proposed Charter (as it may be amended from time to time). Notwithstanding the foregoing, except as otherwise required by law or the Proposed Charter (including any preferred stock designation), holders of shares of any series of common stock shall not be entitled to vote on any amendment to the Proposed Charter (including any amendment to any preferred stock designation) that relates solely to the terms of one or more outstanding series of preferred stock or other series of common stock if the holders of such affected series of preferred stock or common stock, as applicable, are entitled exclusively, either separately or together with the holders of one or more other such series, to vote thereon.

Dividends

Holders of New AON Class B common stock will not be entitled to receive dividends and other distributions.

Liquidation, Dissolution and Winding Up

In the event of the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of New AON under the Proposed Charter, the holders of New AON Class B common stock will be entitled to receive $0.0001 per share, and upon receiving such amount, such holders of shares of Class B common stock, as such, shall not be entitled to receive any other assets or funds of New AON.

Preemptive or Other Rights

Under the Proposed Charter, holders of New AON Class B common stock will have no preemptive or other subscription rights and there will be no sinking fund or redemption provisions applicable to New AON Class B common stock.

Restrictions on Transfers

Holders of New AON Class B common stock may transfer or assign shares of Class B common stock only to a permitted transferee of such holders under the AON Amended and Restated LLC Agreement, and only if the transferor also simultaneously transfers an equal number of such transferor's common units to such permitted transferee in compliance with the transfer restrictions in the AON Amended and Restated LLC Agreement.

Cancellation and Conversion

Holders of New Aon Class B common stock (other than New AON) will have the right to require AON to redeem all or a portion of their common units, together with the cancellation of an equal number of shares of New AON Class B common stock, for (i) an equal number of shares of New AON Class A common stock, provided however that, a holder of common units may not exchange their common units for New AON Class A common stock that would result in such holder owning more than 4.99% of the outstanding New AON Class A common stock immediately after such redemption (the "Beneficial Ownership Limitation") and no more than 4.99% of the voting power of New AON when combined with any securities of New AON or any securities convertible into New AON; provided however, that upon notice to the New AON, the holder may increase or decrease the Beneficial Ownership Limitation, provided that any increase or decrease in the Beneficial Ownership Limitation will not be effective until 61 days following notice of such change from the holder to New AON or (ii) at New AON's election and solely in connection with New AON's completion of a substantially concurrent public offering or private sale of shares of New AON Class A common stock within ten business days of the delivery of a redemption notice to AON, a corresponding amount of cash, in each case contributed to AON by New AON. In lieu of a redemption, New AON may elect to effect a direct exchange of cash or shares of New AON Class A common stock for common units (rather than contributing the share or cash amounts, as applicable, to AON for purposes of AON redeeming the redeemed units from the redeeming equityholder). As the AON equityholders cause their common units to be redeemed or exchanged, holding other assumptions constant, New AON's membership interest in AON will correspondingly increase, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock outstanding will increase, and the number of shares of New AON Class B common stock (whether held directly or indirectly through Class B Prefunded Warrants) will decrease.

New AON Series A Preferred Stock

On April 27, 2023, AON and GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the "AON Class C Preferred Investor") entered into a Unit Purchase Agreement, which they subsequently amended and restated on June 7, 2023 (as amended, the "Unit Purchase Agreement"), which provides for an investment of at least $65.0 million with an option to increase the investment to $75.0 million in connection with the issuance of AON Class C Convertible Preferred Units ("AON Class C units") to the AON Class C Preferred Investor.

Pursuant to the Unit Purchase Agreement, on June 7, 2023 the AON Class C Preferred Investor purchased, and AON issued and sold to the AON Class C Preferred Investor, 2,459 AON Class C units, with an option by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the closing of the Business Combination (the "Closing"), at a purchase price of $26,432 per unit. At the Closing, DTOC Merger Sub, Inc. ("Merger Sub") will merge with and into AON Class C Preferred Investor (the "First Step"), whereby AON Class C Preferred Investor will become a wholly-owned direct subsidiary of New AON, and in exchange, New AON will issue to AEA Growth the number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock based on the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio. Immediately following the First Step, AON Class C Preferred Investor will merge with and into New AON (the "Second Step"), whereby the separate existence of AON Class C Preferred Investor will cease and New AON will hold 100% of the AON Series A preferred units. The AON Class C units, including any accrued interest thereon, will be reclassified into and exchanged for a number of AON Series A preferred units equal to the same number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock. The date of completion of the Second Step shall be referred to as the "Issue Date." New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible into shares of New AON Class A common stock in accordance with the terms of the Certificate of Designations of Series A Preferred Stock of New AON (the "New AON Series A Certificate of Designations") to be adopted by the New AON Board immediately prior to the Closing.

The Unit Purchase Agreement included customary representations and warranties from AON and the AON Class C Preferred Investor, as well as customary closing conditions.

The shares of Class A Common Stock (collectively with the Class B Common Stock, the "New AON Common Stock") underlying the New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be "Registrable Securities" under the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement.

Dividends

The New AON Series A Preferred Stock accrues dividends at the annual rate of 8.0% of the original price per share, plus the amount of previously accrued, but unpaid dividends, compounded semi-annually, and participates with the New AON Common Stock on all other dividends (the "Accrued Dividends" which, together with the aggregate investment by the AON Class C Preferred Investor, will be referred to as the "Accrued Value"). The Accrued Dividends may be paid in cash or accumulate and compound into Accrued Value.

Liquidation Rights and Preference

Upon any liquidation, winding-up or dissolution or deemed liquidation event, the holders of New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be entitled to receive out of the available proceeds, before any distribution is made to holders of New AON Common Stock or any other junior securities, an amount per share equal to the greater of (i) the original price per share multiplied by the Applicable Percentage (as defined below) plus any Accrued Dividends on such share of New AON Series A Preferred Stock (including all dividends that have previously accreted to Accrued Value, as described above) or (ii) such amount per share as would have been payable had all shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock been converted into New AON Common Stock immediately prior to the liquidation event, winding up or dissolution. After the payment in full to the holders of New AON Series A Preferred Stock of the amounts provided for above, the holders of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock as such shall have no right or claim to any remaining assets of the Company in respect of their ownership of New AON Series A Preferred Stock. "Applicable Percentage" means a percentage equal to (a) one hundred twenty five percent (125%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event (as defined in the Certificate of Designation) occurs prior to June 7, 2024, (b) one hundred twenty percent (120%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event occurs after June 7, 2024, but on or prior to June 7, 2025, (c) one hundred fifteen percent (115%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event occurs after June 7, 2025, but on or prior to June 7, 2026, (d) one hundred ten percent (110%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event occurs after June 7, 2026, but on or prior to June 7, 2027, (e) one hundred five percent (105%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event occurs after June 7, 2027, but on or prior to June 7, 2028, (f) one hundred percent (100%) if a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of New AON or any Deemed Liquidation Event occurs after June 7, 2028.

Voting

The New AON Series A Preferred Stock votes together with the New AON Common Stock on an as-converted basis, except as required by law and as noted below under "Protective Provisions." Each holder of New AON Series A Preferred Stock shall be entitled to cast the number of votes equal to the number of whole shares of New AON Common Stock into which the shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock held by such holder are convertible as of the record date for determining stockholders entitled to vote on such matter or, if no record date is established, at the date such vote or consent is taken. The holders of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock are also entitled to elect one director to the New AON Board (the "Preferred Director"), as long as the holders hold 5% or more of the voting power of all then-outstanding shares of capital stock of New AON entitled to vote generally at an election of directors. The Preferred Director may be removed without cause by, and only by, the affirmative vote of such holders and will be a Class I director.

Protective Provisions

For as long as 50% of the shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock issued and outstanding as of the Issue Date are outstanding, New AON shall not, without the affirmative vote or action by written consent of holders of a majority of the then-outstanding shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock (the "Requisite Holders"), voting together as a separate class, take any of the following actions: (i) amend, alter, or repeal any provision of the certificate of incorporation of New AON, the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations, bylaws of New AON, the operating agreement of AON or the certificate of formation of AON in a manner that either adversely affects the rights, privileges or preferences (economic or otherwise) of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock or materially modifies the rights, privileges, or preferences

(economic or otherwise) of any class or series of equity security of New AON; (ii) amend, alter, or changes the rights, preferences or privileges of the preferred stock of New AON; (iii) reclassify, alter or amend any Junior Stock (as defined in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations) in a manner which renders such Junior Stock senior to or on parity with the New AON Series A Preferred Stock or Parity Stock (as defined in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations) in a manner which renders such Parity Stock senior to the New AON Series A Preferred Stock; (iv) issue or obligate itself to issue any New AON shares which are senior to or pari passu with (or any equity security or debt instrument that is exercisable for or convertible into equity securities of New AON that are senior to or pari passu with) the New AON Series A Preferred Stock as to liquidation preferences, redemption, distributions, dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the New AON or AON; (v) incur or refinance any indebtedness that either (1) results in New AON having a ratio of total leverage (calculated as its net debt) to its trailing twelve-month Adjusted EBITDA (as defined in the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations) at any time following the incurrence of such indebtedness that is more than three times, (2) provides for security over New AON's assets that is broader than outstanding indebtedness at the Issue Date, or (3) has materially more restrictive covenants than indebtedness outstanding as of the Issue Date; (vi) make any redemption, repurchase, dividend, or distribution (other than tax distributions) on any equity securities, or permit any of its subsidiaries to take any such action, other than redemptions of or dividends or distributions on the New AON Series A Preferred Stock, and repurchases of equity securities from former service providers in connection with the cessation of such service at no greater than the original purchase price; (vii) with respect to New AON or AON or any of their subsidiaries (other than subsidiaries with de minimis assets and operations), (1) initiate or commence an insolvency proceeding, including any state or federal insolvency proceeding, (2) effectuate an assignment for the benefit of creditors, or (3) elect to dissolve, liquidate or otherwise wind-up affairs; (viii) enter into any transaction between New AON or any of its subsidiaries on one hand, and any member of the board of directors, executive officer or member of senior management of New AON or any of its subsidiaries, or securityholder of New AON or any of its subsidiaries, or their affiliates, on the other hand, other than ordinary course equity compensation grants; (ix) change the tax classifications of New AON or any of its subsidiaries; (x) increase or decrease the authorized number of directors constituting the New AON Board; or (xi) remove the then-serving New AON chief executive officer from the New AON Board or approve the proposed replacement of the then-current New AON chief executive officer on the New AON Board

Conversion

Each share of New AON Series A Preferred Stock will be convertible at the holder's option into shares of New AON Common Stock at an initial conversion ratio determined by dividing the Accrued Value of such shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock by the conversion price per share, which will initially be based on the deemed original purchase price per share of each share of New AON Series A Preferred Stock and subject to adjustment in accordance with the terms of the New AON Series A Certificate of Designations. No fractional shares of New AON Common Stock or securities representing fractional shares of New AON Common Stock will be issued upon conversion or in respect of dividend payments made in New AON Common Stock on the New AON Series A Preferred Stock. Instead, the number of shares of New AON Common Stock to be issued to any particular holder of New AON Series A Preferred Stock upon conversion will be rounded up to the next whole share.

Mandatory Conversion

At any time three years after the Closing, if the 30-Day VWAP of the New AON Class A common stock is greater than $16.00, then New AON may, at its option, elect to cause all (but not less than all) of the outstanding shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock to be converted into New AON Class A common stock at the conversion ratio then in effect, with such adjustment or cash payment for fractional shares as New AON may elect.

Public Stockholders' Warrants

The Public Warrants outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Business Combination will be converted into New AON warrants to purchase shares of New AON Class A common stock, on identical terms and subject to the same conditions (including as to vesting and exercisability) as are in effect with respect to the DTOC warrants immediately prior to the effective time, as describe below, with appropriate adjustments to the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock underlying such warrant and the exercise price applicable thereto to account for the Business Combination.

Redeemable Warrants

Each whole warrant entitles the registered holder to purchase one share of New AON Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment as discussed below, at any time commencing on the later of 30 days after the completion of the Business Combination. Pursuant to the warrant agreement, a warrant holder may exercise its warrants only for a whole number of shares of New AON Class A common stock. The warrants will expire at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, on the fifth anniversary of the completion of the Business Combination, or earlier upon redemption or liquidation.

New AON will not be obligated to deliver any shares of New AON Class A common stock pursuant to the exercise of a warrant and will have no obligation to settle such warrant exercise unless a registration statement under the Securities Act covering the issuance of the shares of New AON Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants is then effective and a prospectus relating thereto is current, subject to New AON satisfying New AON's obligations described below with respect to registration, or a valid exemption from registration is available, including in connection with a cashless exercise permitted as a result of a notice of redemption described below under "Redemption of warrants when the price per share of New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $10.00." No warrant will be exercisable for cash or on a cashless basis, and New AON will not be obligated to issue any shares to holders seeking to exercise their warrants, unless the issuance of the shares upon such exercise is registered or qualified under the securities laws of the state of the exercising holder, or an exemption is available. In the event that the conditions in the two immediately preceding sentences are not satisfied with respect to a warrant, the holder of such warrant will not be entitled to exercise such warrant and such warrant may have no value and expire worthless. In the event that a warrant is not exercisable, the purchaser of a unit containing such warrant will have paid the full purchase price for the unit solely for the share of New AON Class A common stock underlying such unit.

No public warrants will be exercisable for cash unless New AON has an effective and current registration statement covering the warrant shares issuable upon exercise of the warrants and a current prospectus relating to such warrant shares. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if a registration statement covering the issuance of the warrant shares issuable upon exercise of the public warrants is not effective within 60 days from the Closing, warrant holders may, until such time as there is an effective registration statement and during any period when New AON shall have failed to maintain an effective registration statement or a current prospectus, exercise warrants on a cashless basis pursuant to an available exemption from registration under the Securities Act. If an exemption from registration is not available, holders will not be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis. In no event will New AON be required to net cash settle any warrant, or issue securities or other compensation in exchange for the warrants in the event that New AON is unable to register or qualify the shares underlying the warrants under the Securities Act or applicable state securities laws.

Redemption of warrants when the price per share of New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $18.00

Once the warrants become exercisable, New AON may redeem the warrants (except as described herein with respect to the Private Placement Warrants):

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per warrant;
- upon not less than 30 days' prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder (the "30-day redemption period");
- if, and only if, the last reported sale price of New AON's Class A common stock for any 20-trading days within a 30-trading day period ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which New AON send the notice of redemption to the warrant holders (which New AON refers to as the "Reference Value") equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant).

New AON will not redeem the warrants as described above unless a registration statement under the Securities Act covering the issuance of the shares of New AON Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants is then effective and a current prospectus relating to those shares of New AON Class A common stock is available throughout the 30-day redemption period. If and when the warrants become redeemable by us, New AON may exercise New AON's redemption right even if New AON are unable to register or qualify the underlying securities for sale under applicable state securities laws.

New AON has established the last of the redemption criterion discussed above to prevent a redemption call unless there is at the time of the call a significant premium to the warrant exercise price. If the foregoing conditions are satisfied and New AON issue a notice of redemption of the warrants, each warrant holder will be entitled to exercise his, her or its warrant prior to the scheduled redemption date. However, the price of the New AON Class A common stock may fall below the $18.00 redemption trigger price (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant as well as the $11.50 (for whole shares) warrant exercise price after the redemption notice is issued).

Redemption of warrants when the price per share of New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $10.00

Once the warrants become exercisable, New AON may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at $0.10 per warrant upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares determined by reference to the table below, based on the redemption date and the "fair market value" of New AON Class A common stock except as otherwise described below;
- if, and only if, the Reference Value equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant); and
- if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted for adjustments to the number of shares issuable upon exercise or the exercise price of a warrant), the Private Placement Warrants must also be concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding public warrants, as described above.

Holders may elect to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis at any time after New AON has given the notice of redemption and prior to the applicable redemption date. The numbers in the table below represent the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock that a warrant holder will receive upon such cashless exercise in connection with a redemption by us pursuant to this redemption feature, based on the "fair market value" of New AON Class A common stock on the corresponding redemption date (assuming holders elect to exercise their warrants and such warrants are not redeemed for $0.10 per warrant), determined for these purposes based on volume weighted average price of New AON Class A common stock during the ten trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of warrants, and the number of months that the corresponding redemption date precedes the expiration date of the warrants, each as set forth in the table below. New AON will provide New AON's warrant holders with the final fair market value no later than one business day after the ten-trading day period described above ends.

The share prices set forth in the column headings of the table below will be adjusted as of any date on which the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant or the exercise price of a warrant is adjusted as set forth under the heading "— Anti-dilution Adjustments" below. If the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant is adjusted, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the share prices immediately prior to such adjustment, multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of shares deliverable upon exercise of a warrant immediately prior to such adjustment and the denominator of which is the number of shares deliverable upon exercise of a warrant as so adjusted. The number of shares in the table below shall be adjusted in the same manner and at the same time as the number of shares issuable upon exercise of a warrant. If the exercise price of a warrant is adjusted, (a) in the case of an adjustment pursuant to the fifth paragraph under the heading "— Anti-dilution Adjustments" below, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the unadjusted share price multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price as set forth under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” and the denominator of which is $10.00 and (b) in the case of an adjustment pursuant to the second paragraph under the heading “— Anti-dilution Adjustments” below, the adjusted share prices in the column headings will equal the unadjusted share price less the decrease in the exercise price of a warrant pursuant to such exercise price adjustment.

The exact fair market value and redemption date (calculated for purposes of the table as the period to expiration of the warrants) may not be set forth in the table above, in which case, if the fair market value is between two values in the table or the redemption date is between two redemption dates in the table, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock to be issued for each warrant exercised will be determined by a straight-line interpolation between the number of shares set forth for the higher and lower fair market values and the earlier and later redemption dates, as applicable, based on a 365 or 366-day year, as applicable. For example, if the volume weighted average price of New AON Class A common stock during the ten trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of the warrants is $11.00 per share, and at such time there are 57 months until the expiration of the warrants, holders may choose to, in connection with this redemption feature, exercise their warrants for 0.277 shares of New AON Class A common stock for each whole warrant. For an example where the exact fair market value and redemption date are not as set forth in the table above, if the volume weighted average price of New AON Class A common stock during the ten trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of the warrants is $13.50 per share, and at such time there are 38 months until the expiration of the warrants, holders may choose to, in connection with this redemption feature, exercise their warrants for 0.298 shares of New AON Class A common stock for each whole warrant. In no event will the warrants be exercisable in connection with this redemption feature for more than 0.361 shares of New AON Class A common stock per warrant (subject to adjustment). Finally, as reflected in the table above, if the warrants are out of the money and about to expire, they cannot be exercised on a cashless basis in connection with a redemption by us pursuant to this redemption feature, since they will not be exercisable for any shares of New AON Class A common stock.

This redemption feature differs from the typical warrant redemption features used in some other blank check offerings, which typically only provide for a redemption of warrants for cash (other than the Private Placement Warrants) when the trading price for the New AON Class A common stock exceeds $18.00 per share for a specified period of time. This redemption feature is structured to allow for all of the outstanding warrants to be redeemed when the shares of New AON Class A common stock are trading at or above $10.00 per share, which may be at a time when the trading price of New AON Class A common stock is below the exercise price of the warrants. New AON has established this redemption feature to provide us with the flexibility to redeem the warrants without the warrants having to reach the $18.00 per share threshold set forth above under “— Redemption of warrants when the price per share of New AON Class A common stock equals or exceeds $18.00.” Holders choosing to exercise their warrants in connection with a redemption pursuant to this feature will, in effect, receive a number of shares for their warrants based on an option pricing model with a fixed volatility input. This redemption right provides us with an additional mechanism by which to redeem all of the outstanding warrants, and therefore have certainty as to New AON’s capital structure as the warrants would no longer be outstanding and would have been exercised or redeemed. New AON will be required to pay the applicable redemption price to warrant holders if New AON choose to exercise this redemption right and it will allow us to New AON proceed with a redemption of the warrants if New AON determine it is in New AON’s best interest to do so. As such, New AON would redeem the warrants in this manner when New AON believes it is in New AON’s best interest to update New AON’s capital structure to remove the warrants and pay the redemption price to the warrant holders.

As stated above, New AON can redeem the warrants when the shares of New AON Class A common stock are trading at a price starting at $10.00, which is below the exercise price of $11.50, because it will provide certainty with respect to New AON capital structure and cash position while providing warrant holders with the opportunity to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis for the applicable number of shares. If New AON chooses to redeem the warrants when the shares of New AON Class A common stock are trading at a price below the exercise price of the warrants, this could result in the warrant holders receiving fewer shares of New AON Class A common stock than they would have received if they had chosen to exercise their warrants for shares of New AON Class A common stock if and when such shares of New AON Class A common stock were trading at a price higher than the exercise price of $11.50.

No fractional shares of New AON Class A common stock will be issued upon exercise. If, upon exercise, a holder would be entitled to receive a fractional interest in a share, New AON will round down to the nearest whole number of the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock to be issued to the holder.

Redemption Procedures.

A holder of a warrant may notify New AON in writing in the event it elects to be subject to a requirement that such holder will not have the right to exercise such warrant, to the extent that after giving effect to such exercise, such person (together with such person’s affiliates), to the warrant agent’s actual knowledge, would beneficially own in excess of 9.8% (or such other amount as a holder may specify) of the shares of New AON Class A common stock issued and outstanding immediately after giving effect to such exercise.

Anti-dilution Adjustments

If the number of issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock is increased by a stock dividend payable in shares of New AON Class A common stock, or by a split-up of shares of New AON Class A common stock or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such stock dividend, split-up or similar event, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock issuable on exercise of each warrant will be increased in proportion to such increase in the issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock. A rights offering made to all or substantially all holders of New AON Class A common stock entitling holders to purchase shares of New AON Class A common stock at a price less than the “historical fair market value” (as defined below) will be deemed a share dividend of a number of shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the product of (1) the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock actually sold in such rights offering (or issuable under any other equity securities sold in such rights offering that are convertible into or exercisable for shares of New AON Class A common stock) and (2) one minus the quotient of (x) the price per share of New AON Class A common stock paid in such rights offering divided by (y) the historical fair market value. For these purposes, (1) if the rights offering is for securities convertible into or exercisable for shares of New AON Class A common stock, in determining the price payable for New AON Class A common stock, there will be taken into account any consideration received for such rights, as well as any additional amount payable upon exercise or conversion and (2) "historical fair market value" means the volume weighted average price of New AON Class A common stock during the ten-trading day period ending on the trading day prior to the first date on which the shares of New AON Class A common stock trade on the applicable exchange or in the applicable market, regular way, without the right to receive such rights.

In addition, if New AON, at any time while the warrants are outstanding and unexpired, pay to all or substantially all of the holders of New AON Class A common stock a dividend or make a distribution in cash, securities or other assets to the holders of New AON Class A common stock on account of such shares of New AON Class A common stock (or other securities into which the warrants are convertible), other than (a) as described above, (b) certain ordinary cash dividends, (c) to satisfy the redemption rights of the holders of DTOC Class A common stock in connection with the Business Combination, or (d) in connection with the redemption of DTOC's public shares upon our failure to complete the Business Combination, then the warrant exercise price will be decreased, effective immediately after the effective date of such event, by the amount of cash and/or the fair market value of any securities or other assets paid on each share of New AON Class A common stock in respect of such event.

If the number of issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock is decreased by a consolidation, combination, reverse stock split or reclassification of shares of New AON Class A common stock or other similar event, then, on the effective date of such consolidation, combination, reverse stock split, reclassification or similar event, the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock issuable on exercise of each warrant will be decreased in proportion to such decrease in issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock.

Whenever the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock purchasable upon the exercise of the warrants is adjusted, as described above, the warrant exercise price will be adjusted by multiplying the warrant exercise price immediately prior to such adjustment by a fraction (x) the numerator of which will be the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock purchasable upon the exercise of the warrants immediately prior to such adjustment and (y) the denominator of which will be the number of shares of New AON Class A common stock so purchasable immediately thereafter.

In case of any reclassification or reorganization of the issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock (other than those described above or that solely affects the par value of such shares of New AON Class A common stock), or in the case of any merger or consolidation of us with or into another corporation (other than a merger or consolidation in which we are the continuing corporation and that does not result in any reclassification or reorganization of the issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock), or in the case of any sale or conveyance to another corporation or entity of the assets or other property of New AON as an entirety or substantially as an entirety in connection with which New AON is dissolved, the holders of the warrants will thereafter have the right to purchase and receive, upon the basis and upon the terms and conditions specified in the warrants and in lieu of the shares of New AON Class A common stock immediately theretofore purchasable and receivable upon the exercise of the rights represented thereby, the kind and amount of shares, stock or other equity securities or property (including cash) receivable upon such reclassification, reorganization, merger or consolidation, or upon a dissolution following any such sale or transfer, that the holder of the warrants would have received if such holder had exercised their warrants immediately prior to such event. However, if such holders were entitled to exercise a right of election as to the kind or amount of securities, cash or other assets receivable upon such merger or consolidation, then the kind and amount of securities, cash or other assets for which each warrant will become exercisable will be deemed to be the weighted average of the kind and amount received per share by such holders in such merger or consolidation that affirmatively make such election, and if a tender, exchange or redemption offer has been made to and accepted by such holders (other than a tender, exchange or redemption offer made by New AON in connection with redemption rights held by stockholders of the company as provided for in the current charter or as a result of the redemption of shares of New AON Class A common stock by New AON if a proposed initial business combination is presented to the stockholders of New AON for approval) under circumstances in which, upon completion of such tender or exchange offer, the maker thereof, together with members of any group (within the meaning of Rule 13d-5(b)(1) under the Exchange Act) of which such maker is a part, and together with any affiliate or associate of such maker (within the meaning of Rule 12b-2 under the Exchange Act) and any members of any such group of which any such affiliate or associate is a part, own beneficially (within the meaning of Rule 13d-3 under the Exchange Act) more than 50% of the issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock, the holder of a warrant will be entitled to receive the highest amount of cash, securities or other property to which such holder would actually have been entitled as a stockholder if such warrant holder had exercised the warrant prior to the expiration of such tender or exchange offer, accepted such offer and all of the shares of New AON Class A common stock held by such holder had been purchased pursuant to such tender or exchange offer, subject to adjustment (from and after the consummation of such tender or exchange offer) as nearly equivalent as possible to the adjustments provided for in the warrant agreement. Additionally, if less than 70% of the consideration receivable by the holders of New AON Class A common stock in such a transaction is payable in the form of common stock in the successor entity that is listed for trading on a national securities exchange or is quoted in an established over-the-counter market, or is to be so listed for trading or quoted immediately following such event, and if the registered holder of the warrant properly exercises the warrant within 30 days following public disclosure of such transaction, the warrant exercise price will be reduced as specified in the warrant agreement based on the per share consideration minus Black-Scholes Warrant Value (as defined in the warrant agreement) of the warrant. The purpose of such exercise price reduction is to provide additional value to holders of the warrants when an extraordinary transaction occurs during the exercise period of the warrants pursuant to which the holders of the warrants otherwise do not receive the full potential value of the warrants in order to determine and realize the option value component of the warrant. This formula is to compensate the warrant holder for the loss of the option value portion of the warrant due to the requirement that the warrant holder exercise the warrant within 30 days of the event. The Black-Scholes model is an accepted pricing model for estimating fair market value where no quoted market price for an instrument is available.

The warrants will be issued in registered form under a warrant agreement between Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as warrant agent, and us. The warrant agreement provides that (a) the terms of the warrants may be amended without the consent of any holder for the purpose of (i) curing any ambiguity or correct any mistake, including to conform the provisions of the warrant agreement to the description of the terms of the warrants and the warrant agreement, or defective provision or (ii) adding or changing any provisions with respect to matters or questions arising under the warrant agreement as the parties to the warrant agreement may deem necessary or desirable and that the parties deem to not adversely affect the rights of the registered holders of the warrants and (b) all other modifications or amendments require the vote or written consent of at least 50% of the then outstanding public warrants and, solely with respect to any amendment to the terms of the private placement warrants or any provision of the warrant agreement with respect to the Private Placement Warrants, at least 50% of the then outstanding Private Placement Warrants. You should review a copy of the warrant agreement for a complete description of the terms and conditions applicable to the warrants.

The warrant holders do not have the rights or privileges of holders of New AON Class A common stock and any voting rights until they exercise their warrants and receive shares of New AON Class A common stock. After the issuance of shares of New AON Class A common stock upon exercise of the warrants, each holder will be entitled to one (1) vote for each share held of record on all matters to be voted on by holders of New AON Class A common stock.

No fractional shares will be issued upon exercise of the warrants. If, upon exercise of the warrants, a holder would be entitled to receive a fractional interest in a share, we will, upon exercise, round down to the nearest whole number of shares of New AON Class A common stock to be issued to the warrant holder.

Private Placement Warrants

The private placement warrants (including the New AON Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the private placement warrants) will not be transferable, assignable or salable until thirty (30) days after the Business Combination (except in limited circumstances) and they will not be redeemable by New AON for cash so long as they are held by the Sponsor, members of the Sponsor or their permitted transferees.

The initial purchasers of the private placement warrants, or their permitted transferees, have the option to exercise the private placement warrants on a cashless basis. Except as described in this section, the private placement warrants have terms and provisions that are identical to those of the warrants sold in the Business Combination, including that they may be redeemed for shares of New AON Class A common stock. If the private placement warrants are held by holders other than the Sponsor or their permitted transferees, the private placement warrants will be redeemable by New AON and exercisable by the holders on the same basis as the warrants included in the units being sold in the Business Combination.

Class B Prefunded Warrants

A Class B Prefunded Warrant will be issued to any holder of AON common units who have elected to receive such warrant to purchase New AON Class B common stock in lieu of shares of New AON Class B common stock that such holder would otherwise be entitled to receive as consideration in connection with the Business Combination. The Class B Prefunded Warrant will have an initial exercise price per share equal to $0.01 per share of New AON Class B common stock. The Class B Prefunded Warrant will be immediately exercisable. The exercise price and number of shares of New AON Class B common stock issuable upon exercise is subject to appropriate adjustment in the event of stock dividends. A holder of the Class B Prefunded Warrant (together with its affiliates) may not exercise any portion of the Class B Prefunded Warrant to the extent that the holder would own more than 4.99% of the outstanding New AON Class B common stock (the "Beneficial Ownership Limitation") immediately after exercise or more than 4.99% of the voting power of New AON when combined with any securities of New AON or any securities convertible into New AON. Notwithstanding the foregoing, upon notice to the New AON, such holder may increase or decrease the Beneficial Ownership Limitation, provided that any increase or decrease in the Beneficial Ownership Limitation will not be effective until 61 days following notice of such change from the holder to New AON.

In the event of a fundamental transaction (which includes any reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification of our Class B Common Stock, the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of our properties or assets, our consolidation or merger with or into another person, the acquisition of more than 50% of our outstanding Class B Common Stock, or any person or group becoming the beneficial owner of 50% of the voting power represented by New AON common stock), the holders of the Class B Prefunded Warrants will be entitled to receive upon exercise of the Class B Prefunded Warrants the kind and amount of securities, cash or other property that such holders would have been entitled to receive had they exercised the Class B Prefunded Warrants immediately prior to such fundamental transaction.

Certain Anti-Takeover Provisions of Delaware Law, the Proposed Charter and Amended and Restated Bylaws

Provisions of the DGCL and the Proposed Charter and Amended and Restated Bylaws could make it more difficult to acquire the post-combination company by means of a tender offer, a proxy contest or otherwise, or to remove incumbent officers and directors. These provisions, summarized below, are intended to discourage coercive takeover practices and inadequate takeover bids and to encourage persons seeking to acquire control of the post-combination company to first negotiate with the board of directors. We believe that the benefits of these provisions outweigh the disadvantages of discouraging certain takeover or acquisition proposals because, among other things, negotiation of these proposals could result in an improvement of their terms and enhance the ability of the New AON Board to maximize stockholder value. However, these provisions may delay, deter or prevent a merger or acquisition of us that a stockholder might consider is in its best interest, including those attempts that might result in a premium over the prevailing market price of the New AON common stock.

In addition, the Proposed Charter provides for certain other provisions that may have an anti-takeover effect:

- There is no cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors.
- The New AON Board will be divided into three staggered classes of directors. At each annual meeting of its stockholders, a class of directors will be elected for a three-year term to succeed the same class whose term is then expiring, as follows:

- the Class I directors, whose terms will expire at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held in 2024, will be Shalin Shah and James Stith;
- the Class II directors, whose terms will expire at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held in 2025, will be Fred" Divers, Vipul Patel, Vance M. Wright-Browne; and
- the Class III directors, whose terms will expire at the annual meeting of stockholders to be held in 2026, will be Todd Schnoherz, Bradley Fluegel, and Ravi Sarin.
- The New AON Board is empowered to appoint a director to fill a vacancy created by the expansion of the New AON Board or the resignation, death, or removal of a director in certain circumstances.
- A prohibition on stockholders calling a special meeting and the requirement that from and after the Closing, a meeting of the stockholders may only be called by the New AON Board acting pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the authorized directors of the New AON Board, by our Chief Executive Officer or by our Chairman, which may delay the ability of our stockholders to force consideration of a proposal or to take action, including the removal of directors.
- Subject to any limitations imposed by the listing standards of Nasdaq (or another securities exchange on which New AON equity securities are then listed for trading), the authorized but unissued common stock and preferred stock will be available for future issuances without stockholder approval and could be utilized for a variety of corporate purposes, including future offerings to raise additional capital, acquisitions and employee benefit plans. The existence of authorized but unissued and unreserved common stock and preferred stock could render more difficult or discourage an attempt to obtain control of us by means of a proxy contest, tender offer, merger or otherwise.
- New AON will be subject to the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL, which we refer to as "Section 203," regulating corporate takeovers. Section 203 prevents certain Delaware corporations, under certain circumstances, from engaging in a "business combination" with (a) a stockholder who owns 15% or more of our outstanding voting stock (otherwise known as an "interested stockholder"); (b) an affiliate of an interested stockholder or (c) an associate of an interested stockholder, in each case, for three years following the date that such stockholder became an interested stockholder. A "business combination" includes a merger or sale of more than 10% of our assets. However, the above provisions of Section 203 do not apply if:
 - the New AON Board approves the transaction that made the stockholder an "interested stockholder," prior to the date of the transaction;
 - after the completion of the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, that stockholder owned at least 85% of New AON voting stock outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, other than statutorily excluded shares of common stock; or
 - on or subsequent to the date of the transaction, the business combination is approved by the New AON Board and authorized at a meeting of our stockholders, and not by written consent, by an affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of the outstanding voting stock not owned by the interested stockholder.

Advance notice requirements for stockholder proposals and director nominations

The proposed Amended and Restated Bylaws provide that stockholders seeking to bring business before the annual meeting of the stockholders, or to nominate candidates for election as directors at the annual meeting of the stockholders New AON must provide timely notice of their intent in writing. To be timely, a stockholder's notice will need to be received by the company secretary at our principal executive offices not later than the close of business on the ninetieth (90th) nor earlier than the close of business on the one hundred twentieth (120th) day prior to the anniversary date of the immediately preceding annual meeting of the stockholders. Pursuant to Rule 14a-8 of the Exchange Act, proposals seeking inclusion in our annual proxy statement must comply with the notice periods contained therein. The proposed Amended and Restated Bylaws also specify certain requirements as to the form and content of a stockholders' meeting. These provisions may preclude New AON stockholders from bringing matters before our annual meeting of the stockholders or from making nominations for directors at our annual meeting of the stockholders.

Exclusive Forum

The Proposed Charter provides that, unless New AON consents to the selection of an alternative forum, any (a) derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of New AON, (b) action asserting a claim of breach of a duty (including any fiduciary duty) owed by any current or former director, officer, stockholder, employee or agent of New AON to New AON or its stockholders, (c) action asserting a claim against New AON or its directors, officers or employees governed by the internal affairs doctrine shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be exclusively brought in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware or (d) action asserting a claim against New AON or any current or former director, officer, employee or agent of New AON arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL or the Proposed Charter or the Amended and Restated Bylaws. Additionally, the Proposed Charter also provides that, to the fullest extent permitted by law, unless New AON otherwise consents in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the federal district courts of the United States of America will be the exclusive forum for resolving any complaint asserting a cause of action arising under the Securities Act. Any person or entity purchasing or otherwise acquiring any interest in shares of capital stock of New AON shall be deemed to have notice of and consented to the forum provisions in the Amended and Restated Bylaws. This exclusive forum provision will not apply to claims under the Exchange Act, but will apply to other state and federal law claims including actions arising under the Securities Act. Section 22 of the Securities Act, however, creates concurrent jurisdiction for federal and state courts over all suits brought to enforce any duty or liability created by the Securities Act or the rules and regulations thereunder. Accordingly, there is uncertainty as to whether a court would enforce such a forum selection provision as written in connection with claims arising under the Securities Act, and investors cannot waive compliance with the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder.

Registration Rights

In connection with the consummation of the Business Combination, the A&R RRA Parties will enter into the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement in respect of shares of New AON common stock and certain other equity securities of New AON to be held by the A&R RRA Parties from time to time, providing for, among other things, customary registration rights, including demand, shelf and piggy-back rights, subject to cut-back provisions, applicable lock-up restrictions, issuer suspension periods and certain other conditions.

Under the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, the A&R RRA Parties will agree not to sell, transfer, pledge or otherwise dispose of shares of New AON Class A common stock they hold or receive, subject to certain exceptions, for certain time periods specified therein. Additionally, the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement provides that within thirty (30) days after the consummation of the Business Combination, New AON file with the SEC the Shelf Registration Statement pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act registering the resale of certain shares of New AON Class A common stock and certain other equity securities of New AON held by the A&R RRA Parties at the Closing. For more information on the Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement, please see "Related Agreements — Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement."

Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of Officers and Directors

The DGCL authorizes corporations to limit or eliminate the personal liability of directors and stockholders of corporations for monetary damages for breaches of directors' fiduciary duties, subject to certain exceptions. The Proposed Charter includes a provision that eliminates, to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL (as currently in effect or as it may in the future be amended), the personal liability of New AON's directors for damages for any breach of fiduciary duty as a director.

The Proposed Charter provides that, to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL (as currently in effect or as it may in the future be amended), New AON must indemnify and hold harmless and advance expenses to any of its directors and officers who is involved in any action, suit or proceeding by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director or officer of New AON or, while serving as a director or officer of New AON, is or was serving at the request of New AON as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust, enterprise or nonprofit entity. New AON also is expressly authorized to carry directors' and officers' liability insurance providing indemnification for New AON's directors, officers, and certain employees for some liabilities. New AON believes that these indemnification and advancement provisions and insurance are useful to attract and retain qualified directors and executive officers.

The limitation of liability, advancement and indemnification provisions in the Proposed Charter and the proposed Amended and Restated Bylaws may discourage stockholders from bringing lawsuits against New AON's directors for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions also may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against New AON's directors and officers, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit New AON and its stockholders. In addition, your investment in New AON may be adversely affected to the extent that New AON pays the costs of settlement and damage awards against directors and officer pursuant to these indemnification provisions.

Transfer Agent and Warrant Agent

Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company will be the transfer agent for New AON Class A common stock and the warrant agent for New AON warrants.

Listing of Securities

Following the Business Combination, it is anticipated that New AON Class A common stock (including common stock issuable in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination) and New AON warrants will be listed on the Nasdaq under the symbol "AONC" and "AONCW," respectively.

PRICE RANGE OF DTOC SECURITIES AND DIVIDENDS

DTOC's units, warrants and DTOC Class A common stock are traded on Nasdaq under the symbols DTOCU, DTOCW and DTOC, respectively. PROPOSAL NO. 1 — THE BUSINESS COMBINATION PROPOSALOverview

We are asking our stockholders to approve and adopt the Business Combination Agreement and approve the Business Combination. Our stockholders should read carefully this proxy statement/prospectus in its entirety for more detailed information concerning the Business Combination Agreement, which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex A. See “The Business Combination and the Business Combination Agreement” for additional information and a summary of certain terms of the Business Combination Agreement. You are urged to read carefully the Business Combination Agreement in its entirety before voting on this proposal.

Vote Required for Approval and Resolution

The affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of holders of a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class, is required to approve the Business Combination Proposal. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote on this Proposal No. 1 will have no effect on the outcome of the vote for the Business Combination Proposal.

This Business Combination Proposal (and consequently, the Business Combination Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Business Combination) will be approved and adopted only if the majority of the votes cast by the common stockholders present in person or represented by proxy at the meeting and entitled to vote thereon vote “FOR” the Business Combination Proposal.

The Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of this Business Combination Proposal as well as the other Condition Precedent Proposals. If the other Condition Precedent Proposals are not approved, this Business Combination Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by our stockholders.

The Initial Stockholders have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of this Business Combination Proposal. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Initial Stockholders own approximately 20% of the outstanding shares of our common stock.

PROPOSAL NO. 2 — THE LISTING PROPOSAL

Overview

For the purposes of complying with the applicable provisions of Rule 5635 of The Nasdaq Stock Market Listing Rules (and in the event DTOC and AON mutually determine to list New AON securities on another reputable national securities exchange, the applicable listing rules of such exchange), we are seeking stockholder approval with respect to the following transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement:

- the reclassification, pursuant to the Amended and Restated AON LLC agreement and immediately prior to the Closing, of then outstanding AON Class A units, AON, Class A-1 units and AON Class B units into AON common units that are exchangeable into shares of DTOC Class A common stock;
- the issuance, at the Closing, to AON equityholders of shares of DTOC Class B common stock and AON common units that are exchangeable into shares of DTOC Class A common stock; and
- the reservation, at the Closing, of a number of shares of DTOC Class A common stock equal to the Practice Profit Pool Shares for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients; and
- the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth and the future issuance of any shares of DTOC Class A common stock upon the conversion of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(a), stockholder approval is required prior to the issuance of securities in connection with the acquisition of another company if such securities are not issued in a public offering and (i) have, or will have upon issuance, voting power equal to or in excess of 20% of the voting power outstanding before the issuance of such securities (or securities convertible into or exercisable for DTOC common stock); or (ii) the number of shares of DTOC common stock to be issued is or will be equal to or in excess of 20% of the number of shares of DTOC common stock outstanding before the issuance of the stock or securities.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(b), stockholder approval is required prior to the issuance of securities when the issuance or potential issuance will result in a change of control of the registrant.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(c), stockholder approval is required prior to the issuance of securities when a plan or other equity compensation arrangement is established or materially amended.

Under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(d), stockholder approval is required for a transaction other than a public offering involving the sale, issuance or potential issuance by an issuer of common stock (or securities convertible into or exercisable for common stock) if the number of shares of common stock to be issued is or may be equal to 20% or more of DTOC common stock, or 20% or more of the voting power, outstanding before the issuance, at a price that is less than the minimum price, defined as the lower of the closing price immediately preceding the signing of the binding agreement or the average closing price of the common stock for the five trading days immediately preceding the signing of the binding agreement.

Upon the consummation of the Business Combination, DTOC expects to issue new shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock. Each share of preferred stock is convertible into a number of shares of New AON Class A common stock, which is determined by dividing the Accrued Value (as defined in the Series A Certificate of Designations) of such share of New AON Series A Preferred Stock by the conversion price, which is initially expected to be the original issue price per share of $10.00 per share. Accordingly, the aggregate number of shares of New AON Class A common stock that will be issuable upon conversion of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock from time to time may exceed 20% of both the voting power and the shares of DTOC common stock outstanding before such issuance and may result in a change of control of the registrant under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635(b), and for these reasons, DTOC is seeking approval of outstanding stockholders for the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock and any shares of New AON Class A Common Stock upon the conversion of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock.

Vote Required for Approval

This Listing Proposal will be approved only if a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class, vote “FOR” the Listing Proposal. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote virtually at the Special Meeting will have no effect on the vote. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote on this Proposal No. 2 will have no effect on the outcome of the vote.

Notwithstanding the approval of the Listing Proposal, if the Business Combination is not consummated for any reason, the actions contemplated by the Listing Proposal will not be effected. The Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of this Listing Proposal as well as the other Condition Precedent Proposals. If the other Condition Precedent Proposals are not approved, this Listing Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by our stockholders.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of this Proposal. Currently, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders own approximately 79.7% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

THE LISTING PROPOSAL.

PROPOSAL NO. 3 — THE CHARTER AMENDMENT PROPOSAL

If the Business Combination is to be consummated, DTOC will replace its current charter with the Proposed Charter in the form attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex E, which, in the judgment of the DTOC Board, is necessary to adequately address New AON's needs. DTOC is asking its stockholders to consider and vote to adopt the Proposed Charter.

The following is a summary of the principal proposed changes to the current charter, and the DTOC Board's reasons for proposing each of those changes. This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Charter, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex E. All stockholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Charter in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

- designate New AON's name to "American Oncology Network, Inc." The DTOC Board believes the name of the post-Business Combination company should more closely align with the name of its operating business and therefore has proposed the name change;
- increase the total number of authorized shares of all classes of capital stock from (i) 221,000,000 shares, consisting of 200,000,000 shares of DTOC Class A common stock, 20,000,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock and 1,000,000 shares of DTOC preferred stock, to (ii) 325,000,000 shares, consisting of 200,000,000 shares of New AON Class A common stock, 100,000,000 shares of New AON Class B common stock and 25,000,000 shares of New AON Series A convertible preferred stock. The greater number of authorized shares of capital stock will provide New AON with increased flexibility for future issuances of capital stock if determined by the board of directors of New AON to be in the best interests of New AON, without incurring the risk, delay and potential expense incident to obtaining stockholder approval for a particular issuance;
- amend the terms of the shares of Class B common stock to provide that all holders thereof will have the right to vote on all matters submitted to holders of New AON common stock but no economic rights and such shares of New AON Class B common stock will no longer be convertible into shares of Class A common stock. This amendment is necessary in connection with the organization of the combined company as an umbrella partnership C corporation structure;
- provide that each share of DTOC Class B common stock outstanding at the Closing will automatically be converted into one share of New AON Class A common stock without any action on the part of any person on the date of the Closing;
- reserve and provide for the availability of shares of Class A common stock in an amount equal to the number of then-outstanding AON common units subject to exchange pursuant to the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement from time to time. This amendment provides for the ability of New AON to effectuate any necessary exchanges of AON common units into shares of Class A common stock;
- provide that the number of authorized shares of either New AON common stock or New AON convertible preferred stock may be increased or decreased (but not below the number of shares of such class then outstanding or, in the case of New AON common stock, then necessary for issuance in connection with the exchange or redemption of AON common units) by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority in voting power of the stock of New AON entitled to vote thereon irrespective of the provisions of Section 242(b)(2) of the DGCL (or any successor provision thereto), and that no vote of the holders of New AON common stock or New AON convertible preferred stock, as applicable, voting separately as a class will be required therefor, unless a separate vote is required pursuant to any certificate of designation filed pursuant to the DGCL. This amendment is intended to act as a waiver of certain of the Sponsor's anti-dilution rights under the current charter, as agreed between the parties in connection with the Business Combination;
- provide that the number of directors of New AON will be fixed from time to time exclusively by the New AON Board pursuant to a resolution adopted by a majority of the New AON Board, subject to any contractual rights of stockholders or any series of New AON convertible preferred stock to elect directors. This amendment allows the New AON Board the flexibility to adjust the New AON Board membership as is necessary to the administration of the New AON Board's duties;

- provide that the New AON Board will be divided into three classes, as nearly equal in number as possible and designated Class I, Class II and Class III, with the term of the initial Class I directors expiring at the first annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter, the term of the initial Class II Directors expiring at the second annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter, and the term of the initial Class III Directors expiring at the third annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter. Each successor director elected to the class of directors whose term expires at an annual meeting will be elected for a three-year term. The classification of the New AON Board will secure continuity and stability by ensuring that at any given time a majority of the directors will have prior experience with New Amended and Restated AON and, therefore, be familiar with its business and operations. The DTOC Board also believes that this classification will assist the New AON Board in protecting the interests of New AON's stockholders in the event of an unsolicited offer for New AON by encouraging any potential acquirer to negotiate directly with the New AON Board;
- require the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of at least 66.7% of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of capital stock of New AON entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class, to make any amendment to the Bylaws. This amendment is intended to protect key provisions of Bylaws from arbitrary amendment and to prevent a simple majority of New AON stockholders from taking actions that may be harmful to other stockholders or making changes to provisions that are intended to protect all stockholders;
- provide that any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders of the New AON must be effected by a duly called annual or special meeting of such stockholders and may not be effected by written consent of the stockholders. The amendment will work to reduce the risks of a potential hostile takeover by preventing stockholders from acting in concert in the absence of a stockholders meeting being convened. Putting a limit on stockholders' right to act by written consent in the certificate of incorporation will place the New AON Board in a better negotiating position against a potential hostile bidders, allowing directors to protect the interests of the stockholders by fending off unfair or undesirable bids; and
- eliminate certain provisions specific to DTOC's status as a blank check company because they will no longer be applicable upon consummation of the Business Combination.

Vote Required for Approval

This Charter Amendment Proposal will be adopted only if (i) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock, voting together as a single class; (ii) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class A common stock, voting separately as a class; and (iii) the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock, voting separately as a class vote "FOR" the Charter Amendment Proposal. Failure to vote by proxy or virtually at the Special Meeting, as well as an abstention from voting and a broker non-vote with regard to the Charter Amendment Proposal, will each have the same effect as a vote "AGAINST" the Charter Amendment Proposal.

Notwithstanding the approval of the Charter Amendment Proposal, if the Business Combination is not consummated for any reason, the actions contemplated by the Charter Amendment Proposal will not be affected. The Business Combination is conditioned on the approval of this Charter Amendment Proposal as well as the other Condition Precedent Proposals. If the other Condition Precedent Proposals are not approved, this Charter Amendment Proposal will have no effect, even if approved by our stockholders.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of this Proposal. Currently, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders own approximately 79.7% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

THE DTOC BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT DTOC STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE CHARTER AMENDMENT PROPOSAL.

PROPOSAL NO. 4 — THE ADVISORY GOVERNANCE PROPOSAL

Overview

DTOC stockholders are also being asked to vote on a separate proposal with respect to certain governance provisions in the Proposed Charter, which are separately being presented in accordance with SEC guidance and which will be voted upon on a non-binding, advisory basis. These provisions were specifically negotiated for by the parties to the Business Combination Agreement and, in the judgment of the DTOC Board, were essential to entering into the Business Combination Agreement and necessary to adequately address New AON's needs. Accordingly, regardless of the outcome of the non-binding, advisory vote on these Proposals, DTOC and AON intend that the Proposed Charter in the form set forth on Annex E will take effect at consummation of the Business Combination, assuming adoption of the Charter Amendment Proposal.

The following table sets forth a summary of the governance provisions applicable to the Advisory Governance Proposal. This summary is qualified by reference to the complete text of the Proposed Charter, a copy of which is attached to this proxy statement/prospectus as Annex E. All stockholders are encouraged to read the Proposed Charter in its entirety for a more complete description of its terms.

	Existing Charter	Proposed Charter
Number of Authorized Shares (Proposal No. 4A)	The current charter provides that the total number of authorized shares of all classes of capital stock is 221,000,000 shares, consisting of (a) 220,000,000 shares of DTOC common stock, including (i) 200,000,000 shares of DTOC Class A common stock and (ii) 20,000,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock, and (b) 1,000,000 shares of DTOC preferred stock.	The current charter provides that the total number of authorized shares of all classes of capital stock is 325,000,000 shares, consisting of (a) 300,000,000 shares of New AON common stock, including (i) 200,000,000 shares of New AON Class A common stock and (ii) 100,000,000 shares of New AON Class B common stock, and (b) 25,000,000 shares of New AON convertible preferred stock.
Rights of Class B Stockholders (Proposal No. 4B)	The current charter does not provide for any difference in rights between holders of DTOC Class A common stock and DTOC Class B common stock, with the exception that (i) DTOC Class B common stock is convertible into DTOC Class A common stock and (ii) holders of DTOC Class B common stock may take action by written consent.	The Proposed Charter provides that all holders New AON Class B common stock will have the right to vote on all matters submitted to holders of New AON common stock but no economic rights. In addition, New AON Class B common stock will not be convertible into New AON Class A common stock and holders of New AON Class B common stock may not take action by written consent.

Stockholder Vote Required to Amend the Bylaws (Proposal No. 4E)	The current charter does not require a supermajority voting standard for amending the current bylaws.	The Proposed Charter provides that any amendments to the bylaws require the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of at least 66.7% of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of capital stock of New AON entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

Proposal No. 4A: Number of Authorized Shares

The 325,000,000 authorized shares of capital stock in the Proposed Charter, consisting of 200,000,000 shares of New AON Class A common stock, 100,000,000 shares of New AON Class B common stock and 25,000,000 shares of New AON convertible preferred stock, represent an increase from the existing authorization of 221,000,000 shares of capital stock, consisting of 200,000,000 shares of DTOC Class A common stock, 20,000,000 shares of DTOC Class B common stock and 1,000,000 shares of DTOC preferred stock, in the Existing Charter. It is anticipated that, assuming no redemptions, there will be approximately 31.0 million shares issued in connection with the Business Combination, resulting in approximately 38.2 million shares of New AON Class A common stock outstanding immediately following the Business Combination. Assuming no redemptions, the aggregate number of shares of New AON Class A common stock expected to be initially reserved for future issuance under the Incentive Equity Plan (the "Incentive Equity Plan") will be approximately 5.2 million shares, which represents 8.0% of the issued and outstanding shares of New AON Class A common stock, on a fully diluted basis, immediately following consummation of the Business Combination. The DTOC Board has determined that the increase in the number of shares of authorized New AON Class A common stock and New AON Class B common stock, above the shares that will be issued in connection with the Business Combination, is desirable and in the best interests of stockholders because it will enhance New AON's flexibility to consider and respond to future business needs and opportunities as they arise from time to time following the consummation of the Business Combination, without incurring the risk, delay and potential expense incident to obtaining stockholder approval for a particular issuance. Although there is no present intention to issue any shares beyond those contemplated by the Business Combination, the conversion of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock, or in exchange for AON common units in accordance with the terms of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, or otherwise in the ordinary course of business, the additional authorized shares of New AON Class A common stock would be issuable for any proper corporate purpose, including, without limitation, stock splits, stock dividends, future acquisitions, investment opportunities, capital raising transactions of equity or convertible debt securities, issuances under current or future equity compensation plans or for other corporate purposes. New AON's authorized but unissued shares of New AON Class A common stock and preferred stock will be available for future issuances without stockholder approval (except to the extent otherwise required by law or Nasdaq rules) and could be utilized for a variety of corporate purposes, including future offerings to raise additional capital, acquisitions and employee benefit plans. No assurance can be given that any such transactions will (i) be completed on favorable terms or at all, (ii) enhance stockholder value or (iii) not adversely affect the business or trading price of New AON Class A common stock.

Proposal No. 4B: Rights of Class B Stockholders

The Existing Charter does not provide for any difference in rights between holders of DTOC Class A common stock and DTOC Class B common stock, with the exception that (i) DTOC Class B common stock is convertible into DTOC Class A common stock and (ii) holders of DTOC Class B common stock may take action by written consent. The Proposed Charter provides that all holders of New AON Class B common stock will have the right to vote on all matters submitted to holders of New AON common stock but no economic rights. In addition, New AON Class B common stock will not be convertible into New AON Class A common stock and holders of New AON Class B common stock may not take action by written consent.

This amendment is necessary for purposes of implementing the organization of the combined company as an umbrella partnership C corporation structure.

Proposal No. 4C: Classification of Board

The DTOC Board is currently divided into two classes, as nearly equal in number as possible and designated Class I and Class II, with the term of the initial Class I directors expiring at the first annual meeting of the stockholders of DTOC following the effectiveness of the Existing Charter and the term of the initial Class II Directors expiring at the second annual meeting following the effectiveness of the Existing Charter. Each successor director elected to the class of directors whose term expires at an annual meeting will be elected for a two-year term.

Under the Proposed Charter, the New AON Board will be divided into three classes, as nearly equal in number as possible and designated Class I, Class II and Class III, with the term of the initial Class I directors expiring at the first annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter, the term of the initial Class II Directors expiring at the second annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter, and the term of the initial Class III Directors expiring at the third annual meeting of the stockholders of the Corporation following the effectiveness of the Proposed Charter. Each successor director elected to the class of directors whose term expires at an annual meeting will be elected for a three-year term.

The classification of the DTOC Board will secure continuity and stability by ensuring that at any given time a majority of the directors will have prior experience with New AON and, therefore, be familiar with its business and operations. The DTOC Board also believes that this classification will assist the New AON

Board in protecting the interests of New AON's stockholders in the event of an unsolicited offer for New AON by encouraging any potential acquirer to negotiate directly with the New AON Board.

Proposal No. 4D: Stockholder Action by Written Consent

Under the Existing Charter, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders must be effected by a duly called annual or special meeting of such stockholders and may not be effected by written consent of the stockholders other than with respect to DTOC Class B common stock with respect to which action may be taken by written consent. The Proposed Charter would eliminate the ability of all stockholders to act by written consent in lieu of a meeting.

The amendment will work to reduce the risks of a potential hostile takeover by preventing stockholders from acting in concert in the absence of a stockholders meeting being convened. Putting a limit on stockholders' right to act by written consent in the certificate of incorporation will place the New AON Board in a better negotiating position against a potential hostile bidders, allowing directors to protect the interests of the stockholders by fending off unfair or undesirable bids.

Proposal No. 4E: Stockholder Vote Required to Amend the Bylaws

The Existing Charter does not require a supermajority voting standard for amending the current bylaws. The Proposed Charter provides that any amendments to the bylaws require the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of the holders of at least 66.7% of the voting power of all then outstanding shares of capital stock of New AON entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

Vote Required for Approval

This Governance Proposal will be adopted and approved only if a majority of the votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class, vote "FOR" the particular Governance Proposal. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote virtually at the Special Meeting will have no effect on the vote. An abstention from voting will have no effect on the vote with respect to the Advisory Governance Proposal.

As discussed above, a vote to approve the individual Governance Proposals is an advisory vote, and therefore, is not binding on DTOC, AON or their respective boards of directors. Accordingly, regardless of the outcome of the non-binding, advisory vote, DTOC and AON intend that the Proposed Charter, in the form set forth on Annex E and containing the provisions noted above, will take effect at the closing of the Business Combination, assuming adoption of Proposal No. 4.

Notwithstanding the approval of the Advisory Governance Proposal, if the Business Combination is not consummated for any reason, the actions contemplated by the Advisory Governance Proposal will not be effected.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to vote their Founder Shares and any public shares they may hold in favor of this Proposal. Currently, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders own approximately 79.7% of the issued and outstanding DTOC common stock, including all of the outstanding Founder Shares.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

THE DTOC BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT DTOC STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE ADVISORY GOVERNANCE PROPOSAL.

PROPOSAL NO. 5 — THE DIRECTOR ELECTION PROPOSALOverview

The DTOC Board is currently divided into two classes, with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class (except for those directors appointed prior to DTOC's first annual meeting of stockholders) serving a two-year term.

Following the adoption of the Proposed Charter in connection with the Business Combination, the New AON Board will also be divided into three classes, designated as Class I, Class II and Class III. The directors first elected to Class I, which shall include one director elected by the holders of a majority of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock, will hold office for a term expiring at the first annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination; the directors first elected to Class II will hold office for a term expiring at the second annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination; and the directors first elected to Class III will hold office for a term expiring at the third annual meeting of stockholders following the consummation of the Business Combination. At each succeeding annual meeting of the stockholders of New AON, the successors to the class of directors whose term expires at that meeting will be elected by plurality vote of all votes cast at such meeting to hold office for a term expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders held in the third year following the year of their election.

If the Condition Precedent Proposals are approved, New AON shareholders are being asked to consider and vote upon a proposal to elect the following directors to serve, effective at the Closing, on the New AON Board, for a term as set forth under the Proposed Charter or until such director's earlier death, resignation, retirement, or removal: Todd Schonherz, Stephen "Fred" Divers, MD, Shalin R. Shah, DO, Vipul Patel, MD, Vance M. Wright-Browne, MD, Bradley Fluegel, James Stith and Ravi Sarin. Upon completion of the Business Combination, the New AON Board will be designated to classes as follows: Shalin R. Shah, DO and James Stith will serve as Class I directors; Stephen "Fred" Divers, MD, Vipul Patel, MD, and Vance M. Wright-Browne, MD to serve as Class II directors; and Todd Schonherz, Bradley Fluegel, and Ravi Sarin to serve as Class III directors in each case, in accordance with the Proposed Charter.

For more information on the experience of each of these director nominees, please see the section entitled, "New AON Management after the Business Combination" of this proxy statement/prospectus.

Vote Required for Approval

The Director Election Proposal will be approved only if a plurality of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC Class B common stock represented virtually or by proxy at the Special Meeting and entitled to vote thereon, vote "FOR" the Director Election Proposal. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote virtually at the Special Meeting, abstentions and broker non-votes will have no effect on the vote for the Director Election Proposal. Proxies will have full discretion to cast votes for other persons in the event that any nominee is unable to serve.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders and DTOC's directors and officers have agreed to vote their Founder Shares in favor of this Proposal. Consequently, the passage of this Proposal is assured.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

THE DTOC BOARD UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT DTOC STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" PROPOSAL NO. 5.

PROPOSAL NO. 6 — THE INCENTIVE EQUITY PLAN PROPOSALOverview

In this Proposal No. 6, we are seeking stockholder approval for New AON's 2023 Incentive Equity Plan, or the "2023 Plan," a copy of which is included as Annex G. The 2023 Plan is being adopted in connection with the Business Combination Agreement and will become effective, if at all, upon the closing of the Business Combination, and subject to stockholder approval. If the Business Combination Proposal is not approved by DTOC stockholders, the 2023 Plan is not approved by DTOC's stockholders, or if the Business Combination Agreement is terminated prior to the consummation of the Business Combination, the 2023 Plan will not become effective and the closing of the Business Combination will not occur.

The 2023 Plan will allow New AON to provide equity awards as part of New AON's compensation program, an important tool for motivating, attracting and retaining talented employees and for creating stockholder value. If the 2023 Plan is not approved it will compel New AON to significantly increase the cash component of employee compensation needed to attract and retain key employees, which would therefore reduce New AON's operating cash flow.

The Board believes that long-term incentive compensation programs align the interests of management, employees and stockholders to create long-term stockholder value. Equity plans such as the 2023 Plan increase New AON's ability to achieve this objective, and, by allowing for several different forms of long-term incentive awards, helps New AON to recruit, reward, motivate, and retain talented personnel. The Board believes that the approval of the 2023 Plan is essential to New AON's continued success, and in particular, New AON's ability to attract and retain outstanding and highly skilled individuals in the extremely competitive labor markets in which New AON will compete. Such awards are also crucial to New AON's ability to motivate employees to achieve its goals.

Key Plan Provisions

- The 2023 Plan will continue until terminated by New AON's Board or a committee of New AON's Board, but (i) no incentive stock options may be granted after ten (10) years from the earlier of the Board or stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan and (ii) the 2023 Plan's automatic share reserve increase (as described below) will operate only until the tenth (10th) anniversary of the earlier of New AON's Board or stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan.
- The 2023 Plan provides for the grant of stock options, both incentive stock options and nonqualified stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, and performance awards.
- 5.3 million shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock will initially be authorized for issuance pursuant to awards granted under the 2023 Plan.
- The 2023 Plan provides for an automatic share reserve increase feature, whereby the share reserve will automatically be increased on the first day of each fiscal year beginning with the 2024 fiscal year, in an amount equal to the lesser of (i) 5% of the total number of shares of all classes of New AON's Common Stock outstanding on the last day of the immediately preceding fiscal year, and (ii) the number of shares as determined by the administrator.
- The 2023 Plan will be administered by the New AON Board or, if designated by the New AON Board, the a committee of the New AON Board.

Description of New AON 2023 Equity Incentive Plan

The following paragraphs provide a summary of the principal features of the 2023 Plan and its operation. However, this summary is not a complete description of all of the provisions of the 2023 Plan and is qualified in its entirety by the specific language of the 2023 Plan.

Purposes of the 2023 Plan

The purposes of the 2023 Plan are to attract and retain personnel for positions with New AON, any parent or subsidiary, and any entity that is in control of, is controlled by or is under common control with

New AON, including American Oncology Partners of Maryland, P.A. and American Oncology Partners, P.A. and their majority-owned subsidiaries (such entities are referred to herein as the "Company Group"); to provide additional incentive to employees, directors, and consultants; and to promote the success of New AON's business. These incentives will be provided through the grant of stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units, and performance awards as the administrator of the 2023 Plan may determine.

Eligibility

The 2023 Plan provides for the grant of incentive stock options, within the meaning of Section 422 of the Code, to employees of New AON or any of its parent corporations or subsidiary corporations, and for the grant of nonstatutory stock options, restricted stock, restricted stock units, stock appreciation rights and performance awards to employees, directors and consultants of New AON or any member of the Company Group. Immediately following the Closing, we expect New AON to have, collectively, five non-employee directors and approximately 1,520 employees (including three executive officers).

Authorized Shares

Subject to the adjustment provisions contained in the 2023 Plan and the evergreen provision described below, the maximum number of shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock that may be issued pursuant to awards under the 2023 Plan is 30,000,000 shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock. The 2023 Plan includes an evergreen provision that provides for an automatic annual increase to the number of shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock available for issuance under the 2023 Plan on the first day of each fiscal year beginning with the 2024 fiscal year, equal to the lesser of:

- 5% of the total number of shares of all classes of New AON's common stock as of the last day of our immediately preceding fiscal year; and
- such lesser amount determined by the administrator.

The 2023 Plan provides that the evergreen provision will operate only until the tenth (10th) anniversary of the earlier of New AON's Board or stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan.

Generally, if an award expires or becomes unexercisable without having been exercised in full, is surrendered under an exchange program described below, or, with respect to restricted stock, restricted stock units or performance awards, is forfeited to or reacquired by us due to the failure to vest, the unpurchased shares (or for awards other than options or stock appreciation rights, the forfeited or repurchased shares) that were subject to such awards will become available for future grant or sale under the 2023 Plan (unless it has terminated). With respect to stock appreciation rights, only shares actually issued will cease to be available.

Shares that actually are issued under the 2023 Plan under any award will not be returned to the 2023 Plan and will not become available for future issuance under the 2023 Plan. Shares used to pay the exercise price of an award or to satisfy the tax withholding obligations related to an award will become available for future issuance. To the extent an award is paid out in cash rather than shares, such cash payment will not reduce the number of shares available for issuance.

The maximum number of shares that may be issued pursuant to the exercise of incentive stock options is 15,900,000. To the extent permitted under Section 422 of the Code, shares underlying other awards that may be returned to the Plan may also become available for issuance pursuant to the exercise of incentive stock options.

If any extraordinary dividend or other extraordinary distribution (whether in cash, shares, other securities, or other property), recapitalization, stock split, reverse stock split, reorganization, merger, consolidation, split-up, spin-off, combination, reclassification, repurchase, or exchange of shares or other securities of New AON, other change in the corporate structure of New AON affecting the shares, or any similar equity restructuring transaction, as that term is used in Statement of Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification Topic 718 (or any of its successors) affecting the shares occurs (including a change in control of New AON), the administrator, to prevent diminution or enlargement of the benefits or potential benefits intended to be provided under the 2023 Plan, will adjust the number and class of shares that may be delivered under the 2023 Plan and/or the number, class, and price of shares covered by each outstanding award, and the numerical share limits contained in the 2023 Plan. The closing price of a share of our common stock on June 27, 2023 was $10.29 per share.

Plan Administration

New AON's Board or a committee appointed by New AON's Board will administer the 2023 Plan and are referred to as the administrator. Different administrators may administer the 2023 Plan with respect to different groups of service providers. New AON's Board may retain the authority to concurrently administer the 2023 Plan and revoke the delegation of some or all authority previously delegated.

Subject to the terms of the 2023 Plan and applicable laws, the administrator generally will have the power, in its sole discretion, to make any determinations and perform any actions deemed necessary or advisable for administering the 2023 Plan. The administrator will have the power to administer the 2023 Plan, including but not limited to the power to construe and interpret the 2023 Plan and awards granted under the 2023 Plan, and determine the terms of awards, including but not limited to the exercise price (if any), the number of shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock subject to each award, the time when awards may vest or be exercised (including the ability to accelerate the vesting and exercisability of awards), and the form of consideration payable upon exercise, if applicable. The administrator may select the service providers to whom awards may be granted and approve forms of awards agreements under the 2023 Plan. The administrator will also have the authority to amend awards (including but not limited to the discretionary authority to extend the post-termination exercisability period of awards and to extend the maximum term of an option) and to temporarily suspend the exercisability of an award if the administrator deems such suspension to be necessary or appropriate for administrative purposes, subject to the provisions of the 2023 Plan. The administrator may institute and determine the terms and conditions of an exchange program under which (i) outstanding awards are surrendered or cancelled in exchange for awards of the same type (which may have higher or lower exercise prices and different terms), awards of a different type, and/or cash, (ii) participants have the opportunity to transfer any outstanding awards to a financial institution or other person or entity selected by the administrator, and/or (iii) the exercise price of an outstanding award is increased or reduced. Unless a participant is on an approved leave of absence, the administrator will have sole discretion to determine the date on which a participant stops actively providing services to New AON or the Company Group. The administrator's decisions, determinations, and interpretations are final and binding on all participants and any other holders of awards.

Stock Options

Options with respect to New AON Class A Common Stock may be granted under the 2023 Plan. Subject to the provisions of the 2023 Plan, the administrator will determine the terms and conditions of options, including when such options vest and become exercisable (and the administrator will have the discretion to accelerate the time at which such options will vest or become exercisable) and the acceptable forms of consideration for exercising an option. The per share exercise price of any option generally must be at least 100% of the fair market value of a share on the date of grant, and the term of an incentive stock option may not be more than 10 years. However, with respect to any incentive stock option granted to an individual who owns 10% of the voting power of all classes of stock of New AON or any of its parent or subsidiary corporations, the term of such option must not exceed 5 years, and the per share exercise price of such incentive stock option must be at least 110% of the fair market value of a share on the grant date. After a participant's service terminates, he or she generally may exercise the vested portion of his or her option for the period of time stated in his or her option agreement. In no event may an option be exercised later than the expiration of its term, except in certain circumstances where the expiration occurs during a period where exercise is not permitted under applicable law, as described more fully in the 2023 Plan. Subject to the provisions of the 2023 Plan, the administrator will determine the other terms of options, including but not limited to the acceptable forms of consideration for exercising an option.

Stock Appreciation Rights

Stock appreciation rights may be granted under the 2023 Plan. Stock appreciation rights allow the recipient to receive the appreciation in the fair market value of New AON's Class A Common Stock between the exercise date and the date of grant. Subject to the provisions of the 2023 Plan, the administrator will determine the terms and conditions of stock appreciation rights, including when such rights vest and become exercisable (and the administrator will have the discretion to accelerate the time at which such rights will vest or become exercisable) and whether to pay any increased appreciation in cash, shares, or a combination of both. The per share exercise price of a stock appreciation right must be at least 100% of the fair market value a share on the date of grant with respect to U.S. taxpayers, and the term of a stock appreciation right may not exceed 10 years. After a participant's service terminates, he or she generally may exercise the vested portion of his or her stock appreciation right for the period of time stated in his or her award agreement. However, in no event may a stock appreciation right be exercised later than the expiration of its term, except in certain circumstances where the expiration occurs during a period where exercise is not permitted under applicable law, as described more fully in the 2023 Plan.

Restricted Stock

Restricted stock may be granted under the 2023 Plan. Restricted stock awards are grants of shares of New AON Class A Common Stock that vest in accordance with terms and conditions established by the administrator. The administrator will determine the number of shares of restricted stock granted to any employee, director or consultant. The administrator may impose prior to grant whatever conditions to vesting it determines to be appropriate (for example, the administrator may set restrictions based on the achievement of specific performance goals or continued service to us or members of the Company Group), and the administrator will have the discretion to accelerate the time at which any restrictions will lapse or be removed at any time. Recipients of restricted stock awards generally will have voting but will not have dividend rights with respect to such shares upon grant without regard to the restriction, unless the administrator provides otherwise. Shares of restricted stock as to which the restrictions have not lapsed are subject to our right of repurchase or forfeiture.

Restricted Stock Units

Restricted stock units may be granted under the 2023 Plan pursuant to terms and conditions established by the administrator. A restricted stock unit is a bookkeeping entry representing an amount equal to the fair market value of one share of New AON Class A Common Stock. The administrator will determine the terms and conditions of restricted stock units including the vesting criteria (which may include accomplishing specified performance criteria or continued service to us or members of the Company Group) and the form and timing of payment. The administrator will have the discretion to accelerate the time at which any restrictions will lapse or be removed and to settle earned restricted stock units in cash, shares, or a combination of both.

Performance Awards

Performance awards may be granted under the 2023 Plan pursuant to terms and conditions established by the administrator. Performance awards are awards that will result in a payment to a participant only if objectives established by the administrator are achieved or the awards otherwise vest. The administrator will establish organizational or individual performance objectives in its discretion, which, depending on the extent to which they are met, will determine the value of the payout for the performance awards to be paid out to participants. The administrator will have the discretion to reduce or waive any performance objectives or other vesting provisions for performance awards. Performance awards will have a threshold, target, and maximum payout value established by the administrator on or before the grant date. The administrator will have the discretion to pay earned performance awards in the form of cash, shares of New AON Class A Common Stock, or a combination of both.

Non-Employee Directors

The 2023 Plan provides that any non-employee director, in any fiscal year, may not be paid, issued or granted cash retainer fees and equity awards (including awards under the 2023 Plan) with an aggregate value of more than $750,000, increased to $1,500,000 in connection with the non-employee director's initial service, with the value of each equity award based on its grant date fair value. For purposes of this limitation, the grant date fair value is determined in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Any cash compensation or equity awards granted under the 2023 Plan to a non-employee director for his or her services as an employee, or for his or her services as a consultant (other than as a non-employee director), will not count for purposes of the limitation. The maximum limit does not reflect the intended size of any potential compensation or equity awards to our non-employee directors.

Non-Transferability of Awards

Unless the administrator provides otherwise, the 2023 Plan generally does not allow for the transfer or disposal of awards and only the recipient of an award may exercise an award during his or her lifetime. Any unauthorized transfer will be void.

Dissolution or Liquidation

If there is a proposed liquidation or dissolution of New AON, the administrator will notify participants at such time before the effective date of such event as the administrator determines and all awards, to the extent that they have not been previously exercised, will terminate immediately before the consummation of such event.

Merger or Change in Control

The 2023 Plan provides that if there is a merger or a "change in control" (as defined under the 2023 Plan) of New AON, each outstanding award will be treated as the administrator determines (subject to the following paragraph) without a participant's consent, including that an award be continued by the successor corporation or that vesting of awards may accelerate automatically upon consummation of the transaction. The administrator will not be required to treat all awards, portions of awards or participants similarly and may modify awards, subject to the provisions of the 2023 Plan.

If the successor corporation does not continue an award (or some portion of such award), the administrator may provide that the participant will fully vest in (and have the right to exercise) 100% of then-unvested shares subject to his or her outstanding options and stock appreciation rights, all restrictions on 100% of the participant's outstanding restricted stock and restricted stock units will lapse, and, regarding 100% of participant's outstanding awards with performance-based vesting, all performance goals or other vesting criteria will be treated as achieved at 100% of target levels and all other terms and conditions will be deemed met. In no event will vesting of an award accelerate as to more than 100% of the award. Unless otherwise provided in an award agreement, if options or stock appreciation rights are not continued when a change in control or a merger of New AON with or into another corporation or other entity occurs, the administrator will notify the participant in writing or electronically that the participant's vested options or stock appreciation rights (after considering the foregoing vesting acceleration, if any) will be exercisable for a period of time determined by the administrator in its sole discretion and all of the participant's options or stock appreciation rights will terminate upon the expiration of such period (whether vested or unvested).

With respect to awards held by a non-employee director, in the event of a change in control, the non-employee director will fully vest in and have the right to exercise his or her options and/or stock appreciation rights, all restrictions on his or her restricted stock and restricted stock units will lapse, and, with respect to awards with performance-based vesting, all performance goals or other vesting criteria will be deemed achieved at 100% of target levels and all other terms and conditions met, unless specifically provided otherwise under the applicable award agreement or other written agreement with the participant.

Forfeiture and Clawback

All awards granted under the 2023 Plan will be subject to recoupment under any clawback policy that we are required to adopt under applicable law or listing standards. In addition, the administrator may impose such other clawback, recovery or recoupment provisions in an award agreement as the administrator determines necessary or appropriate, including without limitation to any reacquisition right regarding previously acquired shares or other cash or property. In addition, the administrator may provide in an award agreement that the recipient's rights, payments, and benefits with respect to such award shall be subject to reduction, cancellation, forfeiture, or recoupment upon the occurrence of specified events, in addition to any otherwise applicable vesting or performance conditions of an award.

Amendment or Termination

The 2023 Plan will become effective upon and subject to the Closing and stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan and will continue in effect until terminated by the administrator, but (i) no incentive stock options may be granted after ten (10) years from the earlier of the Board or stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan and (ii) the 2023 Plan's automatic share reserve increase (as described below) will operate only until the tenth (10th) anniversary of the earlier of New AON's Board or stockholder approval of the 2023 Plan. In addition, New AON's Board will have the authority to amend, suspend, or terminate the 2023 Plan, but such action generally may not materially impair the rights of any participant without his or her written consent.

Summary of U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences

The following summary is intended only as a general guide to the U.S. federal income tax consequences of participation in the 2023 Plan. The summary is based on existing U.S. laws and regulations as of the date hereof, and there can be no assurance that those laws and regulations will not change in the future. The summary does not purport to be complete and does not discuss the tax consequences upon a participant's death, or the provisions of the income tax laws of any municipality, state or foreign country in which the participant may reside. As a result, tax consequences for any particular participant may vary based on individual circumstances.

Incentive Stock Options

A participant recognizes no taxable income for regular income tax purposes as a result of the grant or exercise of an option that qualifies as incentive stock option under Section 422 of the Code. If a participant exercises the option and then later sells or otherwise disposes of the shares acquired through the exercise of the option after both the two-year anniversary of the date the option was granted and the one-year anniversary of the exercise, the participant will recognize a capital gain or loss equal to the difference between the sale price of the shares and the exercise price, and we will not be entitled to any deduction for federal income tax purposes.

However, if the participant disposes of such shares either on or before the two-year anniversary of the date of grant or on or before the one-year anniversary of the date of exercise (a "disqualifying disposition"), any gain up to the excess of the fair market value of the shares on the date of exercise (or, if less, the amount received upon sale of such shares) over the exercise price generally will be taxed as ordinary income, unless the shares are disposed of in a transaction in which the participant would not recognize a gain (such as a gift). Any gain in excess of that amount will be a capital gain. If a loss is recognized, there will be no ordinary income, and such loss will be a capital loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon the disqualifying disposition of the shares generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code.

For purposes of the alternative minimum tax, the difference between the option exercise price and the fair market value of the shares on the exercise date is treated as an adjustment item in computing the participant's alternative minimum taxable income in the year of exercise. In addition, special alternative minimum tax rules may apply to certain subsequent disqualifying dispositions of the shares or provide certain basis adjustments or tax credits for purposes.

Nonstatutory Stock Options

A participant generally recognizes no taxable income as the result of the grant of such an option. However, upon exercising the option, the participant normally recognizes ordinary income equal to the amount that the fair market value of the shares on such date exceeds the exercise price. If the participant is an employee, such ordinary income generally is subject to withholding of income and employment taxes. Upon the sale of the shares acquired by the exercise of a nonstatutory stock option, any gain or loss (based on the difference between the sale price and the fair market value on the exercise date) will be taxed as capital gain or loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon exercise of nonstatutory option generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code. No tax deduction is available to us with respect to the grant of a nonstatutory stock option or the sale of the shares acquired through the exercise of the nonstatutory stock option.

Stock Appreciation Rights

In general, no taxable income is reportable when a stock appreciation right is granted to a participant. Upon exercise, the participant generally will recognize ordinary income in an amount equal to the fair market value of any shares received or the amount of cash paid upon settlement. Any additional gain or loss recognized upon any later disposition of the shares would be capital gain or loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon exercise of a stock appreciation right generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code.

Restricted Stock Awards

A participant acquiring shares of restricted stock generally will recognize ordinary income equal to the fair market value of the shares on the vesting date. If the participant is an employee, such ordinary income generally is subject to withholding of income and employment taxes. The participant may elect, pursuant to Section 83(b) of the Code to accelerate the ordinary income tax event to the date of acquisition by filing an election with the IRS no later than thirty days after the date the shares are acquired. Upon the sale of shares acquired pursuant to a restricted stock award, any gain or loss, based on the difference between the sale price and the fair market value on the date the ordinary income tax event occurs, will be taxed as capital gain or loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon vesting in shares of restricted stock (or upon filing an election under Section 83(b) of the Code) generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code.

Restricted Stock Unit Awards

There are no immediate tax consequences of receiving an award of restricted stock units. A participant who is awarded restricted stock units generally will be required to recognize ordinary income in an amount equal to the fair market value of shares issued to such participant at the end of the applicable vesting period or, if later, the settlement date elected by the administrator or a participant. Any additional gain or loss recognized upon any later disposition of any shares received would be capital gain or loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon the issuance of shares pursuant to a restricted stock unit award generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code.

Performance Awards

A participant generally will recognize no income upon the grant of a performance award. Upon the settlement of such awards, participants normally will recognize ordinary income in the year of receipt in an amount equal to the cash received and the fair market value of any unrestricted shares received. If the participant is an employee, such ordinary income generally is subject to withholding of income and employment taxes. Upon the sale of any shares received, any gain or loss, based on the difference between the sale price and the fair market value on the date the ordinary income tax event occurs, will be taxed as capital gain or loss. Any ordinary income recognized by the participant upon settlement of a performance award generally should be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code.

Section 409A

Section 409A of the Code provides certain requirements for non-qualified deferred compensation arrangements with respect to an individual's deferral and distribution elections and permissible distribution events. Awards granted under the 2023 Plan with a deferral feature will be subject to the requirements of Section 409A. If an award is subject to and fails to satisfy the requirements of Section 409A, the recipient of that award may recognize ordinary income on the amounts deferred under the award, to the extent vested, which may be prior to when the compensation is actually or constructively received. Also, if an award that is subject to Section 409A fails to comply with Section 409A's provisions, Section 409A imposes an additional 20% federal income tax on compensation recognized as ordinary income, as well as interest on such deferred compensation.

Tax Effect for New AON

New AON generally will be entitled to a tax deduction in connection with an award under the 2023 Plan in an amount equal to the ordinary income realized by a participant and at the time the participant recognizes such income (for example, the exercise of a nonstatutory stock option) except to the extent such deduction is limited by applicable provisions of the Code. Special rules limit the deductibility of compensation paid to our chief executive officer and certain "covered employees" as determined under Section 162(m) and applicable guidance. Under Section 162(m), the annual compensation paid to any of these specified individuals will be deductible only to the extent that it does not exceed $1,000,000.

THE FOREGOING IS ONLY A SUMMARY OF THE EFFECT OF U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAXATION UPON PARTICIPANTS AND NEW AON WITH RESPECT TO AWARDS UNDER THE 2023 PLAN. IT DOES NOT PURPORT TO BE COMPLETE AND DOES NOT DISCUSS THE IMPACT OF EMPLOYMENT OR OTHER TAX REQUIREMENTS, THE TAX CONSEQUENCES OF A PARTICIPANT'S DEATH, OR THE PROVISIONS OF THE INCOME TAX LAWS OF ANY MUNICIPALITY, STATE, OR FOREIGN COUNTRY IN WHICH THE PARTICIPANT MAY RESIDE.

Number of Awards Granted to Employees, Consultants and Directors

The number of awards that an employee, director, or consultant may receive under the 2023 Plan is in the discretion of the administrator and therefore cannot be determined in advance. We have not previously sponsored an equity incentive plan, and, therefore, the aggregate number of shares of New AON's Class A Common Stock which would have been received by or allocated to our named executive officers; executive officers, as a group; directors who are not executive officers, as a group; and all other current employees who are not executive officers, as a group is not determinable.

Vote Required for Approval

Approval of the Incentive Equity Plan Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually in person or by proxy) of holders as of the Record Date of a majority of the then outstanding shares of American Oncology Network, Inc. Stock entitled to vote and actually cast thereon at the special meeting. Failure to vote by proxy or to vote online at the virtual special meeting or an abstention from voting will have no effect on the outcome of the vote on the Incentive Plan Proposal.

The adoption of the Incentive Plan Proposal is conditioned on the approval of the Incentive Plan Proposal and closing of the Business Combination.

The Closing is conditioned on the approval (or waiver, as applicable) of the Business Combination Proposal, the Nasdaq Issuance Proposal, the Charter Amendment Proposal, the Governance Proposal, the Director Election Proposal, and the Incentive Plan Proposal at the Special Meeting.

Recommendation of the DTOC BOARD

DTOC's BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT STOCKHOLDERS VOTE "FOR" THE APPROVAL OF THE INCENTIVE PLAN PROPOSAL.

PROPOSAL NO. 7 — THE ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL

Overview

The Adjournment Proposal, if adopted, will allow the DTOC Board to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date or dates to permit further solicitation of proxies. The Adjournment Proposal will only be presented to DTOC stockholders in the event that there are insufficient votes for, or for any other reason in connection with, the approval of the Condition Precedent Proposals.

Consequences if the Adjournment Proposal is Not Approved

If the Adjournment Proposal is not approved by our stockholders, the DTOC Board may not have the ability to adjourn the Special Meeting to a later date and, therefore, will not have more time to solicit votes to approve the Condition Precedent Proposals. In such events, the Business Combination would not be completed and there is a chance DTOC may not consummate an alternative initial business combination.

Vote Required for Approval and Resolution

The approval of the Adjournment Proposal requires the affirmative vote (virtually or by proxy) of a majority of the votes cast by holders of outstanding shares of DTOC common stock represented virtually or by proxy and entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class. Broker non-votes, abstentions or the failure to vote on this Proposal No. 7 will have no effect on the outcome of the vote.

The Adjournment Proposal is not conditioned on the approval of any other Proposal set forth in this proxy statement/prospectus.

The Supporting Sponsor Shareholders have agreed to, among other things, vote in favor of this Adjournment Proposal. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Supporting Sponsor Shareholders own approximately 20% of the outstanding shares of our common stock.

Recommendation of the Board of Directors

THE DTOC BOARD OF DIRECTORS UNANIMOUSLY RECOMMENDS THAT DTOC STOCKHOLDERS VOTE “FOR” THE ADJOURNMENT PROPOSAL.

GENERAL TERMS OF THE EXCHANGE OFFER AND CONSENT SOLICITATIONPurpose of the Exchange Offer

DTOC and AON intend to undertake the Business Combination, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will continue to be held by AON and DTOC will become a member of AON. The purposes of the Exchange Offer is to incentivize retention of AON employees following the consummation of the Business Combination and further align the interests of AON employees with those of stockholders.

Terms of the Exchange Offer and Consent Solicitation

In connection with the Business Combination, DTOC is offering to the holders of AON Class B-1 units to exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by such holder (such offer, the "Exchange Offer").

Concurrently with the Exchange Offer, DTOC and AON are also soliciting consents from the holders of AON Class B-1 units to certain amendments to the terms of the awards and the unit grant agreements pursuant to which the AON Class B-1 units were granted (the "Consent Solicitation") to provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all outstanding AON Class B-1 units into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder (collectively, the "Proposed Amendments"). Holders may not deliver consents to the Proposed Amendments without tendering their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer, and holders may not tender their AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer without delivering the related consents. The tender of AON Class B-1 units into the Exchange Offer will be deemed to automatically constitute delivery of a consent to the Proposed Amendments with respect to the AON Class B-1 units tendered.

All outstanding AON Class B-1 units that are (a) not tendered prior to the Expiration Date or (b) tendered, but (i) properly withdrawn any time before the Expiration Date or (ii) for any valid reason, not accepted by DTOC, will continue to be outstanding according to their terms unmodified and, upon the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, will be reclassified into AON common units in an amount equal to the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio; provided, however, that if holders of a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments by participating in the Exchange Offer, the Proposed Amendments will become effective promptly following the Exchange Offer and all outstanding AON Class B-1 units will automatically be exchanged, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder.

As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio at which AON Class B-1 units are proposed to be exchanged in the Exchange Offer is estimated to equal 2,643 shares of New AON Class A common stock. If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not participate in the Exchange Offer and less than a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units consent to the Proposed Amendments, upon adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, such AON Class B-1 units, together with all other outstanding AON Class B units, will be converted into AON common units at the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio. As of the date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio at which such AON Class B-1 units will be reclassified is estimated to equal 208 AON common units.

The Board of Managers of AON has authorized and approved the issuance to its employees of up to 460 Class B-1 Units. As of April 27, 2023, there were 388 AON Class B-1 units issued and outstanding, subject to the Exchange Offer. This prospectus and the accompanying Letter of Transmittal are being sent to all registered holders of outstanding AON Class B-1 units. There will be no fixed record date for determining registered holders of AON Class B-1 units entitled to participate in the Exchange Offer.

AON will act as agent for the tendering holders of the AON Class B-1 units for the purposes of receiving (a) shares of New AON Class A common stock, (b) the completed, signed and dated Letter of Transmittal and (c) all other required documents. Promptly following the closing of the Exchange Offer, DTOC will issue the shares of New AON Class A common stock (which will be shares of New AON Class A common stock following the consummation of the Business Combination).

DTOC intends to conduct the Exchange Offer in accordance with the applicable requirements of the Securities Act and the Exchange Act, and the rules and regulations promulgated by the SEC thereunder.

Market and Trading Information

For purposes of this proxy statement/prospectus, "New AON" means American Oncology Network Inc. (f/k/a Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.) and its consolidated subsidiaries, after giving effect to the Business Combination, and "New AON Class A common stock" means Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of New AON. As such, there will be no public market for the shares of New AON Class A common stock until following the consummation of the Business Combination.

Currently, the shares of Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of DTOC — or DTOC Class A common stock — are listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market ("Nasdaq") under the symbol "DTOC." The last reported per share price for DTOC Class A common stock was $10.29, as quoted on the Nasdaq Capital Market on June 27, 2023.

Expiration Date

The Exchange Offer will expire on the Expiration Date, which is at midnight, Eastern Time, on [], 2023, unless extended by DTOC in its sole discretion.

Extensions; Waivers and Amendments; Termination

Subject to applicable law, DTOC reserves the right to, at any time or at various times, regardless of whether any events preventing satisfaction of the conditions to the Exchange Offer, to extend the period of time during which the Exchange Offer is open by giving oral (to be confirmed in writing) or written notice of such extension to AON and by making public disclosure by press release or other appropriate means of such extension to the extent required by law.

During any extension of the Exchange Offer, all AON Class B-1 units previously tendered and not accepted by DTOC will remain subject to the Exchange Offer and may, subject to the terms and conditions of the Exchange Offer, be accepted by DTOC, and all AON Class B-1 units previously tendered and accepted by DTOC pursuant to the Exchange Offer will remain effective. In addition, DTOC may waive conditions without extending the Exchange Offer in accordance with applicable law.

If any of the conditions described below under "— Conditions to the Exchange Offer" have not been satisfied with respect to the Exchange Offer, DTOC reserves the right, at its sole discretion to:

- extend the Expiration Date and Exchange Offer;
- delay accepting any AON Class B-1 units tendered pursuant to the Exchange Offer;
- terminate the Exchange Offer; or
- otherwise amend the Exchange Offer in any respect in compliance with applicable securities laws and stock exchange rules.

If DTOC does not accept any AON Class B-1 units tendered in the Exchange Offer for any reason described in the terms and conditions of the Exchange Offer or if any AON Class B-1 units tendered are withdrawn pursuant to the terms of the Exchange Offer, DTOC will return such AON Class B-1 units without expense to the holder.

Announcements

If the conditions to the Exchange Offer are satisfied, or if DTOC waives all of the conditions that have not been satisfied, DTOC will accept, on the Expiration Date and after it receives completed and duly executed Letters of Transmittal with respect to any and all of the AON Class B-1 units tendered at such time, the tendered AON Class B-1 units by notifying AON of DTOC's acceptance. The notice may be oral if DTOC promptly confirms it in writing.

Acceptance of Tendered AON Class B-1 Units to the Exchange Offer

If the conditions to the Exchange Offer are satisfied, or if DTOC waives all of the conditions that have not been satisfied, DTOC will accept, on the Expiration Date and after it receives completed and duly executed Letters of Transmittal with respect to any and all of the AON Class B-1 units tendered at such time, the tendered AON Class B-1 units by notifying AON of its acceptance. The notice may be oral if DTOC promptly confirms it in writing.

DTOC expressly reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to delay acceptance of the AON Class B-1 units tendered pursuant to the Exchange Offer, or to terminate the Exchange Offer and not accept the AON Class B-1 units tendered pursuant to the Exchange Offer, (a) if any of the conditions to the Exchange Offer shall not have been satisfied or validly waived by DTOC, or (b) in order to comply in whole or in part with any applicable law.

In all cases, the shares of New AON Class A common stock will be issued only after timely receipt by AON of (a) the properly completed and duly executed Letter of Transmittal (or a facsimile thereof), and (b) any other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal, including, without limitation, the AON Class B-1 units.

For purposes of the Exchange Offer, DTOC will have accepted the AON Class B-1 units tendered pursuant to the Exchange Offer, if, as and when it gives oral or written notice to AON of its acceptance of such AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer. In all cases, the issuance of shares of New AON Class A common stock will be made by the deposit of such consideration with AON, which will act as your agent for the purposes of receiving such consideration from DTOC and delivering such consideration to you.

If, for any reason whatsoever, acceptance of any AON Class B-1 units tendered or the issuance of the shares of New AON Class A common stock is delayed or DTOC extends the Exchange Offer or is unable to accept the tender of the AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer, then, without prejudice to DTOC's rights set forth herein, DTOC may instruct AON to retain the AON Class B-1 units tendered and such tender may not be withdrawn, subject to the limited circumstances described in "— Withdrawal of Tender and Participation in this Exchange Offer" below.

DTOC will have the right, which may be waived, to reject the defective tender of AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer as invalid and ineffective. If DTOC waives its rights to reject a defective tender, subject to the other terms and conditions set forth in the Exchange Offer and Letter of Transmittal, you will be entitled to shares of New AON Class A common stock.

Procedures for Participating in the Exchange Offer

General

In order to participate in the Exchange Offer, you must tender your AON Class B-1 units as described below. It is your responsibility to tender your AON Class B-1 units. DTOC has the right in its sole and absolute discretion to waive any defects. However, DTOC is not required to waive defects and is not required to notify you of defects in your tender.

If you have any questions or need help in tendering your AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer, please contact AON, whose address is 14543 Global Pkwy STE 110, Fort Myers, FL 33913, and telephone number is (833) 886-1725.

The method of tendering the AON Class B-1 units and delivering the Letters of Transmittal and other required documents is at your election and risk. If delivery is by mail, DTOC recommends that registered mail, properly insured, with return receipt requested, be used. In all cases, sufficient time should be allowed to assure timely delivery. No AON Class B-1 units, Letters of Transmittal or other required documents should be sent to DTOC.

Proper Participation in the Exchange

In all cases, the issuance of the shares of New AON Class A common stock pursuant to the Exchange Offer will be made only after timely receipt by AON of:

- Letter of Transmittal properly completed and duly executed; and
- Any other documents required by the Letter of Transmittal.

Determination of Validity of Tender of AON Class B-1 units

All questions as to the validity, form, eligibility (including time of receipt) and acceptance of any tendered AON Class B-1 units pursuant to this Exchange Offer and any of the procedures described above, and the form and validity (including time of receipt of notices of withdrawal) of all documents will be determined by DTOC in its sole and absolute discretion, which determination will be final and binding, subject to the rights of AON Class B-1 unitholders to challenge such determination in a court of competent jurisdiction. DTOC reserves the absolute right to reject any or all tenders of AON Class B-1 units determined by DTOC not to be in proper form, or if the acceptance of or tender of AON Class B-1 units may, in the opinion of DTOC's counsel, be unlawful. DTOC also reserves the right to waive any conditions to the Exchange Offer that it is legally permitted to waive.

Your tender of AON Class B-1 units to the Exchange Offer will not be deemed to have been made until all defects or irregularities in your exercise have been cured or waived. Neither DTOC, nor AON, nor any other person or entity is under any duty to give notification of any defects or irregularities in any exercise or withdrawal of any exercise pursuant to the Exchange Offer, or will incur any liability for failure to give any such notification.

Please do not send Letters of Transmittal to DTOC. You should send Letters of Transmittal only to AON, at its office as indicated "Exchange Offer Contact Information" below and in the Letter of Transmittal. AON can answer your questions regarding how to tender your AON Class B-1 units.

Deemed Consent to Proposed Amendments by Tender

The tender of AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer in accordance with the procedures described above will be deemed to automatically constitute delivery of a consent with respect to the AON Class B-1 units tendered and the Proposed Amendments, except as provided herein. All references to procedures for tendering AON Class B-1 units shall include such deemed delivery of consents.

Withdrawal of Tender and Participation in this Exchange Offer

You have the right to withdraw the tender of any AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer will expire at midnight, Eastern Time, on the Expiration Date.

To be effective, a written or facsimile notice of withdrawal of a tender of AON Class B-1 units must:

- be received by AON at the following address prior to midnight, Eastern Time, on the Expiration Date;

American Oncology Network, Inc.
14543 Global Pkwy STE 110,
Fort Myers, FL 33913,
Attention: Exchange Offer
Phone: (833) 886-1725
Email: exchangeoffer@aoncology.com

- specify the name of the holder of the AON Class B-1 units to be withdrawn;
- contain the description of the AON Class B-1 units to be withdrawn; and
- be signed by the holder of the AON Class B-1 units in the same manner as the original signature on the Letter of Transmittal or be accompanied by the documents of transfer sufficient to have the transfer agent register the transfer of the AON Class B-1 units into the name of the person withdrawing the tender of such AON Class B-1 units.

If the tendered AON Class B-1 units to be withdrawn have been delivered or otherwise identified to AON, a signed notice of withdrawal is effective immediately upon receipt by AON of written transmission of the notice of withdrawal or revocation even if physical release is not yet effected. A withdrawal of tendered AON Class B-1 units can only be accomplished in accordance with the foregoing procedures.

If you withdraw tendered AON Class B-1 units, you will have the right to re-tender such AON Class B-1 units on or prior to the Expiration Date in accordance with the procedures described above for tendering AON Class B-1 units. If DTOC amends or modifies the terms of the Exchange Offer, or the information concerning the Exchange Offer, in a manner determined by DTOC to constitute a material change to the holders of the AON Class B-1 units, DTOC will disseminate additional Exchange Offer materials and extend the period of the Exchange Offer, including any withdrawal rights, to the extent required by law and as it determines necessary. An extension of the Expiration Date will not affect the withdrawal rights of a holder of AON Class B-1 units.

Return of AON Class B-1 Units

If DTOC does not accept any AON Class B-1 units in the Exchange Offer for any reason described in the terms and conditions of the Exchange Offer or if the AON Class B-1 units so tendered are withdrawn pursuant to the terms of the Exchange Offer, DTOC will return such AON Class B-1 units without expense to the holder promptly as practicable after the expiration or termination of the Exchange Offer or the failure to meet any of the conditions to the Exchange Offer.

Your Representations to DTOC

By signing or agreeing to be bound by the Letter of Transmittal and other required documents, you will represent to DTOC that, among other things:

- you own all right, title and interest in and to the AON Class B-1 units tendered or will own all right, title and interest in and to the AON Class B-1 units upon vesting thereof; and
- you have no arrangement or understanding with any person to participate in the distribution of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock (or any shares of New AON Class A common stock into which such shares of DTOC Class A common stock shall convert upon consummation of the Business Combination); and
- you are not engaged in and do not intend to be engaged in the distribution of the shares of DTOC Class A common stock (or any shares of New AON Class A common stock into which such shares of DTOC Class A common stock shall convert upon consummation of the Business Combination).

Interests of Certain Persons in the Exchange Offer

None of AON's directors or executive officers beneficially own or have any pecuniary interest in any of the AON Class B-1 units that are subject to the Exchange Offer.

Conditions to the Exchange Offer

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Exchange Offer, DTOC will not be required to accept the tendered AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer or to issue shares of New AON Class A common stock pursuant to the Exchange Offer, and may terminate, amend or extend the Exchange Offer or delay issuing shares of New AON Class A common stock, if any of the following shall occur or exist or have not been satisfied, or have not been waived by DTOC, prior to the Expiration Date:

- At least a majority in interest of the outstanding AON Class B-1 units shall have been validly tendered and not validly withdrawn in the Exchange Offer;
- The conditions to the Closing shall have been satisfied or waived (other than those conditions that by their terms are to be satisfied at the Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or waiver thereof);

- No action or event shall have occurred, no action shall have been taken, and no statute, rule, regulation, judgment, order, stay, decree or injunction shall have been promulgated, enacted, entered or enforced applicable to the Exchange Offer or the exchange of AON Class B-1 units for shares of New AON Class A common stock under the Exchange Offer by or before any court or governmental regulatory authority or administrative agency, authority or tribunal of competent jurisdiction, including, without limitation, taxing authorities, that challenges the making of the Exchange Offer or the exchange of AON Class B-1 units for shares of New AON Class A common stock under the Exchange Offer or would reasonably be expected to, directly or indirectly, prohibit, prevent, restrict or delay consummation of, or would reasonably be expected to otherwise adversely affect in any material manner, the Exchange Offer or the exchange of AON Class B-1 units for shares of New AON Class A common stock under the Exchange Offer;
- There shall not have occurred:
 - any general suspension of or limitation on trading in securities on the Nasdaq Capital Market, whether or not mandatory;
 - a declaration of a banking moratorium or any suspension of payments in respect of banks by federal or state authorities in the United States, whether or not mandatory;
 - a commencement of a war, armed hostilities, a terrorist act or other national or international calamity directly or indirectly relating to the United States; or
 - in the case of any of the foregoing existing at the time of the commencement of the Exchange Offer, a material acceleration or worsening thereof; and
 - The SEC shall have declared DTOC's registration statement on Form S-4, of which this proxy statement/prospectus forms a part, effective, and such registration statement shall not be subject to a stop order, and no proceedings for that purpose shall have been instituted or be pending or, to DTOC's knowledge, be contemplated or threatened by the SEC.

These conditions are for DTOC's benefit and may be asserted by DTOC or may be waived by DTOC, including any action or inaction by DTOC giving rise to any condition, in whole or in part, at any time and from time to time at or prior to the Expiration Date, in DTOC's reasonable discretion. DTOC may additionally terminate the Exchange Offer if any condition is not satisfied on or prior to the Expiration Date. If any of these events occur, subject to the termination rights described above, DTOC may (i) return any tendered AON Class B-1 units to you, (ii) extend the Expiration Date and Exchange Offer and retain all tendered AON Class B-1 units until the expiration of the extended Exchange Offer, or (iii) amend the Exchange Offer in any respect by giving oral or written notice of such amendment to AON and making public disclosure of such amendment to the extent required by law.

DTOC has not made a decision as to what circumstances would lead DTOC to waive any condition, and any such waiver would depend on circumstances prevailing at the time of such waiver. Although DTOC has no present plans or arrangements to do so, DTOC reserves the right to amend, at any time, the terms of the Exchange Offer. DTOC will give holders of AON Class B-1 units notice of such amendments as may be required by applicable law.

Fees and Expenses

DTOC and AON will each bear fifty percent (50%) of the expenses of soliciting the tender of AON Class B-1 units pursuant to the Exchange Offer. The principal solicitation is being made by facsimile, email, telephone or in person by its officers and regular employees and those of its affiliates and bankers.

DTOC and AON will each bear fifty percent (50%) of its reasonable and customary costs and related reasonable out-of-pocket expenses in connection with the Exchange Offer.

DTOC and AON will each bear fifty percent (50%) of all cash expenses to be incurred in connection with the Exchange Offer. They include:

- SEC Registration fees for the shares of New AON Class A common stock;
- accounting, advisory and legal fees;

- printing costs; and
- related fees and expenses.

If your AON Class B-1 units are held or will be held through a broker or other nominee on your behalf, your broker or other nominee may charge you a commission for participating in the Exchange Offer.

Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of Exchange Offer

The following summary describes the material U.S. federal income tax consequences relating to the Exchange Offer. This summary is based upon provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”), the U.S. Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder (the “Treasury Regulations”), administrative rulings, and judicial decisions, all as in effect as of the date hereof, any of which may subsequently be changed or interpreted differently, possibly with retroactive effect, so as to result in U.S. federal income tax consequences different from those discussed below. DTOC and AON have not sought and do not intend to seek a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) on any aspect of the Exchange Offer. Accordingly, DTOC and AON cannot assure you that the IRS will agree with the views expressed in this summary, or that a court will not sustain any challenge by the IRS. This summary does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income tax related to the Exchange Offer.

This summary does not address the consequences under U.S. alternative minimum tax rules, the net investment income tax, U.S. federal estate or gift tax laws or any non-U.S. or U.S. state or local tax laws. In addition, it does not address all tax consequences that may be relevant to holders of the AON Class B-1 units or shares of New AON Class A common stock (the “Exchange Securities” and collectively with the AON Class B units, the “Investment Securities”) that are subject to special treatment under the U.S. federal income tax laws, such as:

- dealers or traders in securities or currencies, banks, and other financial institutions, regulated investment companies, real estate investment trusts, tax-exempt entities, insurance companies, traders in securities that elect to use a mark-to-market method of accounting for their securities, employee stock ownership plans, corporations that accumulate earnings to avoid tax, controlled foreign corporations, and passive foreign investment companies;
- persons holding Investment Securities as a part of a hedging, integrated, conversion, wash sale, constructive sale, or straddle transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes;
- U.S. Holders (as defined below) of Investment Securities whose “functional currency” is not the U.S. dollar;
- persons that are, or that hold their Investment Securities through, entities that are treated as partnerships or S corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes;
- nonresident alien individuals who are present in the United States for 183 or more days during the relevant taxable year; and
- former citizens or residents of the United States.

If a partnership (including any entity or arrangement treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds Investment Securities, the tax treatment of a partner (or other equity owner) will generally depend upon the status of the partner (or equity owner) and the activities of the partnership (or such other entity). A beneficial owner that is a partnership (or entity treated as a partnership) and partners in such a partnership (or other equity owners) should consult their tax advisors as to the particular U.S. federal income tax consequences applicable to them.

This summary of material U.S. federal income tax consequences is for general information only and is not tax advice for any particular investor. Furthermore, this summary only applies to beneficial owners of Investment Securities that hold their Investment Securities as “capital assets” within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Code (generally, property held for investment).

In this discussion, the term “U.S. Holder” is used to refer to a beneficial owner of Investment Securities that, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, is:

- an individual citizen or resident of the United States;
- a corporation created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or any state or political subdivision thereof (including the District of Columbia);
- an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation regardless of its source; or
- a trust, if (i) a court within the United States is able to exercise primary supervision over the trust's administration and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust, or (ii) such trust has a valid election in effect under applicable Treasury Regulations to be treated as a U.S. person.

THIS DISCUSSION OF MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES IS FOR GENERAL INFORMATION PURPOSES ONLY AND IS NOT TAX ADVICE. EACH HOLDER OF INVESTMENT SECURITIES SHOULD CONSULT ITS TAX ADVISOR AS TO THE PARTICULAR TAX CONSIDERATIONS TO SUCH HOLDER OF THE EXCHANGE OFFER, INCLUDING THE APPLICABILITY OF U.S. FEDERAL, STATE, AND LOCAL TAX LAWS AND NON-U.S. TAX LAWS.

Tender of AON Class B-1.

Pursuant to the Exchange Offer, a holder of AON Class B-1 units may exchange each such unit for newly-issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio. If the Proposed Amendments are adopted and a majority of the AON Class B-1 units are tendered, all AON Class B-1 units not otherwise tendered in the Exchange Offer will automatically be exchanged into newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder.

Although the U.S. federal income tax treatment will depend on the specific facts at the time the AON Class B-1 units are issued, the Company intends to take the position that AON Class B-1 units have value equal to the New AON Class A shares into which they are convertible. A recipient of such Class B-1 units will recognize such value as compensation income. Such U.S. Holder would generally have a basis in the AON Class B-1 units equal to the amount of such income recognized. Such U.S. Holder should have little if any short-term capital gain on the exchange for the New AON Class A common shares.

Thereafter, a U.S. Holder generally will have an initial tax basis in the shares of New AON Class A common stock received pursuant to the Exchange Offer equal to fair market value on the date of the exchange, and generally will commence a new holding period with respect to the shares of New AON Class A common stock the day after the completion of the exchange.

If a holder of AON Class B-1 units does not exchange such units for New AON Class A common stock, the Exchange Offer would have no federal income tax impact on such U.S. Holder. Such U.S. Holder will receive allocations of income, gain, loss and deductions from AON but, generally, should not recognize gain or loss for federal income tax purposes on the AON Class B-1 units until such U.S. Holder sells, exchanges, or otherwise disposes of the AON Class B-1 units.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding.

In general, information reporting requirements may apply to payments made to U.S. Holders that exchange AON Class B units for Exchange Securities, of distributions on Exchange Securities or in connection with the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement, or other taxable disposition of Exchange Securities prior to maturity, other than certain exempt recipients. Each U.S. Holder will be asked to provide to DTOC's paying agent such Holder's correct taxpayer identification number and certify that such Holder is not subject to backup withholding. Backup withholding at the applicable rate will apply to payments made to a U.S. Holder if the U.S. Holder fails to timely provide its correct taxpayer identification number ("TIN") within a reasonable time after a request therefor (and certification that the TIN is correct) or certification of exempt status. A U.S. Holder who does not provide DTOC or its paying agent with the correct TIN may be subject to penalties imposed by the IRS.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules will be allowed as a credit against a U.S. Holder's U.S. federal income tax liability, and may entitle such U.S. Holder to a refund, provided the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

This discussion is limited to U.S. Holders of the AON Class B units and does not consider the tax treatment of Non-U.S. Holders. Non-U.S. Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of the Exchange Offer.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The AON Class B-1 units were issued pursuant to unit grant agreements with AON governed under AON's 2017 Profits Interest Plan. In general, the Proposed Amendments would provide for the automatic exchange, as of immediately prior to the adoption of the Amended and Restated AON LLC Agreement, of all outstanding AON Class B-1 units into a number of newly issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio for each AON Class B-1 unit held by each applicable holder.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONSDTOC Related Party Transactions*Founder Shares

On January 8, 2021, DTOC issued an aggregate of 7,187,500 shares of Class B common stock to the Sponsor for an aggregate purchase price of $25,000 in cash, or approximately $0.003 per share. The number of shares of Class B common stock issued was determined based on the expectation that such shares would represent 20% of the outstanding shares of common stock upon completion of the IPO. On March 9, 2021, DTOC effected a stock dividend of 0.2 shares for each share of Class B common stock outstanding, resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,625,000 shares of Class B common stock. The Sponsor subsequently transferred 25,000 shares of Class B common stock to each of DTOC's independent directors, and 150,000 shares of Class B common stock to Kyle Francis, DTOC's Chief Financial Officer. Up to 1,125,000 shares of Class B common stock were subject to forfeiture by the Sponsor depending on the extent to which the underwriter's over-allotment option was exercised. On March 12, 2021, the underwriter partially exercised its over-allotment option, hence, 837,500 shares of Class B common stock were no longer subject to forfeiture. On March 15, 2021, the underwriter forfeited the remaining over-allotment option, and hence 287,500 shares of Class B common stock were subsequently forfeited.

On March 7, 2023, in connection with the approval of the Extension Amendment Proposal, the Sponsor and Mr. Francis converted all of their respective Founder Shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock.

The Initial Stockholders agreed, subject to limited exceptions, not to transfer, assign or sell any of the Founder Shares until the earlier to occur of: (1) one year after the completion of the initial business combination; and (2) subsequent to the initial business combination (x) if the last reported sale price of the Class A common stock equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any twenty (20)-trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after the initial Business Combination or (y) the date on which we complete a liquidation, merger, capital stock exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of the public stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of common stock for cash, securities or other property.

Private Placement Warrants

Simultaneously with the closing of DTOC's IPO, DTOC consummated the private placement of 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant to the Sponsor, generating proceeds of $9.17 million.

Each whole Private Placement Warrant is exercisable for one whole share of DTOC Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of the Private Placement Warrants was added to the proceeds from DTOC's IPO held in the Trust Account. If DTOC does not complete an initial business combination within the Combination Period, the proceeds of the sale of the Private Placement Warrants will be used to fund the redemption of DTOC's public shares, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and the Private Placement Warrants will expire worthless. The Private Placement Warrants are non-redeemable for cash (except in certain limited circumstances) and exercisable on a cashless basis so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees.

The Sponsor and DTOC's officers and directors agreed, subject to limited exceptions, not to transfer, assign or sell any of their Private Placement Warrants until 30 days after the completion of the initial business combination.

Registration Rights

The holders of Founder Shares, Private Placement Warrants and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans, if any (and any shares of DTOC Class A common stock issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans and upon conversion of the Founder Shares), were entitled to registration rights pursuant to the existing registration rights agreement, which will be amended and restated in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination. See the Section titled "The Business Combination and The Business Combination Agreement — Related Agreements — Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement" for more information.

Related Party Notes

On January 8, 2021, DTOC issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for an aggregate of up to $300,000 to cover expenses related to the IPO. This loan was non-interest bearing and payable on the earlier of December 31, 2021 or the completion of the IPO. During the period from January 8, 2021 to March 12, 2021, DTOC had borrowed $212,215 under the promissory note. On March 12, 2021, DTOC paid the balance on the note from the proceeds of the IPO.

In addition, in order to fund working capital deficiencies or finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor, or certain of DTOC officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, make Working Capital Loans. If DTOC completes a business combination, DTOC may repay the Working Capital Loans out of the proceeds of the Trust Account released to DTOC. Otherwise, the Working Capital Loans would be repaid only out of funds held outside the Trust Account. In the event that a business combination does not close, DTOC may use a portion of proceeds held outside the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans but no proceeds held in the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans. The Working Capital Loans would either be repaid upon consummation of a business combination or, at the lenders' discretion, up to $2.0 million of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants of the post business combination entity at a price of $1.50 per warrant. The warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period. At December 31, 2021, no Working Capital Loans were outstanding.

Certain Other Payments

The Sponsor, executive officers and directors, or any of their respective affiliates will be reimbursed for any out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with activities on DTOC's behalf such as identifying potential target businesses and performing due diligence on suitable business combinations. DTOC's audit committee will review on a quarterly basis all payments that were made to the Sponsor, executive officers or directors, or DTOC's or their affiliates. As of date of this proxy statement/prospectus, the total amount of out-of-pocket expenses incurred by DTOC's officers and directors is less than $1,500.

Sponsor Support Agreement

See the Section titled "The Business Combination and The Business Combination Agreement — Related Agreements — Sponsor Support Agreement" for more information.

Company Related Party Transactions

There were no transactions that were required to be reported under the provisions of Item 404 of Regulation S-K.

SECURITIES ACT RESTRICTIONS ON RE SALE OF COMMON STOCKRule 144

Pursuant to Rule 144 under the Securities Act ("Rule 144"), a person who has beneficially owned restricted common stock or warrants of New AON for at least six months would be entitled to sell their securities provided that (i) such person is not deemed to have been one of New AON's affiliates at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale and (ii) New AON is subject to the Exchange Act periodic reporting requirements for at least three months before the sale and has filed all required reports under Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act during the 12 months (or such shorter period as New AON were required to file reports) preceding the sale.

Persons who have beneficially owned restricted common stock or warrants of New AON for at least six months but who are New AON's affiliates at the time of, or at any time during the three months preceding, a sale would be subject to additional restrictions, by which such person would be entitled to sell within any three-month period only a number of securities that does not exceed the greater of:

- 1% of the total number of shares of New AON common stock then outstanding; or
- the average weekly reported trading volume of New AON common stock during the four calendar weeks preceding the filing of a notice on Form 144 with respect to the sale.

Sales by New AON's affiliates under Rule 144 are also limited by manner of sale provisions and notice requirements and by the availability of current public information about us.

Restrictions on the Use of Rule 144 by Shell Companies or Former Shell Companies

Rule 144 is not available for the resale of securities initially issued by shell companies (other than business combination related shell companies) or issuers that have been at any time previously a shell company. However, Rule 144 also includes an important exception to this prohibition if the following conditions are met:

- the issuer of the securities that was formerly a shell company has ceased to be a shell company;
- the issuer of the securities is subject to the reporting requirements of Section 13 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act;
- the issuer of the securities has filed all Exchange Act reports and material required to be filed, as applicable, during the preceding twelve months (or such shorter period that the issuer was required to file such reports and materials), other than Current Reports on Form 8-K; and
- at least one year has elapsed from the time that the issuer filed current Form 10 type information with the SEC reflecting its status as an entity that is not a shell company.

As a result, the holders of shares of New AON Class B common stock, including but not limited to, the Sponsor, will be able to sell their shares of New AON Class A common stock issuable upon conversion of its shares of New AON Class B common stock and New AON private placement warrants, as applicable, pursuant to Rule 144 without registration one year after New AON has filed the Form 10 information with the SEC following the completion of the business combination. Absent registration under the Securities Act, other stockholders who receive restricted securities will not be permitted to sell their restricted securities under Rule 144 earlier than one year after New AON has filed the Form 10 information with the SEC following the completion of the business combination.

DTOC anticipates that following the consummation of the business combination, New AON will no longer be a shell company, and so, once the conditions set forth in the exceptions listed above are satisfied, Rule 144 will become available for the resale of the above noted restricted securities.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONSListing of Securities

DTOC Class A common stock is currently listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTOC." DTOC's public warrants are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCOW." DTOC's units that have not separated are listed on Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCU." Following the Business Combination, New AON common stock and New AON warrants (including, in each case, common stock issuable in connection with the consummation of the Business Combination) will be listed on Nasdaq, or another reputable national securities exchange mutually determined by DTOC and AON, under the symbol "AONC" and "AONCW", respectively.

Appraisal Rights

Neither our stockholders nor our warrant holders have appraisal rights in connection with the Business Combination under the DGCL.

Submission of Stockholder Proposals

Our Board is aware of no other matter that may be brought before the Special Meeting. Under Delaware law, only business that is specified in the notice of Special Meeting to stockholders may be transacted at the Special Meeting.

Submission of Future Stockholder Proposals

For any proposal to be considered for inclusion in New AON's proxy statement and form of proxy for submission to the stockholders at New AON's 2023 annual meeting of stockholders, such proposals must comply with the requirements of Rule 14a-8 under the Exchange Act and New AON's bylaws. Such proposals must be delivered to New AON's Secretary at the principal executive offices of New AON at 14543 Global Pkwy STE 110, Fort Myers, FL 33913, not later than the close of business on the ninetieth (90th) day nor earlier than the close of business on the one hundred twentieth (120th) day prior to the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting (assuming New AON's 2023 annual meeting of stockholders is not more than thirty (30) days before or more than sixty (60) days after the anniversary date of New AON's 2022 annual meeting of stockholders, which, for the purposes of this requirement, will be the Special Meeting) in order to be considered for inclusion in the proxy materials to be disseminated by the New AON Board for such annual meeting.

The bylaws of New AON will provide notice procedures for stockholders to nominate a person as a director and to propose business to be considered by stockholders at a meeting. To be timely, a stockholder's notice must be delivered to New AON's Secretary at New AON's principal executive offices at the address set forth above no earlier than 8:00 a.m., local time, on the 120th day, and no later than 5:00 p.m., local time, on the 90th day prior to the day of the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting of stockholders. New AON's bylaws also specify requirements as to the form and content of a stockholder's notice.

Delivery of Documents to Stockholders

Pursuant to the rules of the SEC, we and services that we employ to deliver communications to our stockholders are permitted to deliver to two or more stockholders sharing the same address a single copy of each of our annual report to stockholders and our proxy statement. Upon written or oral request, we will deliver a separate copy of the annual report to stockholders or proxy statement to any stockholder at a shared address to which a single copy of each document was delivered and who wishes to receive separate copies of such documents. Our stockholders receiving multiple copies of such documents may likewise request that we deliver single copies of such documents in the future. Our stockholders receiving multiple copies of such documents may request that we deliver single copies of such documents in the future. Our stockholders may notify us of their requests by calling or writing us at our principal executive office at 10250 Constellation Blvd, Suite 23126 Los Angeles, CA 90067 or by telephone at (360) 949-1111, which must be received prior to the Special Meeting.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Stockholders and Board of Directors of Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. (the "Company") as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the related statements of operations, changes in stockholders' deficit and cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the "financial statements"). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the result of its operations and its cash flow for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Explanatory Paragraph — Going Concern

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As more fully described in Note 1 to the financial statements, the Company has until June 30, 2023 to complete a business combination or the Company will cease all operations except for the purpose of liquidating. Further, the Company's cash and working capital as of December 31, 2022 are not sufficient to complete its planned activities for a reasonable period of time, which is considered to be the lesser of one year from the issuance date of the financial statements or the date for mandatory liquidation. These conditions raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plans in regard to these matters are also described in Note 1. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) ("PCAOB") and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audit, we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audit included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audit also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION OPPORTUNITIES CORP.
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 — Organization and Business Operations

Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. (the “Company” or “DTOC”) is a blank check company incorporated as a Delaware corporation on November 17, 2020. The Company was formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses (“business combination”).

As of December 31, 2022, the Company had not commenced any operations. All activity through December 31, 2022 relates to the Company’s formation and the initial public offering (the “Initial Public Offering”), which is described below, and identifying a target company for a business combination. The Company will not generate any operating revenues until after the completion of a business combination, at the earliest. The Company generates non-operating income in the form of interest income from the proceeds derived from the Initial Public Offering.

The registration statement for the Company’s Initial Public Offering was declared effective by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) on March 9, 2021. On March 12, 2021, the Company consummated the Initial Public Offering of 33,350,000 units (the “Units” and, with respect to the shares of Class A common stock included in the Units sold, the “Public Shares”), which included 3,350,000 Units as a result of the underwriter’s partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional Units, at $10.00 per Unit, generating gross proceeds of $333,500,000, which is discussed in Note 3. Each Unit consists of one share of common stock, and one-fourth of one redeemable warrant to purchase one share of Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per whole share.

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Company consummated the sale of 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants (the “Private Placement Warrants”), at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, in a private placement to Digital Transformation Sponsor LLC (the “Sponsor”), generating gross proceeds of $9,170,000, which is discussed in Note 4.

The Company incurred transaction costs of the Initial Public Offering amounting to $18,903,894 consisting of $6,670,000 of underwriting fees, $11,672,500 of deferred underwriting fee, and $561,394 of other offering costs. The Company recorded $18,244,148 of offering costs as a reduction of temporary equity in connection with the Class A common stock. The Company immediately expensed $659,746 of offering costs in connection with the Warrants that were classified as liabilities.

Following the closing of the Initial Public Offering on March 12, 2021, $333,500,000 ($10.00 per Unit) from the net offering proceeds of the sale of the Units in the Initial Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants was placed in a trust account (the “Trust Account”) and invested in U.S. “government securities”, within the meaning of Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, having a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions of Rule 2a-7 promulgated under the Investment Company Act, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations. Except with respect to interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account that may be released to the Company to pay its franchise and income tax obligations and to pay up to $100,000 in dissolution expenses, the proceeds from the Initial Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants will not be released from the Trust Account until the earliest to occur of: (a) the completion of the Company’s initial business combination, (b) the redemption of any shares of the Company’s Class A common stock sold in the Initial Public Offering (the “public shares”) properly submitted in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the Company’s amended and restated certificate of incorporation (i) to modify the substance or timing of the Company’s obligation to allow redemption in connection with the initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the Company’s public shares if it does not complete its initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or (ii) with respect to any other provisions relating to stockholders’ rights or pre-initial business combination activity, and (c) the redemption of the Company’s public shares if the Company is unable to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or during any Extension Period (as defined below), subject to applicable law. The proceeds deposited in the Trust Account could become subject to the claims of the Company's creditors which would have priority over the claims of the Company's public stockholders. The Company will provide its public stockholders with the opportunity to redeem all or a portion of their public shares upon the completion of the initial business combination either (i) in connection with a stockholder meeting called to approve the initial business combination or (ii) by means of a tender offer. The decision as to whether the Company will seek stockholder approval of a proposed initial business combination or conduct a tender offer will be made by the Company, solely in its discretion. The stockholders will be entitled to redeem their shares at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the initial business combination, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes, divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, subject to the limitations.

The Company has until June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all of the Extension Options are exercised) to complete an initial business combination (the "Combination Period"). However, if the Company is unable to complete its initial business combination within the Combination Period or during any Extension Period, the Company will: (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses), divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the Company's remaining stockholders and board of directors, liquidate and dissolve, subject in each case to the Company's obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

The Sponsor and each of the officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares (as described in Note 5) and public shares in connection with the completion of the initial business combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to the Company's amended and restated certificate of incorporation (A) to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to allow redemption in connection with an initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the public shares if the Company does not complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or (B) with respect to any other material provisions relating to stockholder's rights or pre-initial business combination activity, (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if the Company fails to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or during any extended time that the Company has to consummate a business combination beyond 24 months as a result of a stockholder vote to amend the amended and restated certificate of incorporation (an "Extension Period"), and (iv) vote any Founder Shares held by them and any public shares purchased during or after the Initial Public Offering (including in open market and privately-negotiated transactions) in favor of the Company's initial business combination.

In order to protect the amounts held in the Trust Account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to the Company if and to the extent any claims by a third party for services rendered or products sold to the Company, or a prospective target business with which the Company has entered into a written letter of intent, confidentiality or similar agreement or business combination agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the Trust Account to below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per public share and (ii) the actual amount per public share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account, if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, less taxes payable, provided that such liability will not apply to any claims by a third party or prospective target business who executed a waiver of any and all rights to the monies held in the Trust Account (whether or not such waiver is enforceable), nor will it apply to any claims under the Company's indemnity of the underwriter of the Initial Public Offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (the "Securities Act"). However, the Company has not asked its Sponsor to reserve for such indemnification obligations, nor has the Company independently verified whether its Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations.

and believes that the Company's Sponsor's only assets are securities of the Company. Therefore, the Company cannot assure that its Sponsor would be able to satisfy those obligations.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Company had cash of $374,304 and $803,309, respectively, and working capital deficit and working capital, net of taxes, of $1,655,967 and $443,428, respectively.

The Company's liquidity needs up to March 12, 2021 had been satisfied through a capital contribution from the Sponsor of $25,000 (see Note 5) for the founder shares and the loan under an unsecured promissory note from the Sponsor of up to $300,000 which was paid in full on March 12, 2021 from the Initial Public Offering proceeds (see Note 5). Subsequent to the consummation of the Initial Public Offering, the Company's liquidity needs have been satisfied through the net proceeds from the consummation of the Private Placement not held in the Trust Account. In addition, in order to finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, our Sponsor or an affiliate of our Sponsor, or certain of our officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, provide us working capital loans. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, there were no amounts outstanding under any working capital loan.

The Company has incurred and expects to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans. The Company believes it will need to raise additional funds in order to meet the expenditures required for operating its business and to consummate a business combination. If the Company is unable to complete its business combination because it does not have sufficient funds available, the Company will be forced to cease operations and liquidate the Trust Account. Management has the option to address this uncertainty through working capital loans from the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of the Company's officers and directors who may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required. Up to $2,000,000 of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. In addition, following the business combination, if cash on hand is insufficient, the Company may need to obtain additional financing in order to meet its obligations.

In addition, the Company has until June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all of the Extension Options are exercised) to consummate an initial business combination. It is uncertain that the Company will be able to consummate an initial business combination by this time. If an initial business combination is not consummated by this date, there will be a mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution of the Company. The liquidity condition and date for mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern one year from the date that these financial statements are issued. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Risks and Uncertainties

Management is continuing to evaluate the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and has concluded that while it is reasonably possible that it could have a negative effect on the Company's financial position, results of its operations and/or search for a target company, the specific impact is not readily determinable as of the date of these financial statements. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (the "IR Act")

On August 16, 2022, the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (the "IR Act") was signed into federal law. The IR Act provides for, among other things, a new U.S. federal 1% excise tax on certain repurchases of stock by publicly traded U.S. domestic corporations and certain U.S. domestic subsidiaries of publicly traded foreign corporations occurring on or after January 1, 2023. The excise tax is imposed on the repurchasing corporation itself, not its shareholders from which shares are repurchased. The amount of the excise tax is generally 1% of the fair market value of the shares repurchased at the time of the repurchase. However, for purposes of calculating the excise tax, repurchasing corporations are permitted to net the fair market value of certain new stock issuances against the fair market value of stock repurchases during the same taxable year. In addition, certain exceptions apply to the excise tax. The U.S. Department of the Treasury

(the "Treasury") has been given authority to provide regulations and other guidance to carry out and prevent the abuse or avoidance of the excise tax.

Any redemption or other repurchase that occurs after December 31, 2022, in connection with a business combination, extension vote or otherwise, may be subject to the excise tax. Whether and to what extent the Company would be subject to the excise tax in connection with a business combination, extension vote or otherwise would depend on a number of factors, including (i) the fair market value of the redemptions and repurchases in connection with the business combination, extension or otherwise, (ii) the structure of a business combination, (iii) the nature and amount of any "PIPE" or other equity issuances in connection with a business combination (or otherwise issued not in connection with a business combination but issued within the same taxable year of a business combination) and (iv) the content of regulations and other guidance from the Treasury. In addition, because the excise tax would be payable by the Company and not by the redeeming holder, the mechanics of any required payment of the excise tax have not been determined. The foregoing could cause a reduction in the cash available on hand to complete a business combination and in the Company's ability to complete a business combination.

Note 2 — Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements of the Company are presented in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring adjustments) have been made that are necessary to present fairly the financial position, and the results of its operations and its cash flows.

Emerging Growth Company Status

The Company is an "emerging growth company," as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), as modified by the Jumpstart our Business Startups Act of 2012, (the "JOBS Act"), and it may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in its periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. The Company has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, the Company, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of the Company's financial statements with another public company which is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company which has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of these financial statements in conformity with US GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. The Company had $374,304 and $803,809 in cash and no cash equivalents as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, respectively.

Marketable Securities Held in Trust Account

At December 31, 2022 and 2021, substantially all of the assets held in the Trust Account were held in money market funds which invest in U.S. Treasury securities. All of the Company's investments held in the Trust Account are classified as trading securities. Trading securities are presented on the balance sheet at fair value at the end of each reporting period. Gains and losses resulting from the change in fair value of investments held in the Trust Account are included in interest income in the accompanying statement of operations. The estimated fair values of investments held in the Trust Account are determined using available market information.

Fair Value Measurements

The fair value of the Company's assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 820, "Fair Value Measurement," approximates the carrying amounts represented in the accompanying balance sheet, primarily due to their short-term nature. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received for sale of an asset or paid for transfer of a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. US GAAP establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy, which prioritizes the inputs used in measuring fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). In connection with measuring the fair value of its assets and liabilities, the Company seeks to maximize the use of observable inputs (market data obtained from independent sources) and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs (internal assumptions about how market participants would price assets and liabilities). The Company follows the guidance in ASC 820 for its financial assets and liabilities that are re-measured and reported at fair value at each reporting period, and non-financial assets and liabilities that are re-measured and reported at fair value at least annually.

The following fair value hierarchy is used to classify assets and liabilities based on the observable inputs and unobservable inputs used in order to value the assets and liabilities:

Level 1 — Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not being applied. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 — Valuations based on (i) quoted prices in active markets for similar assets and liabilities, (ii) quoted prices in markets that are not active for identical or similar assets, (iii) inputs other than quoted prices for the assets or liabilities, or (iv) inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by market through correlation or other means.

Level 3 — Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

In some circumstances, the inputs used to measure fair value might be categorized within different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In those instances, the fair value measurement is categorized in its entirety in the fair value hierarchy based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The fair value of the Company's certain assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under ASC 820, approximates the carrying amounts represented in the balance sheets primarily due to their short-term nature. The fair values of cash and cash equivalents, prepaid expenses, accounts payable and accrued expenses, and due to related party are estimated to approximate the carrying values as of December 31, 2022 and 2021 due to the short maturities of such instruments.

The fair value of the Private Placement Warrants is based on a Monte Carlo valuation model utilizing management judgment and pricing inputs from observable and unobservable markets with less volume and transaction frequency than active markets. Significant deviations from these estimates and inputs could result in a material change in fair value. The fair value of the Private Placement Warrants is classified as Level 3. See Note 8 for additional information on assets and liabilities measured at fair value.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of cash accounts in a financial institution, which, at times, may exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation coverage limit of $250,000. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Company has not experienced losses on these accounts and management believes the Company is not exposed to significant risks on such accounts.

Warrant Liabilities

The Company evaluated the Public Warrants and Private Placement Warrants (which are discussed in Note 3, Note 4 and Note 8) in accordance with ASC 815-40, "Derivatives and Hedging — Contracts in Entity's Own Equity", and concluded that a provision in the Warrant Agreement related to certain tender or exchange offers precludes the Warrants from being accounted for as components of equity. As the Warrants meet the definition of a derivative as contemplated in ASC 815, the Warrants are recorded as derivative liabilities on the Balance Sheets and measured at fair value at inception (on the date of the IPO) and at each reporting date in accordance with ASC 820, "Fair Value Measurement", with changes in fair value recognized in the Statements of Operations in the period of change.

Common Stock Subject to Possible Redemption

The Company accounts for its Class A common stock subject to possible redemption in accordance with the guidance in ASC Topic 480 "Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity." Class A common stock subject to mandatory redemption (if any) is classified as a liability instrument and is measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable Class A common stock (including common stock that feature redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within the Company's control) is classified as temporary equity. At all other times, Class A common stock is classified as stockholders' equity. The Company's Class A common stock feature certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of the Company's control and subject to the occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, Class A common stock subject to possible redemption is presented at redemption value as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' deficit section of the Company's balance sheets.

All of the 33,350,000 Class A common stock sold as part of the Units in the Public Offering contain a redemption feature which allows for the redemption of such public shares in connection with the Company's liquidation, if there is a stockholder vote or tender offer in connection with the business combination and in connection with certain amendments to the Company's second amended and restated certificate of incorporation. In accordance with SEC and its staff's guidance on redeemable equity instruments, which has been codified in ASC 480-10-S99, redemption provisions not solely within the control of the Company require common stock subject to redemption to be classified outside of permanent equity. Ordinary liquidation events, which involve the redemption and liquidation of all of the entity's equity instruments, are excluded from the provisions of ASC 480. Accordingly, at December 31, 2022 and 2021, all shares of Class A common stock subject to possible redemption is presented as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' deficit section of the Company's balance sheets, respectively.

The Company recognizes changes in redemption value immediately as they occur and adjusts the carrying value of redeemable common stock to equal the redemption value at the end of each reporting period. Increases or decreases in the carrying amount of redeemable common stock are affected by charges against additional paid in capital and accumulated deficit.

At December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Class A common stock reflected in the balance sheets is reconciled in the following table:

Gross proceeds	$333,500,000
Less:
Proceeds allocated to Public Warrants	(11,639,150)
Class A common stock issuance costs	(18,244,148)
Plus:
Remeasurement of carrying value to redemption value	29,883,298
Class A common stock subject to possible redemption, December 31, 2021	333,500,000
Remeasurement of carrying value to redemption value	3,858,456
Class A common stock subject to possible redemption, December 31, 2022	$337,358,456

Offering Costs Associated with the Initial Public Offering

The Company complies with the requirements of the ASC 340-10-S99 and SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin (“SAB”) Topic 5A — “Expenses of Offering”. Offering costs consisted of legal, accounting, underwriting fees and other costs incurred through the balance sheet date were directly related to the Initial Public Offering.

Offering costs are allocated to the separable financial instruments issued in the Initial Public Offering based on a relative fair value basis, compared to total proceeds received. Offering costs associated with warrant liabilities are expensed as incurred and presented as non-operating expenses in the statements of operations. Offering costs associated with the Class A common stock were charged to temporary equity.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company evaluates its financial instruments to determine if such instruments are derivatives or contain features that qualify as embedded derivatives in accordance with ASC Topic 815, “Derivatives and Hedging”. Derivative instruments are recorded at fair value on the grant date and re-valued at each reporting date, with changes in the fair value reported in the statements of operations. Derivative assets and liabilities are classified on the balance sheets as current or non-current based on whether or not net-cash settlement or conversion of the instrument could be required within 12 months of the balance sheet date.

The Company accounted for the 14,450,833 warrants issued in connection with the Initial Public Offering and Private Placement in accordance with the guidance contained in FASB ASC 815-40. Such guidance provides that, because the warrants do not meet the criteria for equity treatment thereunder, each warrant must be recorded as a liability. Accordingly, the Company recognizes the warrant instruments as liabilities at fair value and adjusts the instruments to fair value at each reporting period. The liabilities are subject to re-measurement at each balance sheet date until exercised. The fair value of the Public Warrants and the Private Placement Warrants is estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation. Derivative warrant liabilities are classified as non-current liabilities as their liquidation is not reasonably expected to require the use of current assets or require the creation of current liabilities.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes under ASC Topic 740, “Income Taxes” (“ASC 740”). ASC 740 requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for both the expected impact of differences between the financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities and for the expected future tax benefit to be derived from tax loss and tax credit carry forwards. ASC 740 additionally requires a valuation allowance to be established when it is more likely than not that all or a portion of deferred tax assets will not be realized.

ASC 740 also clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise’s financial statements and prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement process for financial statements recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more-likely-than-not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. ASC 740 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim period, disclosure and transition.

The Company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense. There were no unrecognized tax benefits and no amounts accrued for interest and penalties as of December 31, 2022 and 2021. The Company is currently not aware of any issues under review that could result in significant payments, accruals or material deviation from its position. The Company has identified the United States as its only "major" tax jurisdiction. The Company is subject to income tax examinations by the major taxing authorities since inception.

These potential examinations may include questioning the timing and amount of deductions, the nexus of income among various tax jurisdictions and compliance with federal and state tax laws. The Company's management does not expect that the total amount of unrecognized tax benefits will materially change over the next twelve months.

Net Income Per Common Stock

The Company complies with accounting and disclosure requirements of FASB ASC Topic 260, Earnings Per Share. Net income per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. The Company has two classes of shares, Class A common stock and Class B common stock. Earnings and losses are shared pro rata between the two classes of shares. The Company has not considered the effect of warrants sold in the Initial Public Offering and the private placement to purchase 14,450,833 shares of common stock in the calculation of diluted income per share, since the exercise of the warrants would be anti-dilutive. As a result, diluted net income per common stock is the same as basic net income per common stock for the period presented.

The Company's statements of operations apply the two-class method in calculating net income per share. Basic and diluted net income per common stock for Class A common stock and Class B common stock is calculated by dividing net income attributable to the Company by the weighted average number of shares of Class A common stock and Class B common stock outstanding, allocated proportionally to each class of common stock.

Reconciliation of Net Income per Common Stock

The Company's net income is adjusted for the portion of net income that is allocable to each class of common stock. The allocable net income is calculated by multiplying net income by the ratio of weighted average number of shares outstanding attributable to Class A and Class B common stock to the total weighted average number of shares outstanding for the period. Accordingly, basic and diluted net income per common stock is calculated as follows:

	For the Years Ended December 31,
	2022	2021
Class A Common Stock
Numerator: Net income allocable to Class A common stock	$ 8,425,951	$ 6,467,292
Denominator: Weighted Average Class A common stock
Basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding	33,350,000	26,954,110
Basic and diluted net income per share	$ 0.25	$ 0.24
Class B Common Stock
Numerator: Net income allocable to Class B common stock	$ 2,106,488	$ 1,927,427
Denominator: Weighted Average Class A common stock
Basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding	8,337,500	8,033,048
Basic and diluted net income per share	$ 0.25	$ 0.24

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-06, Debt-Debt with Conversion and Other Options (Subtopic 470-20) and Derivatives and Hedging-Contracts in Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity ("ASU 2020-06"), which simplifies accounting for convertible instruments by removing major separation models required under current GAAP. The ASU also removes certain settlement conditions that are required for equity-linked contracts to qualify for scope exception, and it simplifies the diluted earnings per share calculation in certain areas. For smaller reporting entities, ASU 2020-06 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied on a full or modified retrospective basis, with early adoption permitted beginning on January 1, 2021. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

In June 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-03, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820): Fair Value Measurement of Equity Securities Subject to Contractual Sale Restrictions ("ASU 2022-03"), which clarifies the principles of fair value measurement when measuring the fair value of an equity security subject to contractual sale restriction and improves current GAAP by reducing diversity in practice, reducing the cost and complexity in measuring fair value, and increasing comparability of financial information across reporting entities holding those investments. The ASU also introduces new disclosure requirements for equity securities subject to contractual sale restrictions that are measured at fair value under current GAAP. ASU 2022-03 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied prospectively with any adjustments from adoption being recognized in earnings and disclosed on the date of adoption. Early adoption is permitted. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

Management does not believe that any other recently issued, but not effective, accounting standards, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on the Company's financial statements.

Note 3 — Initial Public Offering

Public Units

On March 12, 2021, the Company sold 33,350,000 Units, at a purchase price of $10.00 per Unit, which included 3,350,000 Units as a result of the underwriter's partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional Units, at a purchase price of $10.00 per Unit. Each Unit consists of one share of Class A common stock, and one-fourth of one redeemable warrant to purchase one share of Class A common stock (the "Public Warrants").

Public Warrants

Each whole warrant entitles the holder to purchase one share of the Company's Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment as discussed herein. The warrants will become exercisable on the later of 12 months from the closing of the IPO or 30 days after the completion of its initial Business Combination and will expire five years after the completion of the Company's initial Business Combination, at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, or earlier upon redemption or liquidation.

In addition, if (x) the Company issues additional shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of the initial Business Combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.20 per share of Class A common stock (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by the Company's board of directors and, in the case of any such issuance to the Company's Sponsor or its affiliates, without taking into account any Founder Shares held by the Sponsor or its affiliates, prior to such issuance) (the "Newly Issued Price"), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of the initial Business Combination on the date of the consummation of the initial Business Combination (net of redemptions), and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of the Company's common stock during the 20 trading day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which the Company consummates the initial Business Combination (such price, the "Market Value") is below $9.20 per share, the exercise price of the warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $18.00 per share redemption trigger price described adjacent to "Redemption of warrants when the price per share of Class A common stock equals or exceeds $18.00" will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 180% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $10.00 per share redemption trigger price described adjacent to the caption "Redemption of warrants when the price per share of Class A Common Stock equals or exceeds $10.00" will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price.

The Company will not be obligated to deliver any shares of Class A common stock pursuant to the exercise of a warrant and will have no obligation to settle such warrant exercise unless a registration statement under the Securities Act with respect to the shares of Class A common stock underlying the warrants is then effective and a prospectus relating thereto is current. No warrant will be exercisable and the Company will not be obligated to issue shares of Class A common stock upon exercise of a warrant unless Class A common stock issuable upon such warrant exercise has been registered, qualified or deemed to be exempt under the securities laws of the state of residence of the registered holder of the warrants. In no event will the Company be required to net cash settle any warrant. In the event that a registration statement is not effective for the exercised warrants, the purchaser of a Unit containing such warrant will have paid the full purchase price for the unit solely for the share of Class A common stock underlying such Unit.

Redemption of Warrants When the Price per of Class A Common Stock Equals or Exceeds $18.00

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per warrant;
- upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder; and
- if, and only if, the last reported sale price of the Class A common stock for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending three trading days before the Company sends the notice of redemption to the warrant holders (the "Reference Value") equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities).

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at $0.10 per warrant upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption, provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares based on the redemption date and the "fair market value" of the Class A common stock (as defined below) except as otherwise described below;
- if, and only if, the Reference Value equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted per stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities); and
- if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities), the private placement warrants are also concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding public warrants, as described above.

The "fair market value" of the Class A common stock for the above purpose shall mean the volume-weighted average price of our Class A common stock as reported during the ten trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of warrants.

If a registration statement covering the shares of Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants is not effective by the 60th business day after the closing of the initial Business Combination, warrant holders may, until such time as there is an effective registration statement and during any period when the Company will have failed to maintain an effective registration statement, exercise warrants on a "cashless basis" in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act or another exemption. In such event, each holder would pay the exercise price by surrendering the warrants for that number of shares of Class A common stock equal to the lesser of (A) the quotient obtained by dividing (x) the product of the number of shares of Class A common stock underlying the warrants, multiplied by the excess of the "fair market value" of the Class A common stock over the exercise price of the warrants by (y) the fair market value and (B) 0.361 per whole warrant. The "fair market value" as used in this paragraph shall mean the average last reported sale price of the Class A common stock for the ten trading days ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the notice of exercise is received by the warrant agent. If that exemption, or another exemption, is not available, holders will not be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis.

Note 4 — Private Placement

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $9,170,000, in a private placement. A portion of the proceeds from the private placement was added to the proceeds from the Initial Public Offering held in the Trust Account.

The Private Placement Warrants will be non-redeemable in certain circumstances so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees. The Private Placement Warrants may also be exercised by the Sponsor and its permitted transferees for cash or on a cashless basis. Otherwise, the Private Placement Warrants have terms and provisions that are identical to those of the warrants being sold as part of the Units in the Initial Public Offering, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period. The fair value of Private Placement Warrants on the issuance date was $8,424,173.

Note 5 — Related Party Transactions

Founder Shares

On January 8, 2021, the Company's Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 7,187,500 shares of Class B common stock (the "Founder Shares") for a capital contribution of $25,000. On March 9, 2021, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.2 shares for each share of Class B common stock outstanding, resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,625,000 Founder Shares, which included an aggregate of up to 1,125,000 shares subject to forfeiture if the over-allotment option was not exercised by the underwriter in full. On March 12, 2021, the underwriter partially exercised its over-allotment option, hence, 837,500 Founder Shares were no longer subject to forfeiture. On March 15, 2021, the underwriter forfeited the remaining over-allotment option, and hence 287,500 shares of Class B common stock were subsequently forfeited.

On March 9, 2021, the Sponsor transferred 25,000 Founder Shares to each of the Company's independent directors, and 150,000 Founder Shares to Kyle Francis, the Company's Chief Financial Officer, as an inducement to serve as Officer and directors of the Company, for a sales price of $0.003 per share, or an aggregate of $450 (the "purchase price"). The transferred shares shall vest upon the Company consummating an initial business combination. In the event that a recipient ceases to serve as either an Officer or directors prior to the vesting date, the Sponsor has the option to repurchase the shares at the purchase price. The fair value of the transferred shares at March 9, 2021, was estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation model to be approximately $1.6 million in the aggregate. The Company will record the fair value of the transferred shares as Officer and director compensation expense upon consummation of an initial business combination, in accordance with the guidance in Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 718 "Compensation — Stock Compensation", which requires deferral of the expense recognition until after the performance condition is achieved, if the performance condition is a business combination or similar liquidity event. The transferred shares have the same terms and restrictions as the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor.

The Sponsor and each of the officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with the completion of the initial business combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to the Company's amended and restated certificate of incorporation (A) to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to allow redemption in connection with an initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the public shares if the Company does not complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of this the Initial Public Offering or (B) with respect to any other material provisions relating to stockholder's rights or pre-initial business combination activity, (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if the Company fails to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of this the Initial Public Offering or during any Extension Period, and (iv) vote any Founder Shares held by them and any public shares purchased during or after the Initial Public Offering (including in open market and privately-negotiated transactions) in favor of the Company's initial business combination.

With certain limited exceptions, the Founder Shares will not be transferable or assignable until the earlier of (A) one year after the completion of the Company's initial business combination or (B) subsequent to the Company's initial business combination, (x) if the last reported sale price of Class A common stock equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after the Company's initial business combination or (y) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, capital stock exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of the Company's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of common stock for cash, securities or other property.

Promissory Note — Related Party

On January 8, 2021, the Company issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for an aggregate of up to $300,000 to cover expenses related to the Initial Public Offering. This loan was non-interest bearing and payable on the earlier of December 31, 2021 or the completion of the Initial Public Offering. During the period from January 8, 2021 to March 12, 2021, the Company had borrowed $212,215 under the promissory note. On March 12, 2021, the Company paid the $212,215 balance on the note from the proceeds of the Initial Public Offering.

Related Party Loans

In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of the Company's officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required ("Working Capital Loans"). If the Company completes a business combination, the Company would repay the Working Capital Loans out of the proceeds of the Trust Account released to the Company. Otherwise, the Working Capital Loans would be repaid only out of funds held outside the Trust Account. In the event that a business combination does not close, the Company may use a portion of the working capital held outside the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans but no proceeds from the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans. Up to $2,000,000 of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. The warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, no Working Capital Loans were outstanding.

Note 6 — Commitments and Contingencies

Registration Rights

The holders of the Founder Shares, Private Placement Warrants, and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans (and any shares of Class A common stock issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans and upon conversion of the Founder Shares) will have certain "piggy-back" registration rights with respect to registration statements filed subsequent to the completion of the initial Business Combination and rights to require the Company to register for resale such securities pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act.

Underwriting Agreement

The underwriter had a 45 -day option from the date of the Initial Public Offering to purchase up to an aggregate of 4,500,000 additional Units at the public offering price less the underwriting commissions to cover over-allotments, if any. On March 12, 2021, the underwriter partially exercised the over-allotment option to purchase 3,350,000 Units, and was paid a fixed underwriting discount in aggregate of $6,670,000. On March 15, 2021, the underwriter forfeited the remaining 1,150,000 Units of the over-allotment option. The underwriters are entitled to deferred underwriting fees of 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the Initial Public Offering, or $11,672,500 in the aggregate. The deferred fee will become payable to the underwriters from the amounts held in the Trust Account solely in the event that the Company completes a business combination, subject to the terms of the underwriting agreement.

The AON Business Combination

On October 5, 2022, the Company entered into a Business Combination Agreement (as amended, the "Business Combination Agreement") with American Oncology Network, LLC ("AON").

As a result of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (the "AON Business Combination"), the combined company will be organized in an umbrella partnership C corporation structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will be held by AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the AON Business Combination will be implemented as follows: (i) on the closing of the AON Business Combination (the "Closing"), AON will amend and restate its operating agreement (the "AON A&R LLC Agreement") to reclassify its existing Class A units, Class A-1 units and Class B units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of DTOC Class A common stock; (ii) on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the AON A&R LLC Agreement, DTOC will amend and restate its charter (the "DTOC A&R Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of DTOC Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of DTOC Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of DTOC preferred stock in an amount sufficient to consummate a private placement of up to $100,000,000 in preferred stock to be consummated immediately prior to the consummation of the AON Business Combination (the "PIPE Investment"); (iii) on the Closing, DTOC will consummate the PIPE Investment; and (iv) on the Closing and following the adoption of the DTOC A&R Charter and the consummation of the PIPE Investment, (a) AON will issue common units to DTOC in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of DTOC Class B common stock, (b) DTOC will be admitted as the sole managing member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of DTOC Class B common stock to AON equity holders, (d) AON will distribute cash equal to the preferred return set forth in the AON operating agreement to holders of AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units (or only to holders of AON Class A units if the holder of AON Class A-1 units elects to receive additional shares of AON common units in lieu of cash as provided in the Business Combination Agreement), (e) DTOC will reserve a specified number of additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, and (f) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON equity holders will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units for shares of DTOC Class A common stock.

Sponsor Support Agreement

On October 5, 2022, contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, the Company and AON entered into a support agreement (the "Sponsor Support Agreement") with the Sponsor and certain other DTOC stockholders (each a "Stockholder") pursuant to which the Stockholders have agreed to (a) vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the AON Business Combination, (b) certain transfer restrictions with respect to their shares of DTOC common stock, (c) subject a portion of their shares of DTOC common stock to vesting requirements and (d) waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protections with respect to any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder in connection with the consummation of the AON Business Combination.

Registration Rights Agreement

In connection with the Closing, the Company, the Sponsor and stockholders of DTOC will enter into an Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement (the "Registration Rights Agreement") pursuant to which, among other things, the Company will agree to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act, certain shares of DTOC Class A common stock and other equity securities of DTOC that are held by the parties thereto from time to time. The stockholders party thereto (or their permitted transferees) may demand underwritten offerings under certain circumstances. The Company also agreed to provide customary “piggyback” registration rights. The Registration Rights Agreement also provides that the Company will pay certain expenses relating to such registrations and indemnify the stockholders against certain liabilities.

Note 7 — Stockholders’ Deficit

Preferred Stock — The Company is authorized to issue a total of 1,000,000 preferred shares at par value of $0.0001 each. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, there were no shares of preferred stock issued and outstanding.

Class A Common Stock — The Company is authorized to issue 200,000,000 shares of Class A common stock with a par value of $0.0001 per share. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, there were 33,350,000 shares issued and outstanding, including 33,350,000 shares subject to possible redemption.

Class B Common Stock — The Company is authorized to issue 20,000,000 shares of Class B common stock with a par value of $0.0001 per share. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, there were 8,337,500 shares issued and outstanding.

The shares of Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of the Company’s Class A common stock at the time of its initial Business Combination on a one-for-one basis (subject to adjustment for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like), subject to further adjustment. In the case that additional shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities are issued or deemed issued in excess of the amounts offered in the prospectus and related to the closing of the initial Business Combination, the ratio at which shares of Class B common stock shall convert into shares of Class A common stock will be adjusted (unless the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Class B common stock agree to waive such adjustment with respect to any such issuance or deemed issuance) so that the number of shares of Class A common stock issuable upon conversion of all shares of Class B common stock will equal, in the aggregate, on an as-converted basis, 20% of the sum of (i) the total number of all shares of common stock outstanding upon the completion of the IPO, plus (ii) all shares of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities issued or deemed issued in connection with the initial Business Combination (excluding any shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities issued, or to be issued, to any seller in the initial Business Combination and any private placement equivalent warrants issued to the Sponsor or its affiliates upon conversion of loans made to the Company).

Holders of record of the Class A common stock and holders of record of the Class B common stock will vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of the Company’s stockholders, with each share of common stock entitling the holder to one vote except as required by law.

Note 8 — Fair Value Measurements

The following table presents information about the Company’s assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and indicates the fair value hierarchy of the valuation inputs the Company utilized to determine such fair value:

The Warrants are accounted for as liabilities in accordance with ASC 815-40 and are presented within warrant liabilities on the Balance Sheets. The warrant liabilities are measured at fair value at inception and on a recurring basis, with changes in fair value presented within change in fair value of warrant liabilities in the Statements of Operations.

The Company established the initial fair value of the Public Warrants and Private Warrants on March 12, 2021, the date of the Company's Initial Public Offering using a Monte Carlo simulation model. The Company established the fair value of the Private Warrants on December 31, 2022 and 2021 using a Monte Carlo simulation model. The Public and Private Warrants were classified as Level 3 at the initial measurement date and the Private Warrants were classified as Level 3 at December 31, 2022 and 2021 due to the use of unobservable inputs. As of April 30, 2021, the Public Warrants were trading separately from the Units, and the quoted market price was used to establish fair value, and the Public Warrants transferred to Level 1.

The key inputs into the Monte Carlo simulation model for the Warrants were as follows at March 12, 2021:

	March 12, 2021
Inputs
Probability of completing a business combination	85%
Risk-free interest rate	1.17%
Expected term remaining (years)	6.43
Expected volatility	24.3%
Stock price	$ 9.92
Dividend yield	0.00%
Exercise price	$ 11.50

The key inputs into the Monte Carlo simulation model for the Private Warrants as of December 31, 2022 and 2021 were as follows:

	December 31, 2022	December 31, 2021
Inputs
Probability of completing a business combination	50%	85%
Risk-free interest rate	4.74%	1.34%

Note 9 — Income Tax

The Company's net deferred tax assets are as follows:

	December 31, 2022	December 31, 2021
Deferred tax asset (liability)
Organizational costs/Start-up costs	$ 421,523	$ 250,136

Total deferred tax asset	(153,475)	288,057
Valuation allowance	(421,523)	(288,057)
Deferred tax liability, net of allowance	$ (574,998)	$ —

The income tax provision consists of the following:

	December 31, 2022	December 31, 2021
Federal
Current	$ 451,637	$ —
Deferred	441,357	(287,882)
State
Current	—	—
Deferred	—	—
Change in valuation allowance	133,642	287,882
Income tax provision	$ 1,026,636	$ —

The Company's net operating loss carryforward as of December 31, 2022 and 2021 amounted to $0 and $180,575, respectively, and will be carried forward indefinitely.

In assessing the realization of the deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion of all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which temporary differences representing net future deductible amounts become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversal of deferred tax liabilities, projected future taxable income and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. After consideration of all of the information available, management believes that significant uncertainty exists with respect to future realization of the deferred tax assets and has therefore established a full valuation allowance. For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the change in the valuation allowance was $422,133 and $287,882, respectively. The effective tax rate differs from the statutory tax rate of 21% for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, due to changes in fair value in warrant liability and the valuation allowance on the deferred tax assets.

A reconciliation of the federal income tax rate to the Company's effective tax rate is as follows:

	December 31, 2022	December 31, 2021
Statutory federal income tax rate	21.00%	21.00%
State taxes, net of federal tax benefit	—%	—%
Change in fair value of warrant liabilities	(15.8)%	(26.68)%
Stock issuance costs	—%	2.25%
Business combination expense	2.50%	—%
Change in valuation allowance	1.20%	3.43%
Income tax provision	8.9%	—%

The Company files income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and California and is subject to examination by the various taxing authorities, since inception.

Note 10 — Subsequent Events

The Company evaluated subsequent events and transactions that occurred after the balance sheet date up to the date that the financial statements were issued. Based upon this review, other than as described below, the Company did not identify any subsequent events that would have required adjustment or disclosure in the financial statements.

On January 6, 2023, the Company and AON amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement (as amended, the "Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement") to provide, among other things, that the board of managers of AON following the AON Business Combination will consist of (a) two managers designated by holders representing more than 50% of the AON common units and (b) three managers designated by New AON. In addition, the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement provides that AON unitholders may elect to receive, in lieu of any number of shares of New AON Class B common stock to which an AON unitholder would otherwise be entitled to receive, warrants to acquire such number of shares of New AON Class B common stock, by submitting an election in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement.

With the execution of the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement, the parties to the Sponsor Support Agreement have amended and restated the Sponsor Support Agreement (the "Amended and Restated Sponsor Support Agreement") to modify certain vesting conditions on the shares of New AON Class A common stock held by the Stockholders as of the closing of the AON Business Combination. The foregoing descriptions of the agreements and the transactions and documents contemplated thereby do not purport to be complete and are subject to and qualified in their entirety by reference to the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement and Amended and Restated Sponsor Support.

On March 6, 2023, following approval by its stockholders at the special meeting of stockholders held on March 2, 2023 (the "Special Meeting"), the Company entered into an amendment (the "Trust Agreement Amendment") to the Investment Management Trust Agreement, dated March 9, 2021 (the "Trust Agreement"), by and between the Company and Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as trustee, to allow the extension of the date by which the Company must consummate its initial business combination from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and the option to further extend the date by which it has to consummate a business combination beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional (1) month each time to September 30, 2023. In connection with the Extension, the Company's stockholders holding 31,502,931 public shares exercised their right to redeem such shares for a pro rata portion of the funds in the trust account. As a result, $321,160,140 (approximately $10.19 per share) was removed from the trust account to pay such holders.

On March 6, 2023, in connection with the Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, we issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. The promissory note bears no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory note will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the AON Business Combination.

In connection with the approval of the Extension Amendment Proposal and Trust Agreement Amendment Proposal, the Company's Chief Financial Officer and Sponsor elected to convert all their respective DTOC Class B shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following the conversion, such shares will vote together with the rest of the DTOC Class A common stock on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of DTOC's initial public offering, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon.

DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION OPPORTUNITIES CORP.
NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 — Organization and Business Operations

Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. (the “Company” or “DTC”) is a blank check company incorporated as a Delaware corporation on November 17, 2020. The Company was formed for the purpose of effecting a merger, capital stock exchange, asset acquisition, stock purchase, reorganization or similar business combination with one or more businesses (“business combination”).

As of March 31, 2023, the Company had not commenced any operations. All activity through March 31, 2023 relates to the Company’s formation and the initial public offering (the “Initial Public Offering”), which is described below, and identifying a target company for a business combination. The Company will not generate any operating revenues until after the completion of a business combination, at the earliest. The Company generates non-operating income in the form of interest income from the proceeds derived from the Initial Public Offering.

The registration statement for the Company’s Initial Public Offering was declared effective by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) on March 9, 2021. On March 12, 2021, the Company consummated the Initial Public Offering of 33,350,000 units (the “Units” and, with respect to the shares of Class A common stock included in the Units sold, the “Public Shares”), which included 3,350,000 Units as a result of the underwriter’s partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional Units, at $10.00 per Unit, generating gross proceeds of $333,500,000, which is discussed in Note 3. Each Unit consists of one share of common stock, and one-fourth of one redeemable warrant to purchase one share of Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per whole share.

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Company consummated the sale of 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants (the “Private Placement Warrants”), at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, in a private placement to Digital Transformation Sponsor LLC (the “Sponsor”), generating gross proceeds of $9,170,000, which is discussed in Note 4.

The Company incurred transaction costs of the Initial Public Offering amounting to $18,903,894 consisting of $6,670,000 of underwriting fees, $11,672,500 of deferred underwriting fee, and $561,394 of other offering costs. The Company recorded $18,244,148 of offering costs as a reduction of temporary equity in connection with the Class A common stock. The Company immediately expensed $659,746 of offering costs in connection with the Warrants that were classified as liabilities.

Following the closing of the Initial Public Offering on March 12, 2021, $333,500,000 ($10.00 per Unit) from the net offering proceeds of the sale of the Units in the Initial Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants was placed in a trust account (the “Trust Account”) and invested in U.S. “government securities”, within the meaning of Section 2(a)(16) of the Investment Company Act, having a maturity of 185 days or less or in money market funds meeting certain conditions of Rule 2a-7 promulgated under the Investment Company Act, which invest only in direct U.S. government treasury obligations. Except with respect to interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account that may be released to the Company to pay its franchise and income tax obligations and to pay up to $100,000 in dissolution expenses, the proceeds from the Initial Public Offering and the sale of the Private Placement Warrants will not be released from the Trust Account until the earliest to occur of: (a) the completion of the Company’s initial business combination, (b) the redemption of any shares of the Company’s Class A common stock sold in the Initial Public Offering (the “public shares”) properly submitted in connection with a stockholder vote to amend the Company’s amended and restated certificate of incorporation (i) to modify the substance or timing of the Company’s obligation to allow redemption in connection with the initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the Company’s public shares if it does not complete its initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or (ii) with respect to any other provisions relating to stockholders’ rights or pre-initial business combination activity, and (c) the redemption of the Company’s public shares if the Company is unable to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or during any Extension Period (as defined below), subject to applicable law. The proceeds deposited in the Trust Account could become subject to the claims of the Company's creditors which would have priority over the claims of the Company's public stockholders. The Company will provide its public stockholders with the opportunity to redeem all or a portion of their public shares upon the completion of the initial business combination either (i) in connection with a stockholder meeting called to approve the initial business combination or (ii) by means of a tender offer. The decision as to whether the Company will seek stockholder approval of a proposed initial business combination or conduct a tender offer will be made by the Company, solely in its discretion. The stockholders will be entitled to redeem their shares at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account as of two business days prior to the consummation of the initial business combination, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes, divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, subject to the limitations.

The Company has until June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all of the Extension Options are exercised) to complete an initial business combination (the "Combination Period"). However, if the Company is unable to complete its initial business combination within the Combination Period or during any Extension Period, the Company will: (i) cease all operations except for the purpose of winding up, (ii) as promptly as reasonably possible but not more than ten business days thereafter, redeem the public shares, at a per-share price, payable in cash, equal to the aggregate amount then on deposit in the Trust Account, including interest earned on the funds held in the Trust Account and not previously released to the Company to pay its franchise and income taxes (less up to $100,000 of interest to pay dissolution expenses), divided by the number of then outstanding public shares, which redemption will completely extinguish public stockholders' rights as stockholders (including the right to receive further liquidating distributions, if any), subject to applicable law, and (iii) as promptly as reasonably possible following such redemption, subject to the approval of the Company's remaining stockholders and board of directors, liquidate and dissolve, subject in each case to the Company's obligations under Delaware law to provide for claims of creditors and the requirements of other applicable law.

On March 6, 2023, following approval by its stockholders at the special meeting of stockholders held on March 2, 2023 (the "Special Meeting"), the Company entered into an amendment (the "Trust Agreement Amendment") to the Investment Management Trust Agreement, dated March 9, 2021 (the "Trust Agreement"), by and between the Company and Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, as trustee, to allow the extension of the date by which the Company must consummate its initial business combination from March 12, 2023 to June 30, 2023, and the option to further extend the date by which it has to consummate a business combination beyond June 30, 2023 up to three (3) times for an additional (1) month each time to September 30, 2023. In connection with the Extension, the Company's stockholders holding 31,502,931 public shares exercised their right to redeem such shares for a pro rata portion of the funds in the trust account. As a result, $321,160,140 (approximately $10.19 per share) was removed from the trust account to pay such holders.

On March 6, 2023, in connection with the Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, the Company issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. The promissory note bears no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory note will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the AON Business Combination.

In connection with the approval of the Extension Amendment Proposal and Trust Agreement Amendment Proposal, the Company's Chief Financial Officer and Sponsor elected to convert all their respective DTOC Class B shares into an aggregate of 8,262,500 shares of DTOC Class A common stock. Following the conversion, such shares will vote together with the rest of the DTOC Class A common stock on the Business Combination; however, as such shares were not issued as part of DTOC's initial public offering, such shares are not entitled to any funds held in the Trust Account, including any interest thereon.

The Sponsor and each of the officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares (as described in Note 5) and public shares in connection with the completion of the initial business combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to the Company's amended and restated certificate of incorporation (A) to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to allow redemption in connection with an initial business combination or to redeem

100% of the public shares if the Company does not complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or (B) with respect to any other material provisions relating to stockholder's rights or pre-initial business combination activity, (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if the Company fails to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or during any extended time that the Company has to consummate a business combination beyond 24 months as a result of a stockholder vote to amend the amended and restated certificate of incorporation (an "Extension Period"), and (iv) vote any Founder Shares held by them and any public shares purchased during or after the Initial Public Offering (including in open market and privately-negotiated transactions) in favor of the Company's initial business combination.

In order to protect the amounts held in the Trust Account, the Sponsor has agreed that it will be liable to the Company if and to the extent any claims by a third party for services rendered or products sold to the Company, or a prospective target business with which the Company has entered into a written letter of intent, confidentiality or similar agreement or business combination agreement, reduce the amount of funds in the Trust Account to below the lesser of (i) $10.00 per public share and (ii) the actual amount per public share held in the Trust Account as of the date of the liquidation of the Trust Account, if less than $10.00 per share due to reductions in the value of the trust assets, less taxes payable, provided that such liability will not apply to any claims by a third party or prospective target business who executed a waiver of any and all rights to the monies held in the Trust Account (whether or not such waiver is enforceable), nor will it apply to any claims under the Company's indemnity of the underwriter of the Initial Public Offering against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (the "Securities Act"). However, the Company has not asked its Sponsor to reserve for such indemnification obligations, nor has the Company independently verified whether its Sponsor has sufficient funds to satisfy its indemnity obligations and believes that the Company's Sponsor's only assets are securities of the Company. Therefore, the Company cannot assure that its Sponsor would be able to satisfy those obligations.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company had cash of $3,975 and $374,304, respectively, and working capital deficit (net of $415,819 and $1,063,635, respectively, of taxes accrued and to be paid from the Trust Account) of $6,551,786 and $1,655,967, respectively.

The Company's liquidity needs up to March 12, 2021 had been satisfied through a capital contribution from the Sponsor of $25,000 (see Note 5) for the founder shares and the loan under an unsecured promissory note from the Sponsor of up to $300,000 which was paid in full on March 12, 2021 from the Initial Public Offering proceeds (see Note 5). Subsequent to the consummation of the Initial Public Offering, the Company's liquidity needs have been satisfied through the net proceeds from the consummation of the Private Placement not held in the Trust Account. In addition, in order to finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, our Sponsor or an affiliate of our Sponsor, or certain of our officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, provide us working capital loans. As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, there were no amounts outstanding under any working capital loan.

The Company has incurred and expects to continue to incur significant costs in pursuit of its financing and acquisition plans. The Company believes it will need to raise additional funds in order to meet the expenditures required for operating its business and to consummate a business combination. If the Company is unable to complete its business combination because it does not have sufficient funds available, the Company will be forced to cease operations and liquidate the Trust Account. Management has the option to address this uncertainty through working capital loans from the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of the Company's officers and directors who may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required. Up to $2,000,000 of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. In addition, following the business combination, if cash on hand is insufficient, the Company may need to obtain additional financing in order to meet its obligations.

In addition, the Company has until June 30, 2023 (or September 30, 2023 if all of the Extension Options are exercised) to consummate an initial business combination. It is uncertain that the Company will be able to consummate an initial business combination by this time. If an initial business combination is not consummated by this date, there will be a mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution of the Company. The liquidity condition and date for mandatory liquidation and subsequent dissolution raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern one year from the date that these financial statements are issued. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Risks and Uncertainties

Management is continuing to evaluate the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic and has concluded that while it is reasonably possible that it could have a negative effect on the Company's financial position, results of its operations and/or search for a target company, the specific impact is not readily determinable as of the date of these unaudited condensed financial statements. The unaudited condensed financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (the "IR Act")

On August 16, 2022, the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (the "IR Act") was signed into federal law. The IR Act provides for, among other things, a new U.S. federal 1% excise tax on certain repurchases of stock by publicly traded U.S. domestic corporations and certain U.S. domestic subsidiaries of publicly traded foreign corporations occurring on or after January 1, 2023. The excise tax is imposed on the repurchasing corporation itself, not its shareholders from which shares are repurchased. The amount of the excise tax is generally 1% of the fair market value of the shares repurchased at the time of the repurchase. However, for purposes of calculating the excise tax, repurchasing corporations are permitted to net the fair market value of certain new stock issuances against the fair market value of stock repurchases during the same taxable year. In addition, certain exceptions apply to the excise tax. The U.S. Department of the Treasury (the "Treasury") has been given authority to provide regulations and other guidance to carry out and prevent the abuse or avoidance of the excise tax.

Any redemption or other repurchase that occurs after December 31, 2022, in connection with a business combination, extension vote or otherwise, may be subject to the excise tax. Whether and to what extent the Company would be subject to the excise tax in connection with a business combination, extension vote or otherwise would depend on a number of factors, including (i) the fair market value of the redemptions and repurchases in connection with the business combination, extension or otherwise, (ii) the structure of a business combination, (iii) the nature and amount of any "PIPE" or other equity issuances in connection with a business combination (or otherwise issued not in connection with a business combination but issued within the same taxable year of a business combination) and (iv) the content of regulations and other guidance from the Treasury. In addition, because the excise tax would be payable by the Company and not by the redeeming holder, the mechanics of any required payment of the excise tax have not been determined. The foregoing could cause a reduction in the cash available on hand to complete a business combination and in the Company's ability to complete a business combination.

On March 8, 2023, the Company's stockholders redeemed 31,502,931 (Class A) shares for a total of $321,160,140. The Company evaluated the classification and accounting of the stock redemption under ASC 450, "Contingencies" to determine whether the Company should currently recognize an excise tax obligation associated therewith. ASC 450 states that when a loss contingency exists the likelihood that the future event(s) will confirm the loss or impairment of an asset or the incurrence of a liability can range from probable to remote. A contingent liability must be reviewed at each reporting period to determine appropriate treatment. The Company evaluated whether a United States excise tax obligation should be recognized currently related to the stock redemption and concluded that this obligation should be recognized. As of March 31, 2023, the Company recorded $3,211,601 of excise tax liability calculated as 1% of shares redeemed on March 8, 2023. Any reduction to this liability resulting from either a subsequent stock issuance or an event giving rise to an exception that occurs within this tax year, will be recognized in the period (including an interim period) that such stock issuance or event giving rise to an exception occurs.

Note 2 — Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements are presented in U.S. dollars in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") for interim financial information and in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Article 10 of Regulation S-X of the SEC. Certain information or footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP have been condensed or omitted, pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC for interim financial reporting. Accordingly, they do not include all the information and footnotes necessary for a complete presentation of financial position, results of operations, or cash flows. In the opinion of management, the accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements include all adjustments, consisting of a normal recurring nature, which are necessary for a fair presentation of the financial position, operating results and cash flows for the periods presented.

The accompanying unaudited condensed financial statements should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and notes thereto included elsewhere in this filing. The interim results for the three months ended March 31, 2023 are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the year ending December 31, 2023 or for any future interim periods.

Emerging Growth Company Status

The Company is an "emerging growth company," as defined in Section 2(a) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), as modified by the Jumpstart our Business Startups Act of 2012, (the "JOBS Act"), and it may take advantage of certain exemptions from various reporting requirements that are applicable to other public companies that are not emerging growth companies including, but not limited to, not being required to comply with the auditor attestation requirements of Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act, reduced disclosure obligations regarding executive compensation in its periodic reports and proxy statements, and exemptions from the requirements of holding a nonbinding advisory vote on executive compensation and stockholder approval of any golden parachute payments not previously approved.

Further, Section 102(b)(1) of the JOBS Act exempts emerging growth companies from being required to comply with new or revised financial accounting standards until private companies (that is, those that have not had a Securities Act registration statement declared effective or do not have a class of securities registered under the Exchange Act) are required to comply with the new or revised financial accounting standards. The JOBS Act provides that a company can elect to opt out of the extended transition period and comply with the requirements that apply to non-emerging growth companies but any such election to opt out is irrevocable. The Company has elected not to opt out of such extended transition period which means that when a standard is issued or revised and it has different application dates for public or private companies, the Company, as an emerging growth company, can adopt the new or revised standard at the time private companies adopt the new or revised standard. This may make comparison of the Company's financial statements with another public company which is neither an emerging growth company nor an emerging growth company which has opted out of using the extended transition period difficult or impossible because of the potential differences in accounting standards used.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of these unaudited condensed financial statements in conformity with US GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. The Company had $3,975 and $374,304 in cash and cash equivalents as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, respectively.

Marketable Securities Held in Trust Account

At March 31, 2023, and December 31, 2022, substantially all of the assets held in the Trust Account were held in money market funds which invest in U.S. Treasury securities. All of the Company's investments held in the Trust Account are classified as trading securities. Trading securities are presented on the balance sheets at fair value at the end of each reporting period. Gains and losses resulting from the change in fair value of investments held in the Trust Account are included in interest income in the accompanying statements of operations. The estimated fair values of investments held in the Trust Account are determined using available market information.

Fair Value Measurements

The fair value of the Company's assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 820, "Fair Value Measurement," approximates the carrying amounts represented in the accompanying balance sheets, primarily due to their short-term nature. Fair value is defined as the price that would be received for sale of an asset or paid for transfer of a liability, in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. US GAAP establishes a three-tier fair value hierarchy, which prioritizes the inputs used in measuring fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1 measurements) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (Level 3 measurements). In connection with measuring the fair value of its assets and liabilities, the Company seeks to maximize the use of observable inputs (market data obtained from independent sources) and to minimize the use of unobservable inputs (internal assumptions about how market participants would price assets and liabilities). The Company follows the guidance in ASC 820 for its financial assets and liabilities that are re-measured and reported at fair value at each reporting period, and non-financial assets and liabilities that are re-measured and reported at fair value at least annually.

The following fair value hierarchy is used to classify assets and liabilities based on the observable inputs and unobservable inputs used in order to value the assets and liabilities:

Level 1 — Valuations based on unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Company has the ability to access. Valuation adjustments and block discounts are not being applied. Since valuations are based on quoted prices that are readily and regularly available in an active market, valuation of these securities does not entail a significant degree of judgment.

Level 2 — Valuations based on (i) quoted prices in active markets for similar assets and liabilities, (ii) quoted prices in markets that are not active for identical or similar assets, (iii) inputs other than quoted prices for the assets or liabilities, or (iv) inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by market through correlation or other means.

Level 3 — Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and significant to the overall fair value measurement.

In some circumstances, the inputs used to measure fair value might be categorized within different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In those instances, the fair value measurement is categorized in its entirety in the fair value hierarchy based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The fair value of the Company's certain assets and liabilities, which qualify as financial instruments under ASC 820, approximates the carrying amounts represented in the balance sheets primarily due to their short-term nature. The fair values of cash and cash equivalents, prepaid expenses, accounts payable and accrued expenses, and due to related party are estimated to approximate the carrying values as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 due to the short maturities of such instruments.

The fair value of the Private Placement Warrants is based on a Monte Carlo valuation model utilizing management judgment and pricing inputs from observable and unobservable markets with less volume and transaction frequency than active markets. Significant deviations from these estimates and inputs could result in a material change in fair value. The fair value of the Private Placement Warrants is classified as Level 3. See Note 8 for additional information on assets and liabilities measured at fair value.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist of cash accounts in a financial institution, which, at times, may exceed the Federal Depository Insurance Coverage of $250,000. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company has not experienced losses on these accounts and management believes the Company is not exposed to significant risks on such accounts.

Warrant Liabilities

The Company evaluated the Public Warrants and Private Placement Warrants (which are discussed in Note 3, Note 4 and Note 8) in accordance with ASC 815-40, "Derivatives and Hedging — Contracts in Entity's Own Equity", and concluded that a provision in the Warrant Agreement related to certain tender or exchange offers precludes the Warrants from being accounted for as components of equity. As the Warrants meet the definition of a derivative as contemplated in ASC 815, the Warrants are recorded as derivative liabilities on the Balance Sheets and measured at fair value at inception (on the date of the Initial Public Offering) and at each reporting date in accordance with ASC 820, "Fair Value Measurement", with changes in fair value recognized in the Statements of Operations in the period of change.

Common Stock Subject to Possible Redemption

The Company accounts for its Class A common stock subject to possible redemption in accordance with the guidance in ASC Topic 480 "Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity." Class A common stock subject to mandatory redemption (if any) is classified as a liability instrument and is measured at fair value. Conditionally redeemable Class A common stock (including common stock that feature redemption rights that are either within the control of the holder or subject to redemption upon the occurrence of uncertain events not solely within the Company's control) is classified as temporary equity. At all other times, Class A common stock is classified as stockholders' equity. The Company's Class A common stock feature certain redemption rights that are considered to be outside of the Company's control and subject to the occurrence of uncertain future events. Accordingly, Class A common stock subject to possible redemption is presented at redemption value as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' equity section of the Company's balance sheets.

All of the 33,350,000 Class A common stock sold as part of the Units in the Public Offering contain a redemption feature which allows for the redemption of such public shares in connection with the Company's liquidation, if there is a stockholder vote or tender offer in connection with the business combination and in connection with certain amendments to the Company's second amended and restated certificate of incorporation. In accordance with SEC and its staff's guidance on redeemable equity instruments, which has been codified in ASC 480-10-S99, redemption provisions not solely within the control of the Company require common stock subject to redemption to be classified outside of permanent equity. Ordinary liquidation events, which involve the redemption and liquidation of all of the entity's equity instruments, are excluded from the provisions of ASC 480. Accordingly, at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, all shares of Class A common stock subject to possible redemption is presented as temporary equity, outside of the stockholders' equity section of the Company's balance sheets, respectively.

The Company recognizes changes in redemption value immediately as they occur and adjusts the carrying value of redeemable common stock to equal the redemption value at the end of each reporting period. Increases or decreases in the carrying amount of redeemable common stock are affected by charges against additional paid in capital and accumulated deficit.

At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Class A common stock reflected in the condensed balance sheets is reconciled in the following table:

Gross proceeds	$ 333,500,000
Less:
Proceeds allocated to Public Warrants	(11,639,150)
Class A common stock issuance costs	(18,244,148)
Plus:
Remeasurement of carrying value to redemption value	33,741,754
Class A common stock subject to possible redemption, December 31, 2022	337,358,456
Less:
Redemptions	(321,160,140)
Plus:
Remeasurement of carrying value to redemption value	2,422,374
Class A common stock subject to possible redemption, March 31, 2023	$ 18,620,690

Offering Costs Associated with the Initial Public Offering

The Company complies with the requirements of the ASC 340-10-S99 and SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin (“SAB”) Topic 5A — “Expenses of Offering”. Offering costs consisted of legal, accounting, underwriting fees and other costs incurred through the balance sheet date were directly related to the Initial Public Offering.

Offering costs are allocated to the separable financial instruments issued in the Initial Public Offering based on a relative fair value basis, compared to total proceeds received. Offering costs associated with warrant liabilities are expensed as incurred and presented as non-operating expenses in the statements of operations. Offering costs associated with the Class A common stock were charged to temporary equity.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company evaluates its financial instruments to determine if such instruments are derivatives or contain features that qualify as embedded derivatives in accordance with ASC Topic 815, “Derivatives and Hedging”. Derivative instruments are recorded at fair value on the grant date and re-valued at each reporting date, with changes in the fair value reported in the statements of operations. Derivative assets and liabilities are classified on the balance sheets as current or non-current based on whether or not net-cash settlement or conversion of the instrument could be required within 12 months of the balance sheet date.

The Company accounted for the 14,450,833 warrants issued in connection with the Initial Public Offering and Private Placement in accordance with the guidance contained in FASB ASC 815-40. Such guidance provides that, because the warrants do not meet the criteria for equity treatment thereunder, each warrant must be recorded as a liability. Accordingly, the Company recognizes the warrant instruments as liabilities at fair value and adjusts the instruments to fair value at each reporting period. The liabilities are subject to re-measurement at each balance sheet date until exercised. The fair value of the Public Warrants and the Private Placement Warrants is estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation. Derivative warrant liabilities are classified as non-current liabilities as their liquidation is not reasonably expected to require the use of current assets or require the creation of current liabilities.

Income Taxes

ASC 740-270-25-2 requires that an annual effective tax rate be determined and such annual effective rate applied to year-to-date income in interim periods under ASC 740-270-30-5. The Company accounts for income taxes under ASC 740, “Income Taxes.” ASC 740, Income Taxes, requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for both the expected impact of differences between the unaudited condensed financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities and for the expected future tax benefit to be derived from tax loss and tax credit carry forwards. ASC 740 additionally requires a valuation allowance to be established when it is more likely than not that all or a portion of deferred tax assets will not be realized. As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company’s deferred tax asset for start up organizational expenses had a full valuation allowance recorded against it. Our effective tax rates were 71.61% and 0.00% for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The effective tax rate differs from the statutory tax rate of 21% for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, due to changes in fair value of warrant liabilities, M&A expenses and the valuation allowance on the deferred tax assets.

ASC 740 also clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes recognized in an enterprise's financial statements and prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement process for financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. For those benefits to be recognized, a tax position must be more-likely-than-not to be sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. ASC 740 also provides guidance on derecognition, classification, interest and penalties, accounting in interim period, disclosure and transition.

The Company recognizes accrued interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense. There were no unrecognized tax benefits and no amounts accrued for interest and penalties as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022. The Company is currently not aware of any issues under review that could result in significant payments, accruals or material deviation from its position.

The Company has identified the United States as its only "major" tax jurisdiction. The Company is subject to income taxation by major taxing authorities since inception. These examinations may include questioning the timing and amount of deductions, the nexus of income among various tax jurisdictions and compliance with federal and state tax laws. The Company's management does not expect that the total amount of unrecognized tax benefits will materially change over the next twelve months.

Net Income Per Common Share

The Company complies with accounting and disclosure requirements of FASB ASC Topic 260, Earnings Per Share. Net income per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding during the period. The Company has two classes of shares, Class A common stock and Class B common stock. Earnings and losses are shared pro rata between the two classes of shares. The Company has not considered the effect of warrants sold in the Initial Public Offering and the private placement to purchase 14,450,833 shares of common stock in the calculation of diluted income per share, since the exercise of the warrants would be anti-dilutive. As a result, diluted net income per common stock is the same as basic net income per common stock for the period presented.

The Company's statements of operations apply the two-class method in calculating net income per share. Basic and diluted net income per common stock for Class A common stock and Class B common stock is calculated by dividing net income attributable to the Company by the weighted average number of shares of Class A common stock and Class B common stock outstanding, allocated proportionally to each class of common stock.

Reconciliation of Net Income per Common Share

The Company's net income is adjusted for the portion of net income that is allocable to each class of common stock. The allocable net income is calculated by multiplying net income by the ratio of weighted average number of shares outstanding attributable to Class A and Class B common stock to the total weighted average number of shares outstanding for the period. Accordingly, basic and diluted net income per common stock is calculated as follows:

	For the Three Months Ended March 31,
	2023	2022
Class A Common Stock subject to possible redemption
Numerator: Net income allocable to Class A common stock	$ 99,111	$ 2,817,354
Denominator: Weighted Average Class A common stock
Basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding	10,291,180	33,350,000
Basic and diluted net income per share	$ 0.01	$ 0.08
Class A Common Stock
Numerator: Net income allocable to Class A common stock	$ 26,525	$ —
Denominator: Weighted Average Class A common stock
Basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding	2,754,167	—
Basic and diluted net income per share	$ 0.01	$ —
Class B Common Stock
Numerator: Net income allocable to Class B common stock	$ 53,771	$ 704,339
Denominator: Weighted Average Class A common stock
Basic and diluted weighted average shares outstanding	5,583,333	8,337,500
Basic and diluted net income per share	$ 0.01	$ 0.08

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In August 2020, the FASB issued ASU 2020-06, Debt-Debt with Conversion and Other Options (Subtopic 470-20) and Derivatives and Hedging-Contracts in Entity's Own Equity (Subtopic 815-40): Accounting for Convertible Instruments and Contracts in an Entity's Own Equity ("ASU 2020-06"), which simplifies accounting for convertible instruments by removing major separation models required under current GAAP. The ASU also removes certain settlement conditions that are required for equity-linked contracts to qualify for scope exception, and it simplifies the diluted earnings per share calculation in certain areas. For smaller reporting entities, ASU 2020-06 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied on a full or modified retrospective basis, with early adoption permitted beginning on January 1, 2021. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

In June 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-03, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820): Fair Value Measurement of Equity Securities Subject to Contractual Sale Restrictions ("ASU 2022-03"), which clarifies the principles of fair value measurement when measuring the fair value of an equity security subject to contractual sale restriction and improves current GAAP by reducing diversity in practice, reducing the cost and complexity in measuring fair value, and increasing comparability of financial information across reporting entities holding those investments. The ASU also introduces new disclosure requirements for equity securities subject to contractual sale restrictions that are measured at fair value under current GAAP. ASU 2022-03 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and should be applied prospectively with any adjustments from adoption being recognized in earnings and disclosed on the date of adoption. Early adoption is permitted. This standard is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's balance sheet, statement of operations or statement of cash flows.

Management does not believe that any other recently issued, but not effective, accounting standards, if currently adopted, would have a material effect on the Company's unaudited condensed financial statements.

Note 3 — Initial Public OfferingPublic Units

On March 12, 2021, the Company sold 33,350,000 Units, at a purchase price of $10.00 per Unit, which included 3,350,000 Units as a result of the underwriter's partial exercise of its option to purchase up to 4,500,000 additional Units, at a purchase price of $10.00 per Unit. Each Unit consists of one share of Class A common stock, and one-fourth of one redeemable warrant to purchase one share of Class A common stock (the "Public Warrants").

Public Warrants

Each whole warrant entitles the holder to purchase one share of the Company's Class A common stock at a price of $11.50 per share, subject to adjustment as discussed herein. The warrants will become exercisable on the later of 12 months from the closing of the Initial Public Offering or 30 days after the completion of its initial business combination and will expire five years after the completion of the Company's initial business combination, at 5:00 p.m., New York City time, or earlier upon redemption or liquidation.

In addition, if (x) the Company issues additional shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities for capital raising purposes in connection with the closing of the initial business combination at an issue price or effective issue price of less than $9.20 per share of Class A common stock (with such issue price or effective issue price to be determined in good faith by the Company's board of directors and, in the case of any such issuance to the Company's Sponsor or its affiliates, without taking into account any Founder Shares held by the Sponsor or its affiliates, prior to such issuance) (the "Newly Issued Price"), (y) the aggregate gross proceeds from such issuances represent more than 60% of the total equity proceeds, and interest thereon, available for the funding of the initial business combination on the date of the consummation of the initial business combination (net of redemptions), and (z) the volume weighted average trading price of the Company's common stock during the 20 trading day period starting on the trading day prior to the day on which the Company consummates the initial business combination (such price, the "Market Value") is below $9.20 per share, the exercise price of the warrants will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 115% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $18.00 per share redemption trigger price described adjacent to "Redemption of warrants when the price per share of Class A common stock equals or exceeds $18.00" will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to 180% of the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price, and the $10.00 per share redemption trigger price described adjacent to the caption "Redemption of warrants when the price per share of Class A common stock equals or exceeds $10.00" will be adjusted (to the nearest cent) to be equal to the higher of the Market Value and the Newly Issued Price.

The Company will not be obligated to deliver any shares of Class A common stock pursuant to the exercise of a warrant and will have no obligation to settle such warrant exercise unless a registration statement under the Securities Act with respect to the shares of Class A common stock underlying the warrants is then effective and a prospectus relating thereto is current. No warrant will be exercisable and the Company will not be obligated to issue shares of Class A common stock upon exercise of a warrant unless Class A common stock issuable upon such warrant exercise has been registered, qualified or deemed to be exempt under the securities laws of the state of residence of the registered holder of the warrants. In no event will the Company be required to net cash settle any warrant. In the event that a registration statement is not effective for the exercised warrants, the purchaser of a Unit containing such warrant will have paid the full purchase price for the unit solely for the share of Class A common stock underlying such Unit.

Redemption of Warrants When the Price per of Class A Common Stock Equals or Exceeds $18.00

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at a price of $0.01 per warrant;
- upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption to each warrant holder; and

- if, and only if, the last reported sale price of the Class A common stock for any 20 trading days within a 30-trading day period ending three trading days before the Company sends the notice of redemption to the warrant holders (the “Reference Value”) equals or exceeds $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities).

Once the warrants become exercisable, the Company may redeem the outstanding warrants:

- in whole and not in part;
- at $0.10 per warrant upon a minimum of 30 days' prior written notice of redemption, provided that holders will be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis prior to redemption and receive that number of shares based on the redemption date and the “fair market value” of the Class A common stock (as defined below) except as otherwise described below;
- if, and only if, the Reference Value equals or exceeds $10.00 per share (as adjusted per stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities); and
- if the Reference Value is less than $18.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like and certain issuances of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities), the private placement warrants are also concurrently called for redemption on the same terms as the outstanding public warrants, as described above.

The “fair market value” of the Class A common stock for the above purpose shall mean the volume-weighted average price of our Class A common stock as reported during the ten trading days immediately following the date on which the notice of redemption is sent to the holders of warrants.

If a registration statement covering the shares of Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants is not effective by the 60th business day after the closing of the initial business combination, warrant holders may, until such time as there is an effective registration statement and during any period when the Company will have failed to maintain an effective registration statement, exercise warrants on a “cashless basis” in accordance with Section 3(a)(9) of the Securities Act or another exemption. In such event, each holder would pay the exercise price by surrendering the warrants for that number of shares of Class A common stock equal to the lesser of (A) the quotient obtained by dividing (x) the product of the number of shares of Class A common stock underlying the warrants, multiplied by the excess of the “fair market value” of the Class A common stock over the exercise price of the warrants by (y) the fair market value and (B) 0.361 per whole warrant. The “fair market value” as used in this paragraph shall mean the average last reported sale price of the Class A common stock for the ten trading days ending on the third trading day prior to the date on which the notice of exercise is received by the warrant agent. If that exemption, or another exemption, is not available, holders will not be able to exercise their warrants on a cashless basis.

Note 4 — Private Placement

Simultaneously with the closing of the Initial Public Offering, the Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 6,113,333 Private Placement Warrants at a price of $1.50 per Private Placement Warrant, for an aggregate purchase price of $9,170,000, in a private placement. A portion of the proceeds from the private placement was added to the proceeds from the Initial Public Offering held in the Trust Account.

The Private Placement Warrants will be non-redeemable in certain circumstances so long as they are held by the Sponsor or its permitted transferees. The Private Placement Warrants may also be exercised by the Sponsor and its permitted transferees for cash or on a cashless basis. Otherwise, the Private Placement Warrants have terms and provisions that are identical to those of the warrants being sold as part of the Units in the Initial Public Offering, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period. The fair value of Private Placement Warrants on the issuance date was $8,424,173.

Note 5 — Related Party Transactions

Founder Shares

On January 8, 2021, the Company's Sponsor purchased an aggregate of 7,187,500 shares of Class B common stock (the “Founder Shares”) for a capital contribution of $25,000. On March 9, 2021, the Company effected a stock dividend of 0.2 shares for each share of Class B common stock outstanding, resulting in the Sponsor holding an aggregate of 8,625,000 Founder Shares, which included an aggregate of up to 1,125,000 shares subject to forfeiture if the over-allotment option was not exercised by the underwriter in full. On March 12, 2021, the underwriter partially exercised its over-allotment option, hence, 837,500 Founder Shares were no longer subject to forfeiture. On March 15, 2021, the underwriter forfeited the remaining over-allotment option, and hence 287,500 shares of Class B common stock were subsequently forfeited.

On March 9, 2021, the Sponsor transferred 25,000 Founder Shares to each of the Company's independent directors, and 150,000 Founder Shares to Kyle Francis, the Company's Chief Financial Officer, as an inducement to serve as Officer and directors of the Company, for a sales price of $0.003 per share, or an aggregate of $450 (the "purchase price"). The transferred shares shall vest upon the Company consummating an initial business combination. In the event that a recipient ceases to serve as either an Officer or directors prior to the vesting date, the Sponsor has the option to repurchase the shares at the purchase price. The fair value of the transferred shares at March 9, 2021, was estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation model to be approximately $1.6 million in the aggregate. The Company will record the fair value of the transferred shares as Officer and director compensation expense upon consummation of an initial business combination, in accordance with the guidance in Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 718 "Compensation-Stock Compensation", which requires deferral of the expense recognition until after the performance condition is achieved, if the performance condition is a business combination or similar liquidity event. The transferred shares have the same terms and restrictions as the Founder Shares held by the Sponsor.

The Sponsor and each of the officers and directors have agreed to (i) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with the completion of the initial business combination, (ii) waive their redemption rights with respect to their Founder Shares and public shares in connection with a stockholder vote to approve an amendment to the Company's amended and restated certificate of incorporation (A) to modify the substance or timing of the Company's obligation to allow redemption in connection with an initial business combination or to redeem 100% of the public shares if the Company does not complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of this the Initial Public Offering or (B) with respect to any other material provisions relating to stockholder's rights or pre-initial business combination activity, (iii) waive their rights to liquidating distributions from the Trust Account with respect to their Founder Shares if the Company fails to complete the initial business combination within 24 months from the closing of this the Initial Public Offering or during any Extension Period, and (iv) vote any Founder Shares held by them and any public shares purchased during or after the Initial Public Offering (including in open market and privately-negotiated transactions) in favor of the Company's initial business combination.

With certain limited exceptions, the Founder Shares will not be transferable or assignable until the earlier of (A) one year after the completion of the Company's initial business combination or (B) subsequent to the Company's initial business combination, (x) if the last reported sale price of Class A common stock equals or exceeds $12.00 per share (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like) for any 20 trading days within any 30-trading day period commencing at least 150 days after the Company's initial business combination or (y) the date on which the Company completes a liquidation, merger, capital stock exchange, reorganization or other similar transaction that results in all of the Company's stockholders having the right to exchange their shares of common stock for cash, securities or other property.

Promissory Note — Related Party

On January 8, 2021, the Company issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for an aggregate of up to $300,000 to cover expenses related to the Initial Public Offering. This loan was non-interest bearing and payable on the earlier of December 31, 2021 or the completion of the Initial Public Offering. During the period from January 8, 2021 to March 12, 2021, the Company had borrowed $212,215 under the promissory note. On March 12, 2021, the Company paid the $212,215 balance on the note from the proceeds of the Initial Public Offering.

On March 6, 2023, in connection with the Special Meeting held to approve the Extension Proposal, the Sponsor deposited $150,000 into the Trust Account to fund the Extension Proposal. As repayment, the Company issued an unsecured promissory note to the Sponsor for $150,000. The promissory note bears no interest and all unpaid principal under the promissory note will be due and payable in full up upon the consummation of the AON Business Combination. As of March 31, 2023, the Company had $150,000 outstanding balance under this note.

Advances from Related Party

For the three months ended March 31, 2023, the Sponsor had advanced the Company $50,000 for working capital purposes, of which $0 was repaid during the three months ended March 31, 2023. As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the outstanding balance under the advances amounted to $50,000 and $0, respectively.

Related Party Loans

In order to finance transaction costs in connection with a business combination, the Sponsor or an affiliate of the Sponsor or certain of the Company's officers and directors may, but are not obligated to, loan the Company funds as may be required ("Working Capital Loans"). If the Company completes a business combination, the Company would repay the Working Capital Loans out of the proceeds of the Trust Account released to the Company. Otherwise, the Working Capital Loans would be repaid only out of funds held outside the Trust Account. In the event that a business combination does not close, the Company may use a portion of the working capital held outside the Trust Account to repay the Working Capital Loans but no proceeds from the Trust Account would be used to repay the Working Capital Loans. Up to $2,000,000 of such Working Capital Loans may be convertible into warrants at a price of $1.50 per warrant at the option of the lender. The warrants would be identical to the Private Placement Warrants, including as to exercise price, exercisability and exercise period. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, no Working Capital Loans were outstanding.

Note 6 — Commitments and Contingencies

Registration Rights

The holders of the Founder Shares, Private Placement Warrants, and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans (and any shares of Class A common stock issuable upon the exercise of the Private Placement Warrants and warrants that may be issued upon conversion of Working Capital Loans and upon conversion of the Founder Shares) will have certain "piggy-back" registration rights with respect to registration statements filed subsequent to the completion of the initial business combination and rights to require the Company to register for resale such securities pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act.

Underwriting Agreement

The underwriter had a 45 -day option from the date of the Initial Public Offering to purchase up to an aggregate of 4,500,000 additional Units at the public offering price less the underwriting commissions to cover over-allotments, if any. On March 12, 2021, the underwriter partially exercised the over-allotment option to purchase 3,350,000 Units, and was paid a fixed underwriting discount in aggregate of $6,670,000. On March 15, 2021, the underwriter forfeited the remaining 1,150,000 Units of the over-allotment option. The underwriters are entitled to deferred underwriting fees of 3.5% of the gross proceeds of the Initial Public Offering, or $11,672,500 in the aggregate. The deferred fee will become payable to the underwriters from the amounts held in the Trust Account solely in the event that the Company completes a business combination, subject to the terms of the underwriting agreement.

The AON Business Combination

On October 5, 2022, the Company entered into a Business Combination Agreement (as amended, the "Business Combination Agreement") with American Oncology Network, LLC ("AON").

As a result of the transactions contemplated by the Business Combination Agreement (the "AON Business Combination"), the combined company will be organized in an umbrella partnership C corporation structure, in which substantially all of the assets and the business of the combined company will be held by AON. In particular, the Business Combination Agreement provides that, upon the terms and subject to the conditions thereof, the AON Business Combination will be implemented as follows: (i) on the closing of the AON Business Combination (the "Closing"), AON will amend and restate its operating agreement (the "AON A&R LLC Agreement") to reclassify its existing Class A units, Class A-1 units and Class B units into a single class of AON common units that are later exchangeable on a one-to-one basis for shares of DTOC Class A common stock; (ii) on the Closing and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the AON A&R LLC Agreement, DTOC will amend and restate its charter (the "DTOC A&R Charter") to provide for the (a) conversion of all shares of DTOC Class B common stock into shares of DTOC Class A common stock on a one-to-one basis, (b) amendment of the terms of DTOC Class B common stock to provide holders voting rights but no economic rights and (c) authorization of new shares of DTOC preferred stock in an amount sufficient to consummate a private placement of up to $100,000,000 in preferred stock to be consummated immediately prior to the consummation of the AON Business Combination (the "PIPE Investment"); (iii) on the Closing, DTOC will consummate the PIPE Investment; and (iv) on the Closing and following the adoption of the DTOC A&R Charter and the consummation of the PIPE Investment, (a) AON will issue common units to DTOC in exchange for a combination of cash and shares of DTOC Class B common stock, (b) DTOC will be admitted as the sole managing member of AON, (c) AON will distribute shares of DTOC Class B common stock to AON equity holders, (d) AON will distribute cash equal to the preferred return set forth in the AON operating agreement to holders of AON Class A units and AON Class A-1 units (or only to holders of AON Class A units if the holder of AON Class A-1 units elects to receive additional shares of AON common units in lieu of cash as provided in the Business Combination Agreement), (e) DTOC will reserve a specified number of additional shares of DTOC Class A common stock for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients, and (f) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the AON equity holders will have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange AON common units for shares of DTOC Class A common stock.

On January 6, 2023, the Company and AON amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement (as amended, the "Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement") to provide, among other things, that the board of managers of AON following the Business Combination will consist of (a) two managers designated by holders representing more than 50% of the AON common units and (b) three managers designated by New AON. In addition, the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement provides that AON unitholders may elect to receive, in lieu of any number of shares of New AON Class B common stock to which an AON unitholder would otherwise be entitled to receive, warrants to acquire such number of shares of New AON Class B common stock, by submitting an election in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement. In connection with entering into the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement, the Company and AON also revised the form of Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement included as an exhibit to the Business Combination Agreement. The revised form of Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement includes, among other revisions, certain additions and modifications in order to reflect the changes in the AON board of managers following the completion of the Business Combination (as described above).

Sponsor Support Agreement

On October 5, 2022, contemporaneously with the execution and delivery of the Business Combination Agreement, the Company and AON entered into a support agreement (the "Sponsor Support Agreement") with the Sponsor and certain other DTOC stockholders (each a "Stockholder") pursuant to which the Stockholders have agreed to (a) vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the AON Business Combination, (b) certain transfer restrictions with respect to their shares of DTOC common stock, (c) subject a portion of their shares of DTOC common stock to vesting requirements and (d) waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protections with respect to any DTOC common stock held by such Stockholder in connection with the consummation of the AON Business Combination.

Concurrently with the execution of the Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement, the parties to the Sponsor Support Agreement have amended and restated the Sponsor Support Agreement (the "Amended and Restated Sponsor Support Agreement") to modify certain vesting conditions on the shares of New AON Class A common stock held by the Stockholders as of the closing of the Business Combination.

Registration Rights Agreement

In connection with the Closing, the Company, the Sponsor and stockholders of DTOC will enter into an Amended and Restated Registration Rights Agreement (the "Registration Rights Agreement") pursuant to which, among other things, the Company will agree to register for resale, pursuant to Rule 415 under the Securities Act, certain shares of DTOC Class A common stock and other equity securities of DTOC that are held by the parties thereto from time to time. The stockholders party thereto (or their permitted transferees) may demand underwritten offerings under certain circumstances. The Company also agreed to provide customary "piggyback" registration rights. The Registration Rights Agreement also provides that the Company will pay certain expenses relating to such registrations and indemnify the stockholders against certain liabilities.

Note 7 — Stockholders' Deficit

Preferred Stock — The Company is authorized to issue a total of 1,000,000 preferred shares at par value of $0.0001 each. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, there were no shares of preferred stock issued or outstanding.

Class A Common Stock — The Company is authorized to issue 200,000,000 shares of Class A common stock with a par value of $0.0001 per share. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, there were 10,109,569 and 33,350,000 shares issued and outstanding, including 1,847,069 and 33,350,000 shares subject to possible redemption, respectively.

Class B Common Stock — The Company is authorized to issue 20,000,000 shares of Class B common stock with a par value of $0.0001 per share. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, there were 75,000 and 8,337,500 shares issued and outstanding, respectively.

The shares of Class B common stock will automatically convert into shares of the Company's Class A common stock at the time of its initial business combination on a one-for-one basis (subject to adjustment for stock splits, stock dividends, reorganizations, recapitalizations and the like), subject to further adjustment. In the case that additional shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities are issued or deemed issued in excess of the amounts offered in the prospectus and related to the closing of the initial business combination, the ratio at which shares of Class B common stock shall convert into shares of Class A common stock will be adjusted (unless the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Class B common stock agree to waive such adjustment with respect to any such issuance or deemed issuance) so that the number of shares of Class A common stock issuable upon conversion of all shares of Class B common stock will equal, in the aggregate, on an as-converted basis, 20% of the sum of (i) the total number of all shares of common stock outstanding upon the completion of the Initial Public Offering, plus (ii) all shares of Class A common stock and equity-linked securities issued or deemed issued in connection with the initial business combination (excluding any shares of Class A common stock or equity-linked securities issued, or to be issued, to any seller in the initial business combination and any private placement equivalent warrants issued to the Sponsor or its affiliates upon conversion of loans made to the Company).

Holders of record of the Class A common stock and holders of record of the Class B common stock will vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of the Company's stockholders, with each share of common stock entitling the holder to one vote except as required by law.

Note 8 — Fair Value Measurements

The following table presents information about the Company's assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, and indicates the fair value hierarchy of the valuation inputs the Company utilized to determine such fair value:

	March 31, 2023	Quoted Prices In Active Markets (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Other Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)
Assets:
U.S. Money Market held in Trust Account	$19,036,509	$19,036,509	$ —	$ —
Liabilities:
Public Warrants Liability	$ 816,241	$ 816,241	$ —	$ —
Private Placement Warrants Liability	617,590	—	—	617,590
	$ 1,433,831	$ 816,241	$ —	$ 617,590
	December 31, 2022	Quoted Prices In Active Markets (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Other Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)
Assets:
U.S. Money Market held in Trust Account	$338,422,091	$338,422,091	$ —	$ —
Liabilities:
Public Warrants Liability	$ 500,250	$ 500,250	—	$ —
Private Placement Warrants Liability	374,833	—	—	374,833
	$ 875,083	$ 500,250	$ —	$ 374,833

The Warrants are accounted for as liabilities in accordance with ASC 815-40 and are presented within warrant liabilities on the Balance Sheets. The warrant liabilities are measured at fair value at inception and on a recurring basis, with changes in fair value presented within change in fair value of warrant liabilities in the Statements of Operations.

The Company established the initial fair value of the Public Warrants and Private Warrants on March 12, 2021, the date of the Company's Initial Public Offering using a Monte Carlo simulation model. The Company established the fair value of the Private Warrants on March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 using a Monte Carlo simulation model. The Public and Private Warrants were classified as Level 3 at the initial measurement date and the Private Warrants were classified as Level 3 at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 due to the use of unobservable inputs. As of April 30, 2021, the Public Warrants were trading separately from the Units, and the quoted market price was used to establish fair value, and the Public Warrants transferred to Level 1.

The key inputs into the Monte Carlo simulation model for the Private Warrants as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022 were as follows:

	March 31, 2023	December 31, 2022
Inputs
Probability of completing a business combination	20%	50%
Risk-free interest rate	4.80%	4.74%
Expected term remaining (years)	0.23	0.33
Expected volatility	9.8%	9.9%
Stock price	$ 10.35	$ 10.05
Dividend yield	0.00%	0.00%
Exercise price	$ 11.50	$ 11.50

The following table presents the changes in the fair value of Level 3 warrant liabilities as of March 31, 2023 and 2022:

Fair Value as of December 31, 2022	$ 374,833
Change in valuation	242,757
Fair Value as of March 31, 2023	$ 617,590
Fair Value as of December 31, 2021	$ 4,053,659
Change in valuation	(1,596,851)
Fair Value as of March 31, 2022	$ 2,456,808

Note 9 — Subsequent Events

The Company evaluated subsequent events and transactions that occurred after the balance sheet date up to the date that the unaudited condensed financial statements were issued. Based upon this review, other than as described below, the Company did not identify any subsequent events that would have required adjustment or disclosure in the unaudited condensed financial statements.

On April 20, 2023, the Company received a letter (the "Public Float Notice") from the listing qualifications department staff of The Nasdaq Stock Market LLC ("Nasdaq") notifying the Company that the Company no longer meets the minimum 500,000 publicly held shares required for continued listing on The Nasdaq Capital Market pursuant to Nasdaq Listing Rule 5550(a)(4) (the "Public Float Standard"). The Public Float Notice states that the Company has until June 5, 2023 to provide Nasdaq with a specific plan to achieve and sustain compliance with all The Nasdaq Capital Market listing requirements, including the time frame for completion of this plan. If Nasdaq does not accept the Company's plan, the Company will have the opportunity to appeal that decision to a Nasdaq Hearings Panel.

The Public Float Notice has no immediate effect on the listing of the Company's securities, and the Company's securities continue to trade on The Nasdaq Capital Market. The Company intends to provide Nasdaq prior to June 5, 2023 with the Company's plan to meet the Public Float Standard, and will evaluate available options to regain compliance with the Nasdaq continued listing standards, including potential arrangements to be made in connection with the Company's definitive business combination agreement with American Oncology Network, LLC announced by the Company on October 5, 2022. The Company believes that it will be able to comply with the Public Float Standard.

On April 27, 2023, the Company and AON amended and restated the Business Combination Agreement (as amended, the "Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement") to provide, among other things, that, prior to the closing, DTOC will commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate, an offer to employees of AON to exchange, at the election of each such employee, each outstanding AON Class B-1 unit award held by such employee for a number of new issued shares of New AON Class A common stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio (as such term is defined in the Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement).

On May 1, 2023, the Company issued a promissory note to the Sponsor pursuant to which the Company may borrow up to an aggregate principal amount of $700,000 to fund the Company's operating expenses (the "Working Capital Facility"). The Working Capital Facility bears no interest and all unpaid principal under the Working Capital Facility will be due and payable in full upon the earlier of (i) the date of the consummation of the Company's initial business combination and (ii) the date of the liquidation of the Company.

On June 6, 2023, Barclays gratuitously waived all rights to the deferred underwriting fee with respect to the AON Business Combination.

On June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC amended and restated the Third Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the merger of DTOC Merger Sub, Inc. ("Merger Sub") with and into GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the "AON Class C Preferred Investor") whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON will issue a number of shares of New AON

Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor (“AEA Growth”) in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60 million.

On June 24, 2023, the Sponsor exercised its first of three Extension Options to extend the Combination Period from June 30, 2023 to July 31, 2023, and deposited $50,000 into the Trust Account in exchange for a promissory note issued by DTOC.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Managers and Members of American Oncology Network, LLC

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of American Oncology Network, LLC and its subsidiaries (the "Company") as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss), of members' equity and of cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2022, including the related notes (collectively referred to as the "consolidated financial statements"). In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2022 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Change in Accounting Principle

As discussed in Note 3 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company changed the manner in which it accounts for leases in 2022.

Basis for Opinion

These consolidated financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's consolidated financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits of these consolidated financial statements in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB and in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK LLC
NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

($ in thousands, except share data)

1. Business

American Oncology Network, LLC (“AON LLC”, or the “Company”) was formed on February 23, 2017 and began operations in September 2018. The Company, through its subsidiary company and variable interest entities (together, “its subsidiaries”), is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders who provide comprehensive oncology services through 24 oncology practices located in Arkansas, Louisiana, Indiana, Virginia, Ohio, Nevada, Iowa, Missouri, Washington, North Carolina, Michigan, Maryland, South Carolina, Arizona, and Georgia. The Company also provides expertise in drug procurement and payor contracting, along with practice diversification through centralized laboratory and pathology services, as well as specialty pharmacy services. During the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020, respectively, the Company entered into affiliation agreements with or acquired the following oncology practices. The operations of the practices that were acquired have been included in the Company’s consolidated financial statements since the date of acquisition. The Company intends to continue to pursue additional purchases of physician practices in addition to seeking out new affiliation relationships.

(a) The Company entered into affiliation agreements with the physicians for these respective practices. The Company evaluated each of the affiliation agreements and determined that the transactions did not represent a business combination.

Business Combination Agreement

On October 5, 2022, and as amended and restated on January 6, 2023 and April 27, 2023, the Company announced that it entered into a definitive Business Combination Agreement with Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. (“DTOC”), a special purpose acquisition company (the “DTOC Transaction”). The Transaction is expected to close in the second half of 2023, subject to approval by DTOC stockholders and other customary closing conditions. The Business Combination Agreement provides for the Company to pay an $18.0 million termination fee to the Sponsor should the Company enter into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies and Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”). The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company, its wholly owned subsidiary American Oncology Management Company, LLC (“AOMC”), and its consolidated variable interest entities (“VIEs”) American Oncology Partners, P.A. (“AON Partners”), American Oncology Partners of Maryland, P.A. (“Partners of Maryland”) and AON Central Services, LLC (“Central Services”). AON Central Services, LLC was established during 2022; however, as of December 31, 2022, it had no activity. All significant intercompany accounts, related-party balances and transactions between the entities have been eliminated in consolidation.

The Company accounts for AON Partners and Partners of Maryland in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 810, Consolidations. The Company determines whether it has a controlling financial interest in an entity by first evaluating whether the entity is a VIE. A VIE is broadly defined as an entity that has any of the following three characteristics: (i) the equity investment at risk is insufficient to finance the entity's activities without additional subordinated financial support; (ii) substantially all of the entity's activities either involve or are conducted on behalf of an investor that has disproportionately few voting rights; or (iii) the equity investors as a group lack any of the following, the power through voting or similar rights to direct the activities of the entity that most significantly impact the entity's economic performance, the obligation to absorb the expected losses of the entity, or the right to receive the expected residual returns of the entity. The Company consolidates a VIE if it has both the power to direct the activities of the VIE that most significantly impact the VIE's economic performance and an obligation to absorb losses or the right to receive benefits that could potentially be significant to the VIE. Management performs ongoing reassessments of whether changes in the facts and circumstances regarding the Company's involvement with a VIE will cause the consolidation conclusion to change. Changes in consolidation status are applied prospectively, if any. The Company has contractual relationships with AON Partners and Partners of Maryland and the physician owners through management service agreements ("MSAs") and other contractual agreements to provide all practice management services outside of medical services provided by the physicians. In addition, despite not being required by the contractual relationships, the Company regularly provides funding to support AON Partners and Partners of Maryland's operations and acquisitions of physician practices.

The Company has concluded that AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are both VIEs in which the Company has the characteristics of a controlling financial interest and is deemed to be the primary beneficiary. The variable interest subjects the Company to all potential losses in the entities and, therefore, requires the Company to consolidate the results of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland in its consolidated financial statements. As noted above, Central Services is also a VIE; however, there was no activity during 2022. Refer to Note 3 for further information on the VIEs.

Accounting Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting periods. Significant estimates and assumptions are involved in the calculation of the Company's allowance for contractual adjustments and allowances for uncollectible on accounts receivable, liabilities for provider compensation, and accrued insurance claim reserves. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Segments

Operating segments are identified as components of an enterprise about which separate discrete financial information is available for evaluation by the chief operating decision-maker (the "CODM"). The Company's CODM is its chief executive officer who reviews financial information together with certain operating metrics principally to make decisions about how to allocate resources and to measure the Company's performance. The Company has one operating segment and one reportable segment that are structured around the organizational management of oncology practice operations. All revenue and assets are in the United States.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized under Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("Topic 606"). The Company determines the transaction price based upon standard charges for goods and services with anticipated consideration due from patients, third-party payors (including health insurers and government agencies) and others. The Company's revenue is primarily derived from patient service revenues, which encompass oncology services provided during patient visits and shipments of pharmacy prescriptions. Performance obligations for the Company's services provided to patients and most procedures, are satisfied over the time of visit which is the same day services are performed. Performance obligations relating to pharmacy revenue are considered fully satisfied at a point in time upon the customer receiving delivery of the prescription. Accordingly, the Company does not anticipate a significant amount of revenue from performance obligations satisfied (or partially satisfied) in previous periods, and any such revenue recognized during the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020 was immaterial.

Additionally, the Company does not expect to recognize material revenue in the future related to performance obligations that are unsatisfied (or partially satisfied) as of December 31, 2022 and 2021. Approximately $818.5 million, $683.0 million, and $542.0 million of the Company's revenues are generated from services performed during patient visits with the remainder primarily generated from shipments of pharmacy prescriptions for the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020, respectively.

As services are performed and prescriptions are shipped, billing occurs for services rendered and prescriptions shipped less discounts provided to uninsured patients and contractual adjustments to third-party payors based upon prospectively determined rates and discounted charges. Payment is requested at the time of service for self-paying patients and for patients covered by third-party payors that are responsible for paying deductibles and coinsurance.

The Company monitors revenue and receivables to prepare estimated contractual allowances for the anticipated differences between billed and reimbursed amounts. Payments from third-party payors and Government programs including Medicare and Medicaid may be subject to audit and other retrospective adjustments. Such amounts are considered on an estimated basis when net patient revenue is recorded and are adjusted as final adjustments are determined. For the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020, such resulting historic adjustments have been immaterial to the consolidated financial statements.

In assessing who is the principal in providing patient services and pharmacy prescriptions, the Company considered who controls the provision of services and prescriptions. The Company has determined they are acting as a principal in these relationships.

In April 2022, the Company entered into a long-term arrangement to sponsor and manage a clinical trial. The Company subsequently contracted with a third-party to provide the clinical research services and is the principal in this arrangement. The performance of clinical research services are considered a single performance obligation because the Company provides a highly-integrated service. Revenue is recognized for the single performance obligation over time due to the Company's right to payment for work performed to date. The contract provides for invoices based on predetermined milestones.

The Company uses the cost-to-cost measure of progress for the Company's contract because it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer as the performance obligation is fulfilled. For this method, the Company compares the contract costs incurred to date to the estimated total contract costs through completion. As part of the client proposal and contract negotiation process, the Company develops a detailed project budget for the direct costs and reimbursable costs based on the scope of the work, the complexity of the study, the geographical location involved and the Company's historical experience. The estimated total contract costs at the project level are reviewed and revised periodically throughout the life of the contract, with adjustments to revenue resulting from such revisions being recorded on a cumulative basis in the period in which the revisions are identified. Contract costs consist primarily of direct labor and other reimbursable project-related costs such as travel, third-party vendor costs and investigator fees. The Company establishes pricing based on the Company's internal pricing guidelines, discount agreements, if any, and negotiations with the client. The transaction price is the contractually defined amount. For the year ended December 31, 2022, the Company recognized revenue of $4.3 million related to the clinical trial which is included within other revenue.

In March 2020, the World Health Organization determined the resulting outbreak of COVID-19, the disease caused by this novel coronavirus, to be a pandemic. The pandemic is disrupting supply chains worldwide as national and local governments implement measures intended to slow the spread of COVID-19, with production and sales across a range of industries impacted in different ways.

On March 27, 2020, the United States enacted the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act, or CARES Act. The CARES Act is an emergency economic stimulus package that includes spending and tax breaks to strengthen the United States economy and fund a nationwide effort to curtail the effect of COVID-19. The CARES Act provides sweeping tax changes in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, some of the more significant provisions include removal of certain limitations on utilization of net operating losses, increasing the loss carryback period for certain losses to five years, increasing the ability to deduct interest expense, and deferring social security payments, as well as amending certain provisions of the previously enacted Tax Cuts and Jobs Act.

In April 2020, the Company received approximately $24.0 million of cash from government stimulus programs designed to assist small businesses during the pandemic. Of this amount, $17.2 million in advances included on the Consolidated Balance Sheet as of December 31, 2020, were received under the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) accelerated and advance payment program which is for services to be rendered and reimbursed under Medicare programs. In October 2020, as determined by the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2021 and Other Extensions Act, the recoupment period would begin one year after the date the advance payment was received, therefore recoupment began in April 2021. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, the outstanding liability was $0 and $3.7 million, respectively. Revenue recognized in the reporting period that was included in the Medicare advance payment balance at January 1, 2022 and January 1, 2021 was $3.7 million and $13.5 million, respectively. The remaining $6.8 million of the $24.0 million received was in the form of a grant from the Department of Health and Human Services and does not require repayment. As an accounting policy election, the Company utilized ASC 958 by analogy to recognize funds received under the CARES Act from the Provider Relief Fund as revenue, given no direct authoritative guidance is available to for-profit organizations to recognize revenue for government contributions and grants.

The Company has a system and estimation process for recording Medicare net patient service revenue and estimated recoupments as it relates to value-based care ("VBC") revenue included in patient service revenue on the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss). The Company's VBC revenue is primarily generated through its participation in the CMS Oncology Care Model ("OCM") which is an episode-based payment model to promote high-quality cancer care. Participants enter six-month episode periods, and the Company bills a monthly fee during the six-month period based on a fixed rate per participant per month and the total number of participants. Certain quality and compliance metrics are tracked as part of the program and submitted to CMS at the end of the episode period which may result in recoupment of funds. The Company estimates the recoupment amount by developing a recoupment percentage for each period based on historical known recoupment from CMS and applies the recoupment percentage against total fees for the period. Based on the estimate, the Company accrues a liability representing the expected final recoupments based on historical settlement trends.

Short-term Marketable Securities

Investments in marketable securities consist of corporate bonds and U.S. Treasury securities. Management determines the appropriate classification of investments at the time of purchase and reevaluates such determination at each balance sheet date. Marketable securities are classified as available-for-sale and are carried at fair value in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. The marketable securities are classified as short-term based on management's intent to convert such securities within one year and the ability to convert them within two to three days.

The Company evaluates its investments to assess whether those with unrealized loss positions were other than temporarily impaired. Impairments were considered to be other than temporary if they were related to deterioration in credit risk or if it is likely the Company will sell the securities before the recovery of their cost basis. Realized gains and losses and declines in value judged to be other than temporary were determined based on the specific identification method and reported in Interest income in the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss).

Cost of Revenue

Cost of services primarily includes chemotherapy drug costs, clinician salaries and benefits, medical supplies and clinical occupancy costs. Clinicians include oncologists, advanced practice providers such as physician assistants and nurse practitioners, and registered nurses. Specialty pharmacy costs primarily include the cost of oral medications dispensed from the specialty pharmacy including overhead costs for running a free-standing pharmacy and shipping costs to patients.

Business Combinations

The Company evaluates acquired practices in accordance with ASU 2017-01, Business Combinations (Topic 805) — Clarifying the Definition of a Business. This standard clarifies the definition of a business with the objective of adding guidance to assist entities with evaluating whether transactions should be accounted for as acquisitions or disposals of assets or businesses. Because substantially all of the value of each acquired practice did not relate to a similar group of assets and as each acquired practice contained both inputs and processes necessary to provide economic benefits to the Company, it was determined that each acquisition represents a business combination. Therefore, the transactions have been accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting, which requires, with limited exceptions, that assets acquired, and liabilities assumed be recognized at their estimated fair values as of the acquisition date. Any excess of the consideration transferred over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired is recorded as goodwill. Transaction costs related to business combinations are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with a maturity of three months or less when purchased to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents include cash or deposits with financial institutions and deposits in highly liquid money market securities. Deposits with financial institutions are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to certain defined limits. Bank deposits at times may exceed federally insured limits. The Company has not experienced any losses in these accounts.

Restricted Cash

The Company maintains certain cash balances restricted as to withdrawal or use and presented separately from Cash and cash equivalents on the Consolidated Balance Sheets. Restricted cash includes amounts held as collateral related to the Company's PNC Loan Facility (Note 10).

The following table provides a reconciliation of cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash reported within the Consolidated Balance Sheets that sum to the total of the same cash amounts shown in the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows.

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Cash and cash equivalents	$26,926	$27,354
Restricted cash	—	5,000
Total cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash shown in the statements of cash flow	$26,926	$32,354

Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable from patients are carried at the original charge for the services provided, and an adjustment is made to the receivable in a contra account based on the historical collection rate for the provider and payor combination. This adjustment takes into consideration any allowance for doubtful accounts. Management determines the allowance for uncollectible accounts based on historical experience. Concentrations of accounts receivable, net of allowances for contractual discounts and doubtful accounts, as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, are as follows:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Medicare	25%	27%
Managed Medicare	25%	21%
Other Commercial	17%	17%
BCBS	17%	16%
Managed Medicaid	8%	12%
Other	8%	7%
	100%	100%

As of December 31, 2022, December 31, 2021, and January 1, 2021, the accounts receivable, net balances were $136.1 million, $111.2 million, and $80.4 million, respectively.

Inventories

Inventories, consisting primarily of pharmaceuticals finished goods, are valued at the lower of cost or net realizable value, with cost being determined on a first-in, first-out basis. Obsolescence for inventories is estimated based on expiration dates and slow-moving inventory. No obsolescence allowances have been recorded as of December 31, 2022 and 2021. If the Company determines that an item is obsolete, or the expected net realizable value upon sale is lower than the currently recorded cost, a write-down is recorded and charged to cost of revenue to reduce the inventory to its net realizable value and a new cost basis is established. The majority of the Company's inventories are purchased from a related party (See Note 13).

Other Receivables

Other receivables consist primarily of rebates on drug purchases made in the current period which are offered as an incentive by the distributor and/or manufacturer and are not yet paid as of year-end.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets. A summary of the lives used for computing depreciation is as follows:

Leasehold improvements	1 – 15 years
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	7 years
Medical equipment	5 – 10 years
Computer equipment	5 years
Signs	7 years
Automobiles	5 years
Software	7 years

Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the shorter of their estimated useful lives or the term of the related lease, which may include one or more option renewal periods. Maintenance and repairs that do not improve service potential or extend economic life are expensed as incurred. Expenditures for major improvements and additions are capitalized. Long-lived assets to be held and used are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset group may not be recoverable. In assessing long-lived assets for impairment, assets are grouped with other assets and liabilities at the lowest level for which identifiable cash flows are largely independent of the cash flows of other assets and liabilities. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset group to the undiscounted future net cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If estimated future undiscounted cash flows are not sufficient to recover the carrying value of the assets, impairment is measured by comparing the carrying amount of the assets to the estimated fair value, obtained through appraisal or market quotations, or discounted future net cash flow estimates. The Company did not recognize any long-lived asset impairments during 2022, 2021, and 2020.

Goodwill

Goodwill arising from business combinations represents the excess of the fair value of consideration transferred over the fair value of the identifiable net assets acquired and liabilities assumed as of the acquisition date. Goodwill amounts are not amortized, but rather tested for impairment annually, on October 1, or more often if circumstances indicate that the carrying value may not be recoverable. There was no impairment of goodwill during any of the periods presented.

Leases

Effective January 1, 2022, the Company adopted ASU 2016-02, Leases and the subsequently issued supplemental and/or clarifying ASUs known as ASC Topic 842 (collectively "ASC 842") using the modified retrospective approach. See Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements below, which discusses the initial adoption of this new guidance.

The Company's lease portfolio primarily consists of office and equipment leases for its practice facilities. The Company evaluates whether a contract is or contains a lease at contract inception. A lease exists when a contract conveys to the customer the right to control the use of identified property or equipment for a period of time in exchange for consideration. The definition of a lease embodies two conditions: 1) there is an identified asset in the contract that is land or a depreciable asset (i.e., property, plant, and equipment); and 2) the customer has the right to control the use of the identified asset. ASC 842 requires a lessee to discount its unpaid lease payments using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if that rate cannot be readily determined, its incremental borrowing rate. As the Company's operating leases do not generally provide an implicit rate, the incremental borrowing rate is used based on the information available at commencement date in determining the present value of lease payments. The incremental borrowing rate for a lease is the rate of interest the Company would have to pay on a collateralized basis to borrow an amount equal to the lease payments under similar terms. The lease term for all of the Company's operating leases include the noncancellable period of the lease plus any additional periods covered by either a lessee option to extend (or not to terminate) the lease that the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise, or an option to extend (or not to terminate) the lease controlled by the lessor. Lease payments included in the measurement of the operating lease right-of-use ("ROU") assets and lease liabilities are comprised of fixed payments (including in-substance fixed payments), variable payments that depend on an index or rate, and the exercise price of a lessee option to purchase the underlying asset if the lessee is reasonably certain to exercise.

The Company elected not to recognize operating lease ROU assets and lease liabilities for all short-term leases (leases with an initial lease term of 12 months or less). The Company recognizes the lease payments associated with short-term leases as an expense over the lease term.

The operating lease ROU assets are initially measured at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for lease payments made at or before the lease commencement date, plus any initial direct costs incurred less any lease incentives received. The operating lease ROU assets are subsequently measured throughout the lease term at the carrying amount of the lease liability, plus initial direct costs, plus (minus) any prepaid (accrued) lease payments, less the unamortized balance of lease incentives received. Lease expense for lease payments is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The operating lease liabilities are initially measured at the present value of the unpaid lease payments at the lease commencement date.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for its income taxes using the asset and liability method whereby deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between the basis used for financial reporting and income tax reporting purposes. Deferred income taxes are provided based on the enacted tax rates in effect at the time such temporary differences are expected to reverse. A valuation allowance is provided for deferred tax assets if it is more likely than not that the Company will not realize those tax assets through future operations.

As limited liability companies, the Company and its consolidated subsidiary are treated as partnerships for tax purposes. For these entities, income taxes are not payable or provided for, as the Company's members are taxed individually on their interest in the Company's taxable income. AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are both C corporations for tax reporting purposes. As such, a provision and liability for income taxes related to the results of these operations have been included in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Accounting for uncertainty in income taxes prescribes a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken, or expected to be taken, in a tax return.

Concentration of Credit Risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and accounts receivable. Although certain cash accounts exceed the federally insured deposit amount, management has not previously experienced nonperformance by any financial institution.

Equity-Based Compensation

The Company measures the compensation cost of all equity awards at the estimated fair value of the award on the date of grant and records the related expense in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss) on a straight-line basis over the applicable service period. The Company uses an option pricing method to value its common stock. This method allocates the fair value of total equity to the various components of equity based on an estimated liquidity event. This option pricing method first values the Company at the enterprise level, and then values breakpoints based on the liquidation preferences of the Class A, Class A-1, and Class B units. An allocation of total equity (enterprise value) is then performed to the various equity components based on the relative rights and privileges of each class of equity. The Company was assisted by third-party valuation experts to apply the above models to calculate the fair value estimate. Forfeitures are accounted for as they occur.

Debt Issuance Costs

Debt issuance costs consist of legal fees and other professional services and are capitalized. Debt issuance costs are presented in the Consolidated Balance Sheets as a direct deduction from the carrying value of the associated debt liability and amortized to interest expense in the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss). The costs related to the term loans are amortized using the straight-line method, which approximates the effective interest method, over the terms of the related debt. The amortization related to the debt issuance costs included in interest expense within the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss) was $0.6 million in 2022, $0.4 million in 2021, and immaterial in 2020.

Offering Costs

The Company defers specific incremental costs directly attributable to proposed offerings of securities. These costs consist of legal, accounting, and other similar expenses incurred through the balance sheet date that are directly related to a potential offering. If the offering is completed, these costs will be charged against the gross proceeds of the offering. These offering costs will be allocated to the separable financial instruments issued in the transaction on a relative fair value basis of the securities issued, compared to total proceeds received. Offering costs associated with any instruments classified as liabilities will be expensed as incurred, presented as non-operating expenses in the Consolidated Statement of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss). At December 31, 2022, the Company had incurred approximately $0.3 million of offering costs which are included in other assets in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheets.

Professional Liability

The Company maintains insurance policies for exposure to professional malpractice insurance risk. The limits of malpractice insurance provide each physician/advanced practice provider with a dedicated $1.0 million limit per claim and a $3.0 million limit in the aggregate per policy period — on a first dollar basis, as no deductible applies. The policy further then extends coverage to the Company, by providing a $2.0 million limit per claim and a $4.0 million limit in the aggregate per policy period — on a first dollar basis, additionally, as no deductible applies. Reserves are established for estimates of the loss that will ultimately be incurred on claims that have been reported but not paid and claims that have been incurred but not reported. These reserves are established based on consultation with a third-party actuary. The actuarial valuations consider a number of factors, including historical claims payment patterns, changes in case reserves and the assumed rate of increase in healthcare costs. Management believes the use of actuarial methods to account for these reserves provides a consistent and effective way to measure these subjective accruals. However, due to the sensitive nature of this estimation technique, recorded reserves could differ from ultimate costs related to these claims due to changes in claims reporting, claims payment and] settlement practices and differences in assumed future cost increases. Accrued unpaid claims and expenses that are expected to be paid within the next twelve months are classified as current liabilities and included in accrued other. All other accrued unpaid claims and expenses are classified as long-term liabilities and included in other long-term liabilities. Insurance recoveries associated with the unpaid claims are classified as long-term assets included in other assets.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in the principal or most advantageous market in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, receivables, accounts payable, other current liabilities, and accrued interest approximate fair value due to their short-term nature.

Accounting guidance establishes a three-level hierarchy, which requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. The valuation hierarchy is based upon the transparency of inputs to the valuation of an asset or liability on the measurement date. The three levels are defined as follows:

- Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for an identical asset or liability in an active market.
- Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for a similar asset or liability in an active market or model-derived valuations in which all significant inputs are observable for substantially the full term of the asset or liability.
- Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value measurement of the asset or liability.

Assets and liabilities are classified in their entirety based on the lowest level of input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The Company's assessment of the significance of a particular input to the fair value measurement requires judgment and may affect the placement of assets and liabilities being measured within the fair value hierarchy. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, there were no Level 3 financial instruments.

Earnings Per Unit

The Company has three classes of member units — Class A, Class A-1, and Class B. The Class A and A-1 are considered common units as they have substantially similar rights. The Class B units represent profits interests and are a participating security as these units may share in distributions, subject to a Distribution Threshold, under certain circumstances as defined in the Company's Operating Agreement.

Basic net income (loss) per unit attributable to common members is computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted-average number of common units outstanding during each reporting period. Diluted net income (loss) per unit attributable to common members includes the effect, if any, from the potential exercise or conversion of securities, such as convertible preferred units and options, which would result in the issuance of incremental common units. For diluted net income (loss) per unit, the weighted-average number of common units is the same as the Company does not have any dilutive instruments.

The Company follows the two-class method when computing net income (loss) per units as the Company has units that meet the definition of participating securities. The two-class method determines net income (loss) per unit for each class of common and participating securities according to dividends declared or accumulated and participation rights in undistributed earnings. The two-class method requires income available to common members for the period to be allocated between common and participating securities based upon their respective rights to receive dividends as if all income for the period had been distributed. The Class B units do not have an obligation to share in losses, therefore in periods of net loss, the numerator is not impacted by Class B participation.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

On January 1, 2022, the Company adopted ASU 2016-02, "Leases" (Topic 842), using the modified retrospective approach for leases that existed on January 1, 2022. ASC 842 requires lessees to recognize assets and liabilities for most leases.

The Company elected to adopt the leasing package of practical expedients, which provides for not retroactively reassessing: i) any expired or existing contracts containing leases under the new definition of a lease; ii) the lease classification for any expired or existing leases; and iii) initial direct costs for any expired or existing leases. The Company also elected to adopt practical expedients around land easements and the combination of lease and non-lease components for its real estate leases. These practical expedients were applied consistently to all applicable leases.

Upon adoption of ASC 842, the Company recorded an initial adjustment to the opening balance sheet of $44.4 million to operating ROU assets, ($1.2) million to prepaid expenses and other current assets, $8.0 million to current portion of operating lease liabilities, $38.0 million to long-term operating lease liabilities, $2.5 million in ROU assets and lease liabilities related to the Company's finance leases; and $2.8 million to other long-term liabilities. The impact of ASC 842 was not material to the Consolidated Statement of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss).

In March 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020-04, "Reference Rate Reform", which provides temporary optional guidance to companies impacted by the transition away from the London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBOR"). The guidance provides certain expedients and exceptions to applying GAAP in order to lessen the potential accounting burden when contracts, hedging relationships, and other transactions that reference LIBOR as a benchmark rate are modified. The guidance is effective as of March 12, 2020 through December 31, 2022. In February 2022, the Company amended its PNC Loan Facility whereby it is no longer referenced to LIBOR as the benchmark rate. The Company has no other contracts or transactions benchmarked to LIBOR.

In December 2019, the FASB issued ASU No. 2019-12, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Simplifying the Accounting for Income Taxes (ASU 2019-12), which simplifies the accounting for income taxes (Topic 740) by removing exceptions related to the incremental approach for intraperiod tax allocations, the requirement to recognize a deferred tax liability for certain equity method investments, the ability not to recognize a deferred tax liability for a foreign subsidiary when a foreign equity method investment becomes a subsidiary, and the general methodology for calculating income taxes in an interim period when a year-to-date loss exceeds the anticipated loss for the year. The amendments in ASU 2019-12 also simplify the accounting for income taxes by requiring that an entity recognize a franchise tax that is partially based on income as an income-based tax and account for any incremental amount incurred as a non-income-based tax, requiring that an entity evaluate when a step up in the tax basis of goodwill should be considered part of the business combination, specifying that an entity is not required to allocate deferred tax expense to a legal entity that is not subject to tax, requiring that an entity reflect the effect of an enacted change in tax laws or rates in the interim period that includes the enactment date, and minor codification improvements for income taxes related to employee stock ownership plans. The Company adopted the provisions of ASU 2019-12 effective January 1, 2022. The adoption of this pronouncement had no material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, "Financial Instruments — Credit Losses" ("ASU 2016-13"). ASU 2016-13 requires entities to report "expected" credit losses on financial instruments and other commitments to extend credit rather than the current "incurred loss" model. These expected credit losses for financial assets held at the reporting date are to be based on historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts. This ASU will also require enhanced disclosures relating to significant estimates and judgments used in estimating credit losses, as well as the credit quality. ASU 2016-13 is effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2022. The Company is currently evaluating the impact that this standard will have on the consolidated financial statements.

In October 2021, the FASB issued ASU 2021-08, "Business Combinations: Accounting for Contract Assets and Contract Liabilities from Contracts with Customers", which provides that an acquirer must recognize, and measure contract assets and contract liabilities acquired in a business combination in accordance with ASC 606. The guidance is effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2023, with early adoption permitted. The Company does not expect the adoption of this standard to have a material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.

3. Variable Interest Entities

AOMC is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company and neither AOMC nor the Company has ownership interest in AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. Both AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are fully owned by a physician. The Company operates its physician practices through the MSAs and other contractual agreements between AOMC, AON Partners, and Partners of Maryland. The responsibilities of AOMC include, but are not limited to negotiating provider and payor contracts, employment and compensation decisions, billing and collections, furnishing all supplies and equipment necessary for the respective practice's operations as well as, necessary real estate, contracting on behalf of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland, entering into leases, holding a power of attorney to perform the above activities, preparing, maintaining and administering all accounting records (including financial reporting), expense payment, and maintenance of all information systems/software. The Company is paid a management fee to compensate AOMC for the services provided.

Based on various quantitative and qualitative factors, including assessment of certain services performed and relationships held above, management has determined that AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are both variable interest entities and AOMC is the primary beneficiary who holds the decision-making rights over the activities that most significantly impact AON Partners and Partners of Maryland's economic performance through the MSAs and other contractual agreements. Accordingly, the results of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland have been consolidated with the Company for the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020.

The assets of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, are as follows:

Assets	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Cash and cash equivalents	$ 26,844	$ 24,074
Accounts receivable	136,098	111,183
Inventories	36,476	34,529
Property and equipment, net	—	108
Prepaid expenses and other current assets	846	374
Goodwill and intangibles, net	180	180
Other receivables	28,139	24,950
Other assets	1,489	1,241
Total assets	$230,072	$196,639

The liabilities of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland as of December 31, 2022 and 2021, are as follows:

Liabilities	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Accounts payable	$102,783	$ 89,275
Accrued compensation and benefits	6,021	6,504
Accrued other	15,926	9,346

Other long-term liabilities	452	81
Due to AON and subsidiaries, net	128,204	102,090
Total liabilities	$253,386	$211,038

All intercompany transactions and balances with the VIEs are eliminated in consolidation.

4. Business Combinations

2022 Acquisitions

During the year ended December 31, 2022, the Company entered into a purchase agreement acquiring control of Northern Arizona Hematology and Oncology on January 1, 2022 for an aggregate purchase price of less than $0.1 million. Because the acquisition of Northern Arizona Hematology and Oncology was on the first day of the fiscal period, AON's results for the year ended December 31, 2022 include the results of the acquired practice.

2021 Acquisitions

During 2021 the Company entered into Asset Purchase Agreements ("Transactions") acquiring control of four (4) oncology practices. The Transactions allow the Company to expand domestic reach related to its comprehensive oncology and practice management services. As described in Note 2, the Company evaluated each of the Transactions and determined each acquisition represents a business combination. This standard also establishes principles and requirements for how the acquirer recognizes and measures in its financial statements the identifiable assets and goodwill acquired, the liabilities assumed, and any noncontrolling interest in the acquiree. ASC 805 also determines what information to disclose to enable users of the financial statements to evaluate the nature and financial effects of the business combination.

In connection with each of the Transactions, the Company acquired 100% of both the clinical and nonclinical assets of the respective seller. The clinical assets, acquired by AON Partners, primarily consist of medical supplies and drugs. Nonclinical assets, acquired by AOMC, primarily consist of tangible fixed assets and equipment. The following table summarizes the amounts of the assets acquired and consideration transferred recognized on respective acquisition dates disclosed in Note 1, the accounting for which is completed as of December 31, 2022. For the table below, the Company has presented the acquired locations collectively.

	2021 Acquired Locations
Purchase consideration
Cash transferred upon closing	$ 3,215
Assumed capital lease liabilities	1,097
Total consideration transferred	4,312
Net assets acquired
Inventories	2,211
Other assets	180
Property and equipment	1,371
Total net assets acquired	3,762
Amount assigned to goodwill	$ 550

2020 Acquisitions

During 2020 the Company entered into Transactions acquiring control of six (6) oncology practices. As described in Note 2, the Company evaluated each of the Transactions and determined each acquisition represents a business combination. This standard also establishes principles and requirements for how the acquirer recognizes and measures in its financial statements the identifiable assets and goodwill acquired, the liabilities assumed, and any noncontrolling interest in the acquiree. ASC 805 also determines what information to disclose to enable users of the financial statements to evaluate the nature and financial effects of the business combination.

In connection with each of the Transactions, the Company acquired 100% of both the clinical and nonclinical assets of the respective seller. The clinical assets, acquired by AON Partners, primarily consist of medical supplies and drugs. Nonclinical assets, acquired by AOMC, primarily consist of tangible fixed assets and equipment. The following table summarizes the amounts of the assets acquired and consideration transferred recognized on respective acquisition dates disclosed in Note 1. For the table below, the Company has presented the acquired locations collectively.

	2020 Acquired Locations
Purchase consideration
Cash transferred upon closing	$ 435
Issuance of note payable	621
Non-cash settlement	654
Total consideration transferred	1,710
Net assets acquired
Inventories	834
Property and equipment	360
Prepays	16
Total net assets acquired	1,210
Amount assigned to goodwill	$ 500

The following table presents revenue and net income for the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020, respectively, as if the fiscal 2022 acquisition had occurred as of January 1, 2021, the fiscal 2021 acquisitions had occurred as of January 1, 2020, and the fiscal 2020 acquisitions had occurred as of January 1, 2019.

The unaudited pro forma consolidated financial information is provided for informational purposes only and is not necessarily, and should not be assumed to be, an indication of the results that would have been achieved had the transactions been completed as of the dates indicated or that may be achieved in the future. The Company did not have any material, nonrecurring pro forma adjustments directly attributable to the business combinations included in the reported pro forma revenue and net income.

	Pro Forma
	Year Ended December 31,
	2022	2021	2020
Revenue	$1,149,670	$1,033,187	$951,182
Net income	$ 2,589	$ 1,289	$ 22,381

From the dates of acquisition through December 31, 2022, December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020, revenue attributable to 2022, 2021, and 2020 acquired businesses was $22.9 million, $55.7 million, and $63.1 million, respectively. It was impracticable to determine the effect on the Company's net income (loss) of the acquired businesses as their operations have been integrated into the Company's ongoing operations since the dates of acquisition.

In connection with each of the Transactions, the Company executed employment agreements with the selling physicians to become employees of AON Partners and/or Partners of Maryland. Additionally, for each transaction the Company and selling physicians entered into a separate unwind agreement granting each other a unilateral option that may be exercised by either party and effectively returns the acquired business to the selling physicians if exercised. In the event the Company or seller exercise their unwind rights, the selling physicians are required to repay the original purchase price for the assets that were sold in the Transactions plus any assets that were acquired after the Transactions, less any accumulated depreciation or amortization with respect to the assets. The selling physicians are also required to assume all contracts associated with their practice. Additionally, in the event of unwind, the selling physicians are entitled to any severance amounts that are due to them under their employment agreement with AON Partners and their employment is terminated on the unwind date. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, no liability has been recorded related to the unwind agreements as neither the Company nor any selling physicians have exercised their unwind rights and therefore no payments are considered probable to the selling physicians.

5. Fair Value Measurements

The following table summarizes the Company's financial assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis:

	As of December 31, 2022			Estimated Fair Value
	Amortized Cost	Gross Unrealized Gains	Gross Unrealized Losses
Cash equivalents⁽¹⁾
Level 1:
Money market funds	$ 109	$ —	$ —	$ 109
Marketable securities
Level 2:
Corporate bonds	7,742	6	(125)	7,623
U.S. Treasury securities	2,226	6	(4)	2,228
Level 2 total	9,968	12	(129)	9,851
Total	$ 10,077	$ 12	$ (129)	$ 9,960

(1) Included in cash and cash equivalents in the Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2022

The Company uses quoted prices in active markets for identical assets to determine the fair value of its Level 1 investments. The fair value of Level 2 investments is determined using pricing based on quoted market prices or alternative market observable inputs.

The fair value of the Company's marketable securities as of December 31, 2022, by remaining contractual maturities, were as follows:

	As of December 31, 2022
	Corporate Bonds	U.S. Treasury Securities	Total
Due within one year	$ 3,660	$ 1,073	$4,733
Due within one to five years	3,963	1,155	5,118
Total	$ 7,623	$ 2,228	$9,851

6. Inventories

Inventories consisted of the following at December 31, 2022 and 2021:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Intravenous drugs	$25,674	$28,897
Oral pharmaceuticals	10,802	5,632
Total inventories	$36,476	$34,529

7. Other Receivables

Other receivables consisted of the following at December 31, 2022 and 2021:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Rebates receivable	$27,955	$24,950
Other	246	128
Total other receivables	$28,201	$25,078

8. Property and Equipment, Net

Property and equipment, net, consisted of the following at December 31, 2022 and 2021:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Leasehold improvements	$ 26,076	$ 23,744
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	2,669	2,346
Medical equipment	11,003	8,811
Computer equipment	3,115	2,713
Signs	129	117
Automobiles	69	69
Software	4,834	4,036
Construction-in-progress	1,433	1,445
	49,328	43,281
Accumulated depreciation and amortization	(17,348)	(10,633)
Property and equipment, net	$ 31,980	$ 32,648

For the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021 and 2020, depreciation expense was approximately $6.7 million, $6.1 million, and $3.7 million, respectively, and is included in general and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss).

Construction-in-progress consists primarily of capital expenditures on new physician practice facilities which have not yet been opened and improvements to existing practice facilities which are not complete at year-end.

9. Accrued Other

Accrued other consisted of the following at December 31, 2022 and 2021:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
Refund liability	$14,544	$ 8,306
Deferred social security taxes – COVID	378	378
Current portion of finance lease liability	425	—
Other	2,453	5,108
Total accrued other	$17,800	$13,792

10. Long-term Debt

Debt consisted of the following at December 31, 2022 and 2021:

	As of December 31,
	2022	2021
PNC Facility	$81,250	$65,000
Total	81,250	65,000

Credit Facilities

Truist Term Loans and Revolver

In connection with the acquisition of various physician practice assets, the Company entered into Truist Term Loans, all of which have identical underlying terms and provisions. The Term Loans are seven-year loans and require interest only payments for the first two years of the term. For the remaining five years, monthly principal and interest payments are required in amounts sufficient to fully amortize the principal at maturity. The Truist Term Loans may be prepaid in whole or in part at any time without penalty.

On August 31, 2018, the Company entered into a one-year revolving line of credit agreement (“Truist Revolver”) for $10.0 million maturing on August 31, 2019. On April 22, 2019, the Company executed the first amendment to the Truist Revolver which increased the revolving credit limit to $27.0 million and extended the maturity date to April 20, 2020. The Truist Revolver requires monthly interest only payments with the outstanding principal balance due at maturity. The original base interest rate was the one-month LIBOR rate plus an applicable margin of 1.30%.

The Truist Term Loans and Revolver were collateralized by substantially all assets of the Company and guaranteed on a limited basis by the Class A members of the Company and shareholder of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. In addition, the Company was required to maintain certain financial covenants under these loan agreements relating to debt service coverage and levels of tangible net worth.

On April 20, 2020, the Company modified the arrangement and received an extension of the Truist Revolver from April 20, 2020 to June 4, 2020. On June 4, 2020, the Company received an extension of the Truist Revolver from June 4, 2020 to July 4, 2020. On July 4, 2020, the Company received an extension of the Truist Revolver from July 4, 2020 to September 4, 2020.

On September 4, 2020, the Company modified the arrangement and entered into an Amended and Restated Loan Agreement (“Restated Truist Revolver”), which reduced the bank’s commitment from $27.0 million to $10.0 million, extended the maturity date to September 3, 2021 and increased the interest rate on all amounts outstanding under the Revolver to the greater of LIBOR plus an applicable margin of 3.60% or 4.35%. All other provisions and warranties of the credit agreement remained unchanged. There were no borrowings outstanding at December 31, 2021.

PNC Loan Facility

On April 30, 2021 the Company entered into a Loan Facility with PNC (“PNC Loan Facility”) collateralized by the Company’s assets and outstanding patient accounts receivable. The PNC Loan Facility is guaranteed on a limited basis by the Company and shareholder of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. $34.6 million of proceeds from the PNC Loan Facility was used to pay off the Truist Term Loans and Truist Revolver. The remaining funds were made available for working capital and acquisition of additional physician practices.

The PNC Loan Facility is interest-only with total principal due at maturity on April 30, 2024. Interest accrues at one-month LIBOR or an alternate base rate plus 1.45%. The maximum balance of the PNC Loan Facility (“Borrowing Base”) is limited to the lesser of the Facility Limit ($65.0 million) or the fair value of the Company’s patient accounts receivable. The Company must maintain a balance of the lesser of the Borrowing Base or 65% of the Facility Limit in the first year and 75% of the Facility Limit in subsequent years (“minimum funding threshold”). The Company can repay the PNC Loan Facility up to the minimum funding threshold at any time without penalty. In accordance with the PNC Loan Facility, the Company pledged $10.0 million of collateral as restricted cash to be released quarterly in increments of $2.5 million. The Company had $5.0 million of restricted cash related to the Loan facility as of December 31, 2021. The restricted cash was fully released as of December 31, 2022.

On April 30, 2021, the Company entered into a $5.0 million revolving line of credit agreement (“PNC Line of Credit”). The PNC Line of Credit has an expiration date of April 30, 2024 and bears interest at a rate per annum equal to the sum of the daily LIBOR rate plus 1.65% or an alternate base rate plus .65% and is due on the first day of each month beginning June 1, 2021. Any outstanding principal and accrued interest will be due on the expiration date. Beginning July 1, 2021, quarterly bank fees equal to 1.65% per day per annum will be due in arrears and will continue on the first day of each quarter thereafter. All debt related to the PNC Line of Credit is collateralized by the Company's assets. The Company is also subject to 0.20% unused line fee calculated per annum on the unused balance of the PNC Line of Credit.

On July 29, 2021, the Company amended the PNC Loan Facility increasing the Facility Limit to $75.0 million. On February 14, 2022, the Company further amended the PNC Facility and PNC Line of Credit agreements. The primary changes included an increase of the PNC Facility limit from $75.0 million to $125.0 million, an increase of the PNC Line of Credit availability from $5.0 million to $10.0 million, interest charges to be calculated based on the Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index plus 1.65% and certain financial covenants. As part of the amendment, the Company drew an additional $16.3 million in proceeds under the PNC Loan Facility. On August 15, 2022, the PNC Loan Facility and PNC Line of Credit agreements were amended again to reduce the availability under the PNC Line of Credit from $10.0 million to $1.0 million. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, no draws had been made on the PNC Line of Credit.

Effective November 23, 2022, the Company entered into Waiver and Amendment No. 6 ("Waiver and Amendment") under its PNC Facility Loan as the Company was not in compliance with the Delinquency Ratio financial covenant for the period ending October 31, 2022 and the requirement to provide certain annual financial statements. The Waiver and Amendment waives each event of default and also revised future delinquency percentages and financial statement requirements.

The PNC Loan Facility and PNC Line of Credit nonfinancial covenants include restrictions related to unpermitted property liens and the requirement of audited financial statements. Both agreements also contain several financial covenants, including the following ratios: accounts receivable default, delinquency, dilution, days sales outstanding, leverage, and fixed charge coverage. As of December 31, 2022, the Company was in compliance with all financial and nonfinancial debt covenants as required by both loan agreements.

The Company paid approximately $0.3 million and $1.1 million, respectively in debt issuance costs in connection with the Loan Facility in 2022 and 2021 which are being amortized to interest expense on a straight-line basis over the life of the various agreements. The Company recorded a loss on extinguishment of the debt issuance costs on the Truist Term Loans and Revolver in the amount of approximately $0.1 million in 2021.

Interest expense on long-term debt in 2022, 2021, and 2020, including amortization of debt issuance costs, was $3.4 million, $1.4 million, and $1.1 million, respectively.

11. Members' Equity

The economic interests of the members in the Company are represented by units consisting of Class A, Class A-1, and Class B membership units and the Company is authorized to issue an unlimited number of each class of units. The Amended and Restated Limited Liability Company Agreement ("Amended LLC Agreement") dated October 20, 2017 specifies the members' rights and obligations relating to contributions, distributions, allocation of income and loss and other matters.

Class A units

All Class A units are entitled to one vote per unit. The Class A units represent a percentage interest in the Company determined by subtracting all of the Class B units' interests. However, the Class A units' percentage shall not be less than 70%. There were 7,725 Class A units outstanding at December 31, 2022 and 2021 from an initial contribution of capital of $7.7 million.

Class A-1 units

In March 2020, the Company entered into the Second Amended and Restated Limited Liability Agreement ("Second Amended LLC Agreement"). The Second Amended LLC Agreement established another class of equity, Class A-1 units, of which 730 units were issued to the Class A-1 Member upon the contribution of capital of $30.0 million. The Class A-1 Member is an affiliate of the Company's largest supplier of oncology products. The Class A-1 units have rights similar to Class A units including one vote per unit; however, the Second Amended LLC Agreement now provides for a cumulative, annually-compounded, unguaranteed, preferred return of 8.0% on Class A capital contributions and 4.0% on Class A-1 capital contributions. The Company paid an investment banking firm a fee of $1.5 million in connection with the closing of this transaction. The $30.0 million capital contribution less brokerage fees of $1.5 million is included as a net capital contribution of $28.5 million in the Consolidated Statements of Members' Equity and Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows.

Class B units

Class B units are issued through the 2017 Profits Interest Plan adopted by the Company in October 2017. The Class B units are available to be granted to certain employees to promote the long-term growth and profitability of the Company and represent profits interest awards. Awards vest over a two-to-five-year period based on anniversary date for certain employees and cliff vest on the fifth anniversary date for certain other employees. All awards vest immediately upon a change in control of the Company. All unvested awards expire upon a grantee's termination of employment. A grantee has no ability to put the award back to the Company absent a distribution or liquidation event. Class B units have no voting rights.

In March 2020, the Company entered into the Second Amended LLC Agreement and in connection with the admission of the Class A-1 Member, the Company restructured the waterfall, and removed the 30% collar on the Class B Units. In order to effectuate these changes, the Company adopted the Second Amended LLC Agreement and a new capital table which, assigned new numbers of Class B units based on their percentage interest relative to the Class A Members by 101 units. The changes to the capital table were expressly called out and approved by the Class A Members and Class B Members in their Signature Pages and Joinders to the Second Amended LLC Agreement.

Aggregate equity-based compensation expense recorded for the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020 related to the Class B units was $20 thousand and is reflected in the carrying value of the Class B Units on the Consolidated Balance Sheets as of December 31, 2022 and 2021. Compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2022 and unrecognized compensation expense related to unvested units was not material. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, 2,322 Class B Units were outstanding and 1,918 Class B Units were vested. No Class B Units were issued, vested or forfeited during the year ended December 31, 2022.

12. Income Taxes

The income tax expense (benefit) in 2022, 2021, and 2020 consisted of the following:

	Year Ended December 31,

As of December 31, 2022, the Company had federal and state net operating loss ("NOL") carryforwards of $25.4 million and $26.8 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2021, the Company had federal and state NOL carryforwards of $20.1 million and $20.5 million, respectively. The federal NOL carryforwards can be carried forward indefinitely and the state NOL carryforwards begin to expire in 2028.

During the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Company recorded an increase in the valuation allowance of $2.2 million and $3.0 million, respectively. The increase is primarily related to additional tax losses generated during the year.

As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, there are no liabilities related to uncertain tax positions. The Company recognizes interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax liabilities as a component of income tax expense, if any. The Company recognized no material interest and penalties during the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020 and had no accrued interest or penalties as of December 31, 2022 and 2021.

The Company files income tax returns in the U.S. Federal jurisdiction and various state and local jurisdictions. The U.S. Federal and state and local tax returns are subject to examination for years 2019 and later. The Company does not currently have any open audits.

13. Related Parties

Transactions Notes Receivable

The Company entered into promissory notes with physicians of the Company. The notes receivable balances are satisfied through cash payments or settlements through the physicians' compensation as part of their employee agreement. The notes receivable are amortized over a 60-month period as a reduction of compensation. The notes bear interest at the Company's incremental borrowing rate (1.57% at December 31, 2022 and 1.55% at December 31, 2021).

Leases

The Company has operating leases for office facilities owned by employees of the Company. Total cash paid for leases to related parties for the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021, and 2020 was approximately $2.5 million, $2.3 million and $6.8 million, respectively.

Inventory Purchases/Concentration Risk

The Company purchases the majority of its pharmaceuticals inventory from a subsidiary under common control of the Class A-1 Member, which made an equity investment in AON in 2020. During the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021 and 2020, the Company purchased approximately $924.0 million, $731.0 million, and $574.0 million, respectively, from the related party. These purchases were approximately 88%, 83% and 88% as a percentage of cost of revenue for the years ended December 31, 2022, 2021 and 2020, respectively. At December 31, 2022 and 2021, the Company had $102.1 million and $88.8 million, respectively, included in accounts payable for invoices from the related party, representing 96% of total accounts payable at each balance sheet date.

14. Leases

The Company currently leases office facilities and equipment for its practices under noncancelable operating and financing lease agreements expiring on various dates through 2032. Certain of the leases contain renewal options which are exercisable at the Company's discretion. These renewal options are considered in determining the lease term if it is reasonably certain that the Company will exercise such options. Additionally, the Company leases certain other office and medical equipment under month-to-month lease agreements.

Leases for ten of the Company's facilities are controlled by related parties as of December 31, 2022. See Note 13. As of December 31, 2022, the operating ROU assets, net and lease liabilities related to these properties were $13.1 million and $13.5 million, respectively.

Right-of-use assets and lease liabilities consist of the following at December 31, 2022:

Total rent expense prior to the adoption of ASC 842 for the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020 was approximately $16.2 million and $11.3 million, respectively, which is primarily included in cost of revenues on the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss).

15. Commitments and Contingencies

Florida Cancer Specialists Service

In October 2017, the Company entered into a Services Agreement ("Agreement") with Florida Cancer Specialists, P.L. ("FCS"). FCS provides certain medical services and practice management and administration services to the various physician practices. These services include but are not limited to insurance billing, collections, accounts payable, purchasing, payroll processing, and compliance and coding support. The initial agreement has a five-year term which renews annually unless either party terminates with twelve months written notice. Fees for services are based on a percentage of full-time equivalent ("FTE") revenue, as defined, subject to a maximum percentage per FTE at defined revenue levels. For the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020, AON Partners and Partners of Maryland collectively incurred costs of approximately $4.7 million and $18.7 million, respectively, related to this Agreement which are included in general and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Income (Loss). As additional security for payments under the Agreement, AON LLC deposited $1.0 million with FCS. During 2021, the agreement was terminated, and the Company settled with FCS.

Contingencies

The Company, through its arrangements with certain contracts, is subject to the Medicare and Medicaid fraud and abuse laws which prohibit, among other things, any false claims, or any bribe, kick-back or rebate in return for the referral of Medicare and Medicaid patients. Violation of these prohibitions may result in civil and criminal penalties and exclusion from participation in the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Management has implemented policies and procedures they believe will assure that the Company is in substantial compliance with these laws. From time to time, the Company may receive requests for information from government agencies pursuant to their regulatory or investigational authority. Such requests can include subpoenas or demand letters for documents to assist the government in audits or investigations. Management believes that the outcome of any of these investigations would not have a material adverse effect on the Company.

Laws and regulations governing the Medicare program are complex and subject to interpretation. The Company believes that it is complying in all material respects with all applicable laws and regulations and is not aware of any pending or threatened investigations involving allegations of potential wrongdoing that would have a material effect on the Company's consolidated financial statements. Compliance with such laws and regulations can be subject to future government review and interpretation, as well as significant regulatory action including fines, penalties, and exclusion from the Medicare Program.

The Company and its affiliates are subject to various legal proceedings and claims arising in the normal course of their business. In the opinion of management, the amount of the ultimate liability, if any, with respect to these lawsuits and claims will not have a material effect on the consolidated financial statements of the Company.

16. Professional Liability Insurance

The Company has purchased claims-made professional liability insurance coverage through December 31, 2022 and 2021, covering up to $1.0 million per incident and $1.0 million in annual aggregate for each physician and covering up to $2.0 million per incident and $4.0 million in the aggregate at the entity level. The policy does not require a deductible per incident. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the gross malpractice insurance recovery balance was $2.2 million and $1.0 million, respectively, and the malpractice insurance reserve liability balance totaled $3.7 million and $2.2 million, respectively. The Company has a net tail liability of approximately $1.6 million and $1.1 million, respectively, for claims arising from incidents prior to December 31, 2022 and 2021 that are not yet reported as of December 31, 2022 and 2021.

17. Earnings (Loss) Per Unit

The Company computes Earnings (Loss) Per Unit of Class A, Class A-1 and Class B Units using the two-class method. The Class A and A-1 Units are considered common units as they have substantially similar rights. The Class B Units represent profits interests and are a participating security as these units may share in distributions, subject to a Distribution Threshold, under certain circumstances as defined in the Company's Operating Agreement. The Class A and Class A-1 Units are entitled to receive preferred returns, so the first step in the Earnings (Loss) Per Unit calculation distributes those preferred amounts to Class A and Class A-1 Units to determine the undistributed net income (loss) for the period. After the preferred returns are satisfied, the undistributed earnings for each period are then allocated on a proportionate basis of ownership between the Class A, Class A-1 and Class B Units based on their contractual participation rights as if all earnings for the period had been distributed. The Class B Units do not share in losses with the Class A and Class A-1 Units based on their distribution threshold, therefore losses are not allocated to the Class B Units.

The calculation of both basic and diluted earnings (loss) per unit for the periods indicated below was as follows:

	Year Ended December 31,

18. Subsequent Events

The Company has evaluated subsequent events through April 27, 2023, the date these consolidated financial statements were available to be issued and has determined that the following subsequent event requires disclosure in the consolidated financial statements.

On February 28, 2023, AON entered into a term sheet with a third-party institutional investor contemplating, on a non-binding basis, an aggregate investment by such investor of at least $65.0 million in the form of newly issued convertible preferred securities, to be consummated concurrently with the closing of the DTOC Transaction.

AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK, LLC
NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)
($ in thousands, except share data)

1. Business

American Oncology Network, LLC ("AON LLC" or the "Company"), through its subsidiary company and variable interest entities (together, "its subsidiaries"), is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders who provide comprehensive oncology services through 30 oncology practices located in Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana, Indiana, Virginia, Ohio, Nevada, Iowa, Missouri, Washington, North Carolina, Michigan, Maryland, South Carolina, Arizona, Idaho, and Georgia. The Company also provides expertise in drug procurement and payor contracting, along with practice diversification through centralized laboratory and pathology services, as well as specialty pharmacy services. During the three months ended March 31, 2022, the Company entered into affiliation agreements with or acquired the following oncology practices.

Three Months Ended March 31, 2022
	State	Effective Date
Location 23	Arizona	1/1/2022
Location 24	Georgia ^(a)	1/1/2022
Location 25	Louisiana ^(a)	1/17/2022

- (a) The Company entered into affiliation agreements with the physicians for these respective practices. The Company evaluated each of the affiliation agreements and determined that the transactions did not represent a business combination.

There were no acquisitions or affiliation agreements entered into during the three months ended March 31, 2023. The operations of the practices that were acquired have been included in the Company's condensed consolidated financial statements since the date of acquisition. The Company intends to continue to pursue additional purchases of physician practices in addition to seeking out new affiliation relationships.

Business Combination Agreements

On October 5, 2022, and as amended and restated on January 6, 2023, and as further amended and restated on April 27, 2023 and June 14, 2023 (see Note 12), the Company announced that it entered into a definitive Business Combination Agreement ("Business Combination") with Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp. ("DTOC"), a special purpose acquisition company. The transaction is expected to close in the first half of 2023, subject to approval by DTOC stockholders and other customary closing conditions. The Business Combination Agreement provides for the Company to pay an $18.0 million termination fee to the Sponsor should the Company enter into a definitive agreement with another party providing for an alternative business combination transaction.

2. Basis of Presentation and Significant Accounting PoliciesBasis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of the Company were prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") for interim financial information and in accordance with the rules and regulations of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") regarding interim financial reporting. Certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP have been condensed or omitted pursuant to such rules and regulations, although the Company believes that the disclosures are adequate to make the information presented not misleading. Management believes the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements for the interim periods presented contain all necessary adjustments, of a normal recurring nature, to state fairly, in all material respects, the Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the interim periods presented. These condensed consolidated financial statements were prepared on the same basis as and should be read in conjunction with the Company's annual consolidated financial statements. Operating results for the three months ended March 31, 2023 are not necessarily indicative of the results the Company expects for the entire year.

The condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company, its wholly owned subsidiary American Oncology Management Company, LLC ("AOMC"), and its consolidated variable interest entities ("VIEs") American Oncology Partners, P.A. ("AON Partners"), American Oncology Partners of Maryland, P.A. ("Partners of Maryland"), AON Central Services, LLC ("AON Central Services"), and Meaningful Insights Biotech Analytics, LLC ("MIBA"). MIBA was established during the first quarter of 2023; however, as of March 31, 2023, it had no activity. All significant intercompany accounts, related-party balances and transactions between the entities have been eliminated in consolidation.

The Company accounts for AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 810, Consolidations. The Company determines whether it has a controlling financial interest in an entity by first evaluating whether the entity is a VIE. A VIE is broadly defined as an entity that has any of the following three characteristics: (i) the equity investment at risk is insufficient to finance the entity's activities without additional subordinated financial support; (ii) substantially all of the entity's activities either involve or are conducted on behalf of an investor that has disproportionately few voting rights; or (iii) the equity investors as a group lack any of the following, the power through voting or similar rights to direct the activities of the entity that most significantly impact the entity's economic performance, the obligation to absorb the expected losses of the entity, or the right to receive the expected residual returns of the entity. The Company consolidates a VIE if it has both the power to direct the activities of the VIE that most significantly impact the VIE's economic performance and an obligation to absorb losses or the right to receive benefits that could potentially be significant to the VIE. Management performs ongoing reassessments of whether changes in the facts and circumstances regarding the Company's involvement with a VIE will cause the consolidation conclusion to change. Changes in consolidation status are applied prospectively, if any. The Company has contractual relationships with AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services and the physician owners through management service agreements ("MSAs") and other contractual agreements to provide all practice management services outside of medical services provided by the physicians. In addition, despite not being required by the contractual relationships, the Company regularly provides funding to support AON Partners and Partners of Maryland's operations and acquisitions of physician practices. AON Central Services was formed July 15, 2022 and, effective January 1, 2023, entered into an agreement with AOMC to provide qualified non-clinical and non-medical employees to AOMC to support the operation of the physician practices.

The Company has concluded that AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services are all VIEs in which the Company has the characteristics of a controlling financial interest and is deemed to be the primary beneficiary. The variable interest subjects the Company to all potential losses in the entities and, therefore, requires the Company to consolidate the results of AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services in its condensed consolidated financial statements. As noted above, MIBA is also a VIE; however, there was no activity during the first quarter of 2023. Refer to Note 3 for further information on the VIEs.

Significant Accounting Policies

The accounting policies included below should be read in conjunction with the annual consolidated financial statements.

Accounting Estimates and Assumptions

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting periods. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Segments

Operating segments are identified as components of an enterprise about which separate discrete financial information is available for evaluation by the chief operating decision-maker (the "CODM"). The Company's CODM is its chief executive officer who reviews financial information together with certain operating metrics principally to make decisions about how to allocate resources and to measure the Company's performance. The Company has one operating segment and one reportable segment that are structured around the organizational management of oncology practice operations. All revenue and assets are in the United States.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized under Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2014-09 Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("Topic 606"). The Company determines the transaction price based upon standard charges for goods and services with anticipated consideration due from patients, third-party payors (including health insurers and government agencies) and others. The Company's revenue is primarily derived from patient service revenues, which encompass oncology services provided during patient visits and shipments of pharmacy prescriptions. Performance obligations for the Company's services provided to patients and most procedures, are satisfied over the time of visit which is the same day services are performed. Performance obligations relating to pharmacy revenue are considered fully satisfied at a point in time upon the customer receiving delivery of the prescription. Accordingly, the Company does not anticipate a significant amount of revenue from performance obligations satisfied (or partially satisfied) in previous periods, and any such revenue recognized during the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022 was immaterial. Additionally, the Company does not expect to recognize material revenue in the future related to performance obligations that are unsatisfied (or partially satisfied) as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022. Approximately $214.3 million and $186.4 million of the Company's revenues are generated from services performed during patient visits with the remainder primarily generated from shipments of pharmacy prescriptions for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

As services are performed and prescriptions are shipped, timely billing occurs for services rendered and prescriptions shipped less discounts provided to uninsured patients and contractual adjustments to third-party payors based upon prospectively determined rates and discounted charges. Payment is requested at the time of service for self-paying patients and for patients covered by third-party payors that are responsible for paying deductibles and coinsurance.

The Company monitors revenue and receivables to prepare estimated contractual allowances for the anticipated differences between billed and reimbursed amounts. Payments from third-party payors and Government programs including Medicare and Medicaid may be subject to audit and other retrospective adjustments. Such amounts are considered on an estimated basis when net patient revenue is recorded and are adjusted as final adjustments are determined. For the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, such resulting historic adjustments have been immaterial to the condensed consolidated financial statements.

In assessing who is the principal in providing patient services and pharmacy prescriptions, the Company considered who controls the provision of services and prescriptions. The Company has determined they are acting as a principal in these relationships.

In April 2022, the Company entered into a long-term arrangement to sponsor and manage a clinical trial. The Company subsequently contracted with a third-party to provide the clinical research services and is the principal in this arrangement. The performance of clinical research services are considered a single performance obligation because the Company provides a highly-integrated service. Revenue is recognized for the single performance obligation over time due to the Company's right to payment for work performed to date. The contract provides for invoices based on predetermined milestones.

The Company uses the cost-to-cost measure of progress for the Company's contract because it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer as the performance obligation is fulfilled. For this method, the Company compares the contract costs incurred to date to the estimated total contract costs through completion. As part of the client proposal and contract negotiation process, the Company develops a detailed project budget for the direct costs and reimbursable costs based on the scope of the work, the complexity of the study, the geographical location involved and the Company's historical experience. The estimated total contract costs at the project level are reviewed and revised periodically throughout the life of the contract, with adjustments to revenue resulting from such revisions being recorded on a cumulative basis in the period in which the revisions are identified. Contract costs consist primarily of direct labor and other reimbursable project-related costs such as travel, third-party vendor costs and investigator fees. The Company establishes pricing based on the Company's internal pricing guidelines, discount agreements, if any, and negotiations with the client. The transaction price is the contractually defined amount. Revenue related to the clinical trial, which is included within other revenue, was less than $0.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2023.

The Company has a system and estimation process for recording Medicare net patient service revenue and estimated recoupments as it relates to value-based care ("VBC") revenue included in patient service revenue on the condensed consolidated statement of operations and comprehensive income. The Company's VBC revenue is primarily generated through its participation in the CMS Oncology Care Model ("OCM") which is an episode-based payment model to promote high-quality cancer care. Participants enter six-month episode periods, and the Company bills a monthly fee during the six-month period based on a fixed rate per participant per month and the total number of participants. Certain quality and compliance metrics are tracked as part of the program and submitted to CMS at the end of the episode period which may result in recoupment of funds. The Company estimates the recoupment amount by developing a recoupment percentage for each period based on historical known recoupment from CMS and applies the recoupment percentage against total fees for the period. Based on the estimate, the Company accrues a liability representing the expected final recoupments based on historical settlement trends.

Short-term Marketable Securities

Investments in marketable securities consist of corporate bonds and U.S. Treasury securities.

Management determines the appropriate classification of investments at the time of purchase and reevaluates such determination at each balance sheet date. Marketable securities are classified as available-for-sale and are carried at fair value in the consolidated balance sheets. The marketable securities are classified as short-term based on management's intent to convert such securities within one year and the ability to convert them within two to three days.

Certain of our available-for-sale securities are debt securities. For an available-for-sale debt security with an amortized cost that exceeds its fair value, the Company first determines if it intends to sell or will more-likely-than-not be required to sell the security before the expected recovery of its amortized cost. If it intends to sell or will more-likely-than-not be required to sell the security, then the Company recognizes the impairment as a credit loss in the Consolidated Statements of Operations and Comprehensive Loss by writing down the security's amortized cost to its fair value. If it does not intend to sell or it is not more-likely-than-not that it will be required to sell the security before the expected recovery of its amortized cost, the Company recognizes the portion of the impairment that is due to a credit loss, if any, in the condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss through an allowance. The portion of the impairment that is due to factors other than a credit loss is recognized in Other comprehensive income (loss) in the condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss as an unrealized loss.

Equity Investment in Affiliate

In January 2023, the Company contributed noncash consideration, with a fair value of approximately $2.3 million, in return for a 49% equity interest in OCP Management Arizona, LLP. Investments in entities over which the Company has the ability to exercise significant influence but does not control the entity are accounted for using the equity method. Equity method investments are included with Other Assets in the condensed consolidated balance sheets. The carrying amount of the investment is adjusted to reflect the Company's proportionate share of the net earnings or losses and reduced by any dividends received.

Business Combinations

The Company evaluates acquired practices in accordance with ASU 2017-01, Business Combinations (Topic 805) — Clarifying the Definition of a Business. This standard clarifies the definition of a business with the objective of adding guidance to assist entities with evaluating whether transactions should be accounted for as acquisitions or disposals of assets or businesses. Because substantially all of the value of each acquired practice did not relate to a similar group of assets and as each acquired practice contained both inputs and processes necessary to provide economic benefits to the Company, it was determined that each acquisition represents a business combination. Therefore, the transactions have been accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting, which requires, with limited exceptions, that assets acquired, and liabilities assumed be recognized at their estimated fair values as of the acquisition date. Any excess of the consideration transferred over the estimated fair values of the net assets acquired is recorded as goodwill. Transaction costs related to business combinations are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

Offering Costs

The Company defers specific incremental costs directly attributable to proposed offerings of securities. These costs consist of legal, accounting, and other similar expenses incurred through the balance sheet date that are directly related to a potential offering. If the offering is completed, these costs will be charged against the gross proceeds of the offering. These offering costs will be allocated to the separable financial instruments issued in the transaction on a relative fair value basis of the securities issued, compared to total proceeds received. Offering costs associated with any instruments classified as liabilities will be expensed as incurred, presented as non-operating expenses in the consolidated statement of operations and comprehensive loss. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company had incurred approximately $0.8 million and $0.3 million of offering costs, respectively, which are included in other assets in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

Professional Liability

The Company maintains insurance policies for exposure to professional malpractice insurance risk. The limits of malpractice insurance provide each physician/advanced practice provider with a dedicated $1.0 million limit per claim and a $3.0 million limit in the aggregate per policy period — on a first dollar basis, as no deductible applies. The policy further then extends coverage to the Company, by providing a $2.0 million limit per claim and a $4.0 million limit in the aggregate per policy period — on a first dollar basis, additionally, as no deductible applies. Reserves are established for estimates of the loss that will ultimately be incurred on claims that have been reported but not paid and claims that have been incurred but not reported. These reserves are established based on consultation with a third-party actuary. The actuarial valuations consider a number of factors, including historical claims payment patterns, changes in case reserves and the assumed rate of increase in healthcare costs. Management believes the use of actuarial methods to account for these reserves provides a consistent and effective way to measure these subjective accruals. However, due to the sensitive nature of this estimation technique, recorded reserves could differ from ultimate costs related to these claims due to changes in claims reporting, claims payment and settlement practices and differences in assumed future cost increases. Accrued unpaid claims and expenses that are expected to be paid within the next twelve months are classified as current liabilities and included in accrued other. All other accrued unpaid claims and expenses are classified as long-term liabilities and included in other long-term liabilities. Insurance recoveries associated with the unpaid claims are classified as long-term assets included in other assets.

Earnings Per Unit

The Company has three classes of member units — Class A, Class A-1, and Class B. The Class A and A-1 are considered common units as they have substantially similar rights. The Class B units represent profits interests and are a participating security as these units may share in distributions, subject to a Distribution Threshold, under certain circumstances as defined in the Company's Operating Agreement.

Basic net income (loss) per unit attributable to common members is computed by dividing net income (loss) by the weighted-average number of common units outstanding during each reporting period. Diluted net income (loss) per unit attributable to common members includes the effect, if any, from the potential exercise or conversion of securities, such as convertible preferred units and options, which would result in the issuance of incremental common units. For diluted net income (loss) per unit, the weighted-average number of common units is the same as the Company does not have any dilutive instruments.

The Company follows the two-class method when computing net income (loss) per units as the Company has units that meet the definition of participating securities. The two-class method determines net income (loss) per unit for each class of common and participating securities according to dividends declared or accumulated and participation rights in undistributed earnings. The two-class method requires income available to common members for the period to be allocated between common and participating securities based upon their respective rights to receive dividends as if all income for the period had been distributed. The Class B units do not have an obligation to share in losses, therefore in periods of net loss, the numerator is not impacted by Class B participation.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-13, "Financial instruments — Credit Losses" ("ASU 2016-13"). ASU 2016-13 requires entities to report "expected" credit losses on financial instruments and other commitments to extend credit rather than the current "incurred loss" model. These expected credit losses for financial assets held at the reporting date are to be based on historical experience, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts. This ASU will also require enhanced disclosures relating to significant estimates and judgments used in estimating credit losses, as well as the credit quality. ASU 2016-13 is effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2022. ASU 2016-13 was adopted by the Company effective January 1, 2023 with no material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

In October 2021, the FASB issued ASU 2021-08, "Business Combinations: Accounting for Contract Assets and Contract Liabilities from Contracts with Customers", which provides that an acquirer must recognize, and measure contract assets and contract liabilities acquired in a business combination in accordance with ASC 606. The guidance is effective for the Company for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2023, with early adoption permitted. The Company does not expect the adoption of this standard to have a material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.

3. Variable Interest Entities

AOMC is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company and neither AOMC nor the Company has ownership interest in AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. Both AON Partners and Partners of Maryland are fully owned by physicians. The Company operates its physician practices through the MSAs and other contractual agreements between AOMC, AON Partners, and Partners of Maryland. The responsibilities of AOMC include, but are not limited to negotiating provider and payor contracts, employment and compensation decisions, billing and collections, furnishing all supplies and equipment necessary for the respective practice's operations as well as, necessary real estate, contracting on behalf of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland, entering into leases, holding a power of attorney to perform the above activities, preparing, maintaining and administering all accounting records (including financial reporting), expense payment, and maintenance of all information systems/software. The Company is paid a management fee to compensate AOMC for the services provided. AON Central Services is 80% physician owned and 20% owned by AON LLC. AOMC entered into an agreement with AON Central Services, effective January 1, 2023, to provide qualified non-clinical and non-medical employees to AOMC to support the operation of the physician practices. AOMC pays a monthly management fee to AON Central Services equal to the aggregate cost of compensation, benefits and all other costs related to these employees.

Based on various quantitative and qualitative factors, including assessment of certain services performed and relationships held above, management has determined that AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services are all variable interest entities and AOMC is the primary beneficiary who holds the decision-making rights over the activities that most significantly impact AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services' economic performance through the MSAs and other contractual agreements. Accordingly, the results of AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services have been consolidated with the Company for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022. The assets of AON Partners, Partners of Maryland and AON Central Services as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, are as follows:

4. Business Combinations

2022 Acquisitions

During the three months ended March 31, 2022, the Company entered into a purchase agreement acquiring control of Northern Arizona Hematology and Oncology on January 1, 2022 for an aggregate purchase price of less than $0.1 million. Because the acquisition of Northern Arizona Hematology and Oncology was on the first day of the fiscal period, AON LLC's results for the three months ended March 31, 2022 includes the results of the acquired practice.

In connection with each of the Company's business combinations (the "Transactions"), the Company executed employment agreements with the selling physicians to become employees of AON Partners and/or Partners of Maryland. Additionally, for each transaction the Company and selling physicians entered into a separate unwind agreement granting each other a unilateral option that may be exercised by either party and effectively returns the acquired business to the selling physicians if exercised. In the event the Company or seller exercise their unwind rights, the selling physicians are required to repay the original purchase price for the assets that were sold in the Transaction plus any assets that were acquired after the Transaction, less any accumulated depreciation or amortization with respect to the assets. The selling physicians are also required to assume all contracts associated with their practice. Additionally, in the event of unwind, the selling physicians are entitled to any severance amounts that are due to them under their employment agreement with AON Partners and their employment is terminated on the unwind date. As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, no liability has been recorded related to the unwind agreements as neither the Company nor any selling physicians have exercised their unwind rights and therefore no payments are considered probable to the selling physicians.

5. Fair Value Measurements

The following table summarizes the Company's financial assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis:

Credit Facilities

On April 30, 2021, the Company entered into a Loan Facility with PNC (“PNC Loan Facility”) collateralized by the Company’s assets and outstanding patient accounts receivable. The PNC Loan Facility is guaranteed on a limited basis by the Company and shareholder of AON Partners and Partners of Maryland. $34.6 million of proceeds from the PNC Loan Facility was used to pay off the Company’s previous term loans and revolver with Truist Bank. The remaining funds were made available for working capital and acquisition of additional physician practices.

The PNC Loan Facility is interest-only with total principal due at maturity on April 30, 2024. Interest originally accrued at one-month LIBOR or an alternate base rate plus 1.45%. The maximum balance of the PNC Loan Facility (“Borrowing Base”) is limited to the lesser of the Facility Limit ($65.0 million) or the fair value of the Company’s patient accounts receivable. The Company must maintain a balance of the lesser of the Borrowing Base or 65% of the Facility Limit in the first year and 75% of the Facility Limit in subsequent years (“minimum funding threshold”). The Company can repay the PNC Loan Facility up to the minimum funding threshold at any time without penalty. In accordance with the PNC Loan Facility, the Company pledged $10.0 million of collateral as restricted cash to be released quarterly in increments of $2.5 million. The restricted cash was fully released as of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022.

On April 30, 2021, the Company entered into a $5.0 million revolving line of credit agreement (“PNC Line of Credit”). The PNC Line of Credit has an expiration date of April 30, 2024 and originally bore interest at a rate per annum equal to the sum of the daily LIBOR rate plus 1.65% or an alternate base rate plus 0.65% and is due on the first day of each month beginning June 1, 2021. Any outstanding principal and accrued interest will be due on the expiration date. Beginning July 1, 2021, quarterly bank fees equal to 1.65% per day per annum are due in arrears and will continue on the first day of each quarter thereafter. All debt related to the PNC Line of Credit is collateralized by the Company’s assets. As of March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, no draws had been made on the PNC Line of Credit. The Company is also subject to a 0.20% unused line fee calculated per annum on the unused balance of the PNC Line of Credit.

On July 29, 2021, the Company amended the PNC Loan Facility increasing the Facility Limit to $75.0 million. On February 14, 2022, the Company further amended the PNC Facility and Line of Credit agreements. The primary changes included an increase of the Facility limit from $75.0 million to $125.0 million, an increase of the PNC Line of Credit availability from $5.0 million to $10.0 million, interest charges to be calculated based on the Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index plus 1.65% and certain financial covenants. As part of the amendment, the Company drew an additional $16.3 million in proceeds under the Loan Facility. On August 15, 2022, the PNC Facility and Line of Credit agreements were amended again to reduce the availability under the PNC Line of Credit from $10.0 million to $1.0 million.

Effective November 23, 2022, the Company entered into Waiver and Amendment No. 6 ("Waiver and Amendment") under its PNC Facility Loan as the Company was not in compliance with the Delinquency Ratio financial covenant for the period ending October 31, 2022 and the requirement to provide certain annual financial statements. The Waiver and Amendment waives each event of default and also revised future delinquency percentages and financial statement requirements.

The PNC Loan Facility and PNC Line of Credit nonfinancial covenants include restrictions related to unpermitted property liens and the requirement of audited financial statements. Both agreements also contain several financial covenants, including the following ratios: accounts receivable default, delinquency, dilution, days sales outstanding, leverage, and fixed charge coverage. As of March 31, 2023, the Company was in compliance with all financial and nonfinancial debt covenants as required by both loan agreements.

8. Income Taxes

The Company's effective tax rate was 0% and 0% for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The effective income tax rate for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022 differed from the federal statutory rate primarily due to certain legal entities in the Company's structure being treated as partnerships for income tax purposes and, therefore, not being subject to income tax. All corporate entities within the Company's structure continue to maintain a full valuation allowance against their net deferred tax assets.

9. Leases

The Company currently leases office facilities and equipment for its practices under noncancelable operating and financing lease agreements expiring on various dates through 2033. Certain of the leases contain renewal options which are exercisable at the Company's discretion. These renewal options are considered in determining the lease term if it is reasonably certain that the Company will exercise such options. Additionally, the Company leases certain other office and medical equipment under month-to-month lease agreements.

Right-of-use assets and lease liabilities consist of the following at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022:

10. Related Parties

Transactions Notes Receivable

The Company entered into promissory notes with physicians of the Company. The notes receivable balances are satisfied through cash payments or settlements through the physicians' compensation as part of their employee agreement. The notes receivable are amortized over a 60-month period as a reduction of compensation. The notes bear interest at the Company's incremental borrowing rate (1.57% at March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, respectively).

Leases

The Company has operating leases for ten of the office facilities owned by employees of the Company. Total cash paid for leases to related parties for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022 was approximately $0.7 million and $0.6 million, respectively.

Inventory Purchases/Concentration Risk

The Company purchases the majority of pharmaceuticals inventory from a subsidiary under common control of its Class A-1 Member. During the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, the Company purchased approximately $243.0 million and $208.0 million, respectively, from the related party. These purchases were approximately 87% and 84% as a percentage of cost of revenue for the three months ended March 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. At March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company had $105.8 million and $102.1 million, respectively, included in accounts payable for invoices from the related party, representing 95% and 96% of accounts payable, respectively.

11. Earnings per Unit

The Company computes Earnings (Loss) Per Unit of Class A, Class A-1 and Class B Units using the two-class method. The Class A and A-1 Units are considered common units as they have substantially similar rights. The Class B Units represent profits interests and are a participating security as these units may share in distributions, subject to a Distribution Threshold, under certain circumstances as defined in the Company's Operating Agreement. The Class A and Class A-1 Units are entitled to receive preferred returns, so the first step in the Earnings (Loss) Per Unit calculation distributes those preferred amounts to Class A and Class A-1 Units to determine the undistributed net income (loss) for the period. After the preferred returns are satisfied, the undistributed earnings for each period are then allocated on a proportionate basis of ownership between the Class A, Class A-1 and Class B Units based on their contractual participation rights as if all earnings for the period had been distributed. The Class B Units do not share in losses with the Class A and Class A-1 Units based on their distribution threshold, therefore losses are not allocated to the Class B Units.

The calculation of both basic and diluted earnings per unit for the periods indicated below was as follows:

12. Subsequent Events and Other Matters

In preparing these condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through June 14, 2023, the date the condensed consolidated financial statements were available to be issued.

On June 7, 2023, AON sold 2,459 AON Class C Units at an aggregate purchase price of $65.0 million to a single investor, net of $0.5 million of offering costs. The investor has an option to purchase an additional 378 AON Class C units until the closing of the Business Combination at a purchase price of $26,423 per unit. In connection with this investment, AON amended and restated its operating agreement, to among other things, create and issue 2,459 AON Class C units.

On June 14, 2023, AON and DTOC amended and restated the Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement to provide for, among other things, the merger of DTOC MergerSub, Inc. ("Merger Sub") with and into GEF AON Holdings Corp. (the "AON Class C Preferred Investor") whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub will cease and New AON (defined as American Oncology Network Inc. (f/k/a Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp.) and its consolidated subsidiaries, after giving effect to the Business Combination) will issue a number of shares of New AON Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of AON Series A preferred units held by the AON Class C Preferred Investor to AEA Growth Management LP, the parent of AON Class C Preferred Investor ("AEA Growth") in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by AEA Growth in the AON Class C Preferred Investor, the merger of the AON Class C Preferred Investor with and into New AON, the reclassification and exchange of the AON Class C Units, including any accrued interest thereon, for AON Series A preferred units at the Per Company Class C Unit Exchange Ratio, the issuance of the New AON Series A Preferred Stock to AEA Growth in exchange for the shares of common stock of the AON Class C Preferred Investor, and the removal of the minimum cash requirement of $60.0 million included in the Business Combination Agreement.

THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED BUSINESS COMBINATION AGREEMENT

THIS THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED BUSINESS COMBINATION AGREEMENT (this "Agreement") is made and entered into as of June 7, 2023, by and among Digital Transformation Opportunities Corp., a Delaware corporation ("Acquiror"), American Oncology Network, LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the "Company"), GEF AON Holdings Corp., a Delaware corporation (the "C Preferred Investor"), and DTOC Merger Sub, Inc., a Delaware corporation and a direct, wholly owned Subsidiary of Acquiror ("Merger Sub"). Acquiror and the Company are collectively referred to herein as the "Parties" and individually as a "Party."

RECITALS

WHEREAS, Acquiror and the Company entered into that certain Business Combination Agreement (the "Original Agreement"), dated as of October 5, 2022 (the "Original Agreement Date");

WHEREAS, Acquiror and the Company entered into that certain Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement (the "First Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement"), dated as of January 6, 2022, amending and restating the terms of the Original Agreement;

WHEREAS, Acquiror and the Company entered into that certain Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement (the "Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement"), dated as of April 27, 2023, amending and restating the terms of the First Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement;

WHEREAS, the Parties, the C Preferred Investor and Merger Sub now desire to further amend and restate the Second Amended and Restated Business Combination Agreement by entering into this Agreement on the terms and conditions set forth herein;

WHEREAS, Acquiror is a blank check company incorporated in Delaware and formed to acquire one or more operating businesses through a business combination;

WHEREAS, prior to the date of this Agreement, the Company has issued to employees of the Company (as set forth on Exhibit F hereto) (the "Company Employees"), which includes certain employees of the Company that are Practice Profit Pool Holders (such Practice Profit Pool Holder recipients, the "Class B-1 Practice Profit Pool Holder Recipients") awards of Company Class B-1 Units, representing additional Company Class B-1 Units in the amounts set forth on Exhibit F, that shall vest only upon consummation of the Closing (each such award, a "Company Class B-1 Unit Award");

WHEREAS, prior to adoption of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement, Acquiror shall commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the effectiveness of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement, an offer (together with any mandatory exchange contemplated by such offer, a "Company Class B-1 Unit Award Exchange Offer") to the Company Employees, which includes the Class B-1 Practice Profit Pool Holder Recipients to exchange, at the election of each such Company Employee, each outstanding Company Class B-1 Unit Award held by each such Company Employee for a number of newly issued shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock equal to the applicable Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio (as defined below);

WHEREAS, on or prior to the date of this Agreement, the Company has issued Company Class C Units to the C Preferred Investor;

WHEREAS, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein, on the Closing Date and immediately prior to the Closing, the Company shall amend and restate the Company LLC Agreement to be substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement"), pursuant to which each of the outstanding Company Class A Units, Company Class A-1 Units and Company Class B Units will be reclassified into a single class of limited liability company units (the "Company Common Units") and each of the outstanding Company Class C Units will be exchanged for a number of Company Series A Preferred Units equal to the greater of (x) the number of Company Common Units issuable upon conversion of each of the Company Class C Units held by the C Preferred Investor pursuant to the Company LLC Agreement as of the Closing, multiplied by the Per Company Unit

Exchange Ratio, and (y) the aggregate Class C Liquidation Preference (as defined in the Company LLC Agreement) per Company Class C Unit as of Closing divided by 10 (the "Company Class C Units Consideration").

WHEREAS, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein, on the Closing Date, Acquiror shall, subject to obtaining the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, (i) adopt the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation, pursuant to which, among other things, (a) all outstanding and issued shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock will convert into shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock, (b) the terms of the Acquiror Class B Common Stock shall be amended to provide that all holders thereof shall have the right to vote on all matters submitted to holders of Acquiror Common Stock but no economic rights, and (c) new shares of Acquiror Preferred Stock shall be authorized in an amount sufficient for the consideration issued pursuant to the First Merger and (ii) file the Certificate of Designations in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit G pursuant to which Acquiror shall create and designate the Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock;

WHEREAS, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein, on the Closing Date and following the adoption of the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation and the filing of the Certificate of Designation, (a) the Company shall issue Company Common Units to Acquiror in exchange for a combination of cash and consideration consisting of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock, Acquiror Class B Warrants, or a combination of the foregoing, (b) the Company shall be managed as set forth in Section 2.01 of the Agreement, (c) the Company shall distribute shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock and/or Acquiror Class B Warrants, as applicable, to the Company Equityholders; (d) Acquiror shall reserve a number of shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock equal to the Adjusted Practice Profit Pool Amount (as defined below) for issuance after the Closing to eligible recipients; (e) Merger Sub shall merge with and into the C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub shall cease and Acquiror shall issue a number of shares of Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of Company Series A Preferred Units held by the C Preferred Investor to the C Preferred Parent Investor in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by the C Preferred Parent Investor in the C Preferred Investor (the "First Merger"); (f) promptly after the First Merger, the C Preferred Investor shall merge with and into Acquiror whereby the separate existence of the C Preferred Investor shall cease and Acquiror shall hold all the Company Series A Preferred Units (the "Second Merger" and, together with the First Merger, the "Mergers" and, collectively, the "Business Combination"); and (g) from and after the Closing (but subject to lock-up restrictions), the Company Equityholders shall have the right (but not the obligation) to exchange Company Common Units for shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock;

WHEREAS, the Board of Managers of the Company (the "Company Board") has (i) determined that the Business Combination and the other Transactions are in the best interests of the Company and its members and declared it advisable to enter into this Agreement, (ii) approved this Agreement and the Transactions on the terms and subject to the conditions of this Agreement, and (iii) adopted a resolution recommending to its members approval of this Agreement and the Transactions (the "Company Board Recommendation");

WHEREAS, the board of directors of Acquiror (the "Acquiror Board") has (i) determined that the Business Combination and the other Transactions are in the best interests of Acquiror and the stockholders of Acquiror and declared it advisable to enter into this Agreement, (ii) approved this Agreement and the Transactions on the terms and subject to the conditions of this Agreement, and (iii) adopted a resolution recommending to its stockholders the Transaction Proposals (the "Acquiror Board Recommendation");

WHEREAS, concurrently with the execution of this Agreement, the Sponsor, its Affiliates and certain stockholders of Acquiror have entered into the Amended and Restated Sponsor Support Agreement (the "Sponsor Agreement") to, among other things, (i) vote in favor of, and take all actions necessary to consummate, the Transactions, (ii) lockup their shares of Acquiror, (iii) provide the Company with reasonable notice of any material sell-down transaction, (iv) subject a portion of their shares to vesting requirements and (v) waive and not otherwise perfect any anti-dilution or similar protection with respect to any Acquiror Common Stock held by the Sponsor at the applicable date (i.e., the Sponsor will be diluted as a result of the First Merger to the same extent as the other Acquiror stockholders); and

WHEREAS, prior to the execution of this Agreement and as a material inducement to the willingness of Acquiror to enter into this Agreement, the Company has delivered to Acquiror an irrevocable written consent (the "Company Written Consent") executed by a sufficient number of holders of Pre-C Company Units necessary to approve the Original Agreement, the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement and the Transactions in accordance with the Company LLC Agreement and applicable Law (the "Company Equityholder Approval").

NOW, THEREFORE, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I CERTAIN DEFINITIONS

Section 1.01 Definitions. For purposes of this Agreement, the following capitalized terms have the following meanings:

Section 1.03 Equitable Adjustments. If, between the Original Agreement Date and the Closing, the outstanding Pre-C Company Units or Acquiror Common Stock shall have been changed into a different number of shares or a different class, by reason of any stock or stock dividend, subdivision, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization, split, combination or exchange shares, or any similar event shall have occurred, then any number, value (including dollar value) or amount contained herein which is based upon the number of Pre-C Company Units or Acquiror Common Stock, then such shares of stock, as applicable, will be appropriately adjusted to provide to the holders of Pre-C Company Units and Acquiror Common Stock, as applicable, the same economic effect as contemplated by this Agreement prior to such event; provided, however, that this Section 1.03 shall not be construed to permit Acquiror or the Company to take any action with respect to their respective securities that is prohibited by the terms and conditions of this Agreement. For clarity, this Section 1.03 shall not apply to the issuance of Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock pursuant to the First Merger or the exchange of the Company Class C Units for Company Series A Preferred Units.

ARTICLE II TRANSACTIONS

Section 2.01 Closing Transactions. On the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, the following transactions shall occur in the order set forth in this Section 2.01:

(a) Amendment and Restatement of the Company LLC Agreement . On the Closing Date, the Company shall amend and restate the Company LLC Agreement to be the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement, pursuant to which (i) issued and outstanding Pre-C Company Units will be reclassified into Company Common Units, with (A) each Company Class A Unit and Company Class A-1 Unit being converted into a number of Company Common Units equal to the Per Company Unit Exchange Ratio, and (B) each Company Class B Unit being converted into a number of Company Common Units equal to the quotient of (x) the remainder of (1) the quotient of the Net Equity Value divided by the Total Company Units minus (2) the Distribution Threshold applicable to such Company Class B Unit (expressed on a per Company Class B Unit basis), divided by (y) $10.00 (such quotient, in the case of each Company Class B Unit being so converted, the "Per Company Class B Unit Exchange Ratio") and (ii) and each of the outstanding Company Class C Units will be exchanged for a number of Company Series A Preferred Units equal to the Company Class C Units Consideration.

(b) Amendment and Restatement of Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation . On the Closing Date and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement and the filing of the Certificate of Designation, Acquiror shall (i) amend and restate the Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation to be the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation, pursuant to which, among other things, (A) all then outstanding and issued shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock will convert into shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock, (B) the terms of the Acquiror Class B Common Stock shall be amended to provide that all holders thereof shall have the right to vote on all matters submitted to holders of Acquiror Common Stock but having no economic rights and (C) new shares of Acquiror Preferred Stock shall be authorized in an amount sufficient for the consideration issued pursuant to the First Merger and (ii) file the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware.

(c) Certificate of Designation. On the Closing Date and substantially concurrently with the adoption of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement and the filing of the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation, Acquiror shall file the Certificate of Designation with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware.

(d) Business Combination.

(i) On the Closing Date, following the adoption and filing of the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation and the Certificate of Designation, the Parties shall consummate the following transactions:

(A) the Company shall issue to Acquiror a number of Company Common Units equal to the Aggregate Company Common Units minus the Continuing Company Common Units in exchange for (1) the delivery by Acquiror to the Company, via wire transfer of immediately available funds, an amount in cash equal to the Aggregate Cash Raised and (2) a number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock and/or Acquiror Class B Warrants (in each case, as determined pursuant to Section 2.01(d)(i)(D)) (as determined with respect to each holder, the "Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration", and the aggregate sum of all such amounts, the "Aggregate Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration") where the sum of (x) the shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock represented in the Aggregate Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration and (y) the shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock underlying the Acquiror Class B Warrants represented in the Aggregate Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration equals the number of Continuing Company Common Units;

(B) immediately following the consummation of the transactions set forth in clause (A), the Company shall be managed by a board of managers that consists of five (5) members and is constituted as follows: (i) three (3) nominees to be determined by the Acquiror, and (ii) two (2) nominees to be determined by the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding Company Common Units;

(C) immediately following the consummation of the transactions set forth in clause (B), the Company shall distribute to each holder of Pre-C Company Units, the applicable Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration where the sum of (x) the shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock represented in such Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration and (y) the shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock underlying the Acquiror Class B Warrants elected pursuant to subparagraph (D) below and represented in such Aggregate Acquiror Class B Equity Consideration equals the number of Company Common Units held by such holder.

(D) Each holder of Pre-C Company Units (other than Acquiror) is entitled to receive a number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock equal to the number of Company Common Units held by such holder, or may make an election to receive, in lieu of any number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock to which the holder would otherwise be entitled, an Acquiror Class B Warrant for such number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock, by submitting an election (an "Election") in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) A holder of Pre-C Company Units may make an Election in accordance provisions of this Section 2.01(d)(i)(D) by specifying the number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock with respect to which such holder elects to receive an Acquiror Class B Warrant in lieu of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock.

(2) The Company and Acquiror shall prepare a form, including appropriate and customary transmittal materials (the "Form of Election"), so as to permit holders of Pre-C Company Units to exercise their right to make an Election.

(3) The Company and Acquiror (i) shall initially make available and mail the Form of Election not less than 20 Business Days prior to the anticipated date of the Election Deadline (as defined below) to holders of Pre-C Company Units as of the Business Day prior to such mailing date (such record date, the "Election Record Date"), and (ii) following such mailing date, shall use commercially reasonable efforts to make the Form of Election available to all persons who become holders of record Pre-C Company Units during the period between the Election Record Date and the Election Deadline. The time period between such mailing date and the Election Deadline is referred to herein as the "Election Period."

(4) Any Election shall have been made properly only if the Company or an election agent designated by the Company and reasonably acceptable to Acquiror (the "Agent") shall have received, during the Election Period, the Form of Election, duly, completely and validly executed in accordance with the instructions thereto, and such other documents as may reasonably be required by the Company or the Agent. As used herein, unless otherwise agreed in advance by the Parties, "Election Deadline" means 5:00 p.m. (New York City time) on the date that is the fifth Business Day preceding the date for which the Special Meeting is scheduled.

(5) Any Election may be changed or revoked with respect to all or a portion of the Pre-C Company Units subject thereto by the applicable holder of Pre-C Company Units who submitted the applicable Form of Election by written notice received by the Company or the Agent prior to the Election Deadline. In addition, all Elections shall automatically be revoked if this Agreement is terminated in accordance with Article X. If any Election is revoked, not made or not properly made with respect to Pre-C Company Units (none of the Parties nor the Agent being under any duty to notify any holder of Pre-C Company Units of any such defect), such Election shall be deemed to be not in effect, and the Company shall issue to such holder a number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock equal to the number of Company Common Units held by such holder and no Acquiror Class B Warrants.

(6) The determination of the Company or the Agent shall be conclusive and binding as to whether or not an Election has been properly made or revoked pursuant to this Section 2.01(d)(i)(D) and as to when Elections and revocations were received by the Company or the Agent.

(7) Any and all fees and expenses paid or payable in connection with the matters set forth in this Section 2.01(d)(i)(D), including the preparation, mailing, processing and evaluation of the Forms of Election and the retention of an Agent (if any), shall be exclusively borne by the Company.

(E) Merger Sub shall merge with and into the C Preferred Investor whereby the separate existence of Merger Sub shall cease and Acquiror shall, in exchange for all the shares of common stock held by C Preferred Parent Investor in C Preferred Investor, issue a number of shares of Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock equal to the number of Company Series A Preferred Units held by the C Preferred Investor. The First Merger shall be evidenced by a certificate of merger to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, executed by the C Preferred Investor.

(F) Promptly following the First Merger, the C Preferred Investor shall merge with and into Acquiror whereby the separate existence of the C Preferred Investor shall cease and Acquiror shall hold all the Company Series A Preferred Units. The Second Merger shall be evidenced by a certificate of merger to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, executed by Acquiror.

Section 2.02 Further Assurances. If at any time after the Closing, any further action is necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this Agreement and to vest the Company with full right, title and possession to all assets, property, rights, privileges, powers and franchises of Acquiror, the Company and the Company's Subsidiaries, the applicable directors, officers, members and stockholders of the Company and Acquiror (or their designees) are fully authorized in the name of their respective companies to take, and will take, all such lawful and necessary action, so long as such action is not inconsistent with this Agreement.

ARTICLE III CLOSING

Section 3.01 Closing. The closing of the Transactions (the "Closing") shall take place (a) electronically by the mutual exchange of electronic signatures (including portable document format (PDF)) commencing as promptly as practicable (and in any event no later than 9:00 a.m. Eastern Time on the third Business Day) following the satisfaction or (to the extent permitted by applicable Law) waiver of the conditions set forth in Article IX (other than those conditions that by their terms or nature are to be satisfied at the Closing); provided, that such conditions are satisfied or (to the extent permitted by applicable Law) waived in writing) or (b) at such other place, time or date as Acquiror and the Company may mutually agree in writing. The date on which the Closing shall occur is referred to herein as the "Closing Date."

Section 3.02 Closing Deliverables.

- (a) At the Closing, the Company shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to Acquiror:
 - (i) a counterpart to any Transaction Agreements to which it or an equityholder in the Company is a party; and
 - (ii) the certificate referenced in Section 9.02(c).
- (b) At the Closing, Acquiror shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, to the Company:
 - (i) a counterpart to any Transaction Agreements to which it or the Sponsor is a party;
 - (ii) the certificate referenced in Section 9.03(c);
 - (iii) such number of shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock and/or Acquiror Class B Warrants as provided in Section 2.01(d)(i)(C); and
 - (iv) if applicable, certificates representing the aggregate number of Acquiror Class B Warrants so distributed under Section 2.01(d)(i)(C), which the Company shall distribute to the holders thereof as soon as practicable after Closing.

Section 3.03 Payoff Amounts. At the Closing, Acquiror or the Company shall pay (i) an amount sufficient to pay all unpaid Company Transaction Expenses (such aggregate amount, the "Company Payoff Amount") and (ii) an amount sufficient to pay all unpaid Acquiror Transaction Expenses, all of which shall be paid by wire transfer of immediately available funds pursuant to wire instructions provided to Acquiror at least two (2) Business Days prior to the Closing by the Company Representative for the applicable owed parties with respect to the Company Transaction Expenses and by Acquiror with respect to the Acquiror Transaction Expenses.

Section 3.04 Transaction Expenses.

(a) On the date that is five (5) Business Days prior to the Closing Date, Acquiror shall deliver to the Company a written statement (the "Acquiror Closing Statement") setting forth its good faith estimate and calculation of all unpaid Acquiror Transaction Expenses (which in any event shall not exceed $10 million (excluding deferred underwriting fees) without the written consent of the Company), including a detailed itemization of the components thereof and reasonable supporting documentation and detail therefor (including invoices), and determined pursuant to the definitions contained in this Agreement. From and after delivery of the Acquiror Closing Statement and through the Closing Date, (i) Acquiror shall promptly provide to the Company any changes to the Acquiror Closing Statement (including any component thereof) (the "Updated Acquiror Closing Statement"), and (ii) the Company shall have the right to review and comment on such calculations and estimates, Acquiror shall consider in good faith any such comments made by the Company, and both the Company and Acquiror shall cooperate with each other through the Closing Date and use good faith efforts to resolve any differences regarding the calculations and estimates contained in the Updated Acquiror Closing Statement (and any updates or revisions as may be agreed to by the Company and Acquiror shall be included in the Updated Acquiror Closing Statement). Acquiror shall, and shall cause its Representatives to, (x) reasonably cooperate with the Company and its Representatives to the extent related to the Company's review of the Acquiror Closing Statement and Updated Acquiror Closing Statement and the calculations and estimates contained therein (including engaging in good faith discussions related thereto) and (y) provide access to personnel, books, records and other information during normal business hours to the extent related to the preparation of the Acquiror Closing Statement and Updated Acquiror Closing Statement and reasonably requested by the Company or its Representatives in connection with such review; provided, that the Company shall not, and shall cause its Representatives to not, unreasonably interfere with the business of Acquiror and its Subsidiaries in connection with any such access.

(b) On the date that is five (5) Business Days prior to the Closing Date, the Company shall deliver to Acquiror and the C Preferred Parent Investor a written statement (the "Company Closing Statement") setting forth its good faith estimate and calculation of the Company Closing Cash, the Company Closing Investment, the Company Closing Indebtedness, the Company Payoff Amount and all unpaid Company Transaction Expenses, including a detailed itemization of the components thereof and reasonable supporting documentation and detail therefor (including invoices), and determined pursuant to the definitions contained in this Agreement. From and after delivery of the Company Closing Statement and through the Closing Date, (i) the Company shall promptly provide to Acquiror and the C Preferred Parent Investor any changes to the Company Closing Statement (including any component thereof) (the "Updated Company Closing Statement"), and (ii) Acquiror shall have the right to review and comment on such calculations and estimates, the Company shall consider in good faith any such comments made by Acquiror, and the Company and Acquiror shall cooperate with each other through the Closing Date and use good faith efforts to resolve any differences regarding the calculations and estimates contained in the Updated Company Closing Statement. The Company shall, and shall cause its Representatives to, (x) reasonably cooperate with Acquiror and its Representatives to the extent related to Acquiror's review of the Company Closing Statement and Updated Company Closing Statement and the calculations and estimates contained therein (including engaging in good faith discussions related thereto) and (y) provide access to personnel, books, records and other information during normal business hours to the extent related to the preparation of the Company Closing Statement and Updated Company Closing Statement and reasonably requested by Acquiror or its Representatives in connection with such review; provided, that Acquiror shall not, and shall cause its Representatives to not, unreasonably interfere with the business of the Company and its Subsidiaries in connection with any such access.

Section 3.05 Withholding Rights. Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, Acquiror, the Company and their respective Affiliates shall be entitled to deduct and withhold from any amounts otherwise payable pursuant to this Agreement, any amounts that are required to be deducted or withheld with respect to the making of such payments under applicable Law; provided, however, that if Acquiror, the Company or their respective Affiliates becomes aware that withholding may be required in connection with the Transactions, such party shall use commercially reasonable efforts to provide prior notice to the other parties of such potential withholding, and, in such case, the parties shall cooperate in good faith with each other to determine whether any such deduction or withholding is required under applicable Law and use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain any available exemption or reduction of, or otherwise minimize to the extent permitted by applicable Law, such deduction and withholding. For the avoidance of doubt, the foregoing proviso shall not apply to any payments of a compensatory nature. To the extent that any amounts are deducted or withheld and paid over to the appropriate Governmental Authority, such deducted or withheld amounts shall be treated for all purposes of this Agreement as having been paid to the Person in respect of which such deduction or withholding was made.

ARTICLE IV REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF COMPANY

Except as set forth in the Schedules to this Agreement dated as of the Original Agreement Date (each of which qualifies (a) the correspondingly numbered representation, warranty or covenant if specified therein and (b) such other representations, warranties or covenants where its relevance as an exception to (or disclosure for purposes of) such other representation, warranty or covenant is reasonably apparent on its face), the Company represents and warrants to Acquiror as follows:

Section 4.01 Corporate Organization of the Company. The Company is duly formed and organized, is validly existing as a limited liability company and is in good standing under the Laws of the State of Delaware and has the requisite limited liability company power and authority to own, lease or operate its properties, rights and assets and to conduct its business as it is now being conducted. The copies of the certificate of formation of the Company and the Company LLC Agreement previously delivered by the Company to Acquiror (collectively, the "Company Organizational Documents") are (a) true, correct and complete, (b) in full force and effect as of the Original Agreement Date, and (c) have not been amended in any respect from the copies made available to Acquiror. The Company is duly licensed or qualified and in good standing as a foreign company in all jurisdictions in which the ownership of its property or the character of its activities is such as to require it to be so licensed or qualified, except where failure to be so licensed or qualified has not had, and would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Material Adverse Effect. The Company is, and at all times has been, in compliance in all material respects with all restrictions, covenants, terms and provisions set forth in the Company Organizational Documents.

Section 4.02 Subsidiaries. Each Subsidiary of the Company, together with details of their respective jurisdictions of incorporation or organization and names of their respective equityholders and details of such equity ownership, are set forth on Schedule 4.02 (the "Company Subsidiaries"). The Company Subsidiaries have been duly formed or organized, are validly existing under the laws of their jurisdiction of incorporation or organization and have the power and authority to own, operate and lease their properties, rights and assets and to conduct their business as it is now being conducted. Each Company Subsidiary is duly licensed or qualified and in good standing as a foreign or extra-provincial corporation (or other entity, if applicable) in each jurisdiction in which its ownership of property or the character of its activities is such as to require it to be in good standing or so licensed or qualified, except where the failure to be in good standing or so licensed or qualified has not had, and would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except with respect to the Company Subsidiaries, the Company does not own, directly or indirectly, any equity or voting interest in any Person and does not have any agreement or commitment to acquire any such interest.

Section 4.03 Due Authorization.

(a) The Company has all requisite company or entity power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and each Transaction Agreement to which it is a party and to perform its obligations hereunder and thereunder and to consummate the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby. The execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and such Transaction Agreements and the consummation of the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by the Company Board and no other company or equivalent proceeding on the part of the Company is necessary to authorize this Agreement or such Transaction Agreements or the Company's performance hereunder or thereunder. This Agreement has been, and each such Transaction Agreement to which the Company will be party, will be, duly and validly executed and delivered by the Company and, assuming due authorization and execution by each other party hereto and thereto, this Agreement constitutes, and each such Transaction Agreement to which the Company will be party, will constitute, a legal, valid and binding obligation of the Company, enforceable against the Company in accordance with its terms, subject to applicable bankruptcy, insolvency, fraudulent conveyance, reorganization, moratorium and similar Laws affecting or relating to creditors' rights generally and subject, as to enforceability, to general principles of equity, whether such enforceability is considered in a proceeding in equity or at Law (the "Enforceability Exceptions").

(b) At a meeting duly called and held, the Company Board has: (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions are fair to and in the best interests of the Company's equityholders, (ii) approved the Transactions, and (iii) resolved to recommend to the Company's stockholders to approve this Agreement and the Transactions.

(c) The Company Equityholder Approval has been obtained and such approval is the only vote of any of the Pre-C Company Units necessary in connection with entry into this Agreement by the Company and the consummation of the Transactions.

Section 4.04 No Conflict. The execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and any Transaction Agreement to which any Company Group Member is a party by such Company Group Member and the consummation of the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby or by any Transaction Agreement do not and will not (a) conflict with or violate any provision of, or result in the breach of the Company Organizational Documents or any organizational documents of any Company Subsidiary, (b) conflict with or result in any violation of any provision of any Law or Governmental Order binding on or applicable to a Company Group Member or any of its respective properties, assets or Equity Securities, (c) violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, impair the rights of any Company Group Member under, or result in the termination or acceleration of, or a right of termination, cancellation, modification, acceleration or amendment under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the acceleration or trigger of any payment, posting of collateral (or right to require the posting of collateral), time of payment, vesting or increase in the amount of any compensation or benefit payable pursuant to, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any Material Contract to which a Company Group Member is a party or by which any of its assets, properties or Equity Securities may be bound or affected, or (d) result in the creation or imposition of any Lien upon any of the properties, assets or Equity Securities of a Company Group Member, except in the case of each of clauses (b) through (d) as would not reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, and would not cause a Company Impairment Effect.

Section 4.05 Governmental Authorities; Consents. Assuming the truth and completeness of the representations and warranties of Acquiror contained in this Agreement, no action by, consent, approval, permit or authorization of, or designation, declaration or filing with, any Governmental Authority or notice, approval, consent waiver or authorization from any Governmental Authority is required on the part of any Company Group Member with respect to the execution or delivery and performance of this Agreement by each Company Group Member or any Transaction Agreement to which any of the Company Group Members is a party, as applicable, or the consummation of the Transactions or the transactions contemplated thereby, except for (a) applicable requirements of the HSR Act or (b) any actions, consents, approvals, permits or authorizations, designations, declarations or filings, the absence of which would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to be material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, and would not cause a Company Impairment Effect.

Section 4.06 Current Capitalization.

(a) Schedule 4.06(a) sets forth the Equity Securities of the Company (including the number and class or series, Class C Preferred Return and Distribution Threshold (as applicable)) and the record ownership (including the percentage interests held thereby) of such Equity Securities, and such Equity Securities (i) are free and clear of all Liens, (ii) have not been issued in violation of preemptive or similar rights and (iii) have been offered, sold and issued in compliance in all material respects with applicable Law, including federal and state securities Laws, and all requirements set forth in the Company Organizational Documents.

(b) True, correct and complete copies of each plan under which awards of Equity Securities have been made, all form equity award agreements used to evidence grants of Pre-C Company Units or options to acquire Pre-C Company Units or other Equity Securities of the Company to service providers, and all individual equity award agreements that materially differ from the forms from which they are based (except for differences in vesting schedules) have been provided to Acquiror, and each such plan and form equity award agreement has not been amended, modified or supplemented since being provided to Acquiror, and there are no agreements, understandings or commitments to amend, modify or supplement such plan or plans or form equity award agreements in any case from those provided to Acquiror.

(c) Except as set forth on Schedule 4.06(a), there are no outstanding or authorized options, promises of equity of the Company, equity appreciation rights, phantom equity, profit participation or similar compensatory equity or equity-linked awards with respect to the Equity Securities of, or other equity or voting interest in, the Company. No Person is entitled to any preemptive or similar rights to subscribe for Equity Securities of the Company, other than as set forth in the Company LLC Agreement. There are no outstanding contractual obligations of the Company to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any Equity Securities of the Company, other than as set forth in the Company Organizational Documents. There are no outstanding bonds, debentures, notes or other indebtedness of the Company having the right to vote (or convertible into, or exchangeable for, securities having the right to vote) on any matter for which Company Equityholders may vote. The Company is not party to any equityholder agreement, voting agreement, proxies, registration rights agreement or other agreements or understandings relating to its equity interests, in each case, other than the Company LLC Agreement.

(d) (i) There are no declared but unpaid dividends or distributions in respect of any Equity Securities of the Company Group Members other than the Class C Preferred Return and (ii) since each Company Group Member's formation, such Company Group Member has not ever made, declared, set aside, established a record date for or paid any dividends or distributions since its formation.

(e) To the Company's Knowledge, all individuals who have purchased the Company's Units under agreements that provide for the vesting of such Pre-C Company Units have timely filed elections under Section 83(b) of the Code and any analogous provisions of applicable state tax laws.

Section 4.07 Capitalization of Subsidiaries.

(a) Except as set forth on Schedule 4.07(a), the outstanding shares of capital stock or other Equity Securities of the Company Subsidiaries have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid and non-assessable. Except as set forth on Schedule 4.07(a), all of the outstanding Equity Securities of each Company Subsidiary are solely owned by the Company, directly or indirectly, free and clear of any Liens (other than Liens arising under applicable securities Laws or the governing documents of the Company Subsidiaries) and have not been issued in violation of preemptive or similar rights by which such Company Subsidiary is bound. Except for Equity Securities owned by the Company or any wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company, there are no Equity Securities of any Company Subsidiary issued or outstanding.

(b) There are no outstanding or authorized options, promises of equity, equity appreciation rights, phantom equity, profit participation or similar compensatory equity or equity-linked awards with respect to the Equity Securities of, or other equity or voting interest in, any Company Subsidiary. No Person other than the Company and its wholly-owned Subsidiaries is entitled to any preemptive or similar rights to subscribe for Equity Securities of any Company Subsidiary. There are no outstanding contractual obligations of any Company Subsidiary to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any Equity Securities of any Company Subsidiary. There are no outstanding bonds, debentures, notes or other indebtedness of any Company Subsidiary having the right to vote (or convertible into, or exchangeable for, securities having the right to vote) on any matter for which such Company Subsidiaries' equityholders may vote. No Company Subsidiary is a party to any stockholders agreement, voting agreement, proxies or registration rights agreement relating to its equity interests.

(c) Except for Equity Securities of any wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company or as set forth on Schedule 4.07, neither the Company nor any of its Subsidiaries owns any Equity Securities in any Person.

Section 4.08 Financial Statements.

(a) Attached as ScheduleSection 4.08(a) are true, correct, accurate and complete copies of (i) the audited consolidated balance sheets of the Company and its Subsidiaries as at December 31, 2021 and December 31, 2020, and the related audited consolidated statements of income and comprehensive income, members' equity and cash flows for the years then ended, together with the auditor's reports thereon, (collectively, the "Company Audited Financial Statements"), and (ii) the unaudited consolidated condensed balance sheet of the Company as at June 30, 2022 (the "Company Most Recent Balance Sheet") and the related unaudited consolidated condensed statements of income and comprehensive income, members' equity and cash flows for the three and six months ended June 30, 2022 (the "Company Interim Financial Statements", together with the Company Audited Financial Statements and the Company Most Recent Balance Sheet, the "Company Financial Statements").

(b) Each of the Company Financial Statements (including the notes thereto) (i) fairly presents, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position, cash flows, income, changes in equity and results of operations of the Company Group as of the dates and for the periods indicated in such Company Financial Statements in conformity with GAAP during the periods involved (except in the case of the Company Interim Financial Statements for the absence of footnotes and other presentation items and for normal and recurring year-end adjustments in each case, the impact of which is not material), (ii) was prepared in accordance with GAAP applied on a consistent basis throughout the periods indicated (except as may be indicated in the notes thereto), and (iii) were derived from, and accurately reflect in all material respects, the books and records of the Company Group.

(c) The Company has established and maintains systems of internal accounting controls that are designed to provide reasonable assurance that (i) all transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and (ii) all transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of proper and accurate financial statements in accordance with GAAP and to maintain accountability for the Company's assets. The Company maintains and, for all periods covered by the Company Financial Statements, has maintained books and records of the Company in the ordinary course of business that are accurate and complete in all material respects and reflect the revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities of the Company and its Subsidiaries in all material respects.

(d) Neither the Company nor the Company's independent auditors have identified or been made aware of (after reasonable inquiry) any (i) "significant deficiency" in the internal controls over financial reporting of the Company, (ii) "material weakness" in the internal controls over financial reporting of the Company or (iii) fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees of the Company who have a significant role in the internal controls over financial reporting of the Company.

(e) The Company has established and maintains disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15 under the Exchange Act). Such disclosure controls and procedures are designed to ensure that material information relating to the Company is made known to its principal executive officer and principal financial officer. To the knowledge of the Company, such disclosure controls and procedures are effective in timely alerting the Company's principal executive officer and principal financial officer to material information required to be included in the Company Financial Statements.

Section 4.09 Undisclosed Liabilities. Except as set forth on Schedule 4.08(c), as of the Original Agreement Date, no Company Group Member has any liability, debt or obligation, whether accrued, contingent, absolute, determined, determinable or otherwise, except for liabilities, debts or obligations (a) reflected or reserved for in the Company Most Recent Balance Sheet, (b) that have arisen since June 30, 2022 in the ordinary course of business of the Company Group, none of which is a liability for a breach of contract, breach of warranty or infringement or violation of Law, (c) arising under this Agreement or the performance by the Company of its obligations hereunder, including transaction expenses, (d) that would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to be material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, or (e) that would not be required to be set forth on a consolidated balance sheet of the Company Group prepared in accordance with GAAP. No Company Group Member is a party to any "off-balance sheet arrangement" (as defined in Item 303(a) of Regulation S-K promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission).

Section 4.10 Litigation and Proceedings. As of the Original Agreement Date, there is no, and since the Lookback Date, there has been no pending or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened Actions by or against any Company Group Member, any of their respective officers or directors or any of the properties, rights or assets of any Company Group Member that would reasonably be expected to (a) involve an amount in controversy of at least $300,000 or (b) be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole or would have a Company Impairment Effect. There is no, and since the Lookback Date, there has been no, Governmental Order (including pursuant to Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws) imposed upon or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened against any Company Group Member or any of their properties, rights or assets that would reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect. No Company Group Member is party to a settlement or similar agreement regarding any of the matters set forth in the two preceding sentences that contains any ongoing obligations, restrictions or liabilities (of any nature) that would reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect. There is no unsatisfied judgment or any open injunction binding upon any Company Group Member.

Section 4.11 Compliance with Laws. Except where the failure to be, or to have been, in compliance with such Laws as has not, and would not, individually or in the aggregate, be material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect, the Company Group Members are, and since the Lookback Date, have been, in compliance with all applicable Laws. Since the Lookback Date, (a) no Company Group Member has received any written notice of any violations of applicable Laws, Governmental Orders or Permits and,

(b) to the Knowledge of the Company, no assertion or Action of any violation of any Law, Governmental Order or Permit by any Company Group Member is currently threatened against any Company Group Member, in each case of the foregoing clauses (a) and (b), except as has not been, and would not reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole or would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect. No investigation or review by any Governmental Authority with respect to a Company Group Member is pending or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened, and no such investigations have been conducted by any Governmental Authority since the Lookback Date, in each case, except as has not been, and would not reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole or would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect.

Section 4.12 Contracts; No Defaults.

(a) Schedule 4.12(a) contains a true and complete listing of all Contracts described in clauses (i) through (xvii) of this Section 4.12(a) to which, as of the Original Agreement Date, with respect to any Company Group Member is a party (together with all material amendments, waivers or other changes thereto) (all such Contracts as described in clauses (i) through (xvi), collectively, the "Material Contracts"). True, correct and complete copies of the Material Contracts have been delivered to or made available to Acquiror or its agents or Representatives.

(i) Each Contract that involves aggregate payments or consideration (contingent or otherwise) payable (A) by any Company Group Member of more than $500,000 or (B) to the Company Group of more than $500,000, in each case, in the calendar year ended December 31, 2021 or any subsequent calendar year;

(ii) each Contract relating to Indebtedness (A) with a principal amount (including the amount of any undrawn but available commitments thereunder) in excess of $500,000 or (B) for borrowed money, and any pledge agreements, security agreements or other collateral agreements in which with respect to any Company Group Member granted to any Person a security interest in or Lien on any of the property or assets of with respect to any Company Group Member;

(iii) each Contract that is a purchase and sale or similar agreement for the acquisition of any Person or any business unit thereof or the disposition of any material assets of the Company Group pursuant to which there are any material ongoing obligations;

(iv) each lease, rental or occupancy agreement, license, installment and conditional sale agreement and each other Contract with outstanding material obligations that provides for the ownership of, leasing of, occupancy of, title to, use of, or any leasehold or other interest in any real or personal property involving payments of at least $500,000 in the aggregate during the remaining term of such Contract, other than sales or purchase agreements in the ordinary course of business and sales of obsolete equipment;

(v) each joint venture Contract, agreement establishing an entity that is a partnership, limited liability company agreement or similar Contract (other than Contracts between wholly-owned Subsidiaries of the Company) that is material to the business of the Company Group, taken as a whole;

(vi) each Contract prohibiting or restricting in any material respect the ability of any Company Group Member to engage in any business, to solicit any potential customer, to operate in any geographical area or to compete with any Person, in each case, in any material respect, other than customary non-disclosure provisions or non-solicitation and no-hire provisions for employment entered into in the ordinary course of business;

(vii) each license or other agreement (excluding (A) non-disclosure agreements, (B) non-exclusive Intellectual Property licenses incidental to employee, consultant, contractor, other service provider, marketing, printing or advertising Contracts, and (C) licenses to Open Source Code, in each case, entered into in the ordinary course of business) under which the Company or any of its Subsidiaries (I) is a licensee with respect to any item of Intellectual Property (excluding non-exclusive licenses in respect of commercially available, unmodified, “off-the-shelf” software or software-as-a-service involving payments of not more than $500,000 in any year, or granted by a customer under a customer agreement in the ordinary course of business for the purpose of allowing the Company to provide services to such customer), (II) is a licensor or otherwise grants to a third party any rights to use any item of Intellectual Property, or (III) entered into to settle or resolve any Intellectual Property-related dispute, including settlement agreements, covenants not to sue, consent agreements, and co-existence agreements, in each case involving an amount in controversy of at least $500,000;

(viii) each Contract for the development of Intellectual Property by a third party that is material to the business of the Company Group (other than pursuant to the Company’s standard form employee invention assignment or consulting or independent contractor agreements, copies of which have been provided to Acquiror);

(ix) each Contract with any Company Service Provider or other Person that (A) provides for severance, termination payment, notice of termination, or similar compensation or benefit; (B) provides for the payment or accelerated vesting of any compensation or benefits in connection with the consummation of the Transactions alone or in combination with any other event, including any retention, change of control, transaction or similar payments; (C) otherwise restricts the ability of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries to terminate employment or engagement of such individual at any time for any reason or no reason without penalty or liability; or (D) that provides for annual compensation in excess of $200,000, in each case of clauses (A) through (C), other than as required by Law;

(x) each collective bargaining agreement or other Contract (each, a “CBA”) with a Company Group Member, on the one hand, and any labor union, labor organization or works council representing employees of any Company Group Member, on the other hand;

(xi) each Contract that is a settlement, conciliation or similar agreement with any Governmental Authority or pursuant to which the Company or any of its Subsidiaries will have any outstanding obligation in excess of $500,000 after the Original Agreement Date;

(xii) each sales commission, revenue sharing, distributor, reseller, referral or brokerage Contract or other similar Contract that involves (A) annual payments to any Company Group Member in excess of $500,000, (B) annual payments by any Company Group in excess of $250,000 or (C) is not cancellable on 30 calendar days’ notice without payment or penalty;

(xiii) any Contract with a Governmental Authority that involves aggregate payments or consideration (contingent or otherwise) payable (A) by any Company Group Member of more than $500,000 or (B) to the Company Group of more than $500,000, in each case, in the calendar year ended December 31, 2021 or any subsequent calendar year;

(xiv) each Contract requiring capital expenditures of any Company Group Member after the Original Agreement Date in an amount in excess of $500,000 in the aggregate;

(xv) each Contract with any Affiliate of any Company Group Member or family member thereof (other than (1) employment agreements, (2) confidentiality, (3) invention assignment agreements, (4) standard director and officer indemnification agreements, (5) equity or incentive equity documents and (6) practice agreements with local management services organization substantially in the form set forth on Schedule 4.12(a)(xv)); and

(xvi) any commitment to enter into agreement of the type described in clauses (i) through (xv) of this Section 4.12(a).

(b) Except for any Contract that has terminated, or will terminate, upon the expiration of the stated term thereof prior to the Closing Date, each Material Contract is (i) in full force and effect and (ii) represents the legal, valid and binding obligations of the applicable Company Group Member that is a party thereto and, (iii) to the Knowledge of the Company, represents the legal, valid and binding obligations of the other parties thereto, in each case, subject to the Enforceability Exceptions. In addition, (A) no Company Group Member nor, to the Knowledge of the Company, any other party thereto is in material breach of or default under any Material Contract, (B) since the Lookback Date, none of the Company Subsidiaries has received any written claim or notice of breach of or default under any such Material Contract, (C) to the Knowledge of the Company, no event has occurred which individually or together with other events, would reasonably be expected to result in a breach of or a default under any such Contract (in each case, with or without notice or lapse of time or both), and (D) there are no material disputes with any significant customers with respect to any Company Group Products and no material disputes with any significant suppliers.

Section 4.13 Company Benefit Plans.

(a) Schedule 4.13(a) sets forth a true and complete list of each Company Benefit Plan; provided, however, that any individual employment agreement (or offer letter) or individual consulting agreement or individual equity award agreement that, in each case, is consistent in all material respects with the applicable template listed on Schedule 4.13(a) and that can be terminated by the Company without notice or cost (other than costs through the date of termination), shall not be required to be listed on Schedule 4.13(a), unless it provides for annual compensation or severance in excess of $250,000. For purposes of this Agreement a "Company Benefit Plan" means each "employee benefit plan" as defined in Section 3(3) of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA"), whether or not subject to ERISA, and any equity ownership, equity purchase, equity option, phantom equity, equity or other equity-based incentive award, severance, employment, consulting, retention, change of control, fringe benefit, bonus, incentive, deferred compensation, vacation, paid time off, health and welfare, pension, supplemental retirement, employee loan and all other benefit or compensation plans, agreements, programs, policies, Contracts or other arrangements, whether or not subject to ERISA, which are contributed to, required to be contributed to, sponsored by or maintained by any Company Group Member for the benefit of any Company Service Provider of any Company Group Member or under or with respect to which any Company Group Member has any liability or obligation, contingent or otherwise, in any case, excluding any (i) statutory plan, program or arrangement that is both required under applicable Laws and maintained by Governmental Authority and (ii) Multiemployer Plan.

(b) With respect to each Company Benefit Plan listed on Schedule 4.13(a), the Company has delivered or made available to Acquiror copies of (i) such Company Benefit Plan and any trust agreement or other funding instrument relating to such plan, (ii) the most recent summary plan description, if any, required under ERISA with respect to such Company Benefit Plan, or in the event that the Company Benefit Plan is unwritten, a written summary of the key provisions, (iii) the most recent annual report on Form 5500 and all attachments with respect to each Company Benefit Plan (if applicable), (iv) the most recent actuarial valuation (if applicable) relating to such Company Benefit Plan, (v) the most recent determination or opinion letter, if any, issued by the IRS with respect to any Company Benefit Plan, and (vi) any material or non-routine correspondence with any Governmental Authority or participant or participant representative within the past three years.

(c) With respect to each Company Benefit Plan, (i) it has been established, maintained, funded and in material compliance with its terms and all applicable Laws, including ERISA and the Code, and (ii) all material contributions, premiums or other payments that are due and payable with respect to any Company Benefit Plan have been made and all such amounts due for any period ending on or before the Closing Date have been made or properly accrued and reflected in the Company Financial Statements to the extent required by GAAP.

(d) Each Company Benefit Plan that is intended to be qualified within the meaning of Section 401(a) of the Code (i) has received a favorable determination or opinion letter as to its qualification or (ii) has been established under a standardized master and prototype or volume submitter plan for which a current favorable IRS advisory letter or opinion letter has been obtained by the plan sponsor and is valid as to the adopting employer, and, to the Company's Knowledge, nothing has occurred, whether by action or failure to act, that would reasonably be expected to adversely affect such qualification.

(e) (i) No event has occurred and no condition exists that would subject any Company Group Member, either directly or by reason of their affiliation with an ERISA Affiliate, to any material Tax, fine, Lien, penalty or other liability imposed by ERISA, the Code or other applicable Law, (ii) there do not exist any pending or, to the Company's Knowledge, threatened Actions (other than routine claims for benefits), audits or investigations with respect to any Company Benefit Plan, (iii) there have been no "prohibited transactions" within the meaning of Section 4975 of the Code or Sections 406 or 407 of ERISA and not otherwise exempt under Section 408 of ERISA, and (iv) no breaches of fiduciary duty (as determined under ERISA) with respect to any Company Benefit Plan have occurred that, in each case of subsections (i) through (iv), either individually or in the aggregate, would reasonably be expected to result in material liability.

(f) No Company Benefit Plan provides, nor has any Company Group Member incurred, any current or projected liability in respect of post-employment or post-retirement or post-termination health, medical or life insurance benefits for current, former or retired Company Service Provider of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, except (i) as required to avoid an excise tax under Section 4980B of the Code ("COBRA") or similar applicable Law, (ii) coverage through the end of the calendar month in which a termination of employment occurs, or (iii) pursuant to an applicable agreement, plan or policy listed on Schedule 4.13(a) (including a template) requiring the Company or any of its Subsidiaries to pay or subsidize COBRA premiums for a terminated employee following the employee's termination. No Company Group Member has incurred (whether or not assessed) any material Tax or other penalty with respect to the reporting requirements under Sections 6055 and 6056 of the Code, as applicable, or under Section 4980B, 4980D or 4980H of the Code or otherwise.

(g) No Company Group Member, or any of their respective ERISA Affiliates sponsors, maintains, contributes to, is required to contribute to, or otherwise has or could have any current or contingent liability or obligation under or with respect to: (i) a multiemployer plan (as defined in Section 3(37) of ERISA or Section 4001(a)(3) of the Code) (a "Multiemployer Plan"), (ii) a "defined benefit plan" (as defined in Section 3(35) of ERISA) or any plan that is or was subject to Section 302 or Title IV of ERISA or Section 412 or Section 4971 of the Code, (iii) a "multiple employer plan" (within the meaning of Section 210 of ERISA or 413(c) of the Code), or (iv) a "multiple employer welfare arrangement" (as defined in Section 3(40) of ERISA). For purposes of this Agreement, "ERISA Affiliate" means, with respect to the Company, any Person or entity (whether or not incorporated) other than any Company Group Member that, together with the Company, is under common control or treated as one employer under Section 4001(b)(1) of ERISA or Section 414(b), (c), (m), or (o) of the Code. No Company Group Member has any current or contingent liability or obligation on account of at any time being considered a single employer under Section 4001(b)(1) of ERISA or Section 414 of the Code with any other Person.

(h) Except as set forth on Schedule 4.13(h), (A) neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by the Company nor the consummation of the Business Combination or the occurrence of any other event alone or in conjunction with any other event will (i) result in the acceleration, funding, increased funding, vesting or creation of any rights of any current or former Company Service Provider to any compensatory payments, severance, or benefits or increases in any compensatory payments or benefits (including any loan forgiveness) under any Company Benefit Plan (or under any arrangement that would be a Company Benefit Plan if in effect as of the Original Agreement Date), (ii) result in the payment to any current or former Company Service Provider of any amounts including severance payments, or any increase in severance payments or benefits upon any termination of employment or service, (iii) result in the receipt (whether in cash, property or the vesting of property) by any "disqualified individual" of any "parachute payment" (as such terms are defined in Section 280G of the Code) (or any similar receipt under corresponding provision of state law); or (iv) result in any restriction on the ability of any Company Group Member to amend, modify or terminate any Company Benefit Plan.

(i) Except as set forth on Schedule 4.13(i), no Company Group Member has any obligations to gross-up or reimburse any individual for any Tax or related interest or penalties incurred by such individual, including under Sections 280G, 409A or 4999 of the Code or otherwise.

(j) Each Company Benefit Plan that is a "nonqualified deferred compensation plan" within the meaning of Section 409A(d)(1) of the Code is in material documentary compliance with, and has been maintained, operated and administered in all material respects in compliance with, Section 409A of the Code, and all applicable regulations, other guidance issued, and notices issued thereunder.

Section 4.14 Labor Matters.

(a) No Company Group Member is party to or bound by any CBA and no employee of any Company Group Member is represented by any labor union, other labor organization or works council with respect to their employment with any Company Group Member. There are, and since the Lookback Date there have been, no pending, or to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened (i) labor organizing activities or representation or certification proceedings by any labor union, works council or other labor organization to organize any of the employees of any Company Group Member, or (ii) material labor disputes, labor grievances, labor arbitrations, unfair labor practice charges, strikes, lockouts, picketing, hand billing, slowdowns, concerted refusals to work overtime, or work stoppages against or affecting any Company Group Member.

(b) Except as set forth on Schedule 4.14(b), each Company Group Member is, and since the Lookback Date has been, in compliance in all respects with all applicable Laws regarding labor, employment and employment practices, including all Laws respecting terms and conditions of employment, health and safety, employee classification (including the classification of independent contractors and exempt and non-exempt employees), discrimination, harassment or retaliation, whistleblowing, wages and hours, immigration (including the completion of Forms I-9 for all U.S. employees and the proper confirmation of employee visas), disability rights or benefits, equal opportunity, plant closures and layoffs (including the WARN Act), COVID-19, affirmative action, workers' compensation, labor relations, employee leave issues, employee trainings and notices, and unemployment insurance. The Company and its Subsidiaries have reasonably investigated all harassment or other discrimination or unlawful retaliation allegations of which any of them is aware and have provided detailed information related to each such allegations within the last two (2) years in the data room. With respect to each such allegations with potential merit, each Company Group Member has taken prompt corrective action and no such investigations or allegations are pending or, to the knowledge of the Company, threatened. Since the January 1, 2017, neither the Company nor any of their respective Subsidiaries has implemented any plant closing or employee layoffs that would trigger notice obligations under the WARN Act. In the past two (2) years, no employee of the Company Group has made written allegations of sexual harassment against any Company Service Provider, and none of the Company Group Members have entered into any settlement agreement related to sexual harassment, sexual assault, or sexual misconduct by a Company Service Provider.

(c) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to result in material liability: (i) each Company Group Member has fully and timely paid all wages, salaries, wage premiums, commissions, bonuses, severance and termination payments, fees, and other compensation that have come due and payable to the current and former Company Service Providers, under applicable Law, Contract or Company Group policy, and (ii) each individual who is providing, or since the Lookback Date, has provided, services to any Company Group Member since January 1, 2017, and is, or was, classified and treated as an independent contractor, consultant, leased employee, or other non-employee service provider, is, and has been, properly classified and treated as such for all applicable purposes.

(d) To the Knowledge of the Company, no current or former Company Service Provider is in any material respect in violation of any term of any employment agreement, nondisclosure agreement, common law nondisclosure obligation, fiduciary duty, noncompetition agreement, nonsolicitation agreement, restrictive covenant or other obligation: (i) owed to any Company Group Member; or (ii) owed to any third party with respect to such Person's right to be employed or engaged by any Company Group Member.

(e) No material employee layoff, facility closure or shutdown (whether voluntary or by Governmental Order), reduction-in-force, furlough, temporary layoff, material work schedule change, or material reduction in hours, salary or wages affecting employees of any Company Group Member has occurred since the date of the Company Most Recent Balance Sheet or is currently contemplated, planned or announced, including as a result of COVID-19 or any COVID-19 Measures.

(f) Since the Lookback Date, no Company Group Member has implemented any plant closing or employee layoffs that would trigger notice obligations under the WARN Act.

(g) As of the Original Agreement Date, the Company has not received written notice that any Key Employee of the Company intends to terminate his or her employment with the Company prior to the one year anniversary of the Closing and to the Knowledge of the Company, no such Key Employee has provided any such non-written notice.

Section 4.15 Taxes. Except as set forth in Schedule 4.15:

(a) All income and other material Tax Returns required by Law to be filed by each Company Group Member have been duly and timely filed with the appropriate Governmental Authority, and all such Tax Returns are true, correct and complete in all material respects.

(b) All material amounts of Taxes due and owing by each Company Group Member (whether or not reflected on any Tax Return) have been duly and timely paid to the appropriate Governmental Authority, no Company Group Member has any liability for a material amount of unpaid Taxes which has not been accrued for or reserved on the Company Most Recent Balance Sheet, and since the date of the Company Most Recent Balance Sheet, no Company Group Member has incurred or accrued any material Tax liability or any taxable income or gain outside the ordinary course of business other than any liabilities incurred in connection with the Transactions.

(c) Each Company Group Member has paid all material applicable sales, use or other similar Taxes.

(d) Each Company Group Member has (i) withheld and deducted all material amounts of Taxes required to have been withheld or deducted by it in connection with amounts paid or owed to any employee, independent contractor, creditor, member, or any other third party, (ii) duly and timely remitted such amounts to the appropriate Governmental Authority, and (iii) complied in all material respects with applicable Laws with respect to Tax withholding, including all reporting and record keeping requirements.

(e) No Company Group Member is engaged in any audit, administrative proceeding or judicial proceeding with respect to Taxes. No Company Group Member is the subject of any dispute or claim with respect to Taxes, other than disputes or claims that have been resolved, and no such claims have been threatened in writing. All deficiencies for Taxes asserted or assessed in writing against the Company Group have been fully and timely (taking into account applicable extensions) paid, settled or withdrawn.

(f) No written claim has been made by any Governmental Authority in a jurisdiction where a Company Group Member does not file a Tax Return that such entity is or may be subject to Tax or required to file a Tax Return in that jurisdiction.

(g) There are no outstanding agreements extending or waiving the statutory period of limitations applicable to any claim for, or the period for the collection or assessment or reassessment of, Taxes of the Company Group, and no written request for any such waiver or extension is currently pending.

(h) No Company Group Member (or any predecessor thereof) has constituted either a "distributing corporation" or a "controlled corporation" in a distribution of stock qualifying for tax-free treatment under Section 355 of the Code (or so much of Section 356 of the Code as relates to Section 355 of the Code).

(i) No Company Group Member has been a party to any "listed transaction" within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.6011-4(b)(2) (or any similar or corresponding provision of state, local or foreign Law).

(j) No Company Group Member will be required to include any material item of income in, or exclude any material item of deduction from, taxable income for any taxable period (or portion thereof) ending after the Closing Date as a result of any: (i) change in, or use of an improper, method of accounting for a taxable period (or portion thereof) ending on or prior to the Closing Date and made prior to the Closing; (ii) "closing agreement" as described in Section 7121 of the Code (or any corresponding or similar provision of state, local or foreign Law) entered into prior to the Closing; (iii) installment sale or open transaction disposition made prior to the Closing, or (iv) prepaid amount or deferred revenue received prior to the Closing. No Company Group Member will be required to make any payment after the Closing Date as a result of an election under Section 965(h) of the Code.

(k) There are no Liens with respect to Taxes on any of the assets of the Company Group, other than Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable.

(l) No Company Group Member (i) has been a member of an affiliated, combined, consolidated, unitary or other group for Tax purposes other than such a group that includes only members of the Company Group, or (ii) has any liability for or in respect of the Taxes of any Person (other than a Company Group Member) (A) as a result of being a member of an affiliated, combined, consolidated, unitary or other group for Tax purposes, including under Treasury Regulations Section 1.1502-6 (or any similar or corresponding provision of state, local or foreign Law) or (B) as a transferee or successor, by Contract, assumption or operation of law, or otherwise (except, in each case, for liabilities pursuant to commercial contracts not primarily relating to Taxes).

(m) No Company Group Member is a party to, or bound by, or has any obligation to any Governmental Authority or other Person under any Tax allocation, Tax sharing, Tax indemnification or similar agreement or arrangement (except, in each case, for liabilities pursuant to customary commercial contracts entered into in the ordinary course of business not primarily relating to Taxes).

(n) ScheduleSection 4.15(n) sets forth the U.S. tax classification of, and any entity classification elections made by, any member of the Company Group for U.S. federal income Tax purposes which are currently in effect.

(o) No Company Group Member has applied for or received any relief from Taxes under COVID-19 Measures, the Memorandum on Deferring Payroll Tax Obligations in Light of the Ongoing COVID-19 Disaster or any similar Law, including by claiming an employee retention credit or deferring any amount of employer or employee payroll Taxes.

(p) No Company Group Member has requested or received a ruling from any Governmental Authority or signed any binding agreement with any Governmental Authority that might impact the amount of Tax due from the Acquiror or its Affiliates (including following the Closing, for the avoidance of doubt, the Company Group) after the Closing Date.

(q) Each Company Group Member has complied in all material respects with Laws relating to escheat and unclaimed property.

(r) The Company is a partnership and each of its Subsidiaries is an entity disregarded from its owner, in each case for U.S. federal income Tax purposes.

(s) No Company Group Member has been a member of a consolidated, combined or similar group and no Company Group Member is a foreign corporation.

(t) Other than Section 4.13, this Section 4.15 contains the exclusive representations and warranties of the Company and its Subsidiaries with respect to Tax matters.

Section 4.16 Insurance. Schedule 4.16 contains a list of all material policies or programs of self-insurance of property, commercial, crime, workers' compensation and other forms of insurance held by, or for the benefit of, any Company Group Member as of the Original Agreement Date. With respect to each such insurance policy required to be listed on Schedule 4.16, except as has not been or would not reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group taken as a whole, (a) all premiums due have been paid (other than retroactive or retrospective premium adjustments and adjustments in the respect of self-funded general liability and automobile liability fronting programs, self-funded health programs and self-funded general liability and automobile liability front programs, self-funded health programs and self-funded workers' compensation programs that are not yet, but may be, required to be paid with respect to any period end prior to the Closing Date), (b) to the Knowledge of the Company, the policy is legal, valid, binding and enforceable in accordance with its terms subject to the Enforceability Exceptions and, except for policies that have expired under their terms in the ordinary course, is in full force and effect, (c) no Company Group Member is in breach or default (including any such breach or default with respect to the payment of premiums or the giving of notice), and, to the Company's Knowledge, no event has occurred which, with notice or the lapse of time or both, would constitute such a breach or default, or permit termination or modification, under the policy, and to the Knowledge of the Company, no such action has been threatened, and (d) as of the Original Agreement Date, no written notice of cancellation, non-renewal, disallowance or reduction in coverage or claim or termination has been received other than in connection with ordinary renewals.

Section 4.17 Permits. The Company Group holds, and since the Lookback Date, has held, all licenses, approvals, consents, registrations, franchises and permits ("Permits") necessary for the lawful conduct of its business. Except for such failures to be in compliance as would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Material Adverse Effect, or would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Impairment Effect, the Company Group is in compliance with the terms of all Permits necessary for the lawful operation of its business. No event has occurred with respect to any of the Permits which permits, or after the giving of notice or lapse of time or both would permit, revocation, suspension, cancellation or termination thereof, or would result in any other impairment of the rights of the holder of any such Permit. There is no pending or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened legal proceeding with any Governmental Authority having jurisdiction or authority over the operations of any Company Group Member that would reasonably be expected to impair the validity of any Permit, or result in the revocation, cancellation, termination or impairment of any Permit.

Section 4.18 Equipment and Other Tangible Property. One of the Company Group Members owns and has good title to all material equipment and other tangible property and tangible assets reflected on the books of the Company as owned by any Company Group Member, free and clear of all Liens other than Permitted Liens, except as would not individually or in the aggregate, have a Company Material Adverse Effect.

Section 4.19 Real Property.

(a) ScheduleSection 4.19(a) contains a true, correct and complete list, as of the Original Agreement Date, of all Leased Real Property of the Company Group including the address of each Leased Real Property. The Company has made available to Acquiror true, correct and complete copies of the material Contracts pursuant to which any Company Group Member uses or occupies (or have been granted an option to use or occupy) such Leased Real Property or is otherwise a party with respect to the Leased Real Property (the "Leases"). One of the Company Group Members has a valid and subsisting leasehold interest in all such Leased Real Property, and to the Knowledge of the Company, there are no material disputes with respect to any material Lease, in each case, subject only to Permitted Liens. With respect to each Lease and except as would be, individually or in the aggregate, material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, (i) such Lease is valid, binding and enforceable and in full force and effect against the applicable Company Group Member and, to the Company's Knowledge, the other parties thereto, subject to the Enforceability Exceptions, and each such Lease is in full force and effect, (ii) each Lease has not been amended or modified except as reflected in the modifications, amendments, supplements, waivers and side letters made available to Acquiror, (iii) no Company Group Member has received or given any written notice of default or breach under any of the Leases and to the Knowledge of the Company, no Company Group Member has received oral notice of any default or breach that has not been cured, and (iv) to the Knowledge of the Company, there does not exist under any Lease any event or condition which, with notice or lapse of time or both, would become a default or breach by any Company Group Member or, in each case, to the Company's Knowledge, the other party thereto.

(b) No Company Group Member is in material default or material violation of, or not in material compliance with, any legal requirements applicable to its occupancy of the Leased Real Property.

(c) No Company Group Member owns any land, buildings or other real property.

Section 4.20 Intellectual Property and Privacy and Security .

(a) ScheduleSection 4.20(a) sets forth a complete and correct list, as of the Original Agreement Date of all (i) registrations or applications for the following that are included in the Owned Intellectual Property: (A) trademarks, (B) patents, (C) copyrights, and (D) internet domain names, specifying as to each item, as applicable, the owner(s) of record, jurisdiction of application or registration, the application or registration number and the date of application or registration ("Registered Intellectual Property") and (ii) material unregistered trademarks, service marks or trade dress. Excluding any pending applications included in the Registered Intellectual Property, each item of Registered Intellectual Property and each material unregistered trademark is subsisting, valid and to the Knowledge of the Company, enforceable.

(b) The Company Group (i) solely and exclusively owns all right, title and interest in and to the Owned Intellectual Property free and clear of all Liens other than Permitted Liens, and (ii) has sufficient right to use and license, as applicable, the Licensed Intellectual Property. There is no Intellectual Property other than the Owned Intellectual Property and the Licensed Intellectual Property that is material or necessary for the operation of the respective businesses of the Company Group, as presently conducted.

(c) Neither the execution of this Agreement nor the consummation of the Transactions will: (i) result in the loss or impairment of the Company Group's right to own or use any of its Intellectual Property, or (ii) require the payment by Acquiror or any Company Group Member of any additional consideration for the Company Group's right to own or use any of its Intellectual Property.

(d) There is not, and there has not been since the Lookback Date, any Action pending, or threatened or received in writing, by the Company Group with respect to Owned Intellectual Property. To the Knowledge of the Company, no conduct of the Company Group, including the conduct of its respective businesses, infringes, misappropriates or otherwise violates, or has infringed, misappropriated or otherwise violated, any Intellectual Property of any third party, and no member of the Company group has received any notice or communication alleging any such infringement, misappropriation or other violation, including any offers to license. To the Knowledge of the Company, no third party is currently infringing, misappropriating, diluting or otherwise violating, or has, since the Lookback Date, infringed, misappropriated, diluted or otherwise violated, any of the Owned Intellectual Property.

(e) The Company Group has taken commercially reasonable steps under the circumstances to maintain, preserve, and protect all Trade Secrets and other confidential information of the Company Group or to which it has access. Each current or former employee, consultant and independent contractor of the Company Group who has contributed to or participated in the creation of any material Owned Intellectual Property has executed and delivered to a member of the Company Group either a (i) "work-for-hire" agreement under which a member of the Company Group is deemed to be the owner or author of all Intellectual Property rights created or developed by such Person, or (ii) a written assignment by such Person (by way of a present grant of assignment) in favor of the applicable member of the Company Group of all right, title and interest in and to such Intellectual Property, and in case of the foregoing clauses (i) and (ii), that also prohibits such Person, where commercially reasonable or customary, from using or disclosing any Trade Secrets included in the Owned Intellectual Property. To the Knowledge of the Company, no Person is in material breach of any such agreement.

(f) The Company Group Products operate in material conformity to all documentation and warranties therefor. The Company has not received any claims alleging that the Company Group Products violate any warranty.

(g) The Company Group is in possession of the source code and object code for all Software constituting their Owned Intellectual Property ("Owned Software"). No Company Group Member has ever disclosed, licensed or delivered to any escrow agent or any other Person any of the source code that is Owned Software, and no other Person has the right, contingent or otherwise, to obtain access or right to or use any such source code. No event has occurred, and no circumstance or condition exists, that (with or without notice or lapse of time or both) will, or would reasonably be expected to, result in the delivery, license or disclosure of any such source code that is Owned Software to any Person. Schedule 4.20(g) identifies all Open Source Code used in, linked or combined with, or distributed with any Owned Software, describes the manner in which such Open Source Code is used, modified, linked with, and/or distributed by the Company Group and identifies the licenses under which such Open Source Code is used. The Company Group has not incorporated any "open source", "copyleft" or analogous license (including any license approved by the Open Source Initiative and listed at <http://www.opensource.org/licenses>) ("Open Source Code") into Owned Software, combined or linked Owned Software with any Open Source Code, distributed Open Source Code in conjunction with Owned Software, or used, developed, incorporated or distributed Open Source Code, in each case in a manner that requires that any of the Owned Software (other than such Open Source Code) to be (i) licensed, disclosed or distributed in source code form, (ii) licensed for the purpose of making derivative works, or (iii) redistributable at no charge or minimal charge. The Company Group is in compliance with the terms of the applicable open source licenses for all Open Source Code included in, linked or combined with, or distributed with any Owned Software.

(h) The Company Group has taken commercially reasonable efforts consistent with industry standards to protect the confidentiality, integrity and security of the IT Systems of the Company Group from any unauthorized use, access, interruption, or modification. Such IT Systems (i) operate and run in a commercially reasonable manner in all material respects, and (ii) are free from any virus, malware, programming or design error, corruption or defect. The IT Systems of the Company Group are sufficient for the current needs of the Company Group in all material respects. The Company Group has implemented and maintained commercially reasonable disaster recovery and business continuity plans, procedures and facilities, acted in compliance therewith, and has taken commercially reasonable steps to test such plans and procedures on a periodic basis.

(i) The Company Group is, and at all times since the Lookback Date has been in all material respects, in compliance with all Privacy Laws and Privacy Commitments. The Company Group has all rights necessary to collect and Process all Personal Information used in the business of the Company Group. The Company Group has in place, maintains and enforces policies, procedures, and rules regarding data privacy, protection, and security as required by all Privacy Laws and Privacy Commitments, and such policies accurately reflect the Company Group's practices. Since the Lookback Date, the Company Group has not experienced any actual or suspected incident in which Personal Information or Trade Secret was stolen or improperly accessed, used, processed, transferred, disclosed, destroyed, lost, or otherwise compromised, and the Company Group has not received any written complaints from any Person with respect thereto. No Action is pending or has been made or threatened against Company Group alleging that any use, disclosure, or Processing of Personal Information by the Company Group or a Company Group Member is in violation of a Privacy Commitment.

(j) Each Company Group Member has and, since the Lookback Date has had, in place contractual arrangements with each entity for or on behalf of which such Company Group Member Processes Personal Information, such contractual arrangements requiring protection of Personal Information in a manner consistent with the respective Privacy Commitment.

Section 4.21 Environmental Matters. Except, in each case, as is not and would not reasonably be expected to be, individually or in the aggregate, to have a Company Material Adverse Effect:

(a) The Company Group is, and since the Lookback Date has been, in compliance in all material respects with all Environmental Laws, which includes and has included holding and complying in all respects with all Permits required under Environmental Laws.

(b) There are no Actions or notices of violation pending against or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened against any Company Group Member alleging, and no Company Group Member has received any written notice, report or other information regarding, any violations of or liability under any Environmental Law or any violations or liability concerning any Hazardous Materials, nor, to the Knowledge of the Company, is there any basis for any such claims or notices.

(c) All Permits required under any Environmental Law that are necessary for the Company Group's activities and operations at the Leased Real Property and for any applicable operations at any other location are currently effective. Schedule 4.21(c) set forth a true and complete list of all such Permits. All activities and operations of the Company Group are and since the Lookback Date, have been in compliance with all terms and conditions of such Permits. Any applications for renewal of such Permits have been submitted on a timely basis.

(d) To the Knowledge of the Company, there has been no release of any Hazardous Materials at, on, or from the Leased Real Properties in a manner that has given rise to, or would reasonably be expected to give rise to, liability or investigation or remedial obligations for the Company Group under applicable Environmental Laws.

(e) To the Knowledge of the Company, there has been no manufacture, release, treatment, storage, disposal, arrangement for disposal, transport or handling of, contamination by, or exposure of any Person to, any Hazardous Materials.

(f) Except as may be provided in the lease agreements for the Leased Real Property, no Company Group Member has assumed, undertaken, agreed to indemnify or otherwise become subject to any liability of any other Person relating to or arising from any Environmental Law.

Section 4.22 Absence of Changes. Since December 31, 2021, (a) each Company Group Member has conducted its business in all material respects in the ordinary course of business and in a manner consistent with past practice, except with respect to the Class C Investment, the Business Combination and the other Transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the other Transaction Agreements, (b) none of the Company Group Members has taken any action, that if taken after the Original Agreement Date, would constitute a breach of the covenants set forth in Sections 6.01(a), 6.01(b), 6.01(e), or 6.01(q), and (c) no Company Material Adverse Effect has occurred and, to the Knowledge of the Company, there has not been any change, effect, event, circumstance, occurrence or state of facts that would, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect.

Section 4.23 Brokers' Fees. Other than as set forth on ScheduleSection 4.23, no broker, finder, financial advisor, investment banker or other Person is entitled to any brokerage fee, finders' fee or other similar fee, commission or other similar payment in connection with the Transactions based upon arrangements made by or on behalf of any Company Group Member.

Section 4.24 Related Party Transactions. Except for the Contracts set forth on Schedule 4.24, there are no Contracts between a Company Group Member, on the one hand, and any Affiliate, officer, director or holder of at least 2.5% of the outstanding capital stock of the Company or any officer or director of any Company Group Member or, to the Company's Knowledge, any Affiliate or immediate family member of any of the foregoing, on the other hand, except in each case, for (a) employment agreements, offer letters, consulting agreements, contracting agreements, fringe benefits and other compensation paid to directors, officers, employees and other service providers, (b) reimbursements of expenses incurred in connection with their employment or service (excluding from clause (a) and this clause (b) any loans made by any Company Group Member to any officer, director, employee or equityholder and all related arrangements, including any pledge arrangements), (c) any indemnification agreements with any directors or officers, (d) Company Benefit Plans listed on ScheduleSection 4.13(a) and amounts paid pursuant to Company Benefit Plans listed on ScheduleSection 4.13(a) and (e) Contracts related to the purchase of Equity Securities listed on ScheduleSection 4.06(a). For purposes of this Section 4.24, portfolio companies of venture capital or private equity investors that are not controlled by such investors shall not be deemed "Affiliates" of such investors.

Section 4.25 Anti-Corruption.

(a) No Company Group Member, nor, to the Knowledge of the Company, any of their respective officers, directors, employees, agents or other third-party representatives acting on behalf of any Company Group Member, is currently, or has been in the last five years: (i) a Sanctioned Person; (ii) organized, resident or located in a Sanctioned Country; (iii) knowingly engaging in any dealings or transactions with any Sanctioned Person or in any Sanctioned Country; or (iv) otherwise in material violation of applicable Sanctions Laws, or U.S. anti-boycott Laws (collectively, "Trade Controls").

(b) No Company Group Member, nor, to the Knowledge of the Company, any of their respective officers, directors, employees, agents or other third-party representatives acting on behalf of the any Company Group Member, has since the Lookback Date made any unlawful payment or given, offered, promised, or authorized or agreed to give, or received, any money or thing of value, directly or indirectly, to or from any Governmental Authority or other Person in violation of any Anti-Corruption Laws.

(c) Since the Lookback Date, no Company Group Member has received from any Governmental Authority or any other Person any written notice, inquiry, or internal or external allegation; made any voluntary or involuntary disclosure to a Governmental Authority; or conducted any internal investigation or audit concerning any actual or potential violation or wrongdoing related to Trade Controls or Anti-Corruption Laws. The Company Group has maintained and enforced policies, procedures and internal controls reasonably designed to ensure compliance with Anti-Corruption Laws and Trade Controls.

Section 4.26 Healthcare Regulatory Matters.

(a) Each Company Group Member is currently in material compliance with and, since January 1, 2019, each Company Group Member has complied in all material respects, with all Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws. Since January 1, 2019, each Company Group Member has maintained and complied in all material respects with a corporate compliance program that includes the implementation of policies, procedures, and training programs, and other compliance activities designed for its employees and agents to comply with all Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws.

(b) No Company Group Member has been subject to (or has not received any written notice of) any pending or threatened action by any Governmental Authority alleging any violation of or noncompliance with any Applicable Healthcare Industry Law. The Company has not ever been a party to a corporate integrity agreement with the Office of Inspector General for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, or any deferred prosecution agreement or settlement agreement with any Governmental Authority. To the Knowledge of the Company, there is no act, omission, event or circumstance by any Company Group Member that would or reasonably would be expected to result in any such action.

(c) No officer or director of the Company Group, or to the Knowledge of the Company, any agent or employee thereof (i) has made any fraudulent or untrue statement to or failed to disclose a fact required to be disclosed to any Governmental Authority or (ii) has committed an act, made a statement or failed to make a statement that would provide the basis for any Governmental Authority to take an adverse action against any Company Group Member under any Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws.

(d) No Company Group Member, nor any of their respective employees, managers, partners, directors, officers, contractors, agents, or other persons acting on their behalf is or ever has been debarred, excluded, restricted, prohibited, or terminated from participation in any federal or state health care program, including Medicare and Medicaid.

(e) Since January 1, 2019, each Company Group Member has complied in all material respects with the terms of all contracts to provide products or services to any Governmental Authority.

(f) Each Company Group Member currently maintains and, for the previous five (5) years, has maintained privacy and security policies, procedures and safeguards that comply in all material respects with applicable HIPAA requirements. When functioning either as a "Covered Entity" or as a "Business Associate" (as defined in 45 C.F.R. § 160.103), each Company Group Member is a party to a business associate agreement with each person who is a Business Associate or a downstream Business Associate of such Company Group Member as required by and in accordance with applicable Privacy Laws. Each Company Group Member has entered into all required Business Associate (as defined in HIPAA) agreements. Each Company Group Member is in material compliance with the terms of each business associate agreement to which it is a party. To the Knowledge of the Company, all third parties that have entered into a business associate agreement with a Company Group Member are in material compliance with the terms of that business associate agreement. To the Knowledge of the Company, all third parties that have provided Personal Information to a Company Group Member have done so in compliance in all material respects with applicable Privacy Laws and applicable business associate agreement terms, including providing any notice and obtaining any applicable authorization or consent when required. No Company Group Member has received written notice of, and there is no litigation, proceeding (at law or in equity) pending or, to the Knowledge of the Company, threatened, and there is no inquiry or investigation pending or threatened with respect to, any alleged Breach of Unsecured

PHI, as defined by HIPAA, or any other violation of HIPAA by any Company Group Member or its respective "workforce" (as defined under HIPAA). No Breach of Unsecured PHI by any Company Group Member or its "workforce" and no successful "security incident" (as defined in 45 C.F.R. § 164.304) has occurred with respect to "protected health information" (as defined in 45 C.F.R. § 160.103) in the possession or under the control of any Company Group Member or any business associate or downstream business associate of any Company Group Member.

(g) Each Company Group Member is currently in material compliance with and, since January 1, 2019, each Company Group Member has at all times complied, in all material respects, with all terms and conditions of any contract with any government entity including the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services within the United States Department of Health and Human Services.

(h) Billing Practices; Accounts Receivable. The Company Group Members' billing practices are in compliance in all material respects with applicable Law (including all workers' compensation and insurance laws and regulations), and, where applicable, all Conditions of Participation (CoPs) and Conditions for Coverage (CfCs) in order to begin and continue participating in the Medicare and Medicaid programs as well as in programs with other governmental healthcare programs. There is no overpayment, failure to repay an overpayment, request for payment or submission of data that is likely to give rise to an overpayment or to an allegation any Company Group Member has violated any Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws including the False Claims Act (31 U.S.C. §§ 3729 et. seq.) or the Federal Fraud and Abuse Statutes (42 U.S.C. §§ 1320a-7, 7a and 7b).

(i) Payor Contracts. Schedule 4.26(j) lists, for each of the ten (10) payors whose covered members make up the largest numbers of the Company's patients for the twelve (12) month period ending on December 31, 2021 (the "Key Payors") and for the six (6)-month period ending on June 30, 2022, the approximate percentage and dollar amount of annual (pro-rated for partial periods) revenues to or payments by any Company Group Member or Key Payors for the applicable period(s). To the Knowledge of the Company, no event has occurred that would reasonably be expected to materially and adversely affect any Company Group Member's relations with any Key Payor. Each Company Group Member has provided or, with respect to matters occurring after the Original Agreement Date, will provide, Acquiror with written notice of any Key Payor that, since December 31, 2021, (i) has terminated, not renewed, cancelled, materially altered any Material Contract or substantially decreased its business done with any Company Group Member or has indicated in writing or, to Company's Knowledge, orally that it will do any of the foregoing, or (ii) has asserted a breach or default in writing against Company under any contract. The Company Group Members' contracts with the Key Payors are in writing and signed by or on behalf of the parties thereto, and constitute valid, binding and enforceable agreements of the applicable Company Group Member, and, to the Knowledge of the Company, the other parties thereto, and were entered into in the ordinary course of business.

(j) COVID-19.

(i) COVID-19 Measures. With respect to all of the geographic areas (whether state, county or local) in which the Company Group operates, there are no COVID-19 Measures materially restricting the Company Group (or any current employee, officer, manager, independent contractor or consultant of the Company Group) from operating in the ordinary course of business; provided, however, that if the Company Group (or any current employee, officer, manager, independent contractor or consultant of the Company Group) is relying on an exemption under a COVID-19 Measures that would otherwise apply absent such exemption, such exemption is set forth on Schedule 4.26(j).

(ii) Health Care Matters. The Company Group has not taken advantage of any limited liability under the Public Readiness and Emergency Preparedness Act (the "PREP Act") to address alleged claims for damages arising from its distribution or use of "covered countermeasures," as defined in the PREP Act, during the outbreak of COVID-19.

Section 4.27 Proxy Statement; Registration Statement; Information Provided. None of the information relating to the Company Group supplied or to be supplied by any Company Group Member, or by any other Person acting on behalf of the Company Group, in writing specifically for inclusion in the Proxy Statement or Registration Statement will, as of the date of such document (or any amendment or supplement thereto) is first mailed, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; provided, however, that the Company Group makes no representations or warranties as to the information contained in or omitted from such document (a) that is modified in any material respect by Acquiror or any of its Affiliates or Representatives without the Company Group's prior written approval which is misleading by virtue of such modification or (b) in reliance upon and in conformity with information furnished in writing by or on behalf of Acquiror or any of its Affiliates specifically for inclusion in such document which is misleading by virtue of such reliance and conformity. Each of the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement, insofar as it relates to information supplied by or on behalf of the Company related to the Company or its Subsidiaries for inclusion therein, will comply as to form in all material respects with the provisions of the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder. All information with respect to the Company Group that was delivered by or on behalf of the Company for inclusion in the Acquiror Investor Presentation being delivered concurrently with the announcement of this transaction was prepared in good faith using assumptions that the Company believes to be reasonable.

Section 4.28 Company Equityholder Matters. Each Company Equityholder is an "accredited investor" as that term is defined in Rule 501(a) of Regulation D under the Securities Act, can bear the economic risk of its investment in the Acquiror Common Stock and possesses such knowledge and experience in financial and business matters that such Company Equityholder is capable of evaluating the merits and risks of the investment in the Acquiror Common Stock.

ARTICLE V REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF ACQUIROR

Except as set forth in the Schedules to this Agreement dated as of the Original Agreement Date (each of which qualifies (a) the correspondingly numbered representation, warranty or covenant if specified therein and (b) such other representations, warranties or covenants where its relevance as an exception to (or disclosure for purposes of) such other representation, warranty or covenant is reasonably apparent on its face) or in the SEC Reports filed or furnished by Acquiror prior to the Original Agreement Date (excluding any disclosures in such SEC Reports under the headings "Risk Factors," "Forward-Looking Statements" or "Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk" and other disclosures that are predictive, cautionary or forward looking in nature), Acquiror represents and warrants to the Company as follows:

Section 5.01 Corporate Organization of Acquiror. Acquiror is duly incorporated or formed and is validly existing as a corporation in good standing under the Laws of Delaware and has the corporate power and authority to own, lease or operate its assets and properties and to conduct its business as it is now being conducted. The copies of the Acquiror Organizational Documents previously delivered by Acquiror to the Company are (a) true, correct and complete (b) in full force and effect as of the Original Agreement Date, and (c) have not been amended in any respect from the copies made available to the Company. The Parties is, and at all times has been, in compliance in all material respects with all restrictions, covenants, terms and provisions set forth in the Acquiror Organizational Documents. Acquiror is duly licensed or qualified and in good standing as a foreign corporation in all jurisdictions in which its ownership of property or the character of its activities is such as to require it to be so licensed or qualified, except where failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.02 Due Authorization.

(a) Acquiror has all requisite corporate or entity power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and each Transaction Agreement to which it is a party and, upon receipt of the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, to perform its obligations hereunder and thereunder and to consummate the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby. The execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and such Transaction Agreements and the consummation of the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by Acquiror Board and, except for the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, no other corporate or equivalent proceeding on the part of Acquiror is necessary to authorize this Agreement or such Transaction Agreements or Acquiror's performance hereunder or thereunder. This Agreement has been, and each such Transaction

Agreement to which Acquiror will be party, duly and validly executed and delivered by Acquiror and, assuming due authorization and execution by each other party hereto and thereto, this Agreement constitutes, and each such Transaction Agreement to which Acquiror will be party, will constitute a legal, valid and binding obligation of Acquiror, enforceable against Acquiror in accordance with its terms, subject to the Enforceability Exceptions.

(b) At a meeting duly called and held, the Acquiror Board has: (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions are fair to and in the best interests of Acquiror's stockholders, (ii) approved the Transactions (iii) resolved to recommend to the stockholders of Acquiror the approval of each of the Transaction Proposals, and (iv) determined that the fair market value of the Company is equal to at least 80% of the amount held in the Trust Account (excluding any deferred underwriting commissions and taxes payable on interest earned on the Trust Account) as of the Original Agreement Date.

(c) Assuming that a quorum (as determined pursuant to the Acquiror Organizational Documents) is present, each of the Transaction Proposals shall require approval by an affirmative vote of the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding Acquiror Common Stock entitled to vote thereupon (as determined pursuant to the Acquiror Organizational Documents) at a stockholders' meeting duly called by the Acquiror Board and held for such purpose. The foregoing votes in this Section 5.02(c) are the only votes of any of Acquiror's capital stock necessary in connection with entry into this Agreement by Acquiror and the consummation of the Transactions and the approval of the Transaction Proposals.

Section 5.03 No Conflict. The execution, delivery and performance of this Agreement and any Transaction Agreement to which Acquiror is a party by Acquiror and, upon receipt of the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, the consummation of the Transactions and the transactions contemplated thereby or by any Transaction Agreement do not and will not (a) conflict with or violate any provision of, or result in the breach of the Acquiror Organizational Documents, (b) conflict with or result in any violation of any provision of any Law or Governmental Order binding on or applicable to Acquiror or any of its properties or assets, (c) violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, or result in the termination or acceleration of, or a right of termination, cancellation, modification, acceleration or amendment under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the acceleration or trigger of any payment, posting of collateral (or right to require the posting of collateral), time of payment, vesting or increase in the amount of any compensation or benefit payable pursuant to, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any Contract to which Acquiror is a party or by which any of its assets, properties or Equity Securities may be bound or affected, or (d) result in the creation of any Lien upon any of the properties, assets or Equity Securities of Acquiror, except in the case of each of clauses (b) through (d) as would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.04 Litigation and Proceedings; Compliance with Laws. There are no pending or, to the knowledge of Acquiror, threatened, Actions and, to the knowledge of Acquiror, there are no pending or threatened investigations, in each case, against Acquiror, or otherwise affecting Acquiror or its assets, which, if determined adversely, could, individually or in the aggregate, have an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect. There is no unsatisfied judgment or any open injunction binding upon Acquiror. Except where the failure to be, or to have been, in compliance with such Laws has not, and would not, individually or in the aggregate, be material to Acquiror, taken as a whole, or would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect, or as otherwise set forth on Schedule 5.04, Acquiror is and has been in compliance with all applicable Laws. Acquiror has not received any written notice of any violations of applicable Laws or Governmental Orders and, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, no assertion or Action of any violation of any Law or Governmental Order by any Governmental Authority is currently threatened (in writing) against Acquiror, in each case of the foregoing, except as has not had, and would not be reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect. No investigation or review by any Governmental Authority is pending or, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, threatened with respect to Acquiror, and no such investigations have been conducted by any Governmental Authority, in each case, except as has not had, and would not be reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.05 Governmental Authorities; Consents. No action by, consent, approval, permit or authorization of, or designation, declaration or filing with, any Governmental Authority or notice, approval, consent waiver or authorization from any Governmental Authority is required on the part of Acquiror with respect to the execution or delivery and performance of this Agreement by Acquiror or any Transaction Agreement to which any of Acquiror is a party, as applicable, or the consummation of the Transactions or the transactions contemplated thereby, except for (a) applicable requirements of the HSR Act, (b) the filing with the SEC of (i) the Proxy Statement (and the expiration of the waiting period in Rule 14a-6(a) under the Exchange Act or, if the preliminary Proxy Statement is reviewed by the SEC, receipt of oral or written notification of the completion of the review by the SEC), (ii) the Registration Statement and declaration of effectiveness with respect thereto by the SEC and (iii) such reports under Section 13(a) or 15(d) of the Exchange Act as may be required in connection with this Agreement, the Transaction Agreements or the Transactions or the transactions contemplated thereby, (c) such filings with and approval of Nasdaq to permit the Acquiror Common Stock to be issued in connection with the Transactions and the other Transaction Agreements to be listed on the Nasdaq, (d) the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, or (e) any actions, consents, approvals, permits or authorizations, designations, declarations or filings, the absence of which would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.06 Trust Account. As of the Original Agreement Date, there is at least $333,500,000 held in a trust account (the "Trust Account"), maintained by Continental Stock Transfer & Trust Company, a New York corporation, acting as trustee (the "Trustee"), pursuant to the Investment Management Trust Agreement, dated as of March 9, 2021, by and between Acquiror and the Trustee on file with the SEC Reports of Acquiror as of the Original Agreement Date (the "Trust Agreement"). Prior to the Closing, none of the funds held in the Trust Account may be released except in accordance with the Trust Agreement, Acquiror Organizational Documents and Acquiror's final prospectus, dated as of March 9, 2021 and filed with the SEC (File No 333-253079) on March 11, 2021 (the "IPO Prospectus"). Amounts in the Trust Account are invested in United States Government securities or in money market funds meeting certain conditions under Rule 2a-7 promulgated under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended. Acquiror has performed all material obligations required to be performed by it to date under, and is not in material default, breach or delinquent in performance or any other respect (claimed or actual) in connection with, the Trust Agreement, and no event has occurred which, with due notice or lapse of time or both, would constitute such a default or breach thereunder. The Trust Agreement is in full force and effect and is a legal, valid and binding obligation of Acquiror and, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, the Trustee, enforceable in accordance with its terms, subject to the Enforceability Exceptions. The Trust Agreement has not been terminated, repudiated, rescinded, amended or supplemented or modified, in any respect, and to the Knowledge of Acquiror, no such termination, repudiation, rescission, amendment, supplement or modification is contemplated. There are no separate Contracts, side letters or other arrangements (whether written or unwritten, express or implied) that would cause the description of the Trust Agreement in the SEC Reports filed or furnished by Acquiror to be inaccurate or that would entitle any Person (other than stockholders of Acquiror holding Acquiror Common Stock sold under the IPO Prospectus may elect to redeem their shares of Acquiror Common Stock pursuant to the Acquiror Organizational Documents and the underwriters of Acquiror's initial public offering with respect to deferred underwriting commissions) to any portion of the proceeds in the Trust Account. As of the Original Agreement Date, assuming the accuracy of the representations and warranties of the Company contained herein and the compliance by the Company with their obligations hereunder, Acquiror has no reason to believe that any of the conditions to the use of funds in the Trust Account will not be satisfied or funds available in the Trust Account will not be available to Acquiror on the Closing Date. There are no Actions pending with respect to the Trust Account. Since March 9, 2021, Acquiror has not released any money from the Trust Account (other than as permitted by the Trust Agreement). As of the Closing, the obligations of Acquiror to dissolve or liquidate pursuant to the Acquiror Organizational Documents shall terminate, and, as of the Closing, Acquiror shall have no obligation whatsoever pursuant to the Acquiror Organizational Documents to dissolve and liquidate the assets of Acquiror by reason of the consummation of the Transactions. Following the Closing, no stockholder of Acquiror shall be entitled to receive any amount from the Trust Account except to the extent such stockholder shall have elected to tender its shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock for redemption pursuant to the Acquiror Stockholder Redemption.

Section 5.07 Brokers' Fees. Other than as set forth on Schedule 5.07, no broker, finder, financial advisor, investment banker or other Person is entitled to any brokerage fee, finders' fee, underwriting fee, deferred underwriting fee or other similar fee, commission or other similar payment in connection with the Transactions based upon arrangements made by Acquiror or any of its Affiliates, including the Sponsor.

Section 5.08 SEC Reports; Financial Statements; Sarbanes-Oxley Act; Undisclosed Liabilities .

(a) Acquiror has filed or furnished in a timely manner all required registration statements, reports, schedules, forms, statements and other documents required to be filed or furnished by it with the SEC prior to the Original Agreement Date (collectively, as they have been amended since the time of their filing and including all exhibits thereto, the "SEC Reports"), and, as of the Closing, will have filed or furnished all other statements, reports, schedules, forms, statements and other documents required to be filed or furnished with the SEC subsequent to the Original Agreement Date (collectively, as they have been amended since the time of their filing and including all exhibits thereto, but excluding the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement, the "Additional SEC Reports"). None of the SEC Reports, as of their respective dates (or if amended or superseded by a filing prior to the Closing Date, then on the date of such filing) and none of the Additional SEC Reports as of their respective dates (or if amended or superseded by a filing prior to the Closing Date, then on the date of such filing), contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements made therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. The audited financial statements and unaudited interim financial statements (including, in each case, the notes and schedules thereto) included in the SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto, were prepared in accordance with GAAP applied on a consistent basis during the periods involved (except as may be indicated therein or in the notes thereto and except with respect to unaudited statements as permitted by Form 10-Q of the SEC) and fairly present (subject, in the case of the unaudited interim financial statements included therein, to normal year-end adjustments and the absence of complete footnotes, the impact of which is not material) in all material respects the financial position of Acquiror as of the respective dates thereof and the results of their operations cash flows and changes in equity for the respective periods then ended. The audited financial statements and unaudited interim financial statements (including, in each case, the notes and schedules thereto) included in the SEC Reports were derived from, and accurately reflect in all material respects, the books and records of Acquiror. Acquiror has no material off-balance sheet arrangements that are not disclosed in the SEC Reports.

(b) Acquiror has established and maintains disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15 under the Exchange Act). Such disclosure controls and procedures are designed to ensure that material information relating to Acquiror is made known to Acquiror's principal executive officer and its principal financial officer. To the Knowledge of Acquiror, such disclosure controls and procedures are effective in timely alerting Acquiror's principal executive officer and principal financial officer to material information required to be included in Acquiror's financial statements included in Acquiror's periodic reports required under the Exchange Act.

(c) Acquiror has established and maintains systems of internal accounting controls that are designed to provide reasonable assurance that (i) all transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and (ii) all transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of proper and accurate financial statements in accordance with GAAP and to maintain accountability for Acquiror's assets. Acquiror maintains, and, has maintained, books and records in the ordinary course of business that are accurate and complete and reflect the revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities of Acquiror in all material respects.

(d) There is no (i) "significant deficiency" in the internal controls over financial reporting of Acquiror, (ii) "material weakness" in the internal controls over financial reporting of Acquiror, or (iii) fraud, whether or not material, that involves management or other employees of Acquiror who have a significant role in the internal controls over financial reporting of Acquiror.

(e) To the Knowledge of Acquiror, as of the Original Agreement Date, there are no outstanding comments from the SEC with respect to the SEC Reports. To the Knowledge of Acquiror, none of the SEC Reports filed on or prior to the Original Agreement Date is subject to ongoing SEC review or investigation as of the Original Agreement Date.

(f) Notwithstanding anything in this Section 5.08 or otherwise in this Agreement to the contrary, no representation or warranty is made by Acquiror as to the accounting treatment of the Acquiror Warrants or other changes in accounting arising in connection with any required restatement of Acquiror's historical financial statements, or as to any deficiencies in disclosure (including with respect to financial statement presentation or accounting and disclosure controls) arising from the treatment of such Acquiror Warrants as equity rather than liabilities or other required changes in the SEC Reports.

Section 5.09 Business Activities; Undisclosed Liabilities ;.

(a) Since its incorporation, Acquiror has not conducted any business activities other than activities directed toward the consummation of a business combination or similar transaction. Except as set forth in the Acquiror Organizational Documents, there is no agreement, commitment, or Governmental Order binding upon Acquiror or to which Acquiror is a party which has or would reasonably be expected to have the effect of prohibiting or impairing any business practice of Acquiror or any acquisition of property by Acquiror or the conduct of business by Acquiror as currently conducted or as contemplated to be conducted as of the Closing other than such effects, individually or in the aggregate, which would not reasonably be expected to have an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

(b) Acquiror does not own or have a right to acquire, directly or indirectly, any interest or investment (whether equity or debt) in any corporation, partnership, joint venture, business, trust or other entity. Except for this Agreement and the Transactions, Acquiror does not have any interests, rights, obligations or liabilities with respect to, or is party to, bound by or has its assets or property subject to, in each case whether directly or indirectly, any Contract or transaction which is, or could reasonably be interpreted as constituting, a business combination. Acquiror has no Subsidiaries.

(c) Except as set forth on Schedule 5.09(c), as of the Original Agreement Date, Acquiror has no liability, debt or obligation, whether accrued, contingent, absolute, determined, determinable or otherwise, except for liabilities, debts or obligations (a) reflected or reserved for in the most recent audited financial statements and interim financial statements included in the SEC Reports (b) that have arisen since June 30, 2022 in the ordinary course of business of Acquiror, none of which is a liability for a breach of contract, breach of warranty or infringement or violation of Law, (c) arising under this Agreement or the performance by Acquiror of its obligations hereunder, including transaction expenses, (d) that would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to be material to Acquiror, taken as a whole, or (e) that would not be required to be set forth on a consolidated balance sheet of Acquiror prepared in accordance with GAAP. Acquiror is not a party to any "off-balance sheet arrangement" (as defined in Item 303(a) of Regulation S-K promulgated by the Securities and Exchange Commission).

Section 5.10 Taxes.

(a) All income and other material Tax Returns required by Law to be filed by Acquiror have been duly filed with the appropriate Governmental Authority, and all such Tax Returns are true, correct and complete in all material respects.

(b) All material amounts of Taxes due and owing by Acquiror (whether or not reflected on any Tax Return) have been duly paid to the appropriate Governmental Authority, and since December 31, 2021, Acquiror has not incurred any material Tax liability outside the ordinary course of business.

(c) Acquiror has (i) withheld and deducted all material amounts of Taxes required to have been withheld or deducted by it in connection with amounts paid or owed to any employee, independent contractor, creditor, member, or any other third party, (ii) duly and timely remitted such amounts to the appropriate Governmental Authority, and (iii) complied in all material respects with applicable Laws with respect to Tax withholding, including all reporting and record keeping requirements.

(d) Acquiror has not engaged in any audit, administrative proceeding or judicial proceeding with respect to Taxes. Acquiror is not the subject of any dispute or claim with respect to Taxes, other than disputes or claims that have been resolved, and no such claims have been threatened in writing. All deficiencies for Taxes asserted or assessed in writing against Acquiror have been fully and timely (taking into account applicable extensions) paid, settled or withdrawn.

(e) No written claim has been made by any Governmental Authority in a jurisdiction where Acquiror does not file a Tax Return that Acquiror is or may be subject to Tax or required to file a Tax Return in that jurisdiction.

(f) There are no outstanding agreements extending or waiving the statutory period of limitations applicable to any claim for, or the period for the collection or assessment or reassessment of, Taxes of Acquiror, and no written request for any such waiver or extension is currently pending.

(g) Acquiror has not constituted either a "distributing corporation" or a "controlled corporation" in a distribution of stock qualifying for income tax-free treatment under Section 355 of the Code (or so much of Section 356 of the Code as relates to Section 355 of the Code).

(h) Acquiror has not been a party to any "listed transaction" within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.6011-4(b)(2) (or any similar or corresponding provision of state, local or foreign Law).

(i) There are no Liens with respect to Taxes on any of the assets of Acquiror, other than Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable.

(j) Acquiror has not entered into any "closing agreement" or similar agreement or arrangement with a Governmental Authority relating to Taxes.

(k) Acquiror (i) has not been a member of an affiliated, combined, consolidated, unitary or other group for Tax purposes other than such a group for which Acquiror is the common parent, or (ii) has no any liability for or in respect of the Taxes of any Person (A) as a result of being a member of an affiliated, combined, consolidated, unitary or other group for Tax purposes, including under Treasury Regulations Section 1.1502-6 (or any similar or corresponding provision of state, local or foreign Law) or (B) as a transferee or successor, by Contract, assumption or operation of law, or otherwise (except, in each case, for liabilities pursuant to customary commercial contracts entered into in the ordinary course of business and not primarily relating to Taxes).

(l) Acquiror is not a party to, or bound by, or has any obligation to any Governmental Authority or other Person under any Tax allocation, Tax sharing, Tax indemnification or similar agreement or arrangement (except, in each case, for liabilities pursuant to customary commercial contracts not primarily relating to Taxes).

(m) Since its formation, Acquiror has been treated as a corporation that is a United States person for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

Section 5.11 Capitalization.

(a) As of the Original Agreement Date, the authorized capital stock of Acquiror consists of 221,000,000 shares of capital stock, including (i) 200,000,000 shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock, (ii) 20,000,000 shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock, and (iii) 1,000,000 shares of preferred stock ("Acquiror Preferred Stock") of which (A) 33,350,000 shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock are issued and outstanding as of the Original Agreement Date, (B) 8,337,500 shares of Acquiror Class B Common Stock are issued and outstanding as of the Original Agreement Date, and (C) no shares of Acquiror Preferred Stock are issued and outstanding as of the Original Agreement Date. All of the issued and outstanding shares of Acquiror Common Stock (I) have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid and non-assessable, (II) were issued in compliance in all material respects with applicable Law, and (III) were not issued in breach or violation of any preemptive rights or Contract. As of the Original Agreement Date, Acquiror has issued 6,113,333 Acquiror Warrants that entitle the holder thereof to purchase Acquiror Class A Common Stock at an exercise price of $11.50 per share on the terms and conditions set forth in the applicable warrant agreement.

(b) Except for this Agreement and the Acquiror Warrants, or as set forth in Section 5.11(a), as of the Original Agreement there are no outstanding or authorized options, promises of equity of Acquiror, equity appreciation rights, phantom equity, profit participation or similar compensatory equity or equity-linked awards with respect to the Equity Securities of, or other equity or voting interest in, Acquiror. Except as disclosed in the SEC Reports or the Acquiror Organizational Documents, there are no outstanding contractual obligations of Acquiror to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any securities or equity interests of Acquiror. There are no outstanding bonds, debentures, notes or other indebtedness of Acquiror having the right to vote (or convertible into, or exchangeable for, securities having the right to vote) on any matter for which Acquiror's stockholders may vote. Except as disclosed in the SEC Reports, Acquiror is not a party to any shareholders agreement, voting agreement or registration rights agreement relating to Acquiror Common Stock or any other equity interests of Acquiror.

(c) Acquiror does not own any capital stock or any other equity interests in any other Person or have any right, option, warrant, conversion right, stock appreciation right, redemption right, repurchase right, agreement, arrangement or commitment of any character under which a Person is or may become obligated to issue or sell, or give any right to subscribe for or acquire, or in any way dispose of, any shares of the capital stock or other equity interests, or any securities or obligations exercisable or exchangeable for or convertible into any shares of the capital stock or other equity interests, of such Person.

(d) There are no declared but unpaid dividends or distributions in respect of any Equity Securities of Acquiror and Acquiror has never made, declared, set aside, established a record date for or paid any dividends or distributions since its formation.

Section 5.12 Nasdaq Stock Market Listing. The issued and outstanding Acquiror Units, each such unit consisting of one share of Acquiror Class A Common Stock and one-fourth of one Acquiror Warrant, are registered pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Exchange Act and are listed for trading on the Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCU". The issued and outstanding shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock are registered pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Exchange Act and are listed for trading on the Nasdaq under the symbol "DTC". The issued and outstanding Acquiror Warrants are registered pursuant to Section 12(b) of the Exchange Act and are listed for trading on the Nasdaq under the symbol "DTCW". As of the Original Agreement Date, Acquiror is in compliance in all material respects with the applicable Nasdaq corporate governance requirements for continued listing of the Acquiror Common Stock and Acquiror Warrants. There is no Action pending or, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, threatened against Acquiror by the Nasdaq or the SEC with respect to any intention by such entity to deregister the Acquiror Class A Common Stock or Acquiror Warrants on the Nasdaq. None of Acquiror or its Affiliates has taken any action in an attempt to terminate the registration of the Acquiror Common Stock or Acquiror Warrants under the Exchange Act except as contemplated by this Agreement. Acquiror has not received any notice from the Nasdaq or the SEC regarding the revocation of such listing or otherwise regarding the delisting of the Acquiror Class A Common Stock from the Nasdaq or deregistering of the Acquiror Class A Common Stock with the SEC.

Section 5.13 Related Party Transactions. Except as described in the SEC Reports and set forth on Schedule 5.13, there are no transactions, Contracts, arrangements or understandings between Acquiror, on the one hand, and any director, officer, employee, stockholder, equityholder, warrant holder or Affiliate of Acquiror or, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, any Affiliate or family member of any of the foregoing, on the other hand.

Section 5.14 Proxy Statement; Registration Statement. None of the information relating to Acquiror supplied or to be supplied by Acquiror, or by any other Person acting on behalf of Acquiror, in writing specifically for inclusion in the Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement will, as of the date of such document (or any amendment or supplement thereto) is first mailed, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; provided, however, that Acquiror makes no representations or warranties as to the information contained in or omitted from such document (a) that is modified in any material respect by Company or any of its Subsidiaries or Representatives without the Acquiror's prior written approval which is misleading by virtue of such modification or (b) in reliance upon and in conformity with information furnished in writing by or on behalf of Company or any of its Subsidiaries specifically for inclusion in such document which is misleading by virtue of such reliance and conformity. Each of the Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement, insofar as it relates to information supplied by or on behalf of Acquiror related to Acquiror for inclusion therein, will comply as to form in all material respects with the provisions of the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

Section 5.15 Absence of Changes. Since December 31, 2021, (i) Acquiror has conducted its business in all material respects in the ordinary course of business, and (ii) no Acquiror Material Adverse Effect has occurred, and there has not been any change, effect, event, circumstance, occurrence or state of facts that would, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to have an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.16 Indebtedness. Acquiror does not have any Indebtedness for borrowed money.

Section 5.17 Sponsor Agreement. Acquiror has delivered to the Company a true, correct and complete copy of the Sponsor Agreement. The Sponsor Agreement is in full force and effect and has not been withdrawn or terminated, or otherwise amended or modified, in any respect, and no withdrawal, termination, amendment or modification is contemplated by Acquiror, or, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, the Sponsor. The Sponsor Agreement is a legal, valid and binding obligation of Acquiror and, to the Knowledge of Acquiror, each other party thereto and neither the execution or delivery any party thereto, nor the performance of any party's obligations under, the Sponsor Agreement violates any provision of, or results in the breach of or default under, or require any filing, registration or qualification under, any applicable Law. No event has occurred that, with or without notice, lapse of time or both, would constitute a default or breach on the part of Acquiror under any material term or condition of the Sponsor Agreement.

ARTICLE VI COVENANTS OF THE COMPANY

Section 6.01 Conduct of Business of the Company. From the Original Agreement Date until the earlier of the Closing and the termination of this Agreement in accordance with its terms (the "Interim Period"), the Company shall, and shall cause its Subsidiaries to, except as required by this Agreement, as set forth on Schedule 6.01, as consented to in writing by Acquiror (which consent shall not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable Law (including COVID-19 Measures), use its commercially reasonable efforts to (i) conduct and operate its business in the ordinary course of business in all material respects, (ii) timely pay all material Taxes due and payable by it (except to the extent being diligently contested in good faith by appropriate Actions and for which adequate reserves are established) and (iii) maintain the existing relations and goodwill of the Company Subsidiaries with customers, suppliers, joint venture partners, distributors and creditors of the Company Subsidiaries in all material respects. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, except as required by this Agreement, as set forth on Schedule 6.01, as consented to by Acquiror in writing (which, with respect to subclauses (c), (e)-(k), (m), and (p)-(v), such consent shall not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable Law (including COVID-19 Measures), the Company shall not, and shall cause its Subsidiaries not to, during the Interim Period:

- (a) change or amend its Organizational Documents;
- (b) make, declare, set aside, establish a record date for or pay any dividend or distribution, other than any dividends or distributions from any wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company, either to the Company or any other wholly-owned Subsidiaries of the Company (other than the distribution of the Class A Preferred Return in connection with the Class C Investment or paid-in-kind dividends on the Company Class C Units);
- (c) enter into, modify, amend, waive any right under, or terminate, any Contract of a type required to be listed on Schedule 4.12(a) (including, for clarity, any Contract that, if existing on the Original Agreement Date, would have been required to be listed on Schedule 4.12(a)) or any Lease to which any Company Group Member is a party or by which it is bound, but in each case excluding (i) entries, modifications, amendments, waivers, terminations or non-renewals of Contracts in the ordinary course of business, (ii) non-renewals or expirations of Contracts in accordance with their terms and (iii) terminations of any Contracts set forth on Schedule 4.24;

(d) (i) issue, deliver, sell, transfer, pledge or dispose of, or place any Lien (other than a Permitted Lien) on, any Equity Securities of any Company Group Member or (ii) issue or grant any options, warrants or other rights to purchase or obtain any Equity Securities of any Company Group Member, except (A) in the ordinary course pursuant to any existing Company Benefit Plan and (B) additional Company Class C Units to the C Preferred Investor in accordance with the UPA;

(e) sell, assign, transfer, convey, lease, exclusively license, abandon, allow to lapse or expire, subject to or grant any Lien (other than Permitted Liens) on, or otherwise dispose of, any material assets, rights or properties (including material Owned Intellectual Property) of the Company Group, other than (i) the expiration of Owned Intellectual Property in accordance with the applicable statutory term or abandonment of Owned Intellectual Property registrations or applications in the ordinary course of business, (ii) non-exclusive licenses of Owned Intellectual Property granted in the ordinary course consistent with past practices, (iii) the sale or provision of Company Group Products to customers in the ordinary course of business, or the sale, permission to lapse, abandonment, or other disposition of tangible assets or equipment deemed by the Company in its reasonable business judgment to be obsolete or not worth the costs of maintaining or registering the item, or (iv) transactions among the Company Subsidiaries;

(f) disclose to any Person any Trade Secrets or any source code constituting Owned Intellectual Property (in each case, other than to Acquiror or its Representatives, or pursuant to a written confidentiality agreement entered into in the ordinary course of business, or in connection with the Transactions);

(g) (i) cancel or compromise any claim or Indebtedness owed to any Company Group Member, (ii) settle any pending or threatened Action, (A) if such settlement would require payment by the Company in an amount greater than $500,000, (B) to the extent such settlement includes an agreement to accept or concede injunctive relief restricting the Company in a manner materially adverse to the Company, (C) to the extent such settlement involves a Governmental Authority or alleged criminal wrongdoing, or (D) to the extent such settlement relates to any Transaction Litigation, or (iii) agree to modify in any respect materially adverse to the Company Group any confidentiality or similar Contract to which any Company Group Member is a party;

(h) except as otherwise required by the terms of any existing Company Benefit Plans set forth on Schedule 4.13(a) and as in effect on the Original Agreement Date, (i) grant any material increase in compensation, benefits or severance to any current or former Company Service Provider of the Company Group, except in connection with a promotion based on job performance or workplace requirements for an employee with annual base compensation equal to or less than $200,000 in the ordinary course of business and consistent with past practice; (ii) make any grant or promise of any severance, retention or termination payment or arrangement to any current or former Company Service Provider, except for any severance or termination payments in connection with the termination of any Key Employee in the ordinary course of business not to exceed $75,000; (iii) make any change in the key management structure of such Company Group Member, including the hiring of any individuals who would be, upon such hire, Key Employees, or the termination (other than for "cause" or due to death or disability) of Key Employees; (iv) take any action to accelerate any payments or benefits, or the funding of any payments or benefits, payable or to become payable to any current or former Company Service Provider; (v) establish, adopt, enter into, amend or terminate in any material respect any material Company Benefit Plan or any collective bargaining or similar agreement, or any plan, agreement, program, policy, trust, fund, Contract or other arrangement that would be a Company Benefit Plan if it were in existence as of the Original Agreement Date, other than in the ordinary course of business (and other than an employment offer letter providing for at-will employment with respect to a new employee that does not contain severance and/or a transaction or retention payment) with respect to new employees with an annual compensation not exceeding $200,000; or (vi) hire (or make an offer to hire), engage, terminate (without cause), furlough, or temporarily layoff any Company Service Provider with annual base compensation in excess of $200,000;

(i) implement or announce any employee layoffs, furloughs, reductions in force, or similar actions that could require advance notice under the WARN Act;

(j) negotiate, modify, extend, or enter into any CBA or (ii) recognize or certify any labor union, labor organization, works council, or group of employees as the bargaining representative for any employee of any Company Group Member;

(k) waive or release any noncompetition, nonsolicitation, nondisclosure, noninterference, non-disparagement, or other restrictive covenant obligation of any individual;

(l) directly or indirectly acquire by merging or consolidating with, or by purchasing a substantial portion of the assets of, or by purchasing all of or a substantial equity interest in, or by any other manner, any business or any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture, association or other entity or Person or division thereof in each case, that would be material to the Company Group, taken as a whole, and other than in the ordinary course of business;

(m) make any loans or advance any money or other property to any Person, except for (A) advances in the ordinary course of business to employees, officers or independent contractors of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, (B) prepayments and deposits paid to suppliers of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries in the ordinary course of business, (C) trade credit extended to customers of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries in the ordinary course of business, and (D) loans or advances among the Company and a wholly-owned Subsidiary or between wholly-owned Subsidiaries of the Company;

(n) redeem, purchase, repurchase or otherwise acquire, or offer to redeem, purchase, repurchase or acquire, any Equity Securities of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, except for (i) the acquisition by any Company Group Member of any Equity Securities of any Company Group Member in connection with the forfeiture or cancellation of such interests, (ii) transactions between the Company and a wholly-owned Subsidiary or between wholly-owned Subsidiaries of the Company and (iii) repurchases of unvested shares in connection with the termination of the employment or service relationship with any employee, director, or consultant pursuant to stock option or purchase agreements in effect on the Original Agreement Date (other than the distribution of the Class A Preferred Return in connection with the Class C Investment);

(o) adjust, split, combine, subdivide, recapitalize, reclassify or otherwise effect any change in respect of any Equity Securities of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, except for any such transaction by a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company that remains a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company after consummation of such transaction;

(p) make any material change in accounting principles or methods of accounting, other than as may be required by GAAP;

(q) adopt or enter into a plan of complete or partial liquidation, dissolution, merger, consolidation, restructuring, recapitalization or other reorganization of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries (other than the Transactions);

(r) make, change or revoke any material Tax election, change or revoke any accounting method, settle or compromise any Tax liability or any Action, audit or other similar proceeding related to Taxes, enter into any closing agreement, surrender any right to claim a refund of Taxes, enter into any Tax sharing or similar agreement, file any amended material Tax Return, or consent to any extension or waiver of the limitations period applicable to any Tax claim or assessment;

(s) (i) incur, create or assume any Indebtedness, (ii) modify the terms of any Indebtedness, other than the Indebtedness set forth on Schedule 6.01(s) hereto or (iii) assume, guarantee or endorse, or otherwise become responsible for, the obligations of any Person for Indebtedness, in each case, other than any (A) Indebtedness incurred in the ordinary course of business, the proceeds of which are used solely with respect to operational aspects of the Company Group, (B) Indebtedness incurred between the Company and any of its wholly-owned Subsidiaries or between any of such wholly-owned Subsidiaries, or (C) guarantees of Indebtedness of a wholly-owned Subsidiary of the Company otherwise incurred in compliance with this Section 6.01(s);

(t) fail to maintain in full force and effect material insurance policies covering the Company Group and their respective properties, assets and businesses in a form and amount consistent with past practices in a manner detrimental to the Company Group;

(u) enter into any Contract or amend in any material respect any existing Contract with any Company Equityholders or any Affiliate of any Company Equityholder (excluding any ordinary course payments of compensation, provision of benefits or reimbursement of expenses in respect of Company Equityholders who are officers, directors, employees or other service providers of any Company Subsidiaries in their capacity as an officer, director, employee or other service provider); or

(v) enter into any Contract, or otherwise become obligated, to do any action prohibited under Section 6.01(a) through (v).

Notwithstanding anything in this Section 6.01 or this Agreement to the contrary, nothing shall give Acquiror, directly or indirectly, the right to control or direct the operations of any Company Group Member prior to the Closing.

Section 6.02 Inspection. The Company will afford to Acquiror and its Representatives reasonable access during normal business hours and upon reasonable advanced notice to its and its Subsidiaries' properties, books, records and personnel during the Interim Period to obtain all information concerning its business, properties, results of operations and personnel for purposes of this Agreement, as Acquiror may reasonably request; provided, that such party may restrict the foregoing access (i) to the extent that any Law applicable to the Company requires it or its Subsidiaries to restrict or prohibit access to any such properties or information, (ii) if such access would result in the waiver of any attorney-client privilege, the work product doctrine or similar privilege or protection applicable to such information or documents; provided, further, that in the event that the Company relies on the foregoing proviso to withhold access to disclosure, Acquiror shall, to the extent permitted by Law and the protection of such privilege, promptly notify Acquiror of the nature of the withheld information.

Section 6.03 No Claim Against the Trust Account. The Company, on behalf of itself and the Company Equityholders and other Affiliates, represents and warrants that it has read the IPO Prospectus and other SEC Reports, the Acquiror Organizational Documents, and the Trust Agreement and understands that Acquiror established the Trust Account containing the proceeds of its initial public offering (the "IPO") and the over-allotment securities acquired by Acquiror's underwriters and from certain private placements occurring simultaneously with the IPO (including interest accrued from time to time thereon) for the benefit of Acquiror's public stockholders (including over-allotment shares acquired by Acquiror's underwriters, the "Public Stockholders"), and that, except as otherwise described in the IPO Prospectus, Acquiror may disburse monies from the Trust Account only: (a) to the Public Stockholders if they elect to redeem their Acquiror shares in connection with the consummation of Acquiror's initial business combination or in connection with an extension of Acquiror's deadline to consummate a business combination; (b) to the Public Stockholders if Acquiror fails to consummate a business combination within 24 months after the closing of the IPO, subject to extension by an amendment to the Acquiror Organizational Documents; (c) with respect to any interest earned on the amounts held in the Trust Account, amounts necessary to pay for any franchise or income taxes; or (d) to Acquiror after or concurrently with the consummation of a business combination. The Company, on behalf of itself and the Company Equityholders and other Affiliates, acknowledges and agrees that, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, neither the Company, nor any of the Company Equityholders or Affiliates, do now or shall at any time hereafter have any right, title, interest or claim of any kind in or to any monies in the Trust Account or distributions therefrom, or make any claim against the Trust Account (including any distributions therefrom), regardless of whether such claim arises as a result of, in connection with or relating in any way to, this Agreement or any proposed or actual business relationship between Acquiror or its Representatives, on the one hand, and the Company, the Company Equityholders and their Representatives, on the other hand, or any other matter, and regardless of whether such claim arises based on contract, tort, equity or any other theory of legal liability (collectively, the "Released Claims"). The Company, on behalf of itself and the Company Equityholders and other Affiliates, (i) hereby irrevocably waive any Released Claims that the Company, the Company Equityholders and its respective Affiliates may have against the Trust Account (including any distributions therefrom) now or in the future as a result of, or arising out of, any negotiations, contracts or agreements with Acquiror or its Representatives and will not seek recourse against the Trust Account (including any distributions therefrom) for any reason whatsoever to the extent arising out of the Released Claims (including for an alleged breach of this Agreement or any other agreement with Acquiror or its Affiliates), (ii) agree and acknowledge that such irrevocable waiver is material to this Agreement and the Transactions and specifically relied upon by Acquiror to induce Acquiror to enter into this Agreement, and (iii) intend and understand such waiver to be valid, binding and enforceable against the Company, the Company Equityholders and its respective Affiliates under applicable Law. To the extent the Company, the Company Equityholders and its respective Affiliates commence any Action or proceeding based upon, in connection with, relating to or arising out of any matter relating to Acquiror or its Representatives, which proceeding seeks, in whole or in part, monetary relief against Acquiror or its Representatives, the Company, on behalf of itself and the Company Equityholders and other Affiliates, hereby acknowledge and agree that the Company, the Company Equityholders and their Affiliates' sole remedy shall be against funds held outside of the Trust Account and that such claim shall not permit such Persons (or any Person claiming on any of their behalves or in lieu of any of them) to have any claim against the Trust Account (including any distributions therefrom) or any amounts contained therein. This Section 6.03 shall survive the termination of this Agreement for any reason.

Section 6.04 Proxy Statement; Registration Statement.

(a) As promptly as reasonably practicable following the Original Agreement Date, the Company shall deliver to Acquiror (i) the Company Financial Statements, and (ii) any other audited or unaudited consolidated balance sheets and the related audited or unaudited consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss, stockholders' deficit and cash flows of the Company Group Members (including any financial statements of any acquiree of any Company Group Member required under Rule 3-05 of Regulation S-X) as of and for a year-to-date period ended as of the end of any other different fiscal quarter (and as of and for the same period from the previous fiscal year) or fiscal year, as applicable that is required to be included in the Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement. Promptly following its completion, the Company shall deliver to Acquiror the audited consolidated financial statements of income and comprehensive income, consolidated statement of stockholders' equity (deficit) and consolidated statement of cash flows of the Company Group for the year ended December 31, 2022, together with the notes and schedules to the foregoing, which comply with the applicable accounting requirements and with the applicable rules and regulations of the SEC, the Exchange Act and the Securities Act (the "Additional Audited Financial Statements"). Upon delivery of the Additional Audited Financial Statements, the representations and warranties set forth in Section 4.08 shall be deemed to apply in the same manner as the Company Financial Statements. All such financial statements (A) will fairly present in all material respects the consolidated financial position, cash flows, income, changes in equity and results of operations of the Company Group for the respective periods then ended (subject, in the case of any interim financial statements, to normal year-end audit adjustments (none of which is expected to be material) and the absence of footnotes), (B) will be prepared in conformity with GAAP applied on a consistent basis during the periods involved, (C) in the case of any audited financial statements, will be audited in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB, with respect to the Company Group, and (D) will comply in all material respects with the applicable accounting requirements and with the applicable rules and regulations of the SEC, the Exchange Act and the Securities Act in effect as of the respective dates thereof (including Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K, as applicable). The Company shall be available to, and the Company and its Subsidiaries shall use its reasonable best efforts to make their officers and employees available to, in each case upon reasonable advance notice, Acquiror and its counsel in connection with (I) the drafting of the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement and (II) responding in a timely manner to comments on the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement from the SEC. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Company shall reasonably cooperate with Acquiror (i) to cause the preparation in a timely manner of any other financial information or statements (including customary pro forma financial statements) that are required to be included in the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement and any other filings to be made by Acquiror with the SEC in connection with the Transactions, in each case, that comply with the applicable accounting requirements and with the applicable rules and regulations of the SEC, the Exchange Act and the Securities Act in effect as of the respective dates thereof (including Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K, as applicable), and (ii) to obtain the consents of the Company's auditors with respect thereto as may be required by applicable Law or requested by the SEC.

(b) From and after the date on which the Proxy Statement is mailed to Acquiror's stockholders and the Registration Statement is mailed to the Company Employees, the Company will give Acquiror prompt written notice of any action taken or not taken by such Company or its Subsidiaries or of any development regarding such Company or its Subsidiaries, in any such case which is or becomes known by such Company, that would cause the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement to contain an untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; provided, that if any such action shall be taken or fail to be taken or such development shall otherwise occur, Acquiror and the Company shall cooperate fully to cause an amendment or supplement to be made promptly to the Proxy Statement, and the Registration Statement such that the Proxy Statement and the Registration Statement no longer contain an untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading; provided, further, however, that no information received by Acquiror pursuant to this Section 6.04(b) shall operate as a waiver or otherwise affect any representation, warranty or agreement given or made by the Party who disclosed such information, and no such information shall be deemed to change, supplement or amend the Schedules.

Section 6.05 FIRPTA. At the Closing, the Company shall deliver to Acquiror a duly completed and executed certificate, dated as of the Closing Date, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to Acquiror and conforming to the requirements of Treasury Regulations Section 1.1445-11T(d)(2)(i); provided, that, if the Company fails to deliver such certificate and notice, Acquiror shall have the option, at its sole discretion, to waive the requirement to deliver such certificate and notice, in which case the Transactions shall nonetheless be able to close and Acquiror shall be entitled to withhold from any consideration paid pursuant to this Agreement the amount required to be withheld under Section 1445 of the Code as reasonably determined by Acquiror.

Section 6.06 [Reserved].

Section 6.07 No Acquiror Common Stock Transactions. The Company acknowledges and agrees that it is aware, and that its Representatives are aware or, upon receipt of any material nonpublic information, will be advised of the restrictions imposed by Securities Laws on a Person possessing material nonpublic information about a publicly traded company. The Company hereby agrees that, while it is in possession of such material nonpublic information, it shall not and it will cause its Subsidiaries and direct its directors, officers and its and their respective Affiliates not to purchase or sell any securities of Acquiror (other than engaging in the Transactions), communicate such information to any third party, take any other action with respect to Acquiror in violation of such Laws, or cause or encourage any third party to do any of the foregoing.

ARTICLE VII COVENANTS OF ACQUIROR

Section 7.01 Indemnification and Directors' and Officers' Insurance .

(a) From and after the Closing, Acquiror shall, and shall cause the Company to, indemnify and hold harmless each present and former director/manager and officer of Acquiror, the Company and the Company's Subsidiaries, or any individual who, at any time prior to the Closing, is or was serving at the request of Acquiror, the Company and the Company's Subsidiaries as a director/manager or officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, against any costs or expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees), judgments, fines, losses, claims, damages or liabilities incurred in connection with any Action, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative, arising out of or pertaining to matters existing or occurring at or prior to the Closing, whether asserted or claimed prior to, at or after the Closing and relating to the fact that such Person was a director/manager or officer of Acquiror, the Company, or any of the Company's Subsidiaries, to the fullest extent that Acquiror, the Company or any of the Company's Subsidiaries would have been permitted under applicable Law and their respective certificate of incorporation, bylaws or other organizational documents in effect on the Original Agreement Date to indemnify such Person in its capacity as a director/manager or officer (including, within twenty (20) days after any written request is received by Acquiror, the advancing of expenses as incurred to the fullest extent permitted under such organizational documents or under any employment or indemnification agreement set forth on Schedule 7.01(a), which such advancement right shall include any expenses incurred by such Person in connection with enforcing any rights to indemnification under this Section 7.01, in each case, without the requirement of any bond or security). Without limiting the foregoing, Acquiror shall, and shall cause the Company and the Company's Subsidiaries to, (i) maintain for a period of not less than six years from the Closing provisions in its respective certificate of incorporation, bylaws and other organizational documents concerning the indemnification and exoneration (including provisions relating to expense advancement) of officers and directors/managers that are no less favorable to those Persons than the provisions of such certificates of incorporation, bylaws and other organizational documents as of the Original Agreement Date and (ii) not amend, repeal or otherwise modify such provisions in any respect that would adversely affect the rights of those Persons thereunder, in each case, except as required by Law. All rights to indemnification and advancement conferred under this Section 7.01 shall continue as to any indemnified Person who has ceased to be a director/manager or officer of Acquiror, the Company or the Company's Subsidiaries at or after the Closing and inure to the benefit of such person's heirs, executors and personal and legal representatives.

(b) Acquiror shall purchase, at or prior to the Closing, and Acquiror shall or shall cause one or more of its Subsidiaries to maintain in effect for a period of six years from the Closing Date, directors' and officers' liability insurance covering those Persons who are currently covered by Acquiror or the Company or any of the Company's Subsidiaries' directors' and officers' liability insurance policies (true, correct and complete copies of which have been heretofore made available to Acquiror or its agents or representatives) on terms not less favorable than the terms of such current insurance coverage, except that in no event shall Acquiror or its Subsidiaries be required to pay an aggregate premium for such insurance in excess of 300% of the annual premium payable in the aggregate by Acquiror, the Company, and the Company's Subsidiaries for such insurance policies for the year ended December 31, 2021; provided, however, that (i) Acquiror may cause coverage to be extended under the current directors' and officers' liability insurance by obtaining a six-year "tail" policy containing terms not materially less favorable than the terms of such current insurance coverage with respect to claims existing or occurring at or prior to the Closing (the "D&O Tail") and (ii) if any claim is asserted or made within such six-year period, any insurance required to be maintained under this Section 7.01 shall be continued in respect of such claim until the final disposition thereof.

(c) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Agreement to the contrary, this Section 7.01 shall survive the consummation of the Transactions indefinitely and shall be binding, jointly and severally, on Acquiror and the Company and all successors and assigns of Acquiror and the Company. If Acquiror or the Company or any of their respective successors or assigns consolidates with or merges into any other Person and shall not be the continuing or surviving corporation or entity of such consolidation or merger or transfers or conveys all or substantially all of its properties and assets to any Person, then, and in each such case, proper provision shall be made so that the successors and assigns of Acquiror or the Company, as the case may be, shall succeed to the obligations set forth in this Section 7.01.

Section 7.02 Conduct of Acquiror During the Interim Period .

(a) During the Interim Period, except as set forth on Schedule 7.02, as contemplated by this Agreement (including any changes relating to the capitalization of Acquiror as may reasonably be required to effect and consummate the Transactions), as consented to by the Company in writing (which consent shall not be unreasonably conditioned, withheld or delayed), or as required by applicable Law (including COVID-19 Measures), Acquiror shall not:

(i) change, modify or amend the Trust Agreement, the Sponsor Agreement, the Acquiror Organizational Documents;

(ii) (A) declare, set aside or pay any dividends on, or make any other distribution in respect of any outstanding Equity Securities of Acquiror, (B) split, combine or reclassify any Equity Securities of Acquiror, or (C) other than in connection with the Acquiror Stockholder Redemption or as otherwise required by Acquiror Organizational Documents in order to consummate the Transactions, repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire, or offer to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire, any Equity Securities of Acquiror;

(iii) make, change or revoke any material Tax election, change or revoke any accounting method with respect to Taxes, settle or compromise any Tax liability or any Action, audit or other similar proceeding related to Taxes, enter into any closing agreement, surrender any right to claim a refund of Taxes, enter into any Tax sharing or similar agreement, file any amended material Tax Return, or consent to any extension or waiver of the limitations period applicable to any Tax claim or assessment;

(iv) enter into, renew or amend in any material respect, any transaction or Contract with an Affiliate of Acquiror (including, for the avoidance of doubt, (A) the Sponsor and (B) any Person in which the Sponsor has a direct or indirect legal, contractual or beneficial ownership interest of 5% or greater);

(v) waive, release, compromise, settle or satisfy any pending or threatened material claim (which shall include, but not be limited to, any pending or threatened Action) or compromise or settle any liability, in each case other than compromises or settlements in an aggregate amount not greater than $250,000; provided, that this Section 7.02(a)(v) will not apply with respect to any Transaction Litigation;

(vi) incur or assume any Indebtedness or guarantee any Indebtedness of another Person, issue or sell any debt securities or warrants or other rights to acquire any debt securities of another Person;

(vii) (A) offer, issue, deliver, grant or sell, or authorize or propose to offer, issue, deliver, grant or sell, any Equity Securities other than (x) issuance of Acquiror Common Stock in connection with the exercise of any Acquiror Warrants outstanding on the Original Agreement Date, (y) the Transactions, or (z) the issuance of Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock in connection with the First Merger, or (B) amend, modify or waive any of the terms or rights set forth in, any Acquiror Warrant or the applicable warrant agreement, including any amendment, modification or reduction of the warrant price set forth therein;

(viii) make any material change in accounting principles or methods of accounting, other than as may be required by GAAP; or

(ix) enter into any agreement, or otherwise become obligated, to do any action prohibited under this Section 7.02(a).

(b) Notwithstanding anything in this Section 7.02 or this Agreement to the contrary, (i) nothing shall give the Company, directly or indirectly, the right to control or direct the operations of Acquiror and (ii) nothing set forth in this Agreement shall prohibit, or otherwise restrict the ability of, Acquiror from using the funds held by Acquiror outside the Trust Account to pay any Acquiror expenses or liabilities prior to the Closing.

(c) During the Interim Period, Acquiror shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to comply with, and continue performing under, as applicable, material Contracts to which Acquiror may be a party.

Section 7.03 Inspection. Acquiror will afford to the Company and its Representatives reasonable access during normal business hours and upon reasonable advanced notice to its properties, books, records and personnel during the Interim Period to obtain all information concerning its business, properties, results of operations and personnel for purposes of this Agreement, as the Company may reasonably request; provided, that such party may restrict the foregoing access (i) to the extent that any Law applicable to Acquiror requires it to restrict or prohibit access to any such properties or information, (ii) if such access would result in the waiver of any attorney-client privilege, the work product doctrine or similar privilege or protection applicable to such information or documents; provided, further, that in the event that Acquiror relies on the foregoing proviso to withhold access to disclosure, Acquiror shall, to the extent permitted by Law and the protection of such privilege, promptly notify the Company of the nature of the withheld information.

Section 7.04 Section 16 Matters. Prior to the Closing, Acquiror shall take all commercially reasonable steps as may be required (to the extent permitted under applicable Law) to cause any acquisition or disposition of the Acquiror Class A Common Stock that occurs or is deemed to occur by reason of or pursuant to the Transactions by each individual who is or will be subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act with respect to Acquiror to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act, including adopting resolutions and taking other steps in accordance with the No-Action Letter, dated as of January 12, 1999, issued by the SEC regarding such matters.

Section 7.05 Post-Closing Directors and Officers. Subject to the terms of the Acquiror Organizational Documents, Acquiror shall take all such action within its power as may be necessary or appropriate such that immediately following the Closing:

(a) the Acquiror Board as of the Closing shall have eight (8) members and shall be divided into three classes, as nearly equal in number as possible, as set forth in the Acquiror Organizational Documents. The Acquiror Board as of the Closing shall initially include:

(i) two director nominees to be designated by the Sponsor or Acquiror in Class III (as defined in the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation) pursuant to a written notice to be delivered to the Company as soon as reasonably practicable following the Original Agreement Date, who shall be reasonably acceptable to the Company;

(ii) the chief executive officer of the Company immediately following Closing in Class III (as defined in the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation);

(iii) the chief medical officer of the Company immediately following Closing in Class II (as defined in the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation);

(iv) one director nominee to be designated by the C Preferred Parent Investor in Class I (as defined in the Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation) pursuant to a written notice to be delivered to the Company as soon as reasonably practicable following the date hereof;

(v) three other director nominees nominated by the Company as identified in the Proxy Statement; and

(b) the officers of Acquiror after the Closing shall be as set forth on Schedule 7.05(b) (which schedule may be modified from time to time in the Company's sole discretion prior to the Closing), who shall serve in such capacity in accordance with the terms of the Acquiror Organizational Documents following the Closing.

Section 7.06 Incentive Equity Plan and Practice Profit Pool .

(a) Prior to the Closing Date, Acquiror shall adopt, subject to approval of the stockholders of Acquiror, an Incentive Equity Plan in substantially the form attached hereto as Exhibit C (the "Incentive Equity Plan") to be effective as of the Closing or as otherwise set forth in the applicable plan document. Within two Business Days following the expiration of the 60 day period following the date Acquiror has filed current Form 10 information with the SEC reflecting its status as an entity that is not a shell company, Acquiror shall file an effective registration statement on Form S-1 (or other applicable form) with respect to the Acquiror Common Stock issuable under the Incentive Equity Plan, and Acquiror shall use commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the effectiveness of such registration statement(s) (and maintain the current status of the prospectus or prospectuses contained therein) for so long as awards granted pursuant to the Incentive Equity Plan remain outstanding.

(b) Following the Closing Date, subject to compliance with applicable Laws, Acquiror shall issue a number of shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock equal to the Adjusted Practice Profit Pool Amount to the eligible recipients thereof, with such terms and in such manner as determined by the Acquiror Board.

Section 7.07 Acquiror Public Filings. From the Original Agreement Date through the Closing, Acquiror will keep current and timely file all reports required to be filed or furnished with the SEC and otherwise comply in all material respects with its reporting obligations under applicable Laws.

Section 7.08 Nasdaq Listing. From the Original Agreement Date through the Closing, Acquiror shall use its reasonable best efforts to ensure that Acquiror remains listed as a public company on the Nasdaq, and shall cause Acquiror Common Stock to be issued in the Transaction to be approved for listing on Nasdaq or another reputable national securities exchange, subject to official notice of issuance, prior to the Closing, and the Company shall reasonably cooperate with Acquiror with respect to such listing.

Section 7.09 Employee Benefits.

(a) Comparability. For a period of 12 months following the Closing Date, Acquiror shall cause the Company to provide each employee of the Company as of immediately prior to the Closing (each, a "Continuing Employee"), during his or her continued employment, with (i) annual base salary or hourly wage rate and incentive compensation opportunities (excluding any equity or equity-based incentive compensation) that are no less than the annual base salary, hourly wage rate and incentive compensation opportunities (excluding any equity or equity-based incentive compensation), respectively, provided to such Continuing Employee immediately prior to the Closing Date, and (ii) employee benefits that are not less favorable in the aggregate to such Continuing Employee than those provided to such Continuing Employee immediately prior to the Closing Date under the Company Benefit Plans listed on Schedule 4.13(a).

(b) Service Credit. From and after the Closing, Acquiror shall cause the Company to give or cause to be given to each Continuing Employee credit for purposes of eligibility to participate, vesting of employer 401(k) plan contributions, level of severance and vacation/paid time off, but not for benefit accrual purposes under any defined benefit pension plan, under each employee benefit plan, program or arrangement established or maintained by Acquiror under which Continuing Employees are eligible to participate on or after the Closing (a "New Plan") to the same extent and for the same purpose as such service with the Company or any predecessor thereof was credited on or prior to the Closing under the comparable Company Benefit Plan; provided, however, that such credit need not be provided to the extent that such credit would result in any duplication of benefits for the same period of service.

(c) Pre-Existing Conditions/Copayment Credit. With respect to each New Plan that is a group welfare benefit plan in which any Continuing Employee or spouse or dependent thereof may be eligible to participate on or after the Closing, Acquiror shall use commercially reasonable efforts to (i) waive, or cause its Affiliates or insurance carrier to waive, all limitations as to preexisting conditions, actively-at-work requirements, exclusions and waiting periods, if any, with respect to participation and coverage requirements applicable to each Continuing Employee or spouse or dependent thereof, and any other similar restrictions that would prevent immediate or full participation by such Continuing Employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof, under such New Plan, to the same extent satisfied or waived under a comparable Company Benefit Plan in which such Continuing Employee participated, and (ii) provide or cause its Affiliates to provide credit to each Continuing Employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof with respect to the New Plan year in which the Closing occurs for any co-payments, deductibles, out-of-pocket expenses and for any lifetime maximums paid by such Continuing Employee or eligible spouse or dependent thereof under the comparable Company Benefit Plan during the plan year of the Company Benefit Plan up to and including the Closing to the same extent and for the same purpose as credited under such comparable Company Benefit Plan as if such amounts had been paid under such New Plan.

(d) Limitations. The Company and Acquiror acknowledge and agree that all provisions contained in this Section 7.09 are included for their sole benefit, and that nothing contained herein, express or implied, (i) confers any third-party beneficiary or other rights (including any right to continued employment for any period, to any particular term or condition of employment or to continued receipt of any specific employee benefit), or (ii) shall constitute an establishment, amendment to or any other modification of any New Plan, Company Benefit Plan or other employee benefit plan, or shall limit the right of Acquiror or any of its Affiliates to amend, terminate or otherwise modify any New Plan, Company Benefit Plan or other employee benefit plan, program or arrangement following the Closing Date.

Section 7.10 Additional Equity Financing. During the Interim Period, Acquiror may not execute agreements with equity investors or otherwise seek additional financing from potential equity or equity-linked investors without the prior written consent of the Company and the C Preferred Parent Investor.

Section 7.11 Exclusivity. Acquiror agrees that immediately following the execution of this Agreement it shall, and shall use its best efforts to cause its Representatives to, cease any solicitations, discussions or negotiations with any Person (other than the parties hereto and their respective Representatives) conducted heretofore in connection with a business combination or any inquiry or request for information that could reasonably be expected to lead to, or result in, a business combination.

ARTICLE VIII JOINT COVENANTS

Section 8.01 Efforts to Consummate.

(a) Subject to the terms and conditions herein, each of the Parties shall use their respective reasonable best efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all actions and to do, or cause to be done, all things reasonably necessary or advisable to consummate and make effective as promptly as reasonably practicable the Transactions (including the satisfaction of the closing conditions set forth in Article IX). Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, each of the Parties shall use reasonable best efforts to obtain, file with or deliver to, as applicable, any consents of any Governmental Authorities or other Persons necessary to consummate the Transactions and the transactions contemplated by the Transaction Agreements. Each Party shall (A) make all required filings pursuant to the HSR Act with respect to the Transactions promptly (and in any event within 10 Business Days) following the Original Agreement Date and (B) respond as promptly as reasonably practicable to any requests by any Governmental Authority for additional information and documentary material that may be requested pursuant to the HSR Act. Acquiror shall promptly inform the Company of any communication between Acquiror, on the one hand, and any Governmental Authority, on the other hand, and the Company shall promptly inform Acquiror of any communication between either Company, on the one hand, and any Governmental Authority, on the other hand, in either case, regarding any of the Transactions or any Transaction Agreement. Without limiting the foregoing, (x) the Parties agree to request early termination of all waiting periods applicable to the Transactions under the HSR Act, and (y) each Party and its respective Affiliates shall not extend any waiting period, review period or comparable period under the HSR Act or enter into any agreement with any Governmental Authority not to consummate the Transactions, except with the prior written consent of the other Parties. The Company will pay all filing fees in connection with the HSR Act when due and such fees shall be deemed 50% Company Transaction Expenses and 50% Acquiror Transaction Expenses. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, nothing in this Section 8.01 or any other provision of this Agreement obligates any Party or any of its Affiliates to agree to (i) sell, license or otherwise dispose of, or hold separate and agree to sell, license or otherwise dispose of, any entities or assets of the Company or any of their respective Subsidiaries or any entity or asset of such Party or any of its Affiliates or any other Person or (ii) terminate, amend or assign any existing relationships and contractual rights or obligations. No Party shall agree to any of the measures in the foregoing sentence with respect to any other Party or any of its Affiliates, except with each of the other Parties' prior written consent. During the Interim Period, Acquiror, on the one hand, and the Company, on the other hand, shall give counsel for the Company (in the case of Acquiror) or Acquiror (in the case of the Company), a reasonable opportunity to review in advance, and consider in good faith the views of the other in connection with, any proposed written communication to any Governmental Authority relating to the Transactions or the Transaction Agreements. Each of the Parties agrees not to participate in any substantive meeting or discussion, either in person or by telephone, with any Governmental Authority in connection with the Transactions unless it consults with, in the case of Acquiror and the Company, in advance and, to the extent not prohibited by such Governmental Authority, gives, in the case of Acquiror and the Company, or, in the case of either Company or Acquiror, the opportunity to attend and participate in such meeting or discussion.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Agreement, (i) if this Section 8.01 conflicts with any other covenant or agreement in this Agreement that is intended to specifically address any subject matter, then such other covenant or agreement shall govern and control solely to the extent of such conflict and (ii) in no event shall Acquiror or the Company be obligated to bear any expense or pay any fee or grant any concession in connection with obtaining any consents, authorizations or approvals pursuant to the terms of any Contract to which the Company or its Subsidiaries is a party.

(c) During the Interim Period, Acquiror, on the one hand, and the Company, on the other hand, shall each notify the other in writing promptly after learning of any shareholder demands or other shareholder proceedings (including derivative claims) relating to this Agreement, any Transaction Agreements or any matters relating thereto (collectively, the "Transaction Litigation") commenced against, in the case of Acquiror or any of its Representatives (in their capacity as a representative of Acquiror) or, in the case of the Company, or any respective Representatives of the Company (in their capacity as a representative of the Company). Acquiror and the Company shall each (i) keep the other reasonably informed regarding any Transaction Litigation, (ii) give the other the opportunity to, at its own cost and expense, participate in the defense, settlement and compromise of any such Transaction Litigation and reasonably cooperate with the other in connection with the defense, settlement and compromise of any such Transaction Litigation (subject to a customary joint defense agreement), (iii) consider in good faith the other's advice with respect to any such Transaction Litigation, and (iv) reasonably cooperate with each other. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Acquiror shall, subject to and without limiting the covenants and agreements, and the rights of the Company, set forth in the immediately preceding sentence, control the negotiation, defense and settlement of any such Transaction Litigation; provided, however, that in no event shall Acquiror settle or compromise any Transaction Litigation without the prior written consent of the Company (not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed). Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, in no event shall the Company or its Subsidiaries or any of their respective Representatives settle or compromise any Transaction Litigation without Acquiror's prior written consent (not to be unreasonably withheld, contained or delayed).

(d) If Acquiror and the Company determine in good faith that it is probable that the Transactions will not be consummated on or before March 12, 2023 (the "Acquiror Termination Date"), then (i) Acquiror shall call a special meeting of its stockholders to be held and shall use its reasonable best efforts to obtain approval from such stockholders prior to the Acquiror Termination Date of a proposal to amend the Acquiror Organizational Documents to extend the deadline by which Acquiror is required to consummate the Transactions to a date that is no earlier than June 30, 2023 (such proposed extended deadline, the "Extension Date", and such proposal, the "Extension Proposal"), (ii) Acquiror and the Company shall cooperate with the preparation, filing and mailing of proxy materials to be sent to Acquiror's stockholders seeking approval of the Extension Proposal in accordance with the same efforts, notice, consent and other cooperation standards applicable to the preparation, filing and mailing of the Proxy Statement, and other related materials and actions, as set forth in Section 8.02, (iii) to the extent required to obtain approval of the Extension Proposal and to cause sufficient funds to be retained in the Trust Account as is reasonably expected to be needed to satisfy the conditions set forth in Section 9.01(f), Acquiror shall deposit such additional amount of funds to the Trust Account (which deposit shall be funded by a loan from the Sponsor to Acquiror) necessary to obtain approval of the Extension Proposal in a manner that is expected to cause sufficient funds to be retained in the Trust Account as is reasonably expected to be needed to satisfy the conditions set forth in Section 9.01(f), such amount to be determined in good faith by Acquiror after consultation with its advisors, and (iv) and in the event the Extension Proposal is duly approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of the requisite number of Acquiror Common Stock entitled to vote thereon in accordance with the Acquiror Organizational Documents and applicable Law, Acquiror shall promptly thereafter amend the Acquiror Organizational Documents to provide for the extension of the deadline by which Acquiror is required to consummate the Transactions to the Extension Date contemplated by the Extension Proposal. If, following any such approval of the Extension Proposal, Acquiror and the Company determine in good faith that it is probable that the Transactions will not be consummated on or before the Extension Date, Acquiror and the Company shall cooperate in good faith to request and effectuate further amendments to the Acquiror Organizational Documents to provide for additional extensions of the deadline applicable to the consummation of a business combination in accordance with the foregoing sentence.

Section 8.02 Proxy Statement; Special Meeting; Registration Statement.

(a) Proxy Statement.

(i) As promptly as practicable after the execution of this Agreement, Acquiror and the Company shall jointly prepare and Acquiror shall file with the SEC, a proxy statement to be filed with the SEC and sent to the stockholders of Acquiror relating to the Special Meeting (such proxy statement, together with any amendments or supplements thereto, the "Proxy Statement"). Each of Acquiror and the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause the Proxy Statement to comply with the rules and regulations promulgated by the SEC. Acquiror shall use its reasonable best efforts to have the Proxy Statement cleared by the SEC under the Exchange Act as promptly as practicable. Each of Acquiror and the Company agrees to furnish to the other party all information concerning itself, its Subsidiaries, officers, directors, managers, stockholders, and other equityholders and information regarding such other matters as may be reasonably necessary or advisable or as may be reasonably requested in connection with the Proxy Statement, a Current Report on Form 8-K pursuant to the Exchange Act in connection with the Transactions, or any other statement, filing, notice or application made by or on behalf of Acquiror, the Company or the Company's Subsidiaries to any regulatory authority (including Nasdaq) in connection with the Transactions (the "Other Documents"). Acquiror will cause the Proxy Statement to be mailed to the stockholders of Acquiror in each case promptly after it is cleared by the SEC. To the extent not prohibited by Law, the Company and Acquiror shall provide the C Preferred Parent Investor and its counsel a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on the Proxy Statement and any Other Document before any such document or any pre-effective amendment thereto is submitted or filed with the SEC (but in any event no less than three (3) Business Days prior to such submission or filing), and Acquiror shall give reasonable and good faith consideration to any comments made by the C Preferred Parent Investor and its counsel.

(ii) To the extent not prohibited by Law, Acquiror will advise the Company, reasonably promptly after Acquiror receives notice thereof, of the time when the Proxy Statement has been cleared or any supplement or amendment has been filed, or of any request by the SEC for the amendment or supplement of the Proxy Statement or for additional information. To the extent not prohibited by Law, the Company and their counsel shall be given a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on the Proxy Statement and any Other Document each time before any such document is filed with the SEC, and Acquiror shall give reasonable and good faith consideration to any comments made by the Company and its counsel. To the extent not prohibited by Law, Acquiror shall provide the Company and the C Preferred Parent Investor and their respective counsels with (i) any comments or other communications, whether written or oral, that Acquiror or its counsel may receive from time to time from the SEC or its staff with respect to the Proxy Statement or Other Documents promptly after receipt of those comments or other communications and (ii) a reasonable opportunity to participate in the response of Acquiror to those comments and to provide comments on that response (to which reasonable and good faith consideration shall be given), including by participating with the Company or its counsel in any discussions or meetings with the SEC.

(iii) Each of Acquiror and the Company shall ensure that none of the information supplied by or on its behalf for inclusion or incorporation by reference in the Proxy Statement will, at the date it is first mailed to the stockholders of Acquiror and at the time of the Special Meeting, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

(iv) If at any time prior to the Closing any information relating to Acquiror, the Company, any of the Company's Subsidiaries, or their respective Affiliates, directors or officers is discovered by the Company or Acquiror, which is required to be set forth in an amendment or supplement to the Proxy Statement, so that such document would include any misstatement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, the party which discovers such information shall promptly notify the other parties and an appropriate amendment or supplement describing such information shall be promptly filed with the SEC and, to the extent required by Law, disseminated to the stockholders of Acquiror.

(b) Special Meeting.

(i) Acquiror shall file the definitive Proxy Statement with the SEC and cause the Proxy Statement to be mailed to its stockholders of record, as of the record date to be established by the board of directors of Acquiror, as promptly as practicable following the earlier to occur of: (A) in the event the preliminary Proxy Statement is not reviewed by the SEC, the expiration of the waiting period in Rule 14a-6(a) under the Exchange Act; and (B) in the event the preliminary Proxy

Statement is reviewed by the SEC, receipt of oral or written notification of the completion of the review by the SEC (such earlier date, the "SEC Clearance Date").

(ii) Promptly following the SEC Clearance Date, Acquiror shall: (a) (i) take all action necessary under applicable Law and the Acquiror Organizational Documents and Nasdaq listing rules to set a record date for, call, give notice of, convene and hold a meeting of the stockholders of Acquiror (the "Special Meeting") for a date no later than thirty (30) Business Days following the SEC Clearance Date, and (ii) solicit proxies from the holders of Acquiror Common Stock to vote in favor of each of the Transaction Proposals, and (b) provide its stockholders with the opportunity to elect to effect an Acquiror Stockholder Redemption. Acquiror shall, through the Acquiror Board, recommend to its stockholders the (A) amendment and restatement of the Acquiror Organizational Documents, including any separate or unbundled proposals as are required to implement the foregoing, (B) the adoption and approval of this Agreement and the Transactions in accordance with applicable Law and exchange rules and regulations, (C) approval of the issuance of shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock and Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock as contemplated by this Agreement and in connection with the First Merger, including any required approvals under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5635 (or the equivalent rule on any other national securities exchange on which the Acquiror Class A Common Stock is listed in connection with the Transaction), (D) approval of the adoption by Acquiror of the Incentive Equity Plan described in Section 7.06, (E) adoption and approval of any other proposals as the SEC (or staff member thereof) may indicate are necessary in its comments to the Proxy Statement or correspondence related thereto, (F) adoption and approval of any other proposals as reasonably agreed to by Acquiror and the Company to be necessary or appropriate in connection with the transactions contemplated hereby, and (G) adjournment of the Special Meeting, if necessary, to permit further solicitation of proxies because there are not sufficient votes to approve and adopt any of the foregoing (such proposals in (A) through (G), together, the "Transaction Proposals"), and include such recommendation in the Proxy Statement, with such changes as mutually agreed to by the Parties.

(iii) Acquiror may only adjourn the Special Meeting (A) to solicit additional proxies for the purpose of obtaining the Acquiror Stockholder Approval, (B) for the absence of a quorum and (C) to allow reasonable additional time for the filing or mailing of any supplemental or amended disclosure that Acquiror has determined in good faith after consultation with outside legal counsel is required under applicable Law and for such supplemental or amended disclosure to be disseminated and reviewed by stockholders of Acquiror prior to the Special Meeting; provided, that the Special Meeting (x) may not be adjourned to a date that is more than fifteen (15) days after the date for which the Special Meeting was originally scheduled (excluding any adjournments required by applicable Law) and (y) shall not be held later than three (3) Business Days prior to the Termination Date. Acquiror agrees that it shall provide the holders of shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock the opportunity to elect redemption of such shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock in connection with the Special Meeting, as required by Acquiror Organizational Documents.

(iv) Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any time prior to, but not after, obtaining approval of the Transaction Proposals, solely in response to an Acquiror Intervening Event, the Acquiror Board may fail to make, amend, change, withdraw, modify, withhold or qualify the Acquiror Board Recommendation (any such action, a "Change in Recommendation") if the Acquiror Board shall have determined in good faith, after consultation with its outside legal counsel, that, in response to such Acquiror Intervening Event, a failure to make a Change in Recommendation would result in a breach of its fiduciary duties under applicable Law; provided that the Acquiror Board will not be entitled to make, or agree or resolve to make, a Change in Recommendation until (A) Acquiror delivers to the Company a written notice (an "Acquiror Intervening Event Notice") advising the Company that the Acquiror Board proposes to take such action and containing the material facts underlying the Acquiror Board's determination that an Acquiror Intervening Event has occurred, (B) until 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on the third Business Day immediately following the day on which Acquiror delivered the Acquiror Intervening Event Notice (such period from the time the Acquiror Intervening Event Notice is provided until 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on the third Business Day immediately following the day on which Acquiror delivered the Acquiror Intervening Event Notice (it being understood that any material development with respect to an Acquiror Intervening Event shall require a new notice but with an additional two-Business Day (instead of three-Business Day) period from the date of such notice), the "Acquiror Intervening Event Notice Period"), Acquiror and its Representatives shall have negotiated in good faith with the Company and its Representatives regarding any revisions or adjustments proposed by the Company during the Acquiror Intervening Event Notice Period to the terms and conditions of this Agreement as would enable Acquiror to proceed with its recommendation of this Agreement and the Transactions and not make such Change in Recommendation, and (C) if the Company requested negotiations in accordance with the foregoing clause (B), Acquiror may make a Change in Recommendation only if the Acquiror Board, after considering in good faith any revisions or adjustments to the terms and conditions of this Agreement that the Company shall have, prior to the expiration of the three-Business Day period, offered in writing in a manner that would form a binding Contract if accepted by Acquiror (and the other applicable parties hereto), reaffirms in good faith (after consultation with its outside legal counsel) that the failure to make an Change in Recommendation would result in a breach of its fiduciary duties under applicable Law. For the avoidance of doubt, a Change in Recommendation will not affect Acquiror's obligations pursuant to this Section 8.02 (other than as set forth in the immediately preceding sentence) or elsewhere in this Agreement.

(c) Exchange Offer; Registration Statement.

(i) Prior to adoption of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement, Acquiror shall commence, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to consummate as of immediately prior to the effectiveness of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement, the Company Class B-1 Unit Award Exchange Offer in compliance with the applicable rules under the Exchange Act, including Regulation 14E thereunder.

(ii) On or promptly following the Original Agreement Date, Acquiror and the Company shall jointly prepare and Acquiror shall file with the SEC, a registration statement on Form S-4 with respect to any shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock to be issued in the Company Class B-1 Unit Award Exchange Offer (such registration statement, together with any amendments or supplements thereto, the "Registration Statement"). Each of Acquiror and the Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause the Registration Statement to comply with the rules and regulations promulgated by the SEC. Acquiror shall use its reasonable best efforts to have the Registration Statement declared effective by the SEC under the Securities Act as promptly as practicable. Each of Acquiror and the Company agrees to furnish to the other party all information concerning itself, its Subsidiaries, officers, directors, managers, stockholders, and other equityholders and information regarding such other matters as may be reasonably necessary or advisable or as may be reasonably requested in connection with the Registration Statement. Acquiror will cause the Registration Statement to be mailed to the Company Employees promptly after it is declared effective by the SEC.

(iii) To the extent not prohibited by Law, Acquiror will advise the Company, reasonably promptly after Acquiror receives notice thereof, of the time when the Registration Statement has been declared effective or any supplement or amendment has been filed, or of any request by the SEC for the amendment or supplement of the Registration Statement or for additional information. To the extent not prohibited by Law, the Company and their counsel shall be given a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on the Registration Statement each time before any such document is filed with the SEC, and Acquiror shall give reasonable and good faith consideration to any comments made by the Company and its counsel. To the extent not prohibited by Law, Acquiror shall provide the Company and their counsel with (i) any comments or other communications, whether written or oral, that Acquiror or its counsel may receive from time to time from the SEC or its staff with respect to the Registration Statement promptly after receipt of those comments or other communications and (ii) a reasonable opportunity to participate in the response of Acquiror to those comments and to provide comments on that response (to which reasonable and good faith consideration shall be given), including by participating with the Company or its counsel in any discussions or meetings with the SEC.

(iv) Each of Acquiror and the Company shall ensure that none of the information supplied by or on its behalf for inclusion or incorporation by reference in the Registration Statement will, at the date it is first mailed to the Company Employees, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

(v) If at any time prior to the Closing any information relating to Acquiror, the Company, any of the Company's Subsidiaries, or their respective Affiliates, directors or officers is discovered by the Company or Acquiror, which is required to be set forth in an amendment or supplement to the Registration Statement, so that such document would include any misstatement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, the party which discovers such information shall promptly notify the other parties and an appropriate amendment or supplement describing such information shall be promptly filed with the SEC and, to the extent required by Law, disseminated to the Company Employees.

(vi) Acquiror may, upon prior notice to the Company, elect to file the Registration Statement and the Proxy Statement as a joint proxy statement/prospectus, provided that Acquiror complies with its obligations under this Section 8.02 with respect to the preparation, filing and mailing of such documents and any amendments and supplements thereto.

Section 8.03 Tax Matters.

(a) Intended Tax Treatment. For U.S. federal income tax purposes (and for purposes of any applicable state or local income tax that follows the U.S. federal income tax treatment), each of the Parties intends that (A) the transactions described in Section 2.01(d)(i)(A) be treated as a contribution pursuant to Section 721(a) of the Code by Acquiror and (B) the Mergers, taken together, be treated as a single integrated transaction that qualifies as a "reorganization" under Section 368(a) of the Code and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder (the "Intended Income Tax Treatment"). With respect to the Mergers, this Agreement is intended to constitute, and is hereby adopted as, a "plan of reorganization" within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Sections 1.368-2(g) and 1.368-3(a). The Parties will prepare and file all Tax Returns consistent with the foregoing provisions of this Section 8.03(a) and will not take any inconsistent position on any Tax Return or during the course of any Action, audit, or other similar proceeding with respect to Taxes, except as otherwise required by a determination within the meaning of Section 1313(a) of the Code (or any similar or corresponding provision of state or local Law). Each of the Parties agrees to promptly notify all other Parties of any challenge to the Intended Income Tax Treatment by any Governmental Authority.

(b) Tax Matters Cooperation. Each of the Parties shall (and shall cause their respective Affiliates to) cooperate fully, as and to the extent reasonably requested by another Party, in connection with the filing of relevant Tax Returns, any claim for a refund of any Tax, and any audit or Tax proceeding. Such cooperation shall include the retention and (upon the other Party's reasonable request) the provision (with the right to make copies) of records and information reasonably relevant to any tax proceeding or audit, making employees available on a mutually convenient basis to provide additional information and explanation of any material provided hereunder.

(c) Transfer Taxes. All transfer, stamp, documentary, sales, use, registration, value-added and other similar Taxes (including all applicable real estate transfer Taxes) incurred in connection with this Agreement and the Transactions ("Transfer Taxes") will be borne and paid by Acquiror. The Parties shall use commercially reasonable efforts to obtain any certificate or other document from any Governmental Authority or any other Person as may be necessary to mitigate, reduce or eliminate any Transfer Tax that could be imposed in connection with the Transactions.

Section 8.04 Confidentiality; Publicity.

(a) Acquiror acknowledges that the information being provided to it in connection with this Agreement and the consummation of the Transactions is subject to the terms of the Company Confidentiality Agreement, the C Preferred Investor Confidentiality Agreement and Sections 10.6 and 10.7 of the UPA, the terms of which are incorporated herein by reference. The Company Confidentiality

Agreement shall survive the execution and delivery of this Agreement and shall apply to all information furnished thereunder or hereunder and any other activities contemplated thereby (and with respect to the C Preferred Investor Confidentiality Agreement and Sections 10.6 and 10.7 of the UPA, as if Acquiror were a party to such agreements).

(b) Subject to Section 8.04(c), none of the Parties nor any of their respective Representatives shall issue any press releases or make any public announcements (including communications disseminated via social media, news feeds, chat rooms or other similar electronic platforms for communicating to persons who are not otherwise obligated to maintain the confidentiality of such communications) with respect to this Agreement or the Transactions or any subject matter disclosed or required to be disclosed in the Proxy Statement or the Registration Statement without the prior written consent of the other Parties, prior to the Closing; provided, however, that each Party may make any such announcement or other communication (i) if such announcement or other communication is required by applicable Law or the rules of any stock exchange, in which case the disclosing Party shall, to the extent permitted by applicable Law, first allow (A) the Company, if the disclosing party is Acquiror or (B) Acquiror, if the disclosing party is the Company (prior to the Closing), to review such announcement or communication and the opportunity to comment thereon and the disclosing Party shall consider such comments in good faith, (ii) to the extent such announcements or other communications contain only information previously disclosed in a public statement, press release or other communication previously approved in accordance with this Section 8.04, and (iii) to Governmental Authorities in connection with any consents required to be made under this Agreement or in connection with the Transactions. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 8.04 or otherwise in this Agreement, the Parties agree that the Sponsor, Acquiror and their respective Representatives may provide general information about the subject matter of this Agreement and the Transactions to any direct or indirect current or prospective investor or in connection with normal fund raising or related marketing or informational or reporting activities, in each case, so long as such recipients are obligated to keep such information confidential.

(c) The initial press release concerning this Agreement and the Transactions shall be a joint press release in the form agreed by the Company and Acquiror prior to the execution of this Agreement and such initial press release (the "Signing Press Release") shall be released as promptly as practicable after the execution of this Agreement (but in any event within four Business Days thereafter). Promptly after the execution of this Agreement (but in any event within four Business Days thereafter), Acquiror shall file a current report on Form 8-K (the "Signing Filing") with the Signing Press Release and a description of this Agreement as required by Securities Laws, which the Company shall have the opportunity to review and comment upon prior to filing and Acquiror shall consider such comments in good faith. The Company, Acquiror and the Sponsor shall mutually agree upon (such agreement not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed by any of them) and, as promptly as practicable after the Closing (but in any event within four Business Days thereafter), issue a press release announcing the consummation of the Transactions (the "Closing Press Release"). Promptly after the Closing (but in any event within four Business Days after the Closing), Acquiror shall file a current report on Form 8-K (the "Closing Filing") with the Closing Press Release and a description of the Closing as required by Securities Laws, which the Sponsor shall have the opportunity to review and comment upon prior to filing and Acquiror shall consider in good faith such comments. In connection with the preparation of the Signing Press Release, the Signing Filing, the Closing Press Release or the Closing Filing, each Party shall, upon written request by any other Party, furnish such other Party with all information concerning itself, its directors, officers and equityholders, and such other matters as may be reasonably necessary for such press release or filing.

Section 8.05 Registration Rights. In connection with the consummation of the Transactions, Acquiror, the Sponsor and certain holders of Acquiror Common Stock and Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock shall enter into the registration rights agreement substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit D (the "Registration Rights Agreement"), pursuant to which (i) certain holders of Acquiror Common Stock and Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock shall be granted registration rights substantially consistent with those set forth in the Registration and Stockholder Rights Agreement, dated as of March 9, 2021, by and among Acquiror, the Sponsor and the other parties thereto, and (ii) Acquiror shall be obligated to file a registration statement registering the resale or other disposition of the Acquiror Class A Common Stock issued in connection with the any exchange or redemption of Company Common Units, Acquiror Class B Common Stock (including, for greater certainty, Acquiror Class B Common Stock issuable upon the exercise of any Acquiror Class B Warrants) and Acquiror Series A Preferred Stock pursuant to the terms of the Amended and Restated Company LLC Agreement or Amended and Restated Acquiror Certificate of Incorporation, as applicable.

Section 8.06 Transaction Expenses. The Parties shall reasonably cooperate so as to cause the sum of the Company Transaction Expenses and Acquiror Transaction Expenses not to exceed $32,000,000.

Section 8.07 Post-Closing Cooperation; Further Assurances. Following the Closing, each Party shall, on the request of any other Party, execute such further documents, and perform such further acts, as may be reasonably necessary or appropriate to give full effect to the allocation of rights, benefits, obligations and liabilities contemplated by this Agreement and the Transactions.

ARTICLE IX CONDITIONS TO OBLIGATIONS

Section 9.01 Conditions to Obligations of All Parties. The obligations of the Acquiror and the Company to consummate, or cause to be consummated, the Transactions are subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions, any one or more of which may be waived (if legally permitted) in writing by all of such Parties:

- (a) HSR Approval. All applicable waiting periods (and any extensions thereof) under the HSR Act in respect of the Transactions shall have expired or been terminated.
- (b) No Prohibition. There shall not be in force any Law or Governmental Order by any Governmental Authority of competent jurisdiction and having jurisdiction over the Parties with respect to the Transactions enjoining, prohibiting, or making illegal the consummation of the Transactions.
- (c) Acquiror Stockholder Approval. The Acquiror Stockholder Approval shall have been obtained.
- (d) Company Equityholder Approval. The Company Equityholder Approval obtained pursuant to the Company Written Consent shall continue to be valid and effective in its entirety and shall not otherwise have been rescinded, revoked or repudiated.
- (e) Regulatory Consents. The Company shall have received all required regulatory consents or approvals with respect to Permits and pursuant to Applicable Healthcare Industry Laws to the extent that such consents are required prior to Closing.
- (f) Stock Exchange Listing. The shares of Acquiror Class A Common Stock shall be listed on Nasdaq, or another national securities exchange mutually agreed to by the parties, as of the Closing Date.
- (g) Registration Statement. The Registration Statement shall have become effective under the Securities Act and no stop order suspending the effectiveness of the Registration Statement shall have been issued and no proceedings for that purpose shall have been initiated or threatened by the SEC and not withdrawn.

Section 9.02 Additional Conditions to Obligations of Acquiror. The obligations of Acquiror to consummate, or cause to be consummated, the Transactions are subject to the satisfaction of the following additional conditions, any one or more of which may be waived in writing by Acquiror:

- (a) Representations and Warranties.
 - (i) The representations and warranties of the Company contained in Section 4.01 (Corporate Organization of the Company), Section 4.02 (Subsidiaries), Section 4.03 (Due Authorization), Section 4.07 (Capitalization of Subsidiaries), Section 4.23 (Brokers), and Section 4.26 (Proxy Statement; Registration Statement; Information Provided) shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to "materiality" or "Company Material Adverse Effect" or any similar limitation set forth therein) in all material respects as of the Original Agreement Date and as of the Closing Date as though then made (except to the extent such representations and warranties expressly relate to an earlier date, which in such case, shall be true and correct in all material respects on and as of such earlier date).

(ii) The representations and warranties of the Company contained in Section 4.06 (Current Capitalization) (together with the representations and warranties identified in Section 9.02(a)(i), the "Company Specified Representations") shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to "materiality" or "Company Material Adverse Effect" or any similar limitation set forth therein) in all respects as of the Original Agreement Date and as of the Closing Date as though then made other than de minimis inaccuracies.

(iii) Each of the representations and warranties contained in Article IV (other than the Company Specified Representations and Section 4.22(c) (Absence of Changes)) shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to "materiality" or "Company Material Adverse Effect" or any similar limitation set forth therein) as of the Original Agreement Date and as of the Closing Date as though then made (except to the extent such representations and warranties expressly relate to an earlier date, which in such case, shall be true and correct on and as of such earlier date), except, in either case, where the failure of such representations and warranties to be so true and correct, individually or in the aggregate, has not had, and would not reasonably be expected to have, a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(b) Agreements and Covenants. The covenants and agreements of the Company in this Agreement to be performed as of or prior to the Closing shall have been performed in all material respects.

(c) Officer's Certificate. The Company shall have delivered to Acquiror a certificate signed by an officer of the Company, dated as of the Closing Date, certifying that, to the knowledge and belief of such officer, the conditions specified in Section 9.02(a) and Section 9.02(b) have been fulfilled.

(d) Company Material Adverse Effect. Since the Original Agreement Date, no Company Material Adverse Effect shall have occurred which is continuing and uncured.

Section 9.03 Additional Conditions to the Obligations of the Company. The obligation of the Company to consummate, or cause to be consummated, the Transactions is subject to the satisfaction of the following additional conditions, any one or more of which may be waived in writing by the Company:

(a) Representations and Warranties.

(i) Each of the representations and warranties of Acquiror contained in Article V (other than the representations and warranties of Acquiror contained in Section 5.01 (Corporate Organization), Section 5.02 (Due Authorization) and Section 5.11 (Capitalization)) shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to "materiality" or "Acquiror Material Adverse Effect" or any similar limitation set forth therein) as of the Original Agreement Date and as of the Closing Date as though then made (except to the extent such representations and warranties expressly relate to an earlier date, which in such case, shall be true and correct on and as of such earlier date), except, in either case, where the failure of such representations and warranties to be so true and correct, individually or in the aggregate, has not had, and would not reasonably be expected to have, an Acquiror Material Adverse Effect.

(ii) Each of the representations and warranties of Acquiror contained in Section 5.01 (Corporate Organization), Section 5.02 (Due Authorization) and Section 5.11 (Capitalization) shall be true and correct (without giving any effect to any limitation as to "materiality" or any similar limitation set forth therein) in all material respects as of the Closing Date as though then made (except to the extent such representations and warranties expressly relate to an earlier date, which in such case, shall be true and correct in all material respects on and as of such earlier date).

(b) Agreements and Covenants. The covenants and agreements of Acquiror in this Agreement to be performed as of or prior to the Closing shall have been performed in all material respects.

(c) Officer's Certificate. Acquiror shall have delivered to the Company a certificate signed by an officer of Acquiror, dated as of the Closing Date, certifying that, to the knowledge and belief of such officer, the conditions specified in Section 9.03(a) and Section 9.03(b) have been fulfilled.

(d) Acquiror Directors and Officers. As of immediately following the Closing, the Acquiror Board and officers shall be constituted in accordance with Section 7.05.

Section 9.04 Frustration of Conditions. A Party may not rely on the failure of any condition set forth in this Article IX to be satisfied if such failure was due to the failure of such Party to perform any of its obligations under this Agreement.

ARTICLE X TERMINATION/EFFECTIVENESS

Section 10.01 Termination. This Agreement may be validly terminated and the Transactions may be abandoned at any time prior to the Closing only as follows:

(a) by mutual written agreement of Acquiror and the Company;

(b) by either Acquiror or the Company, if there shall be in effect any (i) Law in any jurisdiction of competent authority or (ii) Governmental Order issued, promulgated, made, rendered or entered into by any court or other tribunal of competent jurisdiction, that, in the case of each of clauses (i) and (ii), permanently restrains, enjoins, makes illegal or otherwise prohibits the consummation of the Business Combination and in the case of any such Governmental Order, such Governmental Order shall have become final and non-appealable, except that the right to terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(b) will not be available to any Party that has failed to use its reasonable best efforts to resist, appeal, obtain consent pursuant to, resolve or lift, as applicable, such final and non-appealable order;

(c) by Acquiror or the Company, if the Closing has not occurred by 11:59 p.m., Eastern Time, on October 5, 2023 (the "Termination Date"); provided, that the Termination Date shall be automatically extended for an additional 60 days to the extent there is any delay to the applicable waiting or review periods, or any extension thereof, by any Governmental Authority or Nasdaq (including any specific request from any Governmental Authority or Nasdaq to delay filings or for additional time to review the Transactions) that would, or would reasonably be expected to, have the effect of delaying, impeding, hindering or preventing the review of the Transaction or issuance of clearance or approval from such Governmental Authority to the extent required to satisfy the condition set forth in Section 9.01(b); provided, further, that the right to terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(c) will not be available to any Party whose breach of any provision of this Agreement primarily causes or results in the failure of the Business Combination to be consummated by such time;

(d) by either Acquiror or the Company, if Acquiror fails to obtain the Acquiror Stockholder Approval upon vote taken thereon at the Special Meeting (or at a meeting of its stockholders following any adjournment or postponement thereof);

(e) by Acquiror, if the Company has breached or failed to perform any of its (i) representations or warranties or (ii) covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement, which breach or failure to perform (A) would result in the failure of a condition set forth in Section 9.02(a) or Section 9.02(b) to be satisfied and (B) is not capable of being cured by the Termination Date or, if capable of being cured by the Termination Date, is not cured by the Company before the earlier of (I) the fifth Business Day immediately prior to the Termination Date and (II) the 30th day following receipt of written notice from Acquiror of such breach or failure to perform; provided, that Acquiror shall not have the right to terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(e) if it is then in material breach of any representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement that would result in the failure of a condition set forth in Section 9.03(a) or Section 9.03(b) to be satisfied;

(f) by the Company, if Acquiror has breached or failed to perform any of its respective representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement, which breach or failure to perform (A) would result in the failure of a condition set forth in Section 9.03(a) or

Section 9.03(b) to be satisfied and (B) is not capable of being cured by the by the Termination Date or, if capable of being cured by the Termination Date, is not cured by Acquiror, as applicable, before the earlier of (I) the fifth Business Day immediately prior to the Termination Date and (II) the 30th day following receipt of written notice from the Company of such breach or failure to perform; provided, that the Company shall not have the right to terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(f) if it is then in material breach of any representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement that would result in the failure of a condition set forth in Section 9.02(a) or Section 9.02(b) to be satisfied;

(g) by the Company if the Company Board authorizes the Company to enter in a definitive agreement with any Person other than Acquiror with respect to an Acquisition Transaction and concurrently with the termination of this Agreement, the Company enters into such definitive agreement, or by Acquiror if the Company enters into such a definitive agreement without concurrently terminating this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(g); or

(h) by Acquiror or the Company, if (i) the Closing has not occurred by 11:59 p.m., Eastern Time, on the Acquiror Termination Date and (ii) on or before such date, amendments to the Acquiror Organizational Documents have not been duly made effective in accordance with applicable law to extend the deadline by which Acquiror is required to consummate the Transactions to the Extension Date; provided, that in the event that Acquiror and the Company determine in good faith that it is probable that the Transactions will not be consummated on or before the Extension Date pursuant to the last sentence of Section 8.01(d), the Acquiror Termination Date shall be automatically extended to such Extension Date and neither Acquiror nor the Company may terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01(h) unless on or before such Extension Date amendments to the Acquiror Organizational Documents have not been duly made effective in accordance with applicable law to further extend the deadline by which Acquiror is required to consummate the Transactions to a date after the Extension Date;

The Party seeking to terminate this Agreement pursuant to this Section 10.01 (other than Section 10.01(a)) shall give prompt written notice of such termination to the other Parties hereto specifying the provision hereof pursuant to which such termination is made.

Section 10.02 Effect of Termination.

(a) Except as otherwise set forth in this Section 10.02, if this Agreement terminates pursuant to Section 10.01, this Agreement shall forthwith become void and have no effect, without any liability on the part of any Party or its respective Affiliates, officers, directors, employees or stockholders, other than liability of any Party for any Fraud or any willful and knowing material breach of this Agreement by such Party occurring prior to such termination. The provisions of Section 6.03 (No Claim Against the Trust Account), Section 8.04 (Confidentiality; Publicity), this Section 10.02 (Effect of Termination) and Article XI (Miscellaneous) (collectively, the "Surviving Provisions") and the Company Confidentiality Agreement, and any other Section or Article of this Agreement referenced in the Surviving Provisions which are required to survive in order to give appropriate effect to the Surviving Provisions, shall in each case survive any termination of this Agreement.

(b) In the event that this Agreement is terminated pursuant to Section 10.01(g), the Company shall pay to Sponsor the Company Termination Fee by wire transfer of immediately available cash funds no later than the earlier of (i) the date that is six (6) months following the termination of this Agreement by Acquiror or the Company pursuant to Section 10.01(g) or (ii) the date of consummation of the Acquisition Transaction.

(c) In the event that this Agreement is terminated by:

- (i) the Company or Acquiror pursuant to Section 10.01(d) or Section 10.01(h),
- (ii) the Company pursuant to Section 10.01(f), or

(iii) the Company or Acquiror pursuant to Section 10.01(c) in circumstances in which the condition set forth under Section 9.01(f) (Stock Exchange Listing) shall have not been satisfied or waived and, in the event such condition has not been waived, the Company is not then in material breach of any representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement that would have contributed to the failure to satisfy such condition,

Acquiror shall pay to the Company, within five (5) Business Days of the termination of this Agreement, by wire transfer of immediately available cash funds an amount equal to the sum of all reasonable, documented out-of-pocket legal and accounting expenses actually incurred by the Company and its Affiliates in connection with the Transactions.

ARTICLE XI MISCELLANEOUS

Section 11.01 Waiver. At any time and from time to time prior to the Closing, Acquiror and the Company may, to the extent legally allowed and except as otherwise set forth herein, (a) extend the time for the performance of any of the obligations or other acts of the other Party, as applicable, (b) waive any inaccuracies in the representations and warranties of the other Party contained herein or in any document delivered pursuant hereto, and (c) subject to the requirements of applicable Law, waive compliance by the other Party with any of the agreements or conditions contained herein applicable to such Party (it being understood that Acquiror shall be deemed a single Party for purposes of this Section 11.01). Any agreement on the part of Acquiror or the Company to any such extension or waiver will be valid only if set forth in an instrument in writing signed by such Party. Any delay in exercising any right pursuant to this Agreement will not constitute a waiver of such right.

Section 11.02 Notices. All notices and other communications among the Parties shall be in writing and shall be deemed to have been duly given (i) when delivered in person, (ii) when delivered after posting in the United States mail having been sent registered or certified mail return receipt requested, postage prepaid, (iii) when delivered by FedEx or other nationally recognized overnight delivery service or (iv) when e-mailed during normal business hours (and otherwise as of the immediately following Business Day), addressed as follows:

or to such other address or addresses as the Parties may from time to time designate in writing. Without limiting the foregoing, any Party may give any notice, request, instruction, demand, document or other communication hereunder using any other means (including personal delivery, expedited courier, messenger service, ordinary mail or electronic mail), but no such notice, request, instruction, demand, document or other communication shall be deemed to have been duly given unless and until it actually is received by the Party for whom it is intended.

Section 11.03 Assignment. No Party shall assign this Agreement or any part hereof without the prior written consent of the other Parties. Subject to the foregoing, this Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the Parties and their respective permitted successors and assigns. Any attempted assignment in violation of the terms of this Section 11.03 shall be null and void, ab initio.

Section 11.04 Rights of Third Parties. Nothing expressed or implied in this Agreement is intended or shall be construed to confer upon or give any Person, other than the Parties, any right or remedies under or by reason of this Agreement; provided, however, that notwithstanding the foregoing (a) if the Closing occurs, the present and former officers and directors of the Company and Acquiror (and their successors, heirs and representatives) are intended third-party beneficiaries of, and may enforce, Section 7.01, (b) the past, present and future directors, officers, employees, incorporators, members, partners, stockholders, Affiliates, agents, attorneys, advisors and representatives of the Parties, and any Affiliate of any of the foregoing (and their successors, heirs and representatives), are intended third-party beneficiaries of, and may enforce, Section 11.14, and (c) the Sponsor (including its successors and representatives) are intended third-party beneficiaries of, and may enforce, Section 10.02(b).

Section 11.05 Expenses. Except as otherwise provided herein, each Party shall bear its own expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement and the Transactions whether or not such transactions shall be consummated, including all fees of its legal counsel, financial advisers and accountants; provided, that if the Closing occurs, Acquiror and the Company shall bear and pay at or promptly after Closing all Acquiror Transaction Expenses and all Company Transaction Expenses.

Section 11.06 Governing Law. This Agreement, and all claims or causes of action based upon, arising out of, or related to this Agreement or the Transactions, shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the internal substantive Laws of the State of Delaware applicable to contracts entered into and to be performed solely within such state, without giving effect to principles or rules of conflict of laws to the extent such principles or rules would require or permit the application of Laws of another jurisdiction.

Section 11.07 Captions; Counterparts. The captions in this Agreement are for convenience only and shall not be considered a part of or affect the construction or interpretation of any provision of this Agreement. This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument.

Section 11.08 Schedules and Exhibits. The Schedules and Exhibits referenced herein are a part of this Agreement as if fully set forth herein. All references herein to Schedules and Exhibits shall be deemed references to such parts of this Agreement, unless the context shall otherwise require. Any disclosure made by a Party in the Schedules with reference to any section or schedule of this Agreement shall be deemed to be a disclosure with respect to all other sections or schedules to which such disclosure may apply solely to the extent the relevance of such disclosure is reasonably apparent on the face of the disclosure in such Schedule. Certain information set forth in the Schedules is included solely for informational purposes. The disclosure of any information shall not be deemed to constitute an acknowledgement that such information is required to be disclosed in connection with the representations and warranties made in this Agreement, nor shall such information be deemed to establish a standard of materiality.

Section 11.09 Entire Agreement. This Agreement (together with the Schedules and Exhibits to this Agreement), the Transaction Agreements (together with the Schedules and Exhibits thereto), the Non-Disclosure Agreement, by and between the Company and Acquiror, dated as of April 29, 2022 (as amended, modified or supplemented from time to time, the "Company Confidentiality Agreement"), constitute the entire agreement among the Parties relating to the Transactions and supersede any other agreements, whether written or oral, that may have been made or entered into by or among any of the Parties or any of their respective Subsidiaries relating to the Transactions. No representations, warranties, covenants, understandings, agreements, oral or otherwise, relating to the Transactions exist between the Parties except as expressly set forth or referenced in this Agreement and the Company Confidentiality Agreement.

Section 11.10 Amendments. This Agreement may be amended or modified in whole or in part, only by a duly authorized agreement in writing executed by each of the Parties in the same manner as this Agreement and which makes reference to this Agreement. The approval of this Agreement by the stockholders of any of the Parties shall not restrict the ability of the board of directors or managers (or other body performing similar functions) of any of the Parties to terminate this Agreement in accordance with Section 10.01 or to cause such Party to enter into an amendment to this Agreement pursuant to this Section 11.10.

Section 11.11 Severability. If any provision of this Agreement is held invalid or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction, the other provisions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect. The Parties further agree that if any provision contained herein is, to any extent, held invalid or unenforceable in any respect under the Laws governing this Agreement, they shall take any actions necessary to render the remaining provisions of this Agreement valid and enforceable to the fullest extent permitted by Law and, to the extent necessary, shall amend or otherwise modify this Agreement to replace any provision contained herein that is held invalid or unenforceable with a valid and enforceable provision giving effect to the intent of the Parties.

Section 11.12 Jurisdiction; WAIVER OF TRIAL BY JURY. Any Action based upon, arising out of or related to this Agreement or the Transactions may be brought in federal and state courts located in the State of Delaware, and each of the Parties irrevocably submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of each such court in any such Action, waives any objection it may now or hereafter have to personal jurisdiction, venue or to convenience of forum, agrees that all claims in respect of the Action shall be heard and determined only in any such court, and agrees not to bring any Action arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the Transactions in any other court. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect the right of any Party to serve process in any manner permitted by Law or to commence legal proceedings or otherwise proceed against any other Party in any other jurisdiction, in each case, to enforce judgments obtained in any Action brought pursuant to this Section 11.12. EACH OF THE PARTIES HEREBY IRREVOCABLY WAIVES ANY AND ALL RIGHT TO TRIAL BY JURY IN ANY ACTION BASED UPON, ARISING OUT OF OR RELATED TO THIS AGREEMENT OR THE TRANSACTIONS.

Section 11.13 Enforcement. The Parties agree that irreparable damage for which monetary damages, even if available, would not be an adequate remedy, would occur if the Parties do not perform their obligations under the provisions of this Agreement (including failing to take such actions as are required of them hereunder to consummate this Agreement) in accordance with its specified terms or otherwise breach such provisions. The Parties acknowledge and agree that (a) Acquiror and the Company shall be entitled to an injunction, specific performance, or other equitable relief, to prevent breaches of this Agreement and to enforce specifically the terms and provisions hereof and thereof, without proof of damages, prior to the valid termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 10.01, this being in addition to any other remedy to which they are entitled under this Agreement, and (b) the right of specific enforcement is an integral part of the Transactions and without that right, none of the Parties would have entered into this Agreement. Each Party agrees that it will not oppose the granting of specific performance and other equitable relief on the basis that the other Parties have an adequate remedy at Law or that an award of specific performance is not an appropriate remedy for any reason at Law or equity. The Parties acknowledge and agree that neither of Acquiror nor the Company, in seeking an injunction to prevent breaches of this Agreement and to enforce specifically the terms and provisions of this Agreement in accordance with this Section 11.13, shall be required to provide any bond or other security in connection with any such injunction.

Section 11.14 Non-Recourse. This Agreement may only be enforced against, and any claim or cause of action based upon, arising out of, or related to this Agreement or the Transactions may only be brought against, the entities that are expressly named as Parties and then only with respect to the specific obligations set forth herein with respect to such Party. Except to the extent a Party (and then only to the extent of the specific obligations undertaken by such Party in this Agreement), (a) no past, present or future director, officer, employee, sponsor, incorporator, member, partner, stockholder, Affiliate, agent, attorney, advisor or representative or Affiliate of any Party and (b) no past, present or future director, officer, employee, sponsor, incorporator, member, partner, stockholder, Affiliate, agent, attorney, advisor or representative or Affiliate of any of the foregoing shall have any liability (whether in contract, tort, equity or otherwise) for any one or more of the representations, warranties, covenants, agreements or other obligations or liabilities of Acquiror or the Company under this Agreement of or for any claim based on, arising out of, or related to this Agreement or the Transactions. Nothing in this Section 11.14 shall limit any claim against a Person in respect of such Person's Fraud.

Section 11.15 Nonsurvival of Representations, Warranties and Covenants. None of the representations, warranties, covenants, obligations or other agreements in this Agreement or in any certificate, statement or instrument delivered pursuant to this Agreement, including any rights arising out of any breach of such representations, warranties, covenants, obligations, agreements and other provisions, shall survive the Closing and shall terminate and expire upon the occurrence of the Closing (and there shall be no liability after the Closing in respect thereof), except for (a) those covenants and agreements contained herein that by their terms apply in whole or in part at or after the Closing and then only with respect to any breaches occurring at or after the Closing and (b) this Article XI. Nothing in this Section 11.15 shall relieve any Party of liability in the case of Fraud committed by such Party.

Section 11.16 Acknowledgements. Each of the Parties acknowledges and agrees (on its own behalf and on behalf of its respective Affiliates and its and their respective Representatives) that (a) it has conducted its own independent investigation of the financial condition, results of operations, assets, liabilities, properties and projected operations of the other Parties (and their respective Subsidiaries) and has been afforded satisfactory access to the books and records, facilities and personnel of the other Parties (and their respective Subsidiaries) for purposes of conducting such investigation; (b) the representations and warranties in Article IV constitute the sole and exclusive representations and warranties of the Company in connection with the Transactions; (c) the representations and warranties in Article V constitute the sole and exclusive representations and warranties of Acquiror; (d) except for the representations and warranties in Article IV by the Company and the representations and warranties in Article V by Acquiror, none of the Parties or any other Person makes, or has made, any other express or implied representation or warranty with respect to any Party (or any Party's Subsidiaries), including any implied warranty or representation as to condition, merchantability, suitability or fitness for a particular purpose or trade as to any of the assets of the such Party or its Subsidiaries or the Transactions and all other representations and warranties of any kind or nature expressed or implied (including (i) regarding the completeness or accuracy of, or any omission to state or to disclose, any information, including in the estimates, projections or forecasts or any other information, document or material provided to or made available to any Party or their respective Affiliates or Representatives in certain "data rooms," management presentations or in any other form in expectation of the Transactions, including meetings, calls or correspondence with management of any Party (or any Party's Subsidiaries), and (ii) any relating to the future or historical business, condition (financial or otherwise), results of operations, prospects, assets or liabilities of any Party (or its Subsidiaries), or the quality, quantity or condition of any Party's or its Subsidiaries' assets) are specifically disclaimed by all Parties and their respective Subsidiaries and all other Persons (including the Representatives and Affiliates of any Party or its Subsidiaries); and (e) each Party and its respective Affiliates are not relying on any representations and warranties in connection with the Transactions except the representations and warranties in Article IV by the Company and the representations and warranties in Article V by Acquiror. The foregoing does not limit any rights of any Party pursuant to any other Transaction Agreement against any other Party pursuant to such Transaction Agreement to which it is a party or an express third-party beneficiary thereof. Nothing in this Section 11.16 shall relieve any Party of liability in the case of Fraud or willful misconduct committed by such Party.

AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK, INC.

WARRANT TO PURCHASE COMMON STOCK

Warrant No.:

Number of Shares of Class B Common Stock:

Date of Issuance: _____, 2023 (" Issuance Date ")

American Oncology Network, Inc., a company organized under the laws of Delaware (the "Company"), hereby certifies that, for good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, [_____], the registered holder hereof or its permitted assigns (the "Holder"), is entitled, subject to the terms set forth below, to purchase from the Company, at the Exercise Price (as defined below) then in effect, at any time or times, up to (_____) fully paid non-assessable shares of Common Stock (as defined below), subject to adjustment as provided herein (the "Warrant Shares").

1. EXERCISE OF WARRANT.

(a) Mechanics of Exercise. Subject to the terms and conditions hereof (including, without limitation, the limitations set forth in Section 1(d)), this Warrant may be exercised by the Holder at any time or times, in whole or in part, by delivery (whether via facsimile, electronic mail or otherwise) of a written notice, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "Exercise Notice"), of the Holder's election to exercise this Warrant. Within one (1) Trading Day following the delivery of the Exercise Notice, the Holder shall make payment to the Company of an amount equal to the Exercise Price in effect on the date of such exercise multiplied by the number of Warrant Shares as to which this Warrant is being exercised (the "Aggregate Exercise Price") in cash by wire transfer of immediately available funds. The Holder shall not be required to deliver the original Warrant in order to effect an exercise hereunder, nor shall any ink-original signature or medallion guarantee (or other type of guarantee or notarization) with respect to any Exercise Notice be required. Execution and delivery of the Exercise Notice with respect to less than all of the Warrant Shares shall have the same effect as cancellation of the original Warrant and issuance of a new Warrant evidencing the right to purchase the remaining number of Warrant Shares and the Holder shall not be required to physically surrender this Warrant to the Company until the Holder has purchased all of the Warrant Shares available hereunder and the Warrant has been exercised in full, in which case, the Holder shall surrender this Warrant to the Company for cancellation within five (5) Trading Days of the date on which the final Exercise Notice has been delivered to the Company. If the Holder delivers the Aggregate Exercise Price and such information as the Company may reasonably request in order to effect the credit or issuance and dispatch, as applicable, set forth in clauses (X) below, on or prior to the second (2nd) Trading Day following the date on which the Exercise Notice has been delivered to the Company, then the Company shall effect such credit or issuance on or prior to the third (3rd) Trading Day following the date on which the Exercise Notice has been delivered to the Company. If the Holder has not delivered the Aggregate Exercise Price on or prior to the second (2nd) Trading Day following the date on which the Exercise Notice has been delivered to the Company, then the Company shall effect the credit or issuance and dispatch, as applicable, set forth in clauses (X) below, on or prior to the third (3rd) Trading Day following the date on which the Aggregate Exercise Price is delivered. For purposes of this Warrant, "Share Delivery Date" means the day on which the Company is required to deliver Warrant Shares pursuant to this Section 1(a). On the Share Delivery Date, (X) the Company shall issue a certificate, registered in the name of the Holder or its designee, for the number of Warrant Shares to which the Holder is entitled pursuant to such exercise. Upon delivery of the Exercise Notice and payment of the Aggregate Exercise Price, the Holder shall be deemed for all corporate purposes to have become the holder of record and beneficial owner of the Warrant Shares with respect to which this Warrant has been exercised, irrespective of the date of delivery of the certificates evidencing such Warrant Shares. If this Warrant is (i) physically delivered to the Company in connection with any exercise pursuant to this Section 1(a) and the number of Warrant Shares represented by this Warrant is greater than the number of Warrant Shares being acquired upon an exercise, or (ii) tendered to the Company in connection with a redemption of Common Units for the Company's Class A Common Stock and the number of Warrant Shares represented by this Warrant is greater than the number of Shares of Class A Common Stock being acquired upon such redemption, then the Company shall as soon as practicable and in no event later than three (3) Trading Days after any exercise/redemption and at its own expense, issue and deliver to the Holder (or its designee) a new Warrant (in accordance with Section 7(d)) representing the right to purchase the number of Warrant Shares issuable immediately prior to such exercise/redemption under this Warrant, less the number of Warrant Shares with respect to which this Warrant is exercised/redemption. No fractional Warrant Shares are to be issued upon the exercise of this Warrant, but rather the number of Warrant Shares to be issued shall be rounded to the nearest whole number. The Company shall pay any and all transfer, stamp, issuance and similar taxes, costs and expenses which may be payable with respect to the issuance and delivery of Warrant Shares upon exercise of this Warrant. The Company's obligations to issue and deliver Warrant Shares in accordance with the terms and subject to the conditions hereof are absolute and unconditional, irrespective of any action or inaction by the Holder to enforce the same, any waiver or consent with respect to any provision hereof, the recovery of any judgment against any Person or any action to enforce the same, or any setoff, counterclaim, recoupment, limitation or termination; provided, however, that the Company shall not be required to deliver Warrant Shares with respect to an exercise prior to the Holder's delivery of the Aggregate Exercise Price with respect to such exercise.

(b) Exercise Price and Term of Exercise. For purposes of this Warrant, "Exercise Price" means $0.01 per share, subject to adjustment as provided herein. The exercise term of this Warrant shall continue indefinitely so long as Holder is the holder of Common Units of American Oncology Network, LLC (the "Common Units"); provided however, that the number of shares of Common Stock that this Warrant is exercisable for shall not exceed the number of Common Units held by Holder and such shares of Common Stock shall be automatically adjusted so as to equal such number of Common Units held by Holder.

(c) Disputes. In the case of a dispute as to the determination of the Exercise Price or the arithmetic calculation of the Warrant Shares, the Company shall promptly issue to the Holder the number of Warrant Shares that are not disputed and resolve such dispute in accordance with Section 11.

(d) Limitation on Beneficial Ownership. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the Company shall not effect the exercise of any portion of this Warrant, and the Holder shall not have the right to exercise any portion of this Warrant, pursuant to the terms and conditions of this Warrant and any such exercise shall be null and void and treated as if never made, to the extent that after giving effect to such exercise, the Holder together with the other Attribution Parties collectively would beneficially own a number of shares of Common Stock in excess of the Maximum Percentage. The "Maximum Percentage" shall be set at 4.99% of the number of shares of the Common Stock outstanding immediately after giving effect to the issuance of shares of Common Stock pursuant to such exercise (to the extent permitted pursuant to this Section 1(d), such 4.99% subject to adjustment for the Combined A+B Proviso (as defined below)). For purposes of the foregoing sentence, the aggregate number of shares of Common Stock beneficially owned by the Holder shall include the number of shares of Common Stock beneficially owned by the Holder, plus the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of this Warrant that would result in the Holder holding the Maximum Percentage of the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock. Furthermore, to the extent Holder or its Attribution Parties beneficially own Class A Common Stock (whether directly or indirectly through the exercise or conversion of another security), the Maximum Percentage shall be automatically adjusted from time to time such that Holder's beneficial ownership of the Company's Common Stock and Class A Common Stock issuable pursuant to the exercise of this Warrant (to the extent permitted pursuant to this Section 1(d)), when combined with Class A Common Stock beneficially owned by the Holder (taking into account any limitation on conversion or exercise of any convertible security analogous to the limitation contained in this Section 1(d)) on an aggregated basis shall not exceed 4.99% of the Common Stock and Class A Common Stock on an aggregated basis outstanding immediately after giving effect to the issuance of shares of Common Stock pursuant to such exercise (to the extent permitted pursuant to this Section 1(d)) (the foregoing collectively, the "Combined A+B Provisio"). For purposes of this Section 1(d), beneficial ownership shall be calculated in accordance with Section 13(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "1934 Act"). For purposes of this Warrant, in determining the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock the Holder may acquire upon the exercise of this Warrant without exceeding the Maximum Percentage, the Holder may rely on the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock and Class A Common Stock as reflected, if applicable, in (x) the Company's most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K, Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q and Current Reports on Form 8-K or other public filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), as the case may be, (y) a more recent public announcement by the Company or (z) any other written notice by the Company, including as may be requested by the Holder in writing, which the Company shall promptly provide, setting forth the number of shares of Common Stock or Class A Common Stock outstanding (the "Reported Outstanding Share Number"). If the Company receives an Exercise Notice from the Holder at a time when the actual number of outstanding shares of Common Stock or Class A Common Stock is less than the Reported Outstanding Share Number, the Company shall (i) notify the Holder in writing of the number of shares of Common Stock or Class A Common Stock then outstanding and, to the extent that such Exercise Notice would otherwise cause the Holder's beneficial ownership, as determined pursuant to this Section 1(d), to exceed the Maximum Percentage, the Holder shall notify the Company of a reduced number of Warrant Shares to be purchased pursuant to such Exercise Notice (the number of shares by which such purchase is reduced, the "Reduction Shares") and (ii) as soon as reasonably practicable, the Company shall return to the Holder any exercise price paid by the Holder for the Reduction Shares. In the event that the issuance of Common Stock to the Holder upon exercise of this Warrant results in the Holder and the other Attribution Parties being deemed to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than the Maximum Percentage of the number of outstanding shares of Common Stock (as determined under Section 13(d) of the 1934 Act), the number of shares so issued by which the Holder's and the other Attribution Parties' aggregate beneficial ownership exceeds the Maximum Percentage (the "Excess Shares") shall be deemed null and void and shall be cancelled ab initio, and the Holder shall not have the power to vote or to transfer the Excess Shares. As soon as reasonably practicable after the issuance of the Excess Shares has been deemed null and void, the Company shall return to the Holder the exercise price paid by the Holder for the Excess Shares and the Holder shall transfer the Excess Shares to the Company. No prior inability to exercise this Warrant pursuant to this paragraph shall have any effect on the applicability of the provisions of this paragraph with respect to any subsequent determination of exercisability. The provisions of this paragraph shall be construed and implemented in a manner otherwise than in strict conformity with the terms of this Section 1(d) to the extent necessary to correct this paragraph or any portion of this paragraph which may be defective or inconsistent with the intended beneficial ownership limitation contained in this Section 1(d) or to make changes or supplements necessary or desirable to properly give effect to such limitation. The limitation contained in this paragraph may not be waived and shall apply to a successor holder of this Warrant. By written notice to the Company, the Holder may from time to time increase or decrease the Maximum Percentage to any other percentage; provided that any increase in the Maximum Percentage will not be effective until the sixty-first (61st) day after such notice is delivered to the Company.

(e) Required Reserve Amount. So long as this Warrant remains outstanding, the Company shall at all times keep reserved for issuance under this Warrant a number of shares of Common Stock at least equal to 100% of the maximum number of shares of Common Stock as shall be necessary to satisfy the Company's obligation to issue shares of Common Stock under the Warrants then outstanding (without regard to any limitations on exercise) (the "Required Reserve Amount"); provided that at no time shall the number of shares of Common Stock reserved pursuant to this Section 1(e) be reduced other than in connection with any exercise of Warrants or such other event covered by Section 2(c) below.

(f) Insufficient Authorized Shares. If at any time while this Warrant remains outstanding the Company does not have a sufficient number of authorized and unreserved shares of Common Stock to satisfy its obligation to reserve for issuance the Required Reserve Amount (an "Authorized Share Failure"), then the Company shall promptly take all action reasonably necessary to increase the Company's authorized shares of Common Stock to an amount sufficient to allow the Company to reserve the Required Reserve Amount for this Warrant then outstanding. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing sentence, as soon as practicable after the date of the occurrence of an Authorized Share Failure, but in no event later than one hundred and twenty (120) days after the occurrence of such Authorized Share Failure, the Company shall hold a meeting of its stockholders for the approval of an increase in the number of authorized shares of Common Stock. In connection with such meeting, the Company shall provide each stockholder with a proxy statement and shall use its reasonable best efforts to solicit its stockholders' approval of such increase in authorized shares of Common Stock and to cause its board of directors to recommend to the stockholders that they approve such proposal. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if at any such time of an Authorized Share Failure, the Company is able to obtain the written consent of a majority of the shares of its issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock to approve the increase in the number of authorized shares of Common Stock, the Company may satisfy this obligation by obtaining such consent and submitting for filing with the SEC an Information Statement on Schedule 14C, and such obligation shall be deemed satisfied on the 21st calendar day after such filing is accepted.

(g) Withholding Taxes. Applicable withholding taxes (including backup withholding) may be withheld from payments and deemed payments on or with respect to this Warrant. In addition, if any withholding taxes (including backup withholding) are paid on behalf of Holder, then those withholding taxes may be set off against payments of cash or the delivery of shares of Common Stock, if any, in respect of this Warrant (or any payments on Common Stock) or sales proceeds received by, or other funds or assets of, Holder.

2. ADJUSTMENT OF EXERCISE PRICE AND NUMBER OF WARRANT SHARES. The Exercise Price and the number of Warrant Shares shall be adjusted from time to time as follows:

(a) Voluntary Adjustment By Company. The Company may at any time during the term of this Warrant reduce the then current Exercise Price to any amount and for any period of time deemed appropriate by the Board of Directors of the Company; provided that the Company shall promptly notify the Holder in writing of any such reduction and the period of time that such reduction shall remain effective.

(b) Adjustment Upon Subdivision or Combination of Common Stock. If the Company at any time on or after the Date of Issuance of this Warrant subdivides (by any stock split, stock dividend, recapitalization or otherwise) its outstanding shares of Common Stock into a greater number of shares, the Exercise Price in effect immediately prior to such subdivision will be proportionately reduced and the number of Warrant Shares will be proportionately increased. If the Company at any time on or after the Date of Issuance of this Warrant combines (by combination, reverse stock split or otherwise) its outstanding shares of Common Stock into a smaller number of shares, the Exercise Price in effect immediately prior to such combination will be proportionately increased and the number of Warrant Shares will be proportionately decreased. Any adjustment under this Section 2(b) shall become effective at the close of business on the date the subdivision or combination becomes effective.

(c) Other Events. If any event occurs of the type contemplated by the provisions of Sections 2(a) and 2(b), but not expressly provided for by such provisions (including, without limitation, the granting of stock appreciation rights, phantom stock rights or other rights with equity features), then the Company's Board of Directors will make an appropriate adjustment in the Exercise Price and the number of Warrant Shares, as mutually determined by the Company's Board of Directors and the Holder, so as to protect the rights of the Holder; provided that no such adjustment pursuant to this Section 2(c) will increase the Exercise Price or decrease the number of Warrant Shares as otherwise determined pursuant to Sections 2(a) and 2(b).

3. RIGHTS UPON DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS. In addition to any adjustments pursuant to Section 2 above, if, on or after the Date of Issuance of this Warrant, the Company shall declare or make any dividend or other distribution of its assets (or rights to acquire its assets) to holders of shares of Common Stock, by way of return of capital or otherwise (including, without limitation, any distribution of cash, stock or other securities, property, options, evidence of indebtedness or any other assets by way of a dividend, spin off, reclassification, corporate rearrangement, scheme of arrangement or other similar transaction) (a "Distribution"), then, in each such case, upon exercise of this Warrant that occurs after the record date fixed for determination of stockholders entitled to receive such Distribution, the Holder shall be entitled, in addition to the Warrant Shares otherwise issuable upon such exercise, the Distribution that such Holder would have been entitled to receive in respect of such number of Warrant Shares had the Holder been the record holder of such Warrant Shares immediately prior to such record date without regard to any limitations or restrictions on exercise of this Warrant, including without limitation, the Maximum Percentage (provided, however, that to the extent that such Distribution would result in the Holder and the other Attribution Parties exceeding the Maximum Percentage, then the Holder shall not be entitled to such Distribution to such extent (and shall not be entitled to beneficial ownership of such shares of Common Stock as a result of such Distribution (and beneficial ownership) to such extent) and the portion of such Distribution shall be held in abeyance for the benefit of the Holder until such time or times as its right thereto would not result in the Holder and the other Attribution Parties exceeding the Maximum Percentage, at which time or times the Holder shall be granted such Distribution (and any Distributions declared or made on such initial Distribution or on any subsequent Distribution held similarly in abeyance) to the same extent as if there had been no such limitation).

4. PURCHASE RIGHTS; FUNDAMENTAL TRANSACTIONS.

(a) Purchase Rights. In addition to any adjustments pursuant to Section 2 above, if at any time on or after the Date of Issuance of this Warrant the Company grants, issues or sells any Options, Convertible Securities or rights to purchase stock, warrants, securities or other property pro rata to the record holders of any class of Common Stock (the "Purchase Rights"), then the Holder will be entitled to acquire, upon the terms applicable to such Purchase Rights, the aggregate Purchase Rights which the Holder could have acquired if the Holder had held the number of shares of Common Stock acquirable upon complete exercise of this Warrant (without regard to any limitations or restrictions on exercise of this Warrant, including without limitation, the Maximum Percentage) immediately before the date on which a record is taken for the grant, issuance or sale of such Purchase Rights, or, if no such record is taken, the date as of which the record holders of Common Stock are to be determined for the grant, issuance or sale of such Purchase Rights (provided, however, that to the extent that the Holder's right to participate in any such Purchase Right would result in the Holder or its Attribution Parties exceeding the Maximum Percentage, then the Holder shall not be entitled to participate in such Purchase Right to such extent (and shall not be entitled to beneficial ownership of such Common Stock as a result of such Purchase Right (and beneficial ownership) to such extent) and such Purchase Right to such extent shall be held in abeyance for the benefit of the Holder until such time or times as its right thereto would not result in the Holder or its Attribution Parties exceeding the Maximum Percentage, at which time or times the Holder shall be granted such right (and any Purchase Right granted, issued or sold on such initial Purchase Right or on any subsequent Purchase Right to be held similarly in abeyance) to the same extent as if there had been no such limitation).

(b) Fundamental Transaction. The Company shall not enter into or be party to a Fundamental Transaction unless the Successor Entity assumes in writing all of the obligations of the Company under this Warrant in accordance with the provisions of this Section 4(b), including agreements to deliver to the Holder in exchange for this Warrant a security of the Successor Entity evidenced by a written instrument substantially similar in form and substance to this Warrant, including, without limitation, which is exercisable for a corresponding number of shares of capital stock equivalent to the shares of Common Stock acquirable and receivable upon exercise of this Warrant (without regard to any limitations on the exercise of this Warrant) prior to such Fundamental Transaction, and with an exercise price which applies the exercise price hereunder to such shares of capital stock (but taking into account the relative value of the shares of Common Stock pursuant to such Fundamental Transaction and the value of such shares of capital stock, such adjustments to the number of shares of capital stock and such exercise price being for the purpose of protecting the economic value of this Warrant immediately prior to the consummation of such Fundamental Transaction). Upon the consummation of each Fundamental Transaction, the Successor Entity shall succeed to, and be substituted for the Company (so that from and after the date of the applicable Fundamental Transaction, the provisions of this Warrant referring to the "Company" shall refer instead to the Successor Entity), and may exercise every right and power of the Company and shall assume all of the obligations of the Company under this Warrant with the same effect as if such Successor Entity had been named as the Company herein. Upon consummation of each Fundamental Transaction, the Successor Entity shall deliver to the Holder confirmation that there shall be issued upon exercise of this Warrant at any time after the consummation of the applicable Fundamental Transaction, in lieu of the shares of Common Stock (or other securities, cash, assets or other property (except such items still issuable under Sections 3 and 4(a) above, which shall continue to be receivable thereafter)) issuable upon the exercise of this Warrant prior to the applicable Fundamental Transaction, such shares of common stock (or its equivalent) of the Successor Entity (including its Parent Entity) which the Holder would have been entitled to receive upon the happening of the applicable Fundamental Transaction had this Warrant been exercised immediately prior to the applicable Fundamental Transaction (without regard to any limitations on the exercise of this Warrant), as adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this Warrant. Notwithstanding the foregoing, and without limiting Section 1(d) hereof, the Holder may elect, at its sole option, by delivery of written notice to the Company to waive this Section 4(b) to permit the Fundamental Transaction without the assumption of this Warrant. In addition to and not in substitution for any other rights hereunder, prior to the consummation of each Fundamental Transaction pursuant to which holders of shares of Common Stock are entitled to receive securities or other assets with respect to or in exchange for shares of Common Stock (a "Corporate Event"), the Company shall make appropriate provision to insure that the Holder will thereafter have the right to receive upon an exercise of this Warrant at any time after the consummation of the applicable Fundamental Transaction, in lieu of the shares of the Common Stock (or other securities, cash, assets or other property (except such items still issuable under Sections 3 and 4(a) above, which shall continue to be receivable thereafter)) issuable upon the exercise of the Warrant prior to such Fundamental Transaction, such shares of stock, securities, cash, assets or any other property whatsoever (including warrants or other purchase or subscription rights) (collectively, the "Corporate Event Consideration") which the Holder would have been entitled to receive upon the happening of the applicable Fundamental Transaction had this Warrant been exercised immediately prior to the applicable Fundamental Transaction (without regard to any limitations on the exercise of this Warrant). The provision made pursuant to the preceding sentence shall be in a form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Holder. The provisions of this Section 4(b) shall apply similarly and equally to successive Fundamental Transactions and Corporate Events.

5. NONCIRCUMVENTION. The Company hereby covenants and agrees that the Company will not, by amendment of its Certificate of Incorporation or Bylaws, or through any reorganization, transfer of assets, consolidation, merger, scheme of arrangement, dissolution, issuance or sale of securities, or any other voluntary action, avoid or seek to avoid the observance or performance of any of the terms of this Warrant, and will at all times in good faith carry out all of the provisions of this Warrant and take all action as may be required to protect the rights of the Holder. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Company (i) shall not increase the par value of any shares of Common Stock receivable upon the exercise of this Warrant above the Exercise Price then in effect, (ii) shall take all such actions as may be necessary or appropriate in order that the Company may validly and legally issue fully paid and nonassessable shares of Common Stock upon the exercise of this Warrant, and (iii) shall, so long as any of the Warrants are outstanding, take all action necessary to reserve and keep available out of its authorized and unissued shares of Common Stock, solely for the purpose of effecting the exercise of the Warrants, the number of shares of Common Stock as shall from time to time be necessary to effect the exercise of the Warrants then outstanding (without regard to any limitations on exercise).

6. WARRANT HOLDER NOT DEEMED A STOCKHOLDER . Except as otherwise specifically provided herein, the Holder, solely in such Person's capacity as a holder of this Warrant, shall not be entitled to vote or receive dividends or be deemed the holder of capital stock of the Company for any purpose, nor shall anything contained in this Warrant be construed to confer upon the Holder, solely in such Person's capacity as the Holder of this Warrant, any of the rights of a stockholder of the Company or any right to vote, give or withhold consent to any corporate action (whether any reorganization, issue of stock, reclassification of stock, consolidation, merger, conveyance or otherwise), receive notice of meetings, receive dividends or subscription rights, or otherwise, prior to the issuance to the Holder of the Warrant Shares which such Person is then entitled to receive upon the due exercise of this Warrant. In addition, nothing contained in this Warrant shall be construed as imposing any liabilities on the Holder to purchase any securities (upon exercise of this Warrant or otherwise) or as a stockholder of the Company, whether such liabilities are asserted by the Company or by creditors of the Company. Notwithstanding this Section 6, the Company shall provide the Holder with copies of the same notices and other information given to the stockholders of the Company generally, contemporaneously with the giving thereof to the stockholders; provided, that, the Company shall not be obligated to provide such copies under this Section 6 if such notice and other information given to stockholders of the Company is publicly available on the Securities and Exchange Commission's Electronic Data Gathering, Analysis, and Retrieval system.

7. REISSUANCE OF WARRANTS.

(a) Transfer of Warrant. If this Warrant is to be transferred, the Holder shall surrender this Warrant to the Company, whereupon the Company will forthwith issue and deliver upon the order of the Holder a new Warrant (in accordance with Section 7(d)), registered as the Holder may request, representing the right to purchase the number of Warrant Shares being transferred by the Holder and, if less than the total number of Warrant Shares then underlying this Warrant is being transferred, a new Warrant (in accordance with Section 7(d)) to the Holder representing the right to purchase the number of Warrant Shares not being transferred.

(b) Lost, Stolen or Mutilated Warrant. Upon receipt by the Company of evidence reasonably satisfactory to the Company of the loss, theft, destruction or mutilation of this Warrant, and, in the case of loss, theft or destruction, of any indemnification undertaking by the Holder to the Company in customary form (but without the obligation to post a bond) and, in the case of mutilation, upon surrender and cancellation of this Warrant, the Company shall execute and deliver to the Holder a new Warrant (in accordance with Section 7(d)) representing the right to purchase the Warrant Shares then underlying this Warrant.

(c) Exchangeable for Multiple Warrants. This Warrant is exchangeable, upon the surrender hereof by the Holder at the principal office of the Company, for a new Warrant or Warrants (in accordance with Section 7(d)) representing in the aggregate the right to purchase the number of Warrant Shares then underlying this Warrant, and each such new Warrant will represent the right to purchase such portion of such Warrant Shares as is designated by the Holder at the time of such surrender.

(d) Issuance of New Warrants. Whenever the Company is required to issue a new Warrant pursuant to the terms of this Warrant, such new Warrant (i) shall be of like tenor with this Warrant, (ii) shall represent, as indicated on the face of such new Warrant, the right to purchase the Warrant Shares then underlying this Warrant (or in the case of a new Warrant being issued pursuant to Section 7(a) or Section 7(c), the Warrant Shares designated by the Holder which, when added to the number of shares of Common Stock underlying the other new Warrants issued in connection with such issuance, does not exceed the number of Warrant Shares then underlying this Warrant), (iii) shall have an issuance date, as indicated on the face of such new Warrant which is the same as the Issuance Date, and (iv) shall have the same rights and conditions as this Warrant.

8. NOTICES. Whenever notice is required to be given under this Warrant, including, without limitation, an Exercise Notice, unless otherwise provided herein, such notice shall be given in writing, (i) if delivered (a) from within the domestic United States, by first-class registered or certified airmail, or nationally recognized overnight express courier, postage prepaid, electronic mail or by facsimile or (b) from outside the United States, by International Federal Express, electronic mail or facsimile, and (ii) will be deemed given (A) if delivered by first-class registered or certified mail domestic, three (3) Business Days after so mailed, (B) if delivered by nationally recognized overnight carrier, one (1) Business Day after so mailed, (C) if delivered by International Federal Express, two (2) Business Days after so mailed and (D) at the time of transmission, if delivered by electronic mail to each of the email addresses specified in this Section 8 prior to 5:00 p.m. (New York time) on a Trading Day, (E) the next Trading Day after the date of transmission, if delivered by electronic mail to each of the email addresses specified in this Section 8 on a day that is not a Trading Day or later than 5:00 p.m. (New York time) on any Trading Day and (F) if delivered by facsimile, upon electronic confirmation of delivery of such facsimile, and will be delivered and addressed as follows:

(i) if to the Company, to:

American Oncology Network, Inc.
14543 Global Pkwy STE 110,
Fort Myers, FL 33913,
Attention: Chief Financial Officer

With a copy (which will not constitute notice) to:

American Oncology Network, Inc.
14543 Global Pkwy STE 110,
Fort Myers, FL 33913,
Attention: General Counsel

(ii) if to the Holder, at such address or other contact information delivered by the Holder to Company or as is on the books and records of the Company.

The Company shall provide the Holder with prompt written notice of all actions taken pursuant to this Warrant, including in reasonable detail a description of such action and the reason therefor. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Company will give written notice to the Holder (i) no later than two (2) Business Days following any adjustment of the Exercise Price, setting forth in reasonable detail, and certifying, the calculation of such adjustment and (ii) of the date on which the Company closes its books or takes a record (A) with respect to any dividend or distribution upon the shares of Common Stock, (B) with respect to any grants, issuances or sales of any Options, Convertible Securities or rights to purchase stock, warrants, securities or other property to holders of shares of Common Stock or (C) for determining rights to vote with respect to any Fundamental Transaction, dissolution or liquidation, in each case at the same time as it provides such notice to the holders of Common Stock.

9. AMENDMENT AND WAIVER. Except as otherwise provided herein, the provisions of this Warrant may be amended or waived and the Company may take any action herein prohibited, or omit to perform any act herein required to be performed by it, only if the Company has obtained the written consent of the Holder.

10. GOVERNING LAW; JURISDICTION; JURY TRIAL. This Warrant shall be governed by and construed and enforced in accordance with, and all questions concerning the construction, validity, interpretation and performance of this Warrant shall be governed by, the internal laws of the State of Delaware, without giving effect to any choice of law or conflict of law provision or rule (whether of the State of Delaware or any other jurisdictions) that would cause the application of the laws of any jurisdictions other than the State of Delaware. The Company hereby irrevocably submits to the exclusive jurisdiction of the state and federal courts sitting in The City of Wilmington, for the adjudication of any dispute hereunder or in connection herewith or with any transaction contemplated hereby or discussed herein, and hereby irrevocably waives, and agrees not to assert in any suit, action or proceeding, any claim that it is not personally subject to the jurisdiction of any such court, that such suit, action or proceeding is brought in an inconvenient forum or that the venue of such suit, action or proceeding is improper. The Company hereby irrevocably waives personal service of process and consents to process being served in any such suit, action or proceeding by mailing a copy thereof to the Company at the address set forth in Section 8(i) above or such other address as the Company subsequently delivers to the Holder and agrees that such service shall constitute good and sufficient service of process and notice thereof. Nothing contained herein shall be deemed to limit in any way any right to serve process in any manner permitted by law. Nothing contained herein shall be deemed or operate to preclude the Holder from bringing suit or taking other legal action against the Company in any other jurisdiction to collect on the Company's obligations to the Holder, to realize on any collateral or any other security for such obligations, or to enforce a judgment or other court ruling in favor of the Holder. If either party shall commence an action, suit or proceeding to enforce any provisions of this Warrant, the prevailing party in such action, suit or proceeding shall be reimbursed by the other party for their reasonable attorneys' fees and other costs and expenses incurred with the investigation, preparation and prosecution of such action or proceeding. THE COMPANY AND THE HOLDER HEREBY IRREVOCABLY WAIVE ANY RIGHT THEY MAY HAVE, AND AGREE NOT TO REQUEST, A JURY TRIAL FOR THE ADJUDICATION OF ANY DISPUTE HEREUNDER OR IN CONNECTION WITH OR ARISING OUT OF THIS WARRANT OR ANY TRANSACTION CONTEMPLATED HEREBY.

11. DISPUTE RESOLUTION. In the case of a dispute as to the determination of the Exercise Price or the arithmetic calculation of the Warrant Shares, the Company shall submit the disputed determinations or arithmetic calculations via facsimile or electronic mail within two (2) Business Days of receipt of the Exercise Notice or other event giving rise to such dispute, as the case may be, to the Holder. If the Holder and the Company are unable to agree upon such determination or calculation of the Exercise Price or the Warrant Shares within three (3) Business Days of such disputed determination or arithmetic calculation being submitted to the Holder, then the Company shall, within two (2) Business Days submit via facsimile or electronic mail (a) the disputed determination of the Exercise Price to an independent, reputable investment bank selected by the Company and approved by the Holder or (b) the disputed arithmetic calculation of the Warrant Shares to the Company's independent, outside accountant. The Company shall cause at its expense the investment bank or the accountant, as the case may be, to perform the determinations or calculations and notify the Company and the Holder of the results no later than ten (10) Business Days from the time it receives the disputed determinations or calculations. Such investment bank's or accountant's determination or calculation, as the case may be, shall be binding upon all parties absent demonstrable error.

12. REMEDIES, OTHER OBLIGATIONS, BREACHES AND INJUNCTIVE RELIEF. The remedies provided in this Warrant shall be cumulative and in addition to all other remedies available under this Warrant, at law or in equity (including a decree of specific performance and/or other injunctive relief), and nothing herein shall limit the right of the Holder to pursue actual damages for any failure by the Company to comply with the terms of this Warrant. The Company acknowledges that a breach by it of its obligations hereunder will cause irreparable harm to the Holder and that the remedy at law for any such breach may be inadequate. The Company therefore agrees that, in the event of any such breach or threatened breach, the holder of this Warrant shall be entitled, in addition to all other available remedies, to an injunction restraining any breach, without the necessity of showing economic loss and without any bond or other security being required.

13. TRANSFER; SIGNATURE. This Warrant and the Warrant Shares may be offered for sale, sold, transferred, pledged or assigned without the consent of the Company. This Warrant may be executed by facsimile signature or electronic mail (including pdf or any electronic signature complying with the U.S. federal ESIGN Act of 2000, e.g., www.docuSign.com).

14. SEVERABILITY; CONSTRUCTION; HEADINGS. If any provision of this Warrant is prohibited by law or otherwise determined to be invalid or unenforceable by a court of competent jurisdiction, the provision that would otherwise be prohibited, invalid or unenforceable shall be deemed amended to apply to the broadest extent that it would be valid and enforceable, and the invalidity or unenforceability of such provision shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions of this Warrant so long as this Warrant as so modified continues to express, without material change, the original intentions of the parties as to the subject matter hereof and the prohibited nature, invalidity or unenforceability of the provision(s) in question does not substantially impair the respective expectations or reciprocal obligations of the parties or the practical realization of the benefits that would otherwise be conferred upon the parties. The parties will endeavor in good faith negotiations to replace the prohibited, invalid or unenforceable provision(s) with a valid provision(s), the effect of which comes as close as possible to that of the prohibited, invalid or unenforceable provision(s). This Warrant shall be deemed to be jointly drafted by the Company and the Holder and shall not be construed against any Person as the drafter hereof. The headings of this Warrant are for convenience of reference and shall not form part of, or affect the interpretation of, this Warrant.

15. DISCLOSURE. Upon receipt or delivery by the Company of any notice in accordance with the terms of this Warrant, unless the Company has in good faith determined that the matters relating to such notice do not constitute material, nonpublic information relating to the Company or its subsidiaries, the Company shall publicly disclose such material, nonpublic information on a Current Report on Form 8-K or otherwise. In the event that the Company believes that a notice by the Company contains material, nonpublic information relating to the Company or its subsidiaries, the Company so shall indicate to such Holder contemporaneously with delivery of such notice, and in the absence of any such indication, the Holder shall be allowed to presume that all matters relating to such notice do not constitute material, nonpublic information relating to the Company or its subsidiaries.

16. CERTAIN DEFINITIONS. For purposes of this Warrant, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(d) "Affiliate" means, with respect to any Person, any other Person that directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with, such Person, as such terms are used in and construed under Rule 405 under the Securities Act.

(e) "Attribution Parties" means, collectively, the following Persons and entities: (i) any investment vehicle, including, any funds, feeder funds or managed accounts, currently, or from time to time after the Date of Issuance of this Warrant, directly or indirectly managed or advised by the Holder's investment manager or any of its Affiliates or principals, (ii) any direct or indirect Affiliates of the Holder or any of the foregoing, (iii) any Person acting or who could be deemed to be acting as a Group together with the Holder or any of the foregoing and (iv) any other Persons whose beneficial ownership of the Company's Common Stock could be aggregated with the Holder's and the other Attribution Parties for purposes of Section 13(d) of the 1934 Act. For clarity, the purpose of the foregoing is to subject collectively the Holder and all other Attribution Parties to the Maximum Percentage.

(f) "Business Day" means any day other than Saturday, Sunday or other day on which commercial banks in The City of New York are authorized or required by law to remain closed.

(g) "Change of Control" means any Fundamental Transaction other than (i) any reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification of the Common Stock in which holders of the Company's voting power immediately prior to such reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification continue after such reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification to hold publicly traded securities and, directly or indirectly, are, in all material respect, the holders of the voting power of the surviving entity (or entities with the authority or voting power to elect the members of the board of directors (or their equivalent if other than a corporation) of such entity or entities) after such reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification, (ii) pursuant to a migratory merger effected solely for the purpose of changing the jurisdiction of incorporation of the Company or (iii) a merger in connection with a bona fide acquisition by the Company of any Person in which (x) the gross consideration paid, directly or indirectly, by the Company in such acquisition is not greater than 20% of the Company's market capitalization as calculated on the date of the consummation of such merger and (y) such merger does not contemplate a change to the identity of a majority of the board of directors of the Company. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, any transaction or series of transaction that, directly or indirectly, results in the Company or the Successor Entity not having Common Stock or common stock, as applicable, registered under the 1934 Act and listed on an Eligible Market shall be deemed a Change of Control.

(h) "Class A Common Stock" the Company's Class A Common Stock, par value $0.0001 per share, and (ii) any capital stock into which such Class A Common Stock shall have been changed or any capital stock resulting from a reclassification of such Class A Common Stock.

(i) "Common Stock" means (i) the Company's Class B Common Stock, par value $0.0001 per share, and (ii) any capital stock into which such Common Stock shall have been changed or any capital stock resulting from a reclassification of such Common Stock.

(j) "Convertible Securities" means any stock, debt or securities or other contractual rights (other than Options) directly or indirectly convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for shares of Common Stock.

(k) "Eligible Market" means The Nasdaq Capital Market, the NYSE American LLC, The Nasdaq Global Select Market, The Nasdaq Global Market or The New York Stock Exchange, Inc.

(l) "Fundamental Transaction" means a transaction in which (A) the Company, directly or indirectly, including through subsidiaries, Affiliates or otherwise, in one or more related transactions, (i) consolidates or merges with or into (whether or not the Company is the surviving corporation) another Subject Entity, or (ii) sells, assigns, transfers, conveys or otherwise disposes of all or substantially all of the properties or assets of the Company or any of its "significant subsidiaries" (as defined in Rule 1-02 of Regulation S-X) to one or more Subject Entities, or (iii) makes, or allows one or more Subject Entities to make, or allow the Company to be subject to or have its shares of Common Stock be subject to or party to one or more Subject Entities making, a purchase, tender or exchange offer that is accepted by the holders of at least either (x) 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, (y) 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock calculated as if any shares of Common Stock held by all Subject Entities making or party to, or Affiliated with any Subject Entities making or party to, such purchase, tender or exchange offer were not outstanding; or (z) such number of shares of Common Stock such that all Subject Entities making or party to, or Affiliated with any Subject Entity making or party to, such purchase, tender or exchange offer, become collectively the beneficial owners (as defined in Rule 13d-3 under the 1934 Act) of at least 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, or (iv) consummates a stock purchase agreement or other business combination (including, without limitation, a reorganization, recapitalization, spin-off or scheme of arrangement) with one or more Subject Entities whereby all such Subject Entities, individually or in the aggregate, acquire, either (x) at least 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, (y) at least 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock calculated as if any shares of Common Stock held by all the Subject Entities making or party to, or Affiliated with any Subject Entity making or party to, such stock purchase agreement or other business combination were not outstanding; or (z) such number of shares of Common Stock such that the Subject Entities become collectively the beneficial owners (as defined in Rule 13d-3 under the 1934 Act) of at least 50% of the outstanding shares of Common Stock, or (v) reorganizes, recapitalizes or reclassifies its shares of Common Stock, (B) the Company, directly or indirectly, including through subsidiaries, Affiliates or otherwise, in one or more related transactions, allows any Subject Entity individually or the Subject Entities in the aggregate to be or become the "beneficial owner" (as defined in Rule 13d-3 under the 1934 Act), directly or indirectly, whether through acquisition, purchase, assignment, conveyance, tender, tender offer, exchange, reduction in outstanding shares of Common Stock, merger, consolidation, business combination, reorganization, recapitalization, spin-off, scheme of arrangement, reorganization, recapitalization or reclassification or otherwise in any manner whatsoever, of either (x) at least 50% of the aggregate ordinary voting power represented by issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock, (y) at least 50% of the aggregate ordinary voting power represented by issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock calculated as if any shares of Common Stock held by all such Subject Entities were not outstanding, or (z) a percentage of the aggregate ordinary voting power represented by issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock or other equity securities of the Company sufficient to allow such Subject Entities to effect a statutory short form merger or other transaction requiring other stockholders of the Company to surrender their Common Stock without approval of the stockholders of the Company or (C) directly or indirectly, including through subsidiaries, Affiliates or otherwise, in one or more related transactions, the issuance of or the entering into any other instrument or transaction structured in a manner to circumvent, or that circumvents, the intent of this definition in which case this definition shall be construed and implemented in a manner otherwise than in strict conformity with the terms of this definition to the extent necessary to correct this definition or any portion of this definition which may be defective or inconsistent with the intended treatment of such instrument or transaction.

(m) "Group" means a "group" as that term is used in Section 13(d) of the 1934 Act and as defined in Rule 13d-5 thereunder.

(n) "Options" means any rights, warrants or options to subscribe for or purchase shares of Common Stock or Convertible Securities, but excludes, for the avoidance of doubt, any rights, warrants or options to subscribe for or purchase shares of Common Stock or Convertible Securities issued pursuant to an incentive award plan of the Company.

(o) "Person" means an individual, a limited liability company, a partnership, a joint venture, a corporation, a trust, an unincorporated organization, any other entity and a government or any department or agency thereof.

(p) "Principal Market" means the national securities exchange or other trading market on which the Common Stock is primarily listed on and quoted for trading, which, as of the Issuance Date shall be the Nasdaq Stock Market.

(q) "Subject Entity" means any Person, Persons or Group or any Affiliate or associate of any such Person, Persons or Group.

(r) "Successor Entity" means one or more Person or Persons formed by, resulting from or surviving any Fundamental Transaction or Change of Control or one or more Person or Persons with which such Fundamental Transaction or Change of Control shall have been entered into.

(s) "Trading Day" means any day on which the Common Stock is traded on the Principal Market, or, if the Principal Market is not the principal trading market for the Common Stock, then on the principal securities exchange or securities market on which the Common Stock is then traded.

Exhibit G to Business Combination Agreement

FORM OF CERTIFICATE OF DESIGNATIONS OF
SERIES A PREFERRED STOCK OF AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK, INC.

Pursuant to Section 151 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware

AMERICAN ONCOLOGY NETWORK, INC., a Delaware corporation, certifies that pursuant to the authority contained in Article Fourth of its Certificate of Incorporation, and in accordance with the provisions of Section 151 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, the Board of Directors duly approved and adopted on [], 2023 the following resolution, which resolution remains in full force and effect on the date hereof:

RESOLVED, that a series of Preferred Stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of the Company be, and hereby is, created, and that the designation and number of shares thereof and the voting and other powers, preferences, and relative, participating, optional or other rights of the shares of such series and the qualifications, limitations and restrictions thereof are as follows:

1. DESIGNATION AND AMOUNT; RANKING.

(a) There shall be created from the [] shares of preferred stock, par value $0.0001 per share, of the Company authorized to be issued pursuant to the Certificate of Incorporation, a series of preferred stock, designated as the "Series A Preferred Stock," par value $0.0001 per share (the "Preferred Stock"), and the authorized number of shares of Preferred Stock shall be []. Shares of the Preferred Stock that are redeemed, purchased or otherwise acquired by the Company, or converted into shares of Common Stock, shall be cancelled and shall revert to authorized but unissued shares of Preferred Stock.

(b) The Preferred Stock, with respect to dividend rights and rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company, ranks: (i) senior in all respects to all Junior Stock; (ii) on a parity, in all respects, with all Parity Stock; and (iii) junior in all respects to all Senior Stock, in each case as provided more fully herein.

2. DEFINITIONS.

As used herein, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"30-Day VWAP" per share of Common Stock as of any date shall mean the per share volume-weighted average price as displayed on Bloomberg page "DTOC" (or its equivalent successor if such page is not available) in respect of the period from Opening of Business on the Trading Day that is 30 days preceding such date to Close of Business on the last Trading Day immediately preceding such date, or, if such price is not available, "30-Day VWAP" shall mean the market value per share of Common Stock for such period as determined, using a volume-weighted average method, by a nationally recognized independent investment banking firm retained by the Company for this purpose.

"Accrued Dividends" shall mean, with respect to any share of Preferred Stock, as of any date of determination, the accrued and unpaid dividends on such share, whether or not declared, from, and including, the last day of the most recently preceding Dividend Period to, but not including, such date of determination, and including, for the sake of clarity, any then accrued and unpaid dividends on such share from a prior Dividend Period.

"Accrued Value" shall mean, with respect to each share of Preferred Stock, the Original Issue Price (as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, combination, or other recapitalization or reclassification effected after the date hereof) plus any Accrued Dividends on such share of Preferred Stock, in each case to the Conversion Date.

"Adjusted EBITDA" shall mean, for any period of determination (i) the sum, without duplication, of (a) net income, (b) interest expense, (c) income tax expense, (d) depreciation, (e) amortization, (f) other non-cash charges to net income (excluding (x) non-cash charges that represent an accrual or reserve for cash charges to be taken in the future and excluding any non-cash charge that relates to the write-down or write-off of inventory), and (g) one-time non-recurring or unusual expenses, including, without limitation, severance costs, lease termination costs, relocation costs, restructuring charges, and the first month acquisition loss for each new acquisition by any of the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, in each case of such expenses under this clause (g) incurred after the Effective Date, to the extent (x) reasonably acceptable to the Holder(s) and (y) that such expenses do not exceed $6,500,000 in the aggregate for any four (4) consecutive fiscal quarter period, minus (ii) the sum of (a) non-cash credits to net income (excluding non-cash credits that represent an accrual or reserve for a future or potential future cash payment) and (b) one-time nonrecurring or unusual gains, in each case, for such period determined and consolidated in accordance with GAAP.

"Parity Stock" shall mean any class of capital stock or series of preferred stock established on or after the Issue Date by the Board of Directors, the terms of which expressly provide that such class or series will rank on a parity with the Preferred Stock as to liquidation preferences, redemption, distributions, dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company.

"Person" shall mean any individual, corporation, general partnership, limited partnership, limited liability partnership, joint venture, association, joint-stock company, trust, limited liability company, unincorporated organization or government or any agency or political subdivision thereof.

"Preferred Stock" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 1(a).

"Pro Rata Repurchases" shall mean any purchase of shares of Common Stock by the Company or any Affiliate thereof pursuant to (i) any tender offer or exchange offer directed to all or substantially all of the holders of Common Stock subject to Section 13(e) or 14(e) of the Exchange Act or Regulation 14E promulgated thereunder or (ii) any other tender or exchange offer or other purchase available to substantially all holders of Common Stock, in the case of both (i) and (ii), whether for cash, shares of capital stock of the Company, other securities of the Company, evidences of indebtedness of the Company or any other Person or any other property (including shares of capital stock, other securities or evidences of indebtedness of a Subsidiary), or any combination thereof, effected while the Preferred Stock is outstanding. The "Effective Date" of a Pro Rata Repurchase shall mean the date of a purchase with respect to any Pro Rata Repurchase.

"Reference Property" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(l).

"Reorganization Event" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(l).

"SEC" shall mean the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"Securities Act" shall mean the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

"Senior Stock" shall mean each class of capital stock or series of preferred stock established after the Issue Date by the Board of Directors, the terms of which expressly provide that such class or series will rank senior to the Preferred Stock as to dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company.

"Subsidiary" shall mean, as to any Person, any corporation or other entity of which (a) such Person or a subsidiary of such Person is a general partner or, in the case of a limited liability company, the managing member or manager thereof; (b) at least a majority of the outstanding equity interest having by the terms thereof ordinary voting power to elect a majority of the board of directors or similar governing body of such corporation or other entity (irrespective of whether or not at the time any equity interest of any other class or classes of such corporation or other entity shall have or might have voting power by reason of the happening of any contingency) is at the time directly or indirectly owned or controlled by such Person or one or more of its Subsidiaries; or (c) any corporation or other entity as to which such Person consolidates for accounting purposes. For the avoidance of doubt, for purposes of this Agreement, each of Operating LLC and its Subsidiaries shall be considered a Subsidiary of the Company.

"Trading Day" shall mean a day during which trading in securities generally occurs on the Nasdaq Global Select Market or, if the Common Stock is not listed on the Nasdaq Global Select Market, on the principal other national or regional securities exchange on which the Common Stock is then listed or, if the Common Stock is not listed on a national or regional securities exchange, on the principal other market on which the Common Stock is then traded. If the Common Stock is not so listed or traded, "Trading Day" shall mean a Business Day.

"Trading Market" shall mean any of the following markets or exchanges on which the Common Stock is listed or quoted for trading on the date in question: the NYSE American, the Nasdaq Capital Market, the Nasdaq Global Market, the Nasdaq Global Select Market, the New York Stock Exchange (or any successors to any of the foregoing)

"Trigger Event" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(e)(vii).

"VWAP" per share of Common Stock on any Trading Day shall mean the per share volume-weighted average price as displayed on Bloomberg page "DTC" (or its equivalent successor if such page is not available) in respect of the period from Opening of Business to Close of Business on such Trading Day; or, if such price is not available, "VWAP" shall mean the market value per share of Common Stock on such Trading Day as determined, using a volume-weighted average method, by a nationally recognized independent investment banking firm retained by the Company for this purpose.

3. DIVIDENDS.

(a) Holders shall be entitled to receive, with respect to each share of Preferred Stock, out of funds of the Company legally available for payment, cash dividends ("Cash Dividends") on the Accrued Value in effect on the Dividend Record Date, computed on the basis of a 360-day year consisting of twelve 30-day months, at the Dividend Rate, payable on each Dividend Payment Date. Such Cash Dividends shall be payable in arrears on each Dividend Payment Date for the applicable Dividend Period, to the Holders as they appear on the Company's stock register at the Transfer Agent at the Close of Business on the relevant Dividend Record Date. Dividends on the Preferred Stock shall accumulate and become Accrued Dividends on a day-to-day basis from the last day of the applicable Dividend Period until Cash Dividends are paid pursuant to this Section 3(a) in respect of such Accrued Dividends or pursuant to Sections 3(b), 3(c) and 3(d). If a Dividend Payment Date is not a Business Day, then any Cash Dividend in respect of such Dividend Payment Date shall be due and payable on the first Business Day following such Dividend Payment Date.

(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in Section 3(a), the Company may, at its sole election, elect with respect to the Accrued Dividends for any Dividend Period (a "Non-Cash Dividend Election") to increase the Accrued Value by the Dividend Rate (decreased proportionately to the extent of any cash paid in respect of such Accrued Dividend for such Dividend Period (e.g., if 25% of the Accrued Dividends for such Dividend Period is paid in cash, the rate would be reduced by 1.0% to 3.0%)) in lieu of paying such Accrued Dividends in cash (in part or in full), such increase to be effective at the Opening of Business on the day following the last day of such Dividend Period. If the Company fails to pay a Cash Dividend in respect of the Accrued Dividends for any Dividend Period, in whole or in part, on or prior to the respective Dividend Payment Date and does not make a Non-Cash Dividend Election in respect thereof, the Company shall be deemed to have made a Non-Cash Dividend Election for all purposes of this Certificate of Designations solely with respect to and to the extent of such portion of such Accrued Dividends for such Dividend Period as to which a Cash Dividend is not paid. To the extent any Holder shall become liable for or subject to any taxes, levies, imposts, duties, fees, assessments, withholding or other charges of whatever nature resulting from any adjustment to the Accrued Value pursuant to this Section 3(b), the Company shall promptly indemnify and hold harmless such Holder against any such amounts at the highest maximum combined marginal federal, state and local income tax rates to which any such Holder may be subject. Any Non-Cash Dividend Election as to any Dividend Period shall be effective only if notice thereof is delivered to holders of Preferred Stock prior to the last day of such Dividend Period.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, (x) if any shares of Preferred Stock are converted into Common Stock on a Conversion Date in accordance with this Certificate of Designations during the period between the last day of a Dividend Period and the Close of Business on the corresponding Dividend Payment Date and the Company has not made a Non-Cash Dividend Election in respect of such Dividend Period, then the amount of the Accrued Dividends in respect of such Dividend Period shall be added to the Accrued Value for purposes of such conversion; and (y) if any shares of Preferred Stock are converted into Common Stock in accordance with this Certificate of Designations on a Conversion Date during the period between the Close of Business on any Dividend Record Date and the Close of Business on the corresponding Dividend Payment Date, the Accrued Dividends with respect to such shares of Preferred Stock, at the Company's option, shall either (i) be paid in cash on or prior to the date of such conversion or (ii) not be paid in cash and be added to the Accrued Value for purposes of such conversion. For the avoidance of doubt, such Accrued Dividends shall include dividends accruing from, and including, the last day of the most recently preceding Dividend Period to, but not including, the applicable Conversion Date. The Holders at the Close of Business on a Dividend Record Date shall be entitled to receive any dividend paid as a Cash Dividend on those shares on the corresponding Dividend Payment Date.

(d) So long as any share of the Preferred Stock remains outstanding, no dividend or distribution shall be declared or paid on, and no redemption or repurchase shall be agreed to or consummated of, Parity Stock, Common Stock or any other shares of Junior Stock, unless all Accrued Dividends have been paid (including by way of an increase to the Accrued Value in accordance with Section 3(b)) and no such dividend or distribution or redemption or repurchase shall be paid or payable in cash for any period unless the Preferred

Stock has been paid full Cash Dividends in respect of the same period; provided, however, that the foregoing limitation shall not apply to (i) a dividend payable on Common Stock or other Junior Stock in shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock, (ii) the acquisition of shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock in exchange for shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock and the payment of cash in lieu of fractional shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock; (iii) purchases of fractional interests in shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock pursuant to the conversion or exchange provisions of shares of other Junior Stock or any securities exchangeable for or convertible into such shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock; (iv) redemptions, purchases or other acquisitions of shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock in connection with the administration of any employee benefit plan in the ordinary course of business, including, without limitation, the forfeiture of unvested shares of restricted stock or share withholdings upon exercise, delivery or vesting of equity awards granted to officers, directors and employees and the payment of cash in lieu of fractional shares of Common Stock or other Junior Stock; (v) any dividends or distributions of rights in connection with a stockholders' rights plan or any redemption or repurchase of rights pursuant to any stockholders' rights plan; and (vi) the exchange or conversion of Junior Stock for or into other Junior Stock and the payment of cash in lieu of fractional shares of other Junior Stock. Notwithstanding the preceding, if full cash dividends have not been paid on the Preferred Stock and any Parity Stock, cash dividends may be declared and paid on the Preferred Stock and such Parity Stock only so long as the cash dividends are declared and paid pro rata so that amounts of cash dividends declared and paid per share on the Preferred Stock and such Parity Stock shall in all cases bear to each other the same ratio that the Accrued Dividends per share on the shares of Preferred Stock and the accumulated and unpaid dividends on such other Parity Stock bear to each other.

(e) The Company shall not declare, pay or set aside any dividends on shares of any other class or series of capital stock (other than dividends on shares of Common Stock payable in shares of Common Stock) unless (in addition to the obtaining of any consents required in this Certificate of Designation or the Company's certificate of incorporation) the Holders of shares of Preferred Stock then outstanding shall first receive, or simultaneously receive, a dividend on each outstanding share of Preferred Stock in an amount at least equal to the sum of (i) the amount of the aggregate Accrued Dividends then accrued on such share of Preferred Stock and not previously paid and (ii) (A) in the case of a dividend on Common Stock or any class or series that is convertible into Common Stock, that dividend per share of Preferred Stock as would equal the product of (1) the dividend payable on each share of such class or series determined, if applicable, as if all shares of such class or series had been converted into Common Stock and (2) the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of a share of Preferred Stock, in each case calculated on the record date for determination of holders entitled to receive such dividend or (B) in the case of a dividend on any class or series that is not convertible into Common Stock, at a rate per share of Preferred Stock determined by (1) dividing the amount of the dividend payable on each share of such class or series of capital stock by the original issuance price of such class or series of capital stock (subject to appropriate adjustment in the event of any stock dividend, stock split, combination or other similar recapitalization with respect to such class or series) and (2) multiplying such fraction by an amount equal to the Accrued Value; provided that if the Company declares, pays or sets aside, on the same date, a dividend on shares of more than one class or series of capital stock of the Company, the dividend payable to the Holders pursuant to this Section 3 shall be calculated based upon the dividend on the class or series of capital stock that would result in the highest Preferred Stock dividend.

4. VOTING.

(a) Each Holder shall be entitled to the whole number of votes equal to the number of whole shares of Common Stock into which such Holder's shares of Preferred Stock would be convertible on the record date for the vote or consent of holders of Common Stock or if no record date is established, at the date such vote or consent is taken, and shall otherwise have voting rights and consent rights per share equal to the voting rights and consent rights of the Common Stock to the fullest extent permitted by law. Each Holder shall be entitled to receive the same prior notice of any meeting as is provided to the holders of the Common Stock, as well as prior notice of all actions to be taken by legally available means in lieu of a meeting, and shall vote as a class with the holders of Common Stock as if they were a single class of securities upon any matter submitted to a vote of stockholders, except those matters required by law or by the terms hereof to be submitted to a class vote of the Preferred Stock, in which case the Holders only shall vote as a separate class.

(b) So long as [] shares of Preferred Stock (as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, combination, or other recapitalization or reclassification effected after the date hereof) are outstanding, in addition to any other vote or consent of stockholders required by the Delaware General Corporation Law or the Certificate of Incorporation, the affirmative vote or consent of the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding shares of Preferred Stock, voting together as a separate class, given in person or by proxy, either in writing without a meeting or by vote at any meeting called for the purpose, shall be necessary for effecting or validating (directly or indirectly, including by way of merger, consolidation, reclassification or otherwise) any of the following, and any of the following acts or transactions entered and/or effected without such consent or vote shall be null and void ab initio and of no force or effect:

(i) amend, alter, or repeal any provision of the Company's Certificate of Incorporation, this Certificate of Designation, the Company's bylaws or the LLC Agreement (or certificate of formation of the Operating LLC) in a manner that either (i) adversely affects the rights, privileges or preferences (economic or otherwise) of the Preferred Stock or (ii) materially modifies the rights, privileges, or preferences (economic or otherwise) of any class or series of equity security of the Company;

(ii) amend, alter, or change the rights, preferences or privileges of the Preferred Stock, including through any amendment, alteration or repeal of any provision of the LLC Agreement (or certificate of formation of the Operating LLC);

(iii) reclassify, alter or amend any (x) Junior Stock, if such reclassification, alteration or amendment would render such Junior Stock senior to or on a parity with the Preferred Stock as to liquidation preferences, redemption, distributions, dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company, or (y) any Parity Stock, if such reclassification, alteration or amendment would render such Parity Stock senior to the Preferred Stock as to liquidation preferences, redemption, distributions, dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company or the Operating LLC;

(iv) issue or obligate itself to issue shares of the Company senior to or pari passu with (or any equity security or debt instrument that is exercisable for or convertible into equity securities of the Company that are senior to or pari passu with) the Preferred Stock as to liquidation preferences, redemption, distributions, dividend rights or rights upon the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company or the Operating LLC;

(v) incur or refinance any indebtedness for borrowed money (including any refinancing of existing indebtedness) that either (i) results in the Company having a ratio of total leverage (calculated as its net debt) to its trailing twelve-month Adjusted EBITDA at any time following the incurrence of such indebtedness that is more than three times, (iii) provides for security over the Company's assets that is broader than outstanding indebtedness at the date of issuance of the Preferred Stock, or (iv) has materially more restrictive covenants of the Company than outstanding indebtedness at the Closing;

(vi) make any redemption, repurchase, dividend, or distribution (other than tax distributions) on any equity securities, or permit any Subsidiary (including the Operating LLC) to take any such action, other than (i) redemptions of or dividends or distributions on the Preferred Stock as expressly authorized herein, and (ii) repurchases of equity securities from former employees, officers, directors, consultants or other persons who performed services for the Company or any Subsidiary in connection with the cessation of such employment or service at no greater than the original purchase price thereof;

(vii) with respect to the Company or the Operating LLC or any of their respective Subsidiaries (other than Subsidiaries with de minimis assets and operations), (x) initiate or commence an insolvency proceeding, including any state or federal insolvency proceeding, (y) effectuate an assignment for the benefit of creditors or (z) elect to dissolve, liquidate or otherwise wind-up affairs;

(viii) enter or enter into any transaction between the Company (or any Subsidiary of the Company, including the Operating LLC) on one hand, and any member of the Board of Directors, executive officer or member of senior management of the Company (or any Subsidiary), or securityholder of the Company (or any Subsidiary, including the Operating LLC) (other than ordinary course equity compensation grants), or their affiliates, on the other hand;

- (ix) change the tax classifications of the Company or any of its direct or indirect Subsidiaries;
 - (x) increase or decrease the authorized number of directors constituting the Board of Directors; or
 - (xi) remove the Company's Chief Executive Officer from the Company's Board of Directors or approve the proposed replacement of the Company's Chief Executive Officer on the Company's Board of Directors.
- (c) The Holders, exclusively and as a separate class, shall be entitled to elect one (1) director of the Company (the "Preferred Director"), as long as the Holders hold 5% or more of the voting power of all then-outstanding shares of capital stock of the Company entitled to vote generally at an election of directors. The Preferred Director elected as provided in the preceding sentence may be removed without cause by, and only by, the affirmative vote of the Holders, given either at a special meeting of the Holders duly called for that purpose or pursuant to a written consent of the Holders. If the Holders fail to elect a sufficient number of directors to fill all directorships for which they are entitled to elect directors, voting exclusively and as a separate class, pursuant to this paragraph, then any directorship not so filled shall remain vacant until such time as the Holders elect a person to fill such directorship by vote or written consent in lieu of a meeting; and no such directorship may be filled by the Board of Directors or stockholders of the Company other than the Holders as provided herein. The Preferred Director shall at all times be designated as a Class I Director pursuant to Section 5.2 of the Certificate of Incorporation, unless otherwise determined by the Holders.
- (d) Prior to the Close of Business on the applicable Conversion Date, the shares of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of the Preferred Stock shall not be deemed to be outstanding and Holders shall have no voting rights with respect to such shares of Common Stock solely by virtue of holding the Preferred Stock.
- (e) In exercising the voting rights set forth in Section 4(b), each share of Preferred Stock shall be entitled to one vote.
- (f) The rules and procedures for calling and conducting any meeting of holders of outstanding Common Stock in which the Holders may vote pursuant to Section 4(a) or any meeting of the Holders pursuant to Section 4(b) and Section 4(c) (including, without limitation, the fixing of a record date in connection therewith), the solicitation and use of proxies at such a meeting, the obtaining of written consents and any other procedural aspect or matter with regard to such a meeting or such consents shall be governed by any rules the Board of Directors, in its discretion, may adopt from time to time, which rules and procedures shall conform to the requirements of the Certificate of Incorporation, the bylaws of the Company, applicable Law and the rules of any National Securities Exchange on which the Preferred Stock is listed or traded at the time.

5. LIQUIDATION RIGHTS.

- (a) In the event of any liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company or any Deemed Liquidation Event, whether voluntary or involuntary, each Holder shall be entitled to receive, in respect of such shares of Preferred Stock, and to be paid out of the assets of the Company available for distribution to its stockholders, in preference to the holders of, and before any payment or distribution is made on, any Junior Stock or any LLC Units an amount per share of Preferred Stock equal to the greater of (i) (1) the Original Issue Price thereon multiplied by the Applicable Percentage plus (2) any Accrued Dividends on such share of Preferred Stock (including all dividends that have previously accreted to Accrued Value pursuant to Section 3(b)), or (ii) such amount per share as would have been payable had all shares of Preferred Stock been converted into Common Stock pursuant to Section 6 immediately prior to such liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company or any Deemed Liquidation Event.
- (b) Neither the sale, conveyance, exchange or transfer (for cash, shares of stock, securities or other consideration) of all or substantially all the assets or business of the Company (other than in connection with the liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of its business) nor the merger or consolidation of the Company into or with any other Person shall be deemed to be a liquidation, winding-up or dissolution, voluntary or involuntary, for the purposes of this Section 5.

(c) After the payment in full to the Holders of the amounts provided for in this Section 5, the Holders of shares of Preferred Stock as such shall have no right or claim to any of the remaining assets of the Company in respect of their ownership of such Preferred Stock.

(d) In the event the assets of the Company available for distribution to the Holders upon any liquidation, winding-up or dissolution of the Company, whether voluntary or involuntary, shall be insufficient to pay in full all amounts to which such Holders are entitled pursuant to Section 5(a), no such distribution shall be made on account of any shares of Parity Stock upon such liquidation, dissolution or winding-up unless proportionate distributable amounts shall be paid on account of the shares of Preferred Stock, equally and ratably, in proportion to the full distributable amounts for which Holders of all Preferred Stock and of any Parity Stock are entitled upon such liquidation, winding-up or dissolution.

(e) The amount deemed paid or distributed to the holders of capital stock of the Company upon any such merger, consolidation, sale, transfer, exclusive license, other disposition or redemption shall be the cash or the value of the property, rights or securities to be paid or distributed to such holders pursuant to such Deemed Liquidation Event. If such amount deemed paid or distributed is in a form of property other than in cash, the value of such distribution shall be deemed to be the fair market value of such property. The determination of fair market value of such property shall be made in good faith by the Board of Directors, provided that to the extent such property consists of securities, the fair market value of such securities shall be determined as follows:

(i) For securities not subject to investment letters or other similar restrictions on free marketability covered by Section 5(e)(ii) below,

(A) if traded on a Trading Market, the value shall be deemed to be the average of the closing prices of the securities on such exchange or system over the thirty (30) Trading Day period ending three (3) days prior to the closing of the Deemed Liquidation Event;

(B) if actively traded over-the-counter, the value shall be deemed to be the average of the closing bid or sale prices (whichever is applicable) over the thirty (30) Trading Day period ending three (3) days prior to the closing of such transaction; or

(C) if there is no active public market, the value shall be the fair market value thereof, as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors.

For the purposes of this Section 5(e)(i), "closing prices" or "closing bid or sales prices" shall be deemed to be: (A) for securities traded primarily on a Trading Market, the last reported trade price or sale price, as the case may be, at Close of Business, on that day and (B) for securities listed or traded on other exchanges, markets and systems, the market price as of the end of the regular hours trading period that is generally accepted as such for such exchange, market or system. If, after the date hereof, the benchmark times generally accepted in the securities industry for determining the market price of a stock as of a given trading day shall change from those set forth above, the fair market value shall be determined as of such other generally accepted benchmark times.

(ii) The method of valuation of securities subject to investment letters or other similar restrictions on free marketability (other than restrictions arising solely by virtue of a stockholder's status as an affiliate or former affiliate) shall take into account an appropriate discount (as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors) from the market value as determined pursuant to Section 5(e)(i) above so as to reflect the approximate fair market value thereof.

6. CONVERSION.

(a) Each Holder shall have the right, at each Holder's option, to convert such Holder's shares of Preferred Stock, in whole or in part into that number of whole, fully paid and non-assessable shares of Common Stock for each share of Preferred Stock equal to the Conversion Ratio then in effect, with such adjustment or cash payment for fractional shares as the Company may elect pursuant to Section 7. To convert shares of Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock pursuant to this Section 6(a), such Holder shall give written notice (the "Holder Conversion Notice" and the date of such notice, the "Holder Conversion Notice Date") to the Company stating that such Holder elects to so convert shares of Preferred Stock and shall state therein: (A) the number of shares of Preferred Stock to be converted by such Holder, (B) the name or names in which such Holder wishes the shares of Common Stock to be issued, (C) the Holder's computation of the number of shares of Common Stock to be received by such Holder and (D) the Conversion Price on the Holder Conversion Notice Date. If a Holder validly delivers a Holder Conversion Notice in accordance with this Section 6(a), the Company shall issue the shares of Common Stock as soon as reasonably practicable, but in no event later than three (3) Business Days thereafter (the date of issuance of such shares, the "Holder Conversion Date").

(i) On or after the three-year anniversary of the Issue Date, the Company shall have the right to cause all (but not less than all) of the outstanding shares of Preferred Stock to be converted into that number of whole, fully paid and non-assessable shares of Common Stock for each share of Preferred Stock at the Conversion Ratio then in effect, with such adjustment or cash payment for fractional shares as the Company may elect pursuant to Section 7; provided, however, that the Company may only convert shares of Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock pursuant to this Section 6(b)(i) if the 30-Day VWAP of the Common Stock immediately prior to the Company Conversion Date (as defined below) is greater than $16.00 (as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, combination, or other recapitalization or reclassification effected after the date hereof).

(ii) To convert shares of Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock pursuant to Section 6(b)(i), the Company shall give written notice (the "Company Conversion Notice" and the date of such notice, the "Company Conversion Notice Date") to each Holder stating that the Company elects to force conversion of such shares of Preferred Stock pursuant to Section 6(b)(i), and shall state therein (A) the number of shares of Preferred Stock to be converted, (B) the effective date of such conversion (the "Company Conversion Date") (C) the Conversion Price and the Conversion Ratio on the Company Conversion Date and (C) the Company's computation of the number of shares of Common Stock to be received by the Holder. If the Company validly delivers a Company Conversion Notice in accordance with this Section 6(b)(ii), the conversion will be immediately effective and Company shall issue the shares of Common Stock effective immediately prior to the close of business on the Company Conversion Date.

(iii) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the Company may convert shares of Preferred Stock into shares of Common Stock pursuant to (and subject to the time limitations and other requirements of) this Section 6(b) at any time prior to the consummation of a Deemed Liquidation Event.

(c) Upon conversion, each Holder shall surrender to the Company the certificates representing any shares held in certificated form to be converted during usual business hours at its principal place of business or the offices of its duly appointed Transfer Agent maintained by it, accompanied by (i) (if so required by the Company or its duly appointed Transfer Agent) a written instrument or instruments of transfer in form reasonably satisfactory to the Company or its duly appointed Transfer Agent duly executed by the Holder or its duly authorized legal representative and (ii) transfer tax stamps or funds therefor, if required pursuant to Section 6(i).

(d) Immediately prior to the Close of Business on the Holder Conversion Date or the Company Conversion Date, as applicable, with respect to a conversion, a Holder shall be deemed to be the holder of record of Common Stock issuable upon conversion of such Holder's shares of Preferred Stock notwithstanding that the share register of the Company shall then be closed or that certificates representing such Common Stock shall not then be actually delivered to such Holder. Except to the extent that a Holder is not able to convert its shares of Preferred Stock into Common Stock as a result of Section 6(k), on the Holder Conversion Date or the Company Conversion Date, as applicable, dividends shall cease to accrue on the shares Preferred Stock so converted and all other rights with respect to the shares of Preferred Stock so converted, including the rights, if any, to receive notices, will terminate, except only the rights of Holders thereof to receive the number of whole, fully paid and non-assessable shares of Common Stock into which such shares of Preferred Stock have been converted (with such adjustment or cash payment for fractional shares as the Company may elect pursuant to Section 7). As promptly as practical after the conversion of any shares of Preferred Stock into Common Stock, the Company shall deliver to the applicable

Holder an Ownership Notice identifying the number of full shares of Common Stock to which such Holder is entitled, and a cash payment in respect of fractional shares in accordance with Section 7.

(e) The Conversion Price shall be subject to the following adjustments (except as provided in Section 6(f)):

(i) Adjustments to Conversion Price for Diluting Issues .

(A) Special Definitions. For purposes of this Section 6(e)(i), the following definitions shall apply:

(1) "Additional Shares of Common Stock" shall mean all shares of Common Stock issued (or, pursuant to Section 6(e)(i)(D) below, deemed to be issued) by the Company after the Issue Date, other than (1) the following shares of Common Stock and (2) shares of Common Stock deemed issued pursuant to the following Options and Convertible Securities (clauses (1) and (2), collectively, "Exempted Securities"):

i. as to the Preferred Stock, shares of Common Stock issued as a dividend or distribution on such series of Preferred Stock;

ii. shares of Common Stock or Options issued to employees or directors of, or consultants or advisors to, the Company or any of its subsidiaries pursuant to a plan, agreement or arrangement approved by the Board of Directors;

iii. shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities issued as consideration in any bona fide business acquisition by the Company or any Subsidiary thereof, whether by merger, consolidation, purchase of assets or otherwise approved by the Board of Directors, including the approval of the Preferred Director;

iv. shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities issued to Persons with which the Company or any Subsidiary thereof has entered into a bona fide new strategic partnership approved by the Board of Directors, including the approval of the Preferred Director, provided that such issuances are not in connection with any equity financing;

v. shares of Common Stock or Convertible Securities actually issued upon the exercise of Options or shares of Common Stock actually issued upon the conversion or exchange of Convertible Securities, in each case provided such issuance is pursuant to the terms of such Option or Convertible Security;

vi. shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities issued to a lender in connection with a debt financing or the amendment of any debt financing arrangements approved by the Board of Directors, including the approval of the Preferred Director; or

vii. shares of Common Stock, Options or Convertible Securities issued in a conversion of the Company or upon any split, combination, dividend or other similar event in respect of the Company equity securities approved by the Board of Directors, including the approval of the Preferred Director.

(2) "Convertible Securities" shall mean any evidences of indebtedness, shares or other securities directly or indirectly convertible into or exchangeable for Common Stock, but excluding Options.

(3) "Option" shall mean rights, options or warrants to subscribe for, purchase or otherwise acquire Common Stock or Convertible Securities.

(B) No Adjustment of Conversion Price . No adjustment in the Conversion Price shall be made as the result of the issuance or deemed issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock if the Company receives written notice from the Holders agreeing that no such adjustment shall be made as the result of the issuance or deemed issuance of such Additional Shares of Common Stock.

(C) Deemed Issue of Additional Shares of Common Stock .

(1) If the Company, AON, or any Subsidiary at any time or from time to time after the Issue Date shall issue any Options or Convertible Securities (excluding Options or Convertible Securities which are themselves Exempted Securities) or shall fix a record date for the determination of holders of any class of securities entitled to receive any such Options or Convertible Securities, then the maximum number of shares of Common Stock (as set forth in the instrument relating thereto, assuming the satisfaction of any conditions to exercisability, convertibility or exchangeability but without regard to any provision contained therein for a subsequent adjustment of such number) issuable upon the exercise of such Options or, in the case of Convertible Securities and Options therefor, the conversion or exchange of such Convertible Securities, shall be deemed to be Additional Shares of Common Stock issued as of the time of such issue or, in case such a record date shall have been fixed, as of the close of business on such record date.

(2) If the terms of any Option or Convertible Security, the issuance of which resulted in an adjustment to the Conversion Price pursuant to the terms of Section 6(e)(i)(D), are revised as a result of an amendment to such terms or any other adjustment pursuant to the provisions of such Option or Convertible Security (but excluding automatic adjustments to such terms pursuant to anti-dilution or similar provisions of such Option or Convertible Security) to provide for either (1) any increase or decrease in the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon the exercise, conversion and/or exchange of any such Option or Convertible Security or (2) any increase or decrease in the consideration payable to the Company upon such exercise, conversion and/or exchange, then, effective upon such increase or decrease becoming effective, the Conversion Price computed upon the original issue of such Option or Convertible Security (or upon the occurrence of a record date with respect thereto) shall be readjusted to such Conversion Price as would have obtained had such revised terms been in effect upon the original date of issuance of such Option or Convertible Security. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no readjustment pursuant to this clause (b) shall have the effect of increasing the Conversion Price to an amount which exceeds the lower of (i) the Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to the original adjustment made as a result of the issuance of such Option or Convertible Security, or (ii) the Conversion Price that would have resulted from any issuances of Additional Shares of Common Stock (other than deemed issuances of Additional Shares of Common Stock as a result of the issuance of such Option or Convertible Security) between the original adjustment date and such readjustment date.

(3) If the terms of any Option or Convertible Security (excluding Options or Convertible Securities which are themselves Exempted Securities), the issuance of which did not result in an adjustment to the Conversion Price pursuant to the terms of Section 6(e)(i)(D)(either because the consideration per share (determined pursuant to Section 6(e)(i)(E)) of the Additional Shares of Common Stock subject thereto was equal to or greater than the Conversion Price then in effect, or because such Option or Convertible Security was issued before the Issue Date), are revised after the Issue Date as a result of an amendment to such terms or any other adjustment pursuant to the provisions of such Option or Convertible Security (but excluding automatic adjustments to such terms pursuant to anti-dilution or similar provisions of such Option or Convertible Security) to provide for either (1) any increase in the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon the exercise, conversion or exchange of any such Option or Convertible Security or (2) any decrease in the consideration payable to the Company upon such exercise, conversion or exchange, then such Option or Convertible Security, as so amended or adjusted, and the Additional Shares of Common Stock subject thereto (determined in the manner provided in this Section 6(e)(i)(C)) shall be deemed to have been issued effective upon such increase or decrease becoming effective.

(4) Upon the expiration or termination of any unexercised Option or unconverted or unexchanged Convertible Security (or portion thereof) which resulted (either upon its original issuance or upon a revision of its terms) in an adjustment to the Conversion Price pursuant to the terms of Section 6(e)(i)(D), the Conversion Price shall be readjusted to such Conversion Price as would have obtained had such Option or Convertible Security (or portion thereof) never been issued.

(5) If the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon the exercise, conversion and/or exchange of any Option or Convertible Security, or the consideration payable to the Company upon such exercise, conversion and/or exchange, is calculable at the time such Option or Convertible Security is issued or amended but is subject to adjustment based upon subsequent events, any adjustment to the Conversion Price provided for in this Section 6(e)(i)(C) shall be effected at the time of such issuance or amendment based on such number of shares or amount of consideration without regard to any provisions for subsequent adjustments (and any subsequent adjustments shall be treated as provided in clauses (b) and (c) of this Section 6(e)(i)(C)). If the number of shares of Common Stock issuable upon the exercise, conversion and/or exchange of any Option or Convertible Security, or the consideration payable to the Company upon such exercise, conversion and/or exchange, cannot be calculated at all at the time such Option or Convertible Security is issued or amended, any adjustment to the Conversion Price that would result under the terms of this Section 6(e)(i)(C) at the time of such issuance or amendment shall instead be effected at the time such number of shares and/or amount of consideration is first calculable (even if subject to subsequent adjustments), assuming for purposes of calculating such adjustment to the Conversion Price that such issuance or amendment took place at the time such calculation can first be made.

(D) Adjustment of Conversion Price Upon Issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock. In the event the Company shall at any time after the Issue Date issue Additional Shares of Common Stock (including Additional Shares of Common Stock deemed to be issued pursuant to Section 6(e)(i)(C)), without consideration or for a consideration per share less than the Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such issuance or deemed issuance, then the Conversion Price shall be reduced, concurrently with such issue, to a price (calculated to the nearest one-hundredth of a cent) determined in accordance with the following formula:

$$CP2 = CP1 * (A + B) \div (A + C).$$

- CP1 = the Conversion Price in effect immediately after such issuance or deemed issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock;
- CP2 = the Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to such issuance or deemed issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock;
- A = the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to such issuance or deemed issuance of Additional Shares of Common Stock (treating for this purpose as outstanding all shares of Common Stock issuable upon exercise of Options outstanding immediately prior to such issuance or deemed issuance or upon conversion or exchange of Convertible Securities (including the Preferred Stock) outstanding (assuming exercise of any outstanding Options therefor) immediately prior to such issue);
- B = the number of shares of Common Stock that would have been issued if such Additional Shares of Common Stock had been issued or deemed issued at a price per share equal to CP1 (determined by dividing the aggregate consideration received by the Company in respect of such issue by CP1); and
- C = the number of such Additional Shares of Common Stock issued in such transaction.

(E) Determination of Consideration. For purposes of this Section 6(e)(i), the consideration received by the Company for the issuance or deemed issuance of any Additional Shares of Common Stock shall be computed as follows:

(1) Cash and Property. Such consideration shall:

i. insofar as it consists of cash, be computed at the aggregate amount of cash received by the Company, excluding amounts paid or payable for accrued interest;

ii. insofar as it consists of property other than cash, be computed at the fair market value thereof at the time of such issue, as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors of the Company; and

iii. in the event Additional Shares of Common Stock are issued together with other shares or securities or other assets of the Company for consideration which covers both, be the proportion of such consideration so received, computed as provided in clauses (i) and (ii) above, as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors of the Company.

(2) Options and Convertible Securities. The consideration per share received by the Company for Additional Shares of Common Stock deemed to have been issued pursuant to Section 6(e)(i)(C), relating to Options and Convertible Securities, shall be determined by dividing:

i. The total amount, if any, received or receivable by the Company as consideration for the issue of such Options or Convertible Securities, plus the minimum aggregate amount of additional consideration (as set forth in the instruments relating thereto, without regard to any provision contained therein for a subsequent adjustment of such consideration) payable to the Company upon the exercise of such Options or the conversion or exchange of such Convertible Securities, or in the case of Options for Convertible Securities, the exercise of such Options for Convertible Securities and the conversion or exchange of such Convertible Securities, by

ii. the maximum number of shares of Common Stock (as set forth in the instruments relating thereto, without regard to any provision contained therein for a subsequent adjustment of such number) issuable upon the exercise of such Options or the conversion or exchange of such Convertible Securities, or in the case of Options for Convertible Securities, the exercise of such Options for Convertible Securities and the conversion or exchange of such Convertible Securities.

(F) Multiple Closing Dates. In the event the Company shall issue on more than one date Additional Shares of Common Stock that are a part of one transaction or a series of related transactions and that would result in an adjustment to the Conversion Price pursuant to the terms of Section 6(e)(i)(D), and such issuance dates occur within a period of no more than ninety (90) days from the first such issuance to the final such issuance, then, upon the final such issuance, the Conversion Price shall be readjusted to give effect to all such issuances as if they occurred on the date of the first such issuance (and without giving effect to any additional adjustments as a result of any such subsequent issuances within such period).

(ii) Special Adjustment for Trading Price. If at any time on or after the 30th day after the five-year anniversary of the Issue Date, any of the Preferred Stock remain outstanding and the 30-Day VWAP of the Common Stock is less than $10.00 (as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, combination, or other recapitalization or reclassification effected after the date hereof), then the Conversion Price shall be adjusted to the greater of (x) the 30-Day VWAP on such date of determination and (y) $5.00 (as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, combination, or other recapitalization or reclassification effected after the date hereof) (such adjusted price, the "Special Adjustment Price"); provided, that, if, at any such time the Conversion price then in effect is less than the Special Adjustment Price, then no adjustment shall be made pursuant to this Section 6(e)(ii).

(iii) Adjustment for Certain Dividends and Distributions. If the Company pays a dividend (or other distribution) in shares of Common Stock to holders of the Common Stock, in their capacity as holders of Common Stock and such dividend is not also declared on the Preferred Stock, then the Conversion Price in effect immediately following the record date for such dividend (or distribution) shall be divided by the following fraction:

$$\frac{OS_1}{OS_0}$$

where

- OS_0 = the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to the record date for such dividend or distribution; and
- OS_1 = the sum of (A) the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to the record date for such dividend or distribution and (B) the total number of shares of Common Stock constituting such dividend.

(iv) Adjustment for Certain Subscription Rights. If the Company issues to holders of shares of the Common Stock, in their capacity as holders of Common Stock, rights, options or warrants entitling them, for a period of not more than sixty days from the date of issuance of such rights, options or warrants, to subscribe for or purchase shares of Common Stock at less than the Market Value determined on the Ex-Date for such issuance, then the Conversion Price in effect immediately following the Close of Business on the record date for such issuance shall be divided by the following fraction:

$$\frac{OS_0 + X}{OS_0 + Y}$$

where

- OS_0 = the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding at the Close of Business on the record date for such issuance;
- X = the total number of shares of Common Stock issuable pursuant to such rights, options or warrants; and
- Y = the number of shares of Common Stock equal to the aggregate price payable to exercise such rights, options or warrants divided by the Market Value determined as of the Ex-Date for such issuance.

To the extent that such rights, options or warrants are not exercised prior to their expiration or shares of Common Stock are otherwise not delivered pursuant to such rights or warrants upon the exercise of such rights or warrants, the Conversion Price on any then-outstanding share of Preferred Stock not previously converted shall be readjusted to such Conversion Price that would have then been in effect had the adjustment made upon the issuance of such rights, options or warrants been made on the basis of the delivery of only the number of shares of Common Stock actually delivered. If such rights, options or warrants are only exercisable upon the occurrence of certain triggering events, then the Conversion Price shall not be adjusted until such triggering events occur. In determining the aggregate offering price payable for such shares of Common Stock, the conversion agent shall take into account any consideration received for such rights, options or warrants and the value of such consideration (if other than cash, to be determined by the Board of Directors).

(v) Adjustment for Stock Splits and Combinations. If the Company subdivides, combines or reclassifies the shares of Common Stock into solely a greater or lesser number of shares of Common Stock, then the Conversion Price in effect immediately following the Opening of Business on the effective date of such share subdivision, combination or reclassification shall be divided by the following fraction:

$$\frac{OS_1}{OS_0}$$

where

- OS₀ = the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to the effective date of such share subdivision, combination or reclassification; and
- OS₁ = the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding immediately after the Opening of Business on the effective date of such share subdivision, combination or reclassification.

(vi) Adjustment for Merger or Reorganization, etc .

(A) If the Company distributes to all holders of shares of Common Stock evidences of indebtedness, shares of capital stock (other than Common Stock) or other assets (including securities, but excluding any dividend or distribution referred to in clause (i); any rights or warrants referred to in clause (ii) above; any consideration payable in connection with a tender offer made by the Company or any of its Affiliates referred to in clause (v) below; and any dividend of shares of capital stock of any class or series, or similar equity interests, of or relating to a Subsidiary or other business unit in the case of a spin-off to which the following clause (iv) (B) applies), then the Conversion Price in effect immediately following the Close of Business on the record date for such distribution shall be divided by the following fraction:

$$\frac{SP_0}{SP_0 - FMV}$$

- SP₀ = the Closing Sale Price per share of Common Stock on the Trading Day immediately preceding the Ex-Date for such distribution; and
- FMV = the fair market value of the portion of the distribution applicable to one share of Common Stock at the Close of Business on the Trading Day immediately preceding the Ex-Date as determined by the Board of Directors.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, if "FMV" (as defined above) is equal to or greater than "SP₀" (as defined above), in lieu of the foregoing adjustment to the Conversion Price, each holder of Preferred Stock shall receive, for each share of Preferred Stock, at the same time and upon the same terms as holders of the Common Stock, the amount and kind of such distributed assets that such holder would have received as if such holder owned a number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Conversion Ratio in effect on the record date for the distribution.

(B) In a spin-off, where the Company makes a distribution to all holders of shares of Common Stock consisting of capital stock of any class or series, or similar equity interests, of or relating to, a Subsidiary or other business unit where such capital stock or similar equity interests are, or will be when issued, listed or admitted for trading on a National Securities Exchange, the Conversion Price shall be adjusted at the Close of Business on the tenth Trading Day after the Ex-Date of the distribution by dividing such Conversion Price in effect immediately prior to the Opening of Business on such tenth Trading Day by the following fraction:

$$\frac{MP_0 + MP_S}{MP_0}$$

- MP₀ = the average of the Closing Sale Price of the Common Stock over each of the first 10 Trading Days commencing on and including the Ex-Date of such distribution; and
- MP_S = the average of the closing sale price of the capital stock or equity interests representing the portion of such distribution applicable to one share of Common Stock over each of the first 10 Trading Days commencing on and including the Ex-Date of such distribution, as reported in the principal securities exchange or quotation system or market on which such shares are traded, or if not traded on a national or regional securities exchange or over-the-counter market, the fair market value of the capital stock or equity interests representing the portion of such distribution applicable to one share of Common Stock on such Ex-Date as determined by the Board of Directors. Such closing sale prices for the Trading Days in such 10 Trading Day period shall be adjusted in respect of transactions in respect of such capital stock or equity interests in like manner to the adjustment to "Closing Sale Price" specified in the second sentence of the definition of such term.

For purposes of determining the Conversion Price in respect of any Conversion Date that occurs during the 10 Trading Days following, and including, the Ex-Date of any such spin-off, references within the previous sentence to 10 Trading Days or the 10th Trading Day shall be deemed to be replaced with such lesser number of Trading Days as have elapsed between the Ex-Date of such distribution and such Conversion Date. In the event that such distribution described in this clause (iv) is not so made, the Conversion Price of any then outstanding shares of Preferred Stock not previously converted shall be readjusted, effective as of the date the Board of Directors publicly announces its decision not to pay such dividend or distribution, to the Conversion Price that would then be in effect if such dividend distribution had not been declared.

(vii) Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, no adjustment under this Section 6(e) need be made to the Conversion Price unless such adjustment would require an increase or decrease of at least 1.0% of the Conversion Price then in effect. Any lesser adjustment shall be carried forward and shall be made at the earlier of (i) the time of and together with the next subsequent adjustment, if any, which, together with any adjustment or adjustments so carried forward, shall amount to an increase or decrease of at least 1.0% of such Conversion Price and (ii) the Opening of Business on each Conversion Date.
